DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS
....AND....
Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation; so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

MAGUIRE'S NEW THEATRE.—"The Ticket of Leave Man" was played to a good house last night. Mr. O'Neill's Bob Brierly is certainly an admirable impersonation. The play seemed to move the audience in no ordinary degree, every scene being applauded. We must do more than lightly commend the excellent Mrs. Willoughby of Mrs. Charles Edmonds. It was an almost perfect picture of the garrulous old lady, with no more idea of punctuation than of holding her tongue. This afternoon "Fanchon" and this evening "Othello," with Mr. James O'Neill as the Moor and Mr. Frank Lawler as Iago. To-morrow night "Othello" repeated, with an exchange of parts between these two gentlemen. Monday, "Henry Dunbar."

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—"Rosedale" drew an immense house last night, there being no standing room even, after eight o'clock. The play with all its wonderfully sensational incidents, and Mr. Barrett in his great character of Elliot Gray are well-known to San Francisco. But "Rosedale" last night was also made the medium for the debut of Miss Alice Harrison, the new soubrette. Miss Harrison is pleasantly remembered here from her engagement with Johnny Allen at the Metropolitan Theatre under Bert's management, and the impression she created last night was but a renewal of the good impression made then. She is petite, brunette, sings well and dances better. To night "Richard III" with Mr. Barrett as Gloster.

OPERA HOUSE. — This evening, a complimentary benefit will be tendered to Mr. John Guerin, by his numerous friends. The bill for the occasion is a particularly entertaining one and has been gotten up with every regard to the amusement and pleasure of those attending. A first-part of minstrelsy, a second part of Ethiopean specialties, a general olio will form the staple of the programme. Henri Stuart and Morris Welch, will appear in jig and clog dances.

HEROLD'S ORCHESTRAL MATINEE.—The first concert of the new season will be given on Wednesday afternoon next. Already all the boxes and the greater part of the best seats have been taken for the season. The overture will include Lindpainter's overture to Goethe's tragedy of "Faust," a quartette for French Horns, Lachner's suite in E minor and the overture to "William Tell."

NEW OLYMPIC VARIETY THEATRE.—Charley Harris and Charley King appear to-night in Dutch specialties, and the bill is a splendid one. Happy Jack begs to state that he too will present the city with a fountain if the public will only patronize him nightly as they should.

BUCKLEY'S NEW VARIETY THEATRE.—In the programme for to night will be found, Swain and West in a double song and dance, George C. Thompson in his specialties, and Charley Kimic in his Dutch songs, together with the acts "Demon in the Woods," "Manager's Troubles," "Black and White," and "Uncle Eph's Dream."

WILSON'S COLOSSAL HIPPODROME.—The attendance at this extraordinary place of amusement, continues rather on the increase than the decline. It should be made a note of, that every city line of street cars will take you to the Hippodrome for a single fare. That is, you can get a transfer from any line to any other line that runs the nearest to the "desired haven." Grand matinee to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS.—Attractions.—An immense bill for Saturday and Sunday: First time of Senor Adolph Gonzales, the Chilian wonder and champion tumbler and Mons. Broidk, the man with the iron jaw; Mlle. Gracie in her blindfold trapeze; Will Stevens, the excelsior gymnast; Mlle. Victorine and grand concert. Holy Ghost flower in bloom.

REISEN KELLER.—An instrumental concert is given every evening at this mammoth symposium, corner of third and Market streets, under the Nucleus House. The spacious Riesen Keller (giant cellar), combines billiards, bowling alleys, shooting galleries, club rooms, reading rooms, concert hall and beer hall, all in one.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—Captain Foster, the genial host of the Cliff House, entertains visitors from all parts of the Globe at his famous sea-side resort. The Cliff House is THE one thing San Francisco has to boast of as different from any thing else in the world. Omnibuses run every day from the terminus of the Lone Mountain railroad.

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges Moderate. D. B. Magee, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. N. B. Open to 2:30 A. M. Old fashioned boiled dinners every Saturday. 2-L

DRAMATIC NOTES.

On Thursday afternoon, Lotta's Fountain was publically and formally given over to the city. It is a magnificent and sensible gift, an ornament to the city and a standing memorial of the little actress' fondness of heart and good sense. Harry Edwards made the presentation address, the main portion of which follows:

Mr. Mayor, Ladies and Gentleman:—Though I cannot but feel flattered at the honor which my friend Miss Crabtree has done me in requesting that I would be her representative here to-day, I am none the less sensible that the task of expressing her feelings might have been confided to abler tongues than mine. It was, however, her wish that some member of the profession of which she is so distinguished an ornament should be her spokesman on this occasion, and when her request that I should officiate was made known to me my sincere feeling of regard for her personally, as well as my high appreciation of her kindly intentions toward San Francisco compelled me to accede to her wishes. If Miss Lotta were here, she would doubtless tell you, that brought up amongst you almost from her infancy her heart has ever yearned toward San Francisco as her home and toward you, its people, as her best and earliest friends. She would say to you, that during the struggle for the position she has at last acquired she has ever looked back to this city as the place in which her abilities were first fostered and to you as the thoughtful and generous critics who have watched her career with interest, and when occasion offered have always met her with the open arms of an appreciative and unstinted kindness. Loving San Francisco as she does, and respecting, as she must do, its generous and warm-hearted population, she was anxious to record in some enduring form her grateful affection for this city and its people, and she has chosen as such means of remembrance the erection of the beautiful structure, which you see for the first time to-day. In begging your acceptance of this fountain for the use and benefit of the city and its inhabitants, she will, I know, wish me to express the hope that her gift may be the means of perpetuating your kindly thought of her, and of handing down to those who shall succeed you, a pleasant recollection of one who has nothing but the most gentle memories of the consideration she has always received from you. I have little doubt that away on the other side of the continent she has watched with anxious hope the coming of this day, and that her heart throbs with pleasing emotion as she contemplates the gratification you will experience from her graceful and generous gift. It has been said in words of wisdom, "It is better to give than to receive," and when the news of this gathering and the grateful sympathy which animates it shall reach Miss Crabtree, she will experience one of earth's choicest blessings—the knowledge that a good and kind act has not been performed in vain.

After this graceful speech, Mayor Otis received the gift with another, the Fountain was unveiled and stood as it now stands, the handsome evidence of a generous heart.

Lotta opens at the Boston Theatre on Monday week for two weeks.

It will be seen from our Eastern news that Miss Nellie Cummins opens as leading lady at Macauley's Theatre, Louisville, on Monday evening.

Just received a new song from M. Gray. Yet another of Felix Marti's, entitled "Ah Me, How Fair," with words by David Nesfield.

The publication of Redpath's Lyceum for August has just come to hand. It makes quite a hand some serial and contains excellent lithographic portraits of such celebrities as Camilla Urso, Gaston Gottschalk, Miss Helen Potter, Ann Eliza Young, Joseph Heine, etc.

We are glad to hear that Fred Zimmerman has found his new venture so far a success. The Mexican Infantile Opera Bouffe Troupe opened at Daly's Fifth Avenue Theatre on the 30th ult., and took the audience by storm. They will start out on their travels almost immediately.

The Jackleys are in London.

A Miss Mary Keemle, styling herself "the young American actress and vocalist," was to make her first appearance on the stage at the Theatre Royal, Liverpool, 30th ult., in a new folie musicale entitled 'Sarah Jane in the Harem.'" Does anybody know anything of her at all, at all?

Emerson's Minstrels are still at Chicago, where they will remain until the last week of the present month, then return to San Francisco and settle down for a season at the Opera House. The company is an entirely new one, and as a slight want of novelty was all that necessitated the wandering of the minstrels, they may look for a very well developed reception when they return, and a very steady patronage.

Manager Tom Maguire leaves Chicago for San Francisco to-morrow morning, consequently arriving in town on Friday evening. He has been so long away that he will find the city somewhat altered, for 'Frisco doesn't stand still a week.

"The Ticket of Leave Man," "Henry Dunbar," "The Long Strike," "Dora," "Lost in London," "Merchant of Venice," "Magnolia" and "Othello." Does not this list read as a curiously heavy record of three or four weeks' work by a comedy company? Yet such is the record of the Hooley Comedy Company since their occupation of Maguire's New Theatre. There are more tears than laughter in that list for the bet of an old hat—hang your new ones! Might it not be suggested, that a change of diet would better suit the public taste? Change completely about and give us a touch of burlesque for instance. There is the material in the company. W. H. Crane, Miss Mayhew, M. A. Kennedy, Mrs. Edmonds, E. J. Buckley and Miss Baker, are all burlesque artists of great or lesser degree of talent, and the experiment—in the face of the existing state of affairs—is certainly worth trying. A little burlesque then.

The following selections will be included in the programmes of the 2d series of Orchestral Matinees, commencing on Wednesday afternoon next. Beethoven: Symphonies in C minor and C major. Mozart: Symphonies in G minor and in C (Jupiter). Haydn: Symphonie Militaire. Gade: Symphonie in B flat. Mendelssohn: Symphonie in A minor (Scottish symph.) Mendelssohn: Full music of "Midsummer-night's Dream." Fr. Lachner: Suite in E minor. Fr. Schubert: Symphonie in C. OVERTURES; Beethoven: "Coriolanus," Egmont.' Mozart: Flute Magique. Weber: "Jubilee" and "Euryanth." Mendelssohn: "Schone Melusine;" "Fingal's Cave," "Ruy Blas." Wagner: Prelude to the "Meistersinger von Nuremberg." Entracte and Bridal Horns from "Lohengrin." Huldigung's March. Reinecke: Peace Jubilee—Overture. Rietz: Grand Concert Overture.

MANCHESTER, Eng., August 22d.

DEAR FIGARO:—I am happy to inform you that I have just returned from visiting Brussells, Paris and London, and have secured several novelties for our next season in San Francisco, among which may be enumerated: "L. Oeil Creve" (The merry Toxophilites); "The Sultan of Mocha," "Madame l' Archduc," "Les Cent Vierges" (The 100 Virgins); "La Perichole," "Les Noces de Jeannette" (Jeannette's Wedding); "Trial by Jury," "Les Pres St. Gervais." Each of which we shall have ready for production by the time we reach California.

Yours Truly, J. W. ALLINSON,

Business Manager of the Oates English Opera Troupe.

On Monday next, Mr. Lawrence Barrett will produce for the first time in California, his new play entitled "Harebell; or, The Man o' Airlie." It is as the title indicates a story of Tweedland and follows the history of Jamie Harebell a poor Scotch poet, who though poor in wordly goods is yet rich in a store of fancies and aspirations. Being of too delicate a nature to stand the brunt of a severe mishap, he loses his mind, become a wanderer and after many years dies a beggar at the foot of his own statue, which had been erected by those who had discovered and appreciated his great gifts only when it was too late. It will be produced with great care and it may highten the public interest in the piece to know that Mr. Barrett has successfully played it one hundred nights at Booth's Theatre.

From which we infer that he intends bringing it on the boards at an early date.

Here is an innovation indeed! The managers of theatres in Germany have, in convention, resolved not to engage actors or actresses for special lines of characters, but to make them agree to play whatever parts are assigned to them.

Montgomery Queen's Circus shows at Erie, Pa., to-night; Terre Haute, Ind., on Monday.

During the recent revival of "The Big Bonanza" at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, New York, Mr. Owen Fawcett played the Professor, and in the opinion of many of the journals, gave a rendering in every way superior to that of his predecessor, Mr. James Lewis.

Mr. Frank Gilder and Miss Susan Galton, make their appearance in the Salt Lake Theatre on Monday and Tuesday evenings, Sept. 13th and 14th. Lingard (W. H.), purposes touring the States until May 1876, and then returning to London for three months.

The young, gifted and modest John McKenzie, still warbles weekly at Salt Lake City. Whether it is in direct consequence of this we do not know, but it is a fact that the stock company of the local theatre have fled to the Northern settlements of Utah, disguising their individuality even, under the title of "The Phil Margetts Star Combination."

Grass Valley has had nothing in the way of entertainment lately, except a lecture on Wednesday night by the Rev. Thomas Gard.

San Jose has a debutante. A young lady whose name is Miss Mary McChain. The place of her first appearance was Ridgway Hall, Santa Rosa. "She wore her hair in ringlets" and recited "The Creed of the Bells." It is said by the Santa Rosa Times that, "her bell imitations were superb." And "she wore her hair in ringlets." Happy Santa Rosa! Charming ringletted Miss McChain!

On the 4th an entertertainment was given in the New Market Street Theatre, Portland, by "Prof." Rice, the Mind Reader and "Prof." Morris the Skater. Lieutenant General Sheridan attended and expressed himself delighted (!).

Already some of the members of Madame Fabbri's Opera Company are in town and on Monday next, the rest of the artists will arrive. The season will commence at Platt's Hall, where grand opera will be given, Tuesday, Wednesday and Sunday evenings. Early in November the troupe will move to the Grand Opera House, on Mission street, which will be inaugurated with a notable presentation of Wagner's latest opera "Lohengrin." Madame Fabbri assures us that the company is a good one, that each member is an artist, and that she will present a repertoire that shall include twelve new operas.

On Saturday evening next Joe Cochrane and Robert Fitzgerald, for a long time officially connected with the front of Maguire's Theatre, will receive a complimentary benefit. The bill is to be one not to be sneered at.

Mr. Frank Lawlor under engagement to Mr. Geo. Coppin, sails for Australia with his wife by the Cyphrenes.

Sam Wetherill, is now the Hon. Sam Wetherill, having been elected to the Assemby by the 10th Senatorial District on the Democratic ticket, We hope and expect that the Honorable Sam will prove himself a faithful and useful public servant.

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow:
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, "THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

Another American Debutante.

"There is yet, another young American aspirant for operatic honors," says the Paris correspondent of the N. Y. Spirit of the Times, "coming with the full assurance of a crown. It is no less (or greater) a person, than the beautiful Miss Blanche Tucker, of Chicago. The musical and literary accomplishments of this gifted lady are widely known, and they have brought her endless appreciation, admiration, and love. At last they promise something more, and this the highest goal of a student's hope--success. During a recent visit to London, Mr. Gye, of Covent Garden, suceeded in effecting an engagement with her, as prima donna, for a term of five years. The ovation with which she was greeted in this great musical centre, the flattering tributes from a world of friends, and the marked favoritism shown her by the first artists in the profession, were compliments never before enjoyed, in so full a measure, by any debutant. Born in Virginia, her parents removed, at an early day, to the West, where, both in Wisconsin and Illinois, her father became eminent as a lawyer and a statesman. Left in orphanage by his death, the brave young girl struggled through many afflictions and hardships, to the very verge of destruction, in the disastrous fire of Chicago. Through these sufferings, her gentle, patient nature, her rare beauty, and exquisite voice, won, as they continue to win, friends and admirers everywhere. Some two years since, she was enabled to accomplish the desire of her life, viz., the opportunity of foreign training in her chosen art. Arriving in Paris, she was placed under the care and protection of our Minister, Mr. Washburne, who, with justifiable pride, has recognized her as his charge. The development of her beautiful soprano voice has been the grateful and successful task of Mme. Viardot Garcia, the distinguished cantatrice, sister of Malibran. Her charming correspondence, while here, with your New York and Chicago papers, have given her an enviable local name, and now, though we are to lose from literature what we are to give to song, we shall have the pleasing reflection that her voice will be heard in a larger auditorium of the world. Miss Tucker will spend the coming Winter in Milan, and under the professional name of Blanche Rosavella, will debut at Covent Garden in the Spring."

Origin of a Nursery Rhyme.

There is a poem at the end of the Book of Passover Services used by the Jews, says Clodd, in his History of Religions," which some among them regard as a parable of the past and future of the Holy Land. It contains ten verses, each ending with the refrain, "A kid, a kid." After telling how a cat came and ate the kid, and a dog came and bit the cat, and a staff came and beat the dog, and so on, it concludes thus:

> Then came the Holy One, blessed be He,
> And killed the Angel of Death,
> That killed the butcher,
> That slew the ox,
> That drank the water,
> That quenched the fire,
> That burned the staff,
> That beat the dog,
> That bit the cat,
> That ate the kid,
> That my father bought
> For two pieces of money.
> A kid, a kid.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm.

An Advertising Dodge or Not?

Mlle. Cornelie D'Anka is coming out from a rather protracted retirement, to play the part of Madame Lange in a revival of "Madame Angot" at the Opera Comique, London. This lady came to London from Vienna, some five or six years ago, and soon after achieved notoriety as the heroine of what was known as the "pocket-book pistol" case. Going down one night to the theatre, at which she was acting (it was the Globe, and the piece was "Falsacappa," a version of Offenbach's 'Les Brigands),' her brougham was followed by a four-wheeled cab. Just as she stepped out at the stage door, an arm suddenly appeared from the cab window holding, what to the frightened spectators, seemed to be a pistol, which, however, did not go off, but only gave a faint click, as the would-be-assassin was arrested. It may be imagined what a sensation was caused by the occurrence, and how the newspapers revelled in a "Distardly Outrage on an Actress" spoon. Her assailant turned out to be a rejected admirer. The advertisement the affair gave to the theatre was most successful. For weeks the house was crammed, and a desperately bad piece really made money. There are cynical critics who say the whole thing was planned with an advertising view, and that the so-called pistol was only a pocket-book with a steel snap. Whatever it may have been, it assisted Mlle. D'Anka immensely in becoming known, and she went through the usual photographic popularity forthwith. She is a very fine and handsome woman, and, even on fleshly grounds, is a safe draw; not, however, but what she has a fine voice and considerable executive power.

John T. Raymond's Jokes.

Before I leave the Sellers field, says the N. Y. correspondent of the Baltimore Bulletin, I must relate a good story which comes in apropos now that three of the persons concerned—Mr. Raymond, Mr. Peakes and Mr. Seymour—are acting at the Union Square Theatre. While Mr. Raymond was playing Micawber in Boston a couple of years ago or so he found, on one occasion, that the "punch" (really lemonade) was impregnated with salt, thanks to Mr. Peakes and Mr. Willie Seymour. He determined that revenge was sweeter than the stuff he had been made to simulate the growing intoxication of Micawber on. Accordingly, through a discreet arrangement at the telegraph office, he got two blanks such as are used for messages for delivery and wrote on one of them a message to Mr. Peakes purporting to be from Miss Carlotta Leclercq, then at Booth's Theatre, asking him to telegraph his lowest terms to come on and prompt at Booth's, and to bring Willie Seymour with him to play a part in "A Scrap of Paper," in which he had made quite a hit. This was delivered duly and caused no end of excitement. Peakes was naturally flattered, and Willie Seymour's mother proudly exclaimed, "See what Miss Leclercq thinks of my boy. He was call boy at Booth's Theatre once, and now they want him to come on specially and play a part for them." But the stage manager wouldn't hear of it, and Peakes telegraphed Miss Leclercq, "Impossible." She was naturally surprised and telegraphed back, "What is impossible?" Peakes rejoined, "I can't come on." Miss Leclercq responded, "Who wants you to?' Peakes was about to send another message requesting an explanation, when Mr. Raymond disillusionized him. He turned pale, and Mr. Seymour's mother failed to see the joke. But Mr. Raymond enjoyed the "after-taste of the lemonade immensely. As for Miss Leclercq, she vowed she never would forgive the mystification. One day, however, she and Mr. Raymond were dining in the same hotel. Unperceived by her, he got up and took the place of the Irish waiter behind her chair. "Hev yees finished your soup, mem?" he asked. "No.' "Will yees hand me over that plate, mem?" he said. "I am not done yet." "Give me that plate mem," he cried; "it's enough you've had." She turned at that and relented straight. "Oh, you man, you man," she said; "there, sit down, I forgive you!"

A Happy Invention.

A candidate for a vacant vicarage in England announces an invention of his own which may prove to be useful. It is a peculiar arrangement of the pulpit, with a clock to give warning. When at the end of half an hour, the clock sounds an alarm, if the preacher does not conclude within three minutes, down comes the pulpit, with the parson and the rest of the appendages.

The Green Room.

This popular resort of the profession and al epicures who can appreciate good liquors and a good lunch, is directly opposite the California Theatre. It has just been beautifully frescord and is now a model of taste and elegance. Everybody goes to the Green Room between the acts. x

The original "Swain's Bakery" is now established in their magnificent new place at 213 Sutter street near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place o business.

VERSICAL ODDS AND ENDS.

The learned counsel in a late English trial, in order to show how little interference was exercised over the inscriptions upon tombstones, referred to some, among which was the following, which was found in the churchyard of St. Leonard's Foster-lane, Cheapside, bearing date 1750:

> "Beneath this silent stone is laid
> A noisy, antiquated maid,
> Who from her cradle talked till death,
> And ne'er before was out of breath."

At a religious revival of the colored people now in progress at Palestine, Texas, a song was sung of which these two lines are specimens:

> "What kind of shoes is dem you wear,
> Dat makes you walk so light and square?"

Elegiac poetry is about this time receiving unusual attention, and some rare specimens have lately been set afloat. The following comes from an Ohio paper:

> "Jones lived in Mississippi,
> A member of the Radical
> State Central Committee.
> He would rob the mail.
> Gone to the Penitentiary.

In the Ring.

A lately-appointed postmaster of a western Massachusetts town went to Boston the other day, to "qualify" and have his bond for $600 approved. The bond was all right, and the regular question was put to the P. M.: "How much are you worth, sir?" "Wal," he replied, "I don't tell haow much I'm worth. Bradstreet sets me at $10,000. I guess you'd better put it down at that figger." "How much do the assessors set you at?" "Wal, the assessors don't set me at quite so high a figger; but (in a confidential whisper), 'tween you'n' me, I'm one of the assessors!"

Tit for Tat.

"Sure," said Patrick, rubbing his head delighted at the prospect of a present from his employer, "I always mane to do my duty." "I believe you," replied the employer, "and therefore I make you a present of all you have stolen from me during the year." "I thank your honor," replied Pat; "and may all your friends and acquaintances treat you as liberally."

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS
....AND....
Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

California Theatre.

"Richard III," with Mr. Barrett as the hunchback King concluded the past week. This evening will be produced for the first time in California, his new play entitled "Harebell; or, The Man o' Airlie." It is as the title indicates a story of Tweedland and follows the history of Jamie Harebell a poor Scotch oet, who though poor in wordly goods was yet rich in a store of fancies and aspirations. Being of too delicate a nature to stand the brunt of a severe mishap, he loses his mind, becomes a wanderer, and after many years dies a beggar at the foot of his own statue, which had been erected by those who had discovered and appreciated his great gifts only when it was too late. It will be produced with great care and all the original music.

Maguire's New Theatre.

Mr. Frank Lawlor made his two farewell and only appearances in San Francisco (this time) on Saturday and Sunday evenings, on the first as Iago, and on the second as Othello, in the tragedy of that name. Of the two performances, that of the honest ancient was the better. Mr. O'Neill alternated the two characters with Mr. Lawler and gave two creditable impersonations. The house was better last night than on Saturday. This evening Tom Taylor's dramatization of Miss Braddon's novel "Henry Dunbar," will be given to-night, with as. O'Neill as Henry Dunbar, and Miss Hawthorne as Margaret Wentworth.

Herold's Orchestral Matinees.

The first concert of the new season will be given on Wednesday afternoon next, Already all the boxes and the greater part of the best seats have been taken for the season. The programme will include Lindpainter's everture to Goethe's tragedy of "Faust," a quartette for French Horns, Lachner's suite in E minor and the overture to "William Tell."

Wilson's Hippodrome.

It is said that over seven thousand people attended the two performances at this mammoth place of amusement on Saturday. No better proof of the popularity of the place could possibly be adduced. The entertainment is unique and one decidedly worth witnessing. The programme for tonight is of the best kind, every number on it being worth seeing.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

What with George C. Thompsom in his specialties, Kimic in his Dutch songs, Swain and West in their song and dance and all the other members of the company in what suits them best, the bill is altogether a good one.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

In this evening's programme wi l be found Geo Foster in his descriptive ballads, Hughey Robinson in his specialties, Ned Barry in his new and original songs, a capital olio and four or five good acts.

Reisen Keller.—An instrumental concert is given every evening at this mammoth symposium, corner of third and Market streets, under the Nucleus House. The spacious Riesen Keller (giant cellar), combines billiards, bowling alleys, shooting galleries, club rooms, reading rooms, concert hall and beer hall, all in one.

Woodward's Gardens.

Lee Mon Ting's Great Chinese Bird Miracle—a living bird with superhuman powers of telling the exact time of day without prompting whatsoever; Signor Gonzales the Chilian Wonder, the Star Troupe and Grand Orchestral Concerts are the extra attractions for Saturday and Sunday.

Notes.

Miss Alice Dunning (Lingard), Miss Dickie Lingard and Mr. Frank Lawlor, sailed for Australia on board the Cyphrenes this morning.

Piper's Opera House Company played at the Stockton Theatre, during the Fair week, concluding their season on Saturday evening. "School" and "Divorce," were the bills on Thursday and Fridey evenings. George D. Chaplain, Miss Jean Clara Walters and Miss Annie Firmin are underlined.

The veritable Dr. Mary Walker, has arrived in town, and will appear this week publically as a lecturer. The doctor is so delighted with San Francisco that he— she we mean,—thinks of settling here permanently.

The complimentary benefit tendered to John Guerin, at the Opera House, on Saturday evening, was a success. The house was full, and the performance by the minstrel amateurs was very creditable The sallies of Taylor and Fagan from the ends had quite a professional ring about them. The Jolie Troupe did some very clever eccentric dancing, a la Girards, and Mr. Guerin, in his Dutch character, in "Heindrich's Serenade," gave a good dialect rendering of the part, and acted like an old stager.

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. DISCONTENT.

A dozen tadpoles wriggled out
To view the prospect roundabout
And see the older frogs, no doubt—
Ambitious little tadpoles.

They roamed among the bushes green,
They saw the lilies o'er them lean,
Their hearts were gladdened by the scene—
Admiring little tadpoles.

A greater wonder was to come;
They heard an old frog say "Jug-rum!"
Such eloquence! It struck them dumb—
These silly little tadpoles.

"Oh! could we only speak like that!
And sit upon a stone so flat!"
Their yearning hearts beat pitapat—
They sighed that they were tadpoles.

"It's oh! to wear a coat so fine
And with these older frogs to shine!
I wish their happy lot were mine,"
Said every little tadpole.

When back again, with frowns and sighs,
And doubtless, very watery eyes,
Each to his native mud-bath hies—
A dozen hundred tadpoles.

They could not know the lot of frogs
Who sun themselves on lazy logs,
Fated to utter their "ker-chogs"—
These unsuspecting tadpoles.

They did not know that sticks and stones
Were hurled at frogs to crack their bones,
Or much less sad had been the tones
Of all these little tadpoles.

But let me cut this tale off here,
As Time cuts theirs. The day drew near,
And full-grown frogs they all appear,
No longer little tadpoles.

And are they happy? Ah! they sigh
That profitless their youth went by,
When tadpoles ask them they reply;
"We wish now we were tadpoles!"

An Uncomfortable Journey.

A recent incident on the Ogdensburg road is thus described: "A cage of tigers, which was on its way to a menagerie, was placed in one end of the car, a zebra was tied in the other end. The watchman laid down on a box and went to sleep; when he awoke he discovered that one of the tigers had bent the iron bars of its cage, forced its way out, and was crouching in the opposite corner. The regular keeper of the animals was in the sleeping car at the rear end of the train, and there was no chance to communicate with him or any one outside. The watchman was frightened into a motionless silence, and in that awful suspense he made the long and weary journey to St. Albans. After the train came to a halt there, one of the trainmen, in passing the car, saw a large, catlike nose thrust out of an opening, and not knowing that any one's life was endangered in the car, but fearing lest the animal should escape, ran to the sleeping car and aroused the keeper, who soon appeared, rawhide in hand, and lashed the beast back into his den, to the immeasurable relief of the poor fellow who had been curled up for hours on the box."

Jay Gould a la Fisk.

Jay Gould is treading closely in the footsteps of Jim Fisk. The Grand Opera House has passed into the ownership of Gould, Stebbins, and other wealthy men, who propose to revive its pristine splendor. The entire building will be refitted and the interior arrangements remodeled. It will contain private rooms for conversation, buffets, dancing rooms, a concert room, and the grand auditoriums which will be used for beer music. Johann Strauss is to be offered the direction at an extravagant salary; and, finally, when everything is in running order, the whole concern will be put up as the chief prize in a grand lottery scheme. The idea is almost Fiskesque for its sublimity and novelty of design. "The concerts and drawing," says the Springfield Republican, "will take place during the Centennial, and constitute a fine exhibition of national characteristics, worthy a place among Mr. Lowell's satiric list."

A Wife of Action.

"Jane has got a very nicely turned ankle, hain't she?" said John to his wife the other day. And then John noticed a strange, unearthly gleam in the eye of his spouse, which made him feel very uncomfortable—he knew not why. But the next day the place which Jane had filled in the domestic economy of the household was occupied by a middle-aged woman, with ankles like those of the Mullingar heifer.

Miller on the Compliment.

Joaquin Miller says that Olive Logan's mouth is

"Like Egypt's mouth of old."

He probably alludes to the mouth of the Nile, and was particular to mention the "old" mouth, because the modern one has got a "mole" on the side of it.

Laughing Gas.

Dr. Wilson, Dentist, 205 Third street, makes a specialty of extracting teeth without pain by the use of laughing gas, and with twelve years experience in its use can warrant success with entire safety in the most difficult cases.

A New Play by Dumas.

The Paris jouanals have announced that Alexander Dumas fils is preparing a five act drama for the Theatre Francais, entitled "L'Etrangere." There is much curiosity felt as to what nationality will be made the special subject of the work. Dumas' studies of character in the gay life of Paris have been careful and profound. Although the demi-monde, as he portrayed it, has no distinct existence to-day, it is a reproduction of the time. Now society is more democratic, and we have an aristocracy of clothes instead of virtue. The most beautiful young woman seen in Paris are Americans, Brazilians, Italians and Spaniards, and which has the author chosen is the question? If the victim be an American, we shall hope for a more just and faithful delineation of our national character than we received at the hands of Victorian Sardou in the insolent exaggerations of "L'Oncle Sam." The French are wanting sometimes in hospitality, in every sense, as when they characterize the visit of strangers as the "invasion of foreigners," etc. But it is premature to give way to apprehensions until Dumas has taken us more into his confidence.

A Lively Girl.

"Say, boss, I wants to get a nice bright dress fur a good-lookin' yallar gal 'bout eighteen years ov old."

"Something like that?" pointing to a bright scarlet dress pattern.

"Yes, boss, dat de ticket, shuah."

"How much do you want?"

"Well, I don't zackly know. I guess you know moah 'bout it dan I do."

"What kind of a figure has she?"

"Well, I won't say for shuah, but I hearn her sister say she was right smart on—I reckon she's plumb into frackshuns. I know for shuah she's a sight smart beyond mathematings."

"I mean what's her form?"

"She's on the foam wid de rest ob de big girls, ob course."

"You don't understand me. What's her size?"

"Well, I 'clar, I don't zackly know. I think she take number ten or eleven shoe, doe."

"Confound your thick skull! How high is she?"

"High? She am jist de highest gal 'round Carrollton, you bet! Jist you pick de banjy once—oh! lord a mussy, only once! Whew! Ratlesnake melons and ginger beer! And she'll kick 'kingdom comin' through a two-inch pine floah quicker nor ye can skin a Yazoo eel!"

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419: opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

The Fall and Winter Styles

Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the best material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Don't forget to call and examine their stock at 647 Washington street, below Kearny.

Don't Help Pay Other People's Debts,

But go to the Furniture and Bedding Store of J. A. Shaber & Co., 707 Market street, near Third, and save fully 25 per cent. by buying of them. Their motto is: "Buy for cash, and sell for cash," therefore they have no bad debts to make up out of extra profits. L

Photographic Art

FOREIGN THEATRICAL NEWS.

D. E. Bandmann is in Dublin.

A new version of "Martin Chuzzlewit" is in preparation at the Adelphi Theatre, London.

Sothern will appear in a new play this season in London. Wonders will never cease.

A daughter of Mario and Grisi has become the wife of the son of the Rev. Mr. Vaughan, rector of Brighton, England.

Some of the French journals state that the band of the Life Guards are to go to Paris from London, and, under the conduct of Mr. Godfrey, the composer of the waltz "Mabel," give two concerts in aid of the inundated.

Miss Neilson is reported to contemplate appearing shortly as "Juliet" at the Salle Ventadour, Paris. It is almost certain that this artiste will introduce the fair "Capulet" to the Russians some timenext winter.

Senores Echevarria and Santibanez have adapted Milton's "Paradise Lost" for the Madrid stage, and it will be produced at the Teatro de Apolo the coming season. We should think it might be as entertaining as the "Lamentations of Jeremiah" in dramatic form.

At last there is new French fancy in the prestidigation line. He borrowed a bonnet from a lady in the audience, and as he was about to return it, it caught fire in the gas, and he had to stamp on it with both feet to extinguish the flames. Misery of the lady! It was her best bonnet. Then he fired a pistol, and a bonnet just like it fell from above.

Paint is sometimes fatal to artists. M. Obin of the Grand Opera was killed by the white paint wherewith he whitened his head when he played in "William Tell," and Mlle. Maas, the celebrated actress, fell a victim to the poisonous effects of the hair-dye wherewith she restored the raven hue of her profuse tresses.

Among the projects for improving the patronage of the Paris Grand Opera, it is suggested that the dress circle public attend in toilets in harmony with the pieces represented. In "Faust," for example, the ladies should come in white, as Marguerite before her fall, and if any appear in mauve let the consequences be on their own heads. In the bijou air the occasion would be suitable for displaying the family diamonds.

The Hornet says that the great opera singers are taking the waters, but the airs they generally give themselves. Are you tired of the opera bouffe? We are supposed to be—by the critics. Mr. Alfred Collier, who is an accomplished musician, has just had an opera bouffe accepted in London. The work is already spoken highly of. Mr. Collier accompanies Arthur Sullivan's songs. He is in business, but finds leisure to make music a business too—and profitably also. Gounod is doing sweet "Lady Jane Grey" into an opera, and quidnuncs expect he has lost his head.

Mr. Irving, despite statements to the contrary, plays Phillip in the Poet Laureate's "Queen Mary," which will be produced at the London Lyceum after "Macbeth," fixed for the middle of September. The part of Cardinal Pole or that of Cranmer would have given Mr. Irving greater opportunities of distinguishing himself, but unfortunately neither of these parts is suitable for representation on the stage by reason of their distinctive religious character. From the first Mr. Tennyson has taken the deepest interest in the arrangements for the production of the play, and "Queen Mary" may possibly be the precursor of another dramatic work from his pen.

We learn from English sources that Mrs. Scott Siddons has recently distinguished herself as a volunteer rifle-woman. The Bideford and Torrington Rifle Corps have just obtained a new long range, which was formally opened by Mrs. Scott Siddons on Thursday. In the presence of Sir Edward Green, the local gentry, and the officers and men of the respective corps, Mrs. Siddons took a Martini Henry rifle and fired at the target, making a "bull's eye" the first time, and a "centre" with her second shot. She was loudly cheered, and the Devon volunteers boast that they have now in their county the best marksman and the best markswoman in England.

The one hundred and twenty-sixth birthday of Goethe—the Shakspeare of Germany—was celebrated at Gilmore's Concert Garden, Saturday night, August 28th, in a fitting [illegible] imposing manner, under the auspices of the Goethe Club of New York. On that occasion, William Cullen Bryant deliverd an oration; Bayard Taylor recited an original poem, written for the event; and, in addition to a programme embracing music especially selected from the German Masters, a cantata, entitled "To the Manes of Goethe," was berendered. The music of this cantata was composed by Professor Mildner, and the words by E. Leonard, Vice President of the Club. The solos were of a very high order, Mme. Salvotti singing the soprano music.

Got His Information.

An old gentleman from the country walked into a law office on Washington street, breathing hard, like one afflicted with asthma, from the exertion it cost him to climb the stairway. As he reached the doorway, he inquired:

"Is lawyer Wilson in?"

A sentimental young man, who sat on his back in an arm chair, while his feet rested on a table, without deigning to raise his eyes from the pages of a dime novel, which he was intently perusing, answered interrogatively:

"Do you see him?"

"Not particularly?" replied the countryman, "but I thought maybe you might have him hid around here somewhere."

A moment after the young man was called to the door for a confidential whisper, and as he rose from his seat he spread the book on the open table, so as to preserve his place. The old gentleman from the country immediately settled himself in the vacated chair, threw his feet on the table, and leaning back comfortably, if not gracefully, took the abandoned novel in his hands, adjusted his spectacles, and, by the time the young man returned, he was so intently absorbed in the story that he was utterly oblivious of his presence.

The young man sat down on the corner of the table and commenced thumping it vacantly with his knuckles, but the romance was exciting, and the old man from the country was so wrapped up in it that he heard nothing, or if he did, he gave no outward sign.

The young man was growing restless, and there was a nervous twitching about his lips that betrayed displeasure, but the old gentleman didn't see it. Then the young man's patience became exhausted, and there was a touch of bitterness in his tone when he remarked, "I'll thank you for that book, sir!"

"This book! oh, ah, yes!" said the old gentleman. "Where did you say lawyer Wilson was?"

"I didn't say anything about it," replied the young man, testily. "I don't know where he is. Suppose he's gone to Herzegovina, to fight the Turks."

"Think he'll be back soon?"

"Can't say," replied the young man, becoming a little embarrassed and considerably nettled. "May be a year or two."

"Not longer?"

"He might stay a dozen years and not wear out his welcome more effectually than some people could do it in as many minutes."

"Yes, that's true," remarked the old gentleman; "some folks get tiresome mighty soon. And so you don't think he'll be gone more'n a year or two?"

"And suppose he shouldn't?" asked the young man, now greatly perplexed and annoyed.

"Nothing," said the countryman; "only I thought that in that case I might wait for him."

And then he settled himself down, and turned over a leaf, preparatory to beginning the next chapter.

This was too much for the young sprig, whose mind was running on that book, and, smothering his pride and choking his wrath as best he could, he unbent his dignity and answered all the old gentleman's questions so civilly that when the old gentleman returned the coveted book and threaded his way to the street, he was chuckling with great satisfaction, and seemed wonderfully pleased with his own remark that he liked "to take them snobs down a peg or two."

DR. SPINNEY is well-known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS
....AND....
Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

Amusements, Etc.

Maguire's New Theatre.

"Henry Dunbar" was presented last night by the Hooley Comedy Company. The title character was taken by James O'Neill, and was made a strong and well pronounced piece of character-acting. Miss Hawthorne's Margaret Wentworth, was sufficiently effective and W. H. Crane's Major with the several aliases, was at times extremely ludicrous. The play abounds in strong situations and is well put on. It will be repeated this and to-morrow evening. Thursday, Friday and Saturday "Fanon" will be repeated, "The Ticket of Leave Man" being underlined for Saturday's matinee and Sunday night.

California Theatre.

'Most musical and most melancholy" is "The Man o' Airlie." It is an idyll of pathos. William Winter has called it "a poem of sadness.' The ory, whilst it does not lack in dramatic force more than abounds in gruesome situations. Mr. Barrett's Jamie Harebell is, of course, the central figure of the play, and in his hands it well deserves to be. The character might have been written for him so very admirably does he fill it. In dialect, in the expression of feeling, and in action, the peasant oet-bard is Mr. Barrett, and Mr. Barrett is Jamie Harebell. The outline of the story we gave yesterday, whilst to all who love a masterly performance, we say go and see Mr. Barrett as The Man o' Airle. In conclusion, the play is a standing satire on the fate of poetic genius.

Opera House.

On Sunday evening next, Messrs. Cochrane and Fitzgerald, for a long time connected offically with Mr. Maguire, will receive a complimentary benefit at the Opera House. The list of volunteers is, as may be seen by glancing at our advertising columns, particularly strong. The bill will include "Oliver Twist" and an olio, the whole to conclude y eleven o'clock.

Herold's Orchestral Matinees.

The first concert of the new season will be given to-morrow afternoon, (Wednesday.) Already all the boxes and the greater part of the best seats have been taken for the season. The programme will include Lindpainter's overture to Goethe's tragedy of "Faust," a quartette for French Horns, Lachner's suite in E minor and the overture to "William Tell."

Wilson's Hippodrome.

The usual crowded attendance marks every performance at this gigantic place of amusement. The public taste for an exciting and novel kind of entertainment seems to have been met at last, and the public is in consequence repaying the enterprise of the man who has ministered to that taste. Everybody should visit the Hippodrome at their earliest opportunity, for the show will not be long with us.

Platt's Music Hall.

This evening, Dr. Mary Walker, will deliver a lecture at Platt's Hall, on the subject "Who Dare?' We presume the lecturer will answer the question himself for already has (s)he "dared do all that may become a man."

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

The new acts for to-night are "Banjo Act, by Price and Senate; "The Two Skeptics," by Price, Thompson and Kime; and "The Mysterious Restaurant," by Mortimer, Swain and West. "Uncle Eph's Dream," will conclude the bill.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

"Knockin' on de Outside Gade" by Charley and Lotta Harris, new songs by Ned Barry, "Wandering Minstrels" by Harris and King, "Madame Gassynigger" and Charley King with his specialties are a few of the things for to-night.

REISEN KELLER.—An instrumental concert is given every evening at this mammoth symposium, corner of third and Market streets, under the Nucleus House. The spacious Riesen Keller (giant cellar), combines billiards, bowling alleys, shooting galleries, club rooms, reading rooms, concert hall and beer hall, all in one.

Woodward's Gardens.

Lee Mon Ting's Great Chinese Bird Miracle—a living bird with superhuman powers of telling the exact time of day without prompting whatsoever; Signor Gonzales the Chilian Wonder, the Star Troupe and Grand Orchestral Concerts are the extra attractions for Saturday and Sunday.

Notes.

Will Mr. Alfred Singer please call at this office any day between 11 and 1 o'clock?

WHEN YOU'RE DOWN.

What legions of "friends" always bless us,
When golden success lights our way!
How they smile as they softly address us,
So cordial, good-humored and gay.
But ah, when the sun of prosperity
Hath set, then how quickly they frown,
And cry out in tones of severity,
"Kick the man; don't you see he is down?"

What, though you know not a sorrow,
Though your heart was as open as day,
And your "friends" when they wanted to borrow,
You obliged and ne'er asked them to "pay."
What though not a soul you e'er slighted,
As you wander about through the town;
Your "friends' become very near-sighted,
And don't seem to see when you're down.

When you're "up" you're loudly exalted,
And traders all sing out your praise;
When you're "down" you have greatly defaulted,
And they "really don't fancy your ways,"
Your style was "tip-top" when you'd money,
So sings every sucker and clown,
But now—'tis exceedingly funny—
Things are altered "because you are down."

Oh, give me the heart that forever
Is free from the world's selfish rust,
And the soul, whose high, noble endeavor
Is to raise fallen man from the dust.
And when in adversity's ocean
A victim is likely to drown,
All hail to the friends whose devotion,
Will lift up a man when he's down.

STRAY HITS AND STOLEN BITS.

The greatest joiner—The lawyer: he can place a tenant, panel a jury, box a witness, bore the court, chisel a client, auger the gains, floor a witness, cut his board, nail the case, hammer the desk, file his bill, and shave the whole community.

The West is the place! When Mr. Hawkins started for Kansas, four years ago, he hadn't a cent to his back, save enough to pay his fare, and that he borrowed. He has not only not returned the borrowed money, but wrote last week for a further loan of $25 to pay his fare home.

The young ladies of Sandusky will go out sailing if asked to, but they just knew their business. They tie bags of shot to their feet so as to drown in decent style if the boat upsets.

It is wonderful to see the expression of vague doubt on a baby's face when its mother, who has left her false teeth up stairs, is endeavoring to carry on the usual morning discussion with it.

A gentleman who has a thrifty cherry-tree in an insecure place, put a capital stone imitation of a dog under it to frighten off boys. The other morning he went out to find the legs and tail broken off the image, and the body sticking in the ground and labelled: "This 'ere dorg feels sick."

"Gentlemen, I never gamble. I shun the vice—I have no money" remarks a Poughkeepsie deacon upon being invited to join in a three card monte seance.

The oldest journalist on the staff of the Cleveland Plaindealer sums up his experiences as follows: No man can keep habitual company with a cockroach and be cheerful."

Said Jones; "If Smith undertakes to pull my ears he will have his hands full." The crowd looked at Jones's ears, and thought so, too.

It may be an easy thing for a practiced marksman to hit the bull's eye, but when a Texas steer gets loose in the streets of this city, not one policemen out of twenty can hit the bull.

The most attentive man to business on record was he who wrote on his shop door: "Gone to bury my wife; return in half an hour." He was no relation to the lawyer who put upon his office door: "Be back in five minutes," and returned only after a pleasure trip of three weeks.

One who knows says, "The man who is exceedingly urbane to his wife before strangers is also her bane behind their backs."

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 682 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 8-cj

Laughing Gas.

Dr. Wilson, Dentist, 205 Third street, makes a specialty of extracting teeth without pain by the use of laughing gas, and with twelve years experience in its use can warrant success with entire safety in the most difficult cases.

Palmer Bros.

Sell the Palmer two-button Kid Glove for $1 25 a pair; 726 to 734 Market street.

A Model Verdict.

Another has been added, in Cincinnati, to the dubious but delicious verdicts of coroners' juries. Read: "We, the jury, find that the said Lewis Fillman came to his death by a shot accidentally went off by himself by killing a cat by shooting the same and when she was not dead instantly by striking the cat with the breach of the gun the load discharged itself."

A Common Disease.

The new cattle distemper in England is called "the foot and mouth disease." The same thing has prevailed in this country among statesmen for years past. Its principal feature, and that which gives it its name is, that the victim can't open his mouth without putting his foot into it.

A Wife of Action.

"Jane has got a very nicely turned ankle, hain't she?' said John to his wife the other day. And then John noticed a strange, unearthly gleam in the eye of his spouse, which made him feel very uncomfortable—he knew not why. But the next day the place which Jane had filled in the domestic economy of the household was occupied by a middle-aged woman, with ankles like those of the Mullingar heifer.

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm. *

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

The Fall and Winter Styles

Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well-selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the best material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Don't forget to call and examine their stock at 647 Washington street, below Kearny.

Don't Help Pay Other People's Debts,

But go to the Furniture and Bedding Store of J. A. Shaber & Co., 707 Market street, near Third, and save fully 25 per cent. by buying of them. Their motto is: "Buy for cash, and sell for cash," therefore they have no bad debts to make up out of extra profits. L

Photographic Art

Is supposed by some to be in its infancy. We doubt it much, as it is impossible to imagine pictures retouched and finished with more artistic skill than those we saw at Brodeck & Co's new Art Gallery, 640 Market street, opposite the Palace Hotel.

FOREIGN THEATRICAL NEWS.

Wagner's Theatre, at Bayreuth, promises to be superior to any other in Europe for the representation of operatic music. The interior is constructed in a manner somewhat similar to that of the ancient Grecian amphitheatre. Great attention, too, has been paid to the acoustic properties of the building. The orchestra, also, is hidden from public gaze, and the stage is at some little distance from the auditorium. The mechanical appliances are as perfect as the combined skill of English and German artizans can make them. Wagner's idea of how a theatre should be constructed is undoubtedly right; he wishes the action of the opera to be viewed as a poetical picture, without the attention of the audience being divided by what is taking place on the stage and the movements of the musicians in the orchestra. Stage boxes are also eschewed, because they and their occupants must necessarily distract the eye of the spectator. From the first to the last row the seats recede in a semi-circular form, and become higher and higher by a regular progression, the first set of seats being rather near the stage, and the last set far back in the building. This is an advantage both in respect to comfort and to sound—to comfort, because the stuffy atmosphere of the "opera box" will be avoided; to sound, because the vibrations meeting with but little obstruction, a person at the farthest end of the theatre will no doubt hear quite as well as the one nearest to the stage.

Herr Wagner has finished the libretto for this new opera "Perceival."

Reinhard Keiser (born at Leipsic in 1763) is considered the father of German melody. When director of the opera house at Hamburg, and the speculation was on the point of failing, he saved the concern from ruin by writing and bringing out no less than eight operas in one year. Every one of them succeeded, and their receipts released the theatre from all pecuniary difficulties. Keiser in conjunction with the learned Matheson, gave public concerts at Copenhagen, where he was honored with the nomination of chapelmaster to the king. On his return to Hamburg he brought out "Circe," the last and most beautiful of his operas. This was performed in 1734, and was the 118th which this indefatigable artist had produced. He died in 1735. It is to be regretted that hardly any of Keiser's works are now to be procured, though a new edition of some few of them was talked of in Hamburg about the year 1810.

Among the amusements of German life the so-called "musical party" is unknown. People who love music come together; they play their trios or quartettes; sing their duos and solos, madrigals and glees; stop, take this or that passage over again; discuss the composer's intention; try it one way and another, enjoy it and pass on to fresh enjoyments. There is no yawning audience bored to death in the background, longing to talk; guilty, perhaps, of that indiscretion, to the fury or despair of the performer, and the mute misery of the hostess. There is no showing off and forced acclamations, no grimace and no vanity, in the German evening. These lovers of music meet together with the reverence and simplicity of primitive Christians reading the legacies of the evangelists; and having interpreted their beloved masters to the best of their abilities, go their quiet way rejoicing. Of the absurdity of gathering a crowd of unmusical people together, calling it a "musical party," and paying a professional person to bore the assembly, the sincere German mind is happily incapable.

A Word to the Wise, etc.

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take nice ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

The Fall and Winter Styles

Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the best material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Don't forget to call and examine their stock at 647 Washington street, below Kearny.

Don't Help Pay Other People's Debts,

But go to the Furniture and Bedding Store of J. A. [illegible]er & Co., 707 Market street, near Third, and save fully 25 per cent. by buying of them. Their motto is: "Buy for cash, and sell for cash," therefore they have no bad debts to make up out of extra profits.

VERSICAL ODDS AND ENDS.

An old gentleman of the name of Gould, having married a very young wife, wrote a poetical epistle to a friend to inform him of it, and concluded thus:

"So you see, my dear sir, though I'm eighty years old,
A girl of eighteen is in love with old Gould."

To which his friend replied:

"A girl of eighteen may love Gould it is true;
But believe me, dear sir, it is Gold without U.'

Oh, she was an A 1 Connecticut belle,
Of the "very first water," or more,
And she married a regular fine-haired "swell"
Who clerked in a dry goods store.
And he clerked, and he clerked, till at last he fell
Into trouble with some of the money;
And they went out West, in a way, folks tell,
Not particularly funny.
And after a time the belle came home,
The old folks for to see;
And the neighbors asked, when they found she'd come,
What her husband's biz. might be.
"Oh, he is a railroad man now," she said—
"Assistant Conductor," said she;
But some one asked, as he shook his head,
What the dickens that might be.
And then, with high old "style" of hers,
She answered the interrogation:
"He assists in slacking the speed of the cars
When the train approaches a station."

When freedom from her mountain height,
Unfurled her standard to the air,
Her skirts, pinned back so very tight,
Made her appear exceeding spare.

In the Detroit Police Court.

BIJAH EXPRESSES HIS OPINIONS ON FINANCIERS.

Well, bub," replied Bijah, as he finished hanging up the broom, "this currency question bothers many besides you, though it's clear enough to me. You see that twenty-five cent scrip, don't you?"

The boy remarked that he did, and Bijah placed it on the window-sill, weighted it down with a peach-stone, and continued:

"That bit of paper is marked 25 cents, but is it twenty-five cents? Is it anything more than a piece of paper?"

"I dunno," solemnly replied the boy.

"Has that bit of paper any real value beyond its being a promise to pay?" demanded Bijah.

"What paper?"

"That 'ere twenty-five——"

He stopped there. Some one had sneaked up the alley-way and slyly stolen both scrip and peach-stone.

"Never mind," concluded the boy; "it hadn't any intrinsic value."

"It hadn't, eh?" growled the old janitor. "I just want to catch the wolf who absorbed it!"

DEATH-BED REPENTANCE.

"Joseph Lawlor," said his Honor, as a raggededged individual meandered out of the corridor, "your doom is sealed!"

"I'm awful sorry, sir," replied the prisoner. "I've been crying all the morning, and ——"

"Prisoner at the bar, you have been here time and time again; you have lied to me a dozen times; you have taken solemn oaths only to break them; you have skulked under a brush-fence like a gopher when you might have sat on a reserved seat and been seen by all men, like Pig Iron Kelly. I am going to barrel you up for ninety days."

"I cried for more'n four hours this morning, and I promised the angels that I would break right off."

"I can't help the angel business; you are going up. Lead him into the corridor, Bijah, chalk his back in one form, and then set him down on that old stove-boiler to meditate the wait. This court is patient and long-suffering, but she can't endure everything."

HE SOLD FISH.

"John Cobard, is it right for a man to get drunk and throw rocks at hackmen and declare that he can whip the Mayor of Detroit in a York minute?" asked the court of the next prisoner.

"I wish I hadn't done it!" exclaimed the prisoner, suddenly overcome with sorrow.

"Ah! that's the way of life, John Cobard. Somewhere or other I've seen a poem commencing:

"Of all sad words of tongue or pen,
The saddest are these:
I wish I hadn't done it."

"Have you any excuse to offer?"

"Yes, sir—I sell fish."

"Are you one of those fellows who go round yelling 'Fee-resh! Whee-ite fii-ish,' and disturbing everybody?"

"We have to holler yer Honor."

"I'm glad I've caught you, Mr. Cobard. Many's the time I've wanted to get down my shot-gun and shoot at the fish-peddlers, and many's the time I've promised myself to plaster on the sentence if I ever got hold of one of the craft."

"I'll never holler no more," pleaded the [illegible]

"Do you mean that you will walk around quietly and keep your mouth shut?"

"Yes, I do, sir."

"I did want to send you up for fifty-five years."

"Oh! don't—don't think of it!"

"You'll agree to quit hollering?"

"I will—just try me once."

"Well," continued his Honor, as he snuffed at a big harvest apple, "I'll let you off on these conditions. If you have fish to sell it doesn't follow that you must scream a house down to make a sale. Go forth, sir, a free man, but keep your promise or I'll have the mounted police bring you in here again dead or alive."

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord, that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS
....AND....
Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skilful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

Amusements, Etc.

California Theatre.

Outside of Mr. Lawrence Barrett's Jamie Harebell, there is little to notice in "The Man o' Airlie." Harry Edwards has the part of a mildly irascible lord to play; Miss Ellie Wilton plays the lord's daughter, a young lady of no very marked qualities: Miss Carrie Wyatt is the prosaic, consumptive wife of Jamie; John Wilsons' lot is cast as George Brandon, a most despicable rogue; T. W. Keene is Sir Gerald Hope, who is upright and strict, and Robt Pateman has the character of a canny, hard fisted Scotch servant. But all these threads are woven into as pretty and pathetic story as ever was written by Hawthorne.

Maguire's New Theatre.

"Henry Dunbar" was played for the second time last night. James O'Neill's impersonation, as we have already said, is admirable. The death scene is realistic to a degree almost distressing. Miss Hawthorne's Margaret Wentworth, was, especially in the latter acts, effective and clever. Crane's "Major" was the life of this rather dismal piece. "Henry Dunbar" will be repeated this evening, and should be repeated to a large house.

Opera House.

On Sunday evening next, Messrs. [illegible] and Fitzgerald, for a long time connected officially with Mr. Maguire, will receive a complimentary benefit at the Opera House. The list of volunteers is, as may be seen by glancing at our advertising columns, particularly strong. The bill will include "Oliver Twist" and an olio, the whole to conclude by eleven o'clock.

Herold's Orchestral Matinees.

The first concert of the new season will be given this afternoon, (Wednesday.) Already all the boxes and the greater part of the best seats have been taken for the season. The programme will include Lindpainter's overture to Goethe's tragedy of "Faust," a quartette for French Horns, Lachner's suite in E minor and the overture to "William Tell."

Wilson's Hippodrome.

There will be a matinee here this afternoon, which if it is as the matinees usually are, will be well attended. The usual startling, exciting and novel performance to-night. Everybody is going.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Wit, song, fun, dance, specialties, acts, and general humor are the characteristics of the performances at this place of amusement.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

Happy Jack advertises his as the only place in town embracing two end ladies. The programme besides this novelty, includes many other features of a most interesting nature.

RIESEN KELLER.—An instrumental concert is given every evening at this mammoth symposium, corner of third and Market streets, under the Nucleus House. The spacious Riesen Keller (giant cellar), combines billiards, bowling alleys, shooting galleries, club rooms, reading rooms, concert hall and beer hall, all in one.

Woodward's Gardens.

Lee Mon Ting's Great Chinese Bird Miracle—a living bird with superhuman powers of telling the exact time of day without prompting whatsoever; Signor Gonzales the Chilian Wonder, the Star Troupe and Grand Orchestral Concerts are the extra attractions for Saturday and Sunday.

Notes.

Will Mr. Alfred Singer please call at this office any day between 11 and 1 o'clock?

Mr Geo. Evans is still moving in the matter of establishing a concert garden in San Francisco, to which we alluded some two or three weeks ago. We spoke then, of his having fixed upon some central building, that building, it may as well be said, is the Horticultural Hall. With a very moderate expense it might be converted into a thoroughly charming garden, where, with a good orchestra, comfortable places for refreshment, selected spaces for dances, and a popular price of admission, the rainy winter evenings, might be most pleasantly passed. We look for further action from Mr. Evans.

Hermann, the Magician, will shortly make his appearance in this city, under engagement to Mr. Thomas Maguire, who, by the by, arrives from the East on Friday evening. Herr Hermann, will most probably make his first appearance on Tuesday evening next.

"Julius Cæsar" is underlined for production at the California Theatre on Friday night.

Dr Mary Walker had "a fit audience though few," at Platt's Hall, last night, to listen to her earnest remarks concerning the relative desirability of petticoats and breeches as articles of feminine attire, the Doctor's arguments being strongly in favor of the bifucated garments.

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges Moderate. D. B. Magee, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. N. B. Open to 2:30 A. M. Old fashioned boiled dinners every Saturday. 2-t

The Green Room.

This popular resort of the profession and all epicures who can appreciate good liquors and a good lunch, is directly opposite the California Theatre. It has just been beautifully frescord and is now a model of taste and elegance. Everybody goes to the Green Room between the acts. x

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. R. H. Cowan's Institute, removed to 207 Kearny street, between Sutter and Bush, from 1 to 6 P. M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. Reference given if required. B

The Antelope Oyster House.

Our specialty, always the best oysters in market served up in the best style of cooking. Our Eastern transplanted oysters excel any other in market. Established in 1864. No. 612 Market near Montgomery. N. B.—Ice Cream, Strawberries and Cream, and all Fruits in season. B

Terrill and Chapman's.

Billiard Parlor, northeast corner of Bush and Kearny streets, entrance on Bush street. The best lighted and most comfortable Billiard Hall in the city—has 17 front windows. Rooms for private parties. Six new tables. Pocket tables for Pool parties. Best of cigars and liquors. m

A CHANGE FOR THE BETTER.

Somewhere or other in History's page
I've read that when poets were all the rage,
(Oh, History, thou detractor!)
They'd only to scribble a puff in verse,
To make them free of the house and purse
Of a titled benefactor.

What halcyon days they must have been,
When lords were ready to step between
The hard and slow starvation;
When a poet had only to praise a peer,
To earn a couple of "thou" a year
And a Government situation.

The bard may struggle and fight to-day
And charm the town with his tuneful lay,
No hand is stretched to aid him;
He sells his song to the trading crew,
Who hand him a paltry pound or two
And think they've overpaid him.

Yet now, my brothers, our pens are free,
We flatter no ninny of high degree,
Because his favors pay so,
No titled patron's help we crave,
And if we think that a nob's a knave,
We've every right to say so.

Let Fortune's wheel bring ceaseless blanks,
Let Destiny play her wildest pranks,
And Misery come to try us;
We're better by far than the bards of old—
By many a man we may be sold,
But nobody's wealth can buy us.

The Artful Shavers.

A young lady of engaging personal appearance, says the Burlington Hawkeye, who came here last week, from Creston, recently announced that she was going to open a barber shop on North Hill. The very, next day, each married woman on North Hill surprised her husband, whose many virtues she had long known and admired, with a neat little present, consisting of a razor, lather-brush and strop. And now, as oft as a North Hill man comes home, the wife of his bosom puts her arms around his neck and rubs her downy cheek against his face, in all apparent innocence and affection, but if his cheek is smoother than when he went away in the morning, she fans him with the rolling-pin until he has to wear his hat on which ever lump it will fit best.

An Embarrassing Position.

It was an embarrassing situation for the young lady. She has a passion for little things of four years old. She was visiting, in company with her beau, an acquaintance who has a boy of four years who has a bran new sister. "I say, bub," said the young lady, "won't you give me your sister? I love little babies." Young Hopeful—"No, I tant?" Young Lady (winking at her young man)—"Why, sonny? Why won't you give baby to me?" Hopeful (indignant)—"Fy, he'd tarve to death; 'our dess opens behine!" Painful silence for the next fifteen minutes.

French View of the "Baker Case."

A little woman springs from the cars and presents herself before the conductor: "Monsieur, that person there, who travelled with me from Trouville to Paris, has insulted me."

And she points to a mild and calm-looking gentleman.

"What did he do to you?" asks the guard, up in arms.

"He slept the whole distance in his corner."

Tableau.

Pound for Pound.

A shopkeeper purchased of an Irish woman a quantity of butter, the lumps of which, intended for pounds, he weighed in the balance and found wanting. "Shure, it's your own fault if they are light," said Biddy, in reply to the complaints of the buyer; it's your own fault, sir; for wasn't it with a pound of your own soap I bought here myself that I weighed them?" The shopkeeper had nothing more to say.

New Old Words.

The words Selfish and Selfishness are not to be found in Shakspeare, and were wholly unknown to his contemporaries. Lady Morgan first wrote the word Talented, which Coleridge stigmatized as vile and barbarous, and when Henry Dundas used the word Starvation—a new word for hunger and famine imported from Scotland—the English House of Commons burst out into a roar of laughter often repeated.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F, Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

He Hesitated no Longer.

"They won't do all that in the circus, will they?" said a small boy to this chronicler as he gazed admiringly at the picture of an elephant limbed female who was carelessly holding a twenty-four pounder on her shoulder, from which a fragile youth was discharging a wash-tub full of grape, canister and shrapnel, while another youth danced a sailor's hornpipe on top of the gun. "Oh, yes, sonny, and more too," replied the unblushing journalist. "Well, that settles it," sain the diminutive scoundrel; "I see the well-chain has to go," and there is no earthly doubt now but what some family will be pulling water with a rope and a tin bucket the day after the show.

As Sharp as a Razor.

The other evening a man applied at the general delivery window at the post-office to know if there was a letter for Jones.

"Jones! Jones! What Jones?" asked the clerk.

"Just nothing but Jones," he answered.

"I must have the first name—John, Ed. Henry, James," he said.

"I know your trick!" he exclaimed, looking very cunning. "You want me to ask for Jim Jones, and then you'll say that there's nothing for Jim but that there is a letter for Thomas Jones!"

His Policy.

The other day as an undertaker of this city was walking along, accompanied by his son, he took off his hat and made a low bow to an oldish man whom they saw across the street.

"Father, why do you take off your hat to such an old codger?" inquired the son.

"My son, that man has ten children, some of whom will die before the Summer is out, and he pays cash down for everything," answered the father.

Fairly Proportioned.

Lady visitor (to small boy). "So your eldest brother's name is Maximillian What do you call him?"

Boy. "Maxey, mum."

Visitor. "And the baby—what's her name?"

Boy. "Minnie, mum."

Visitor. "And which are the twins?"

Boy. "Jem an' I, of course."

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

THURSDAY..........SEPTEMBER 16

THE TWO KEANS.

The first chapter of Mr. G. H. Lewes' book on "Actors and Acting," is devoted to Edmund Kean, whom Mr. Lewes considers to have been the greatest of all histrionic artists. While admitting the unevenness of the actor's performance, the utter lack of attention bestowed by him upon the minor details of his art, his want of dignity, his tricky and flashy style, he claims for him a rank as the foremost, and quotes Coleridge's epigrammatic criticism, that "seeing Edmund Kean act was like reading Shakspeare by flashes of lightning," so brilliant and startling were the sudden illuminations, and so murky and dark the dull intervals. He stirred his hearer with such mighty power, and laid such a hold upon his audience in certain passages, that his defects were totally forgotten. In his great mpersonations Edmund Kean shook his audience with the pathos, power and terror of a stormy spirit uttering its passion in irresistible tones. All of his imitators have been ridiculous, because they only succeeded in producing his mannerisms and faults, but could not produce the power which made them endurable. The elder Kean was small and insignificant in figure, but at times he showed a lionlike power. Mr. Lewes says: "I remember the last time I saw him play Othello, how puny he appeared beside Macready until, in the third act, when, roused by Iago's taunts and insinuations, he moved towards him with a gouty hobble, seized him by the throat, and in the well-known explosion, 'Villain, be sure you prove,' etc., seemed to swell into a stature that made Macready appear small. On that very evening, when gout made it difficult for him to display his accustomed grace, when a drunken hoarseness had ruined the once matchless voice, such was the irresistible pathos—manly, not tearful—which vibrated in his tones and expressed itself in looks and gestures, that old men leaned their heads upon their arms and fairly sobbed. It was, one must confess, a patchy performance, considered as a whole; some parts were miserably tricky, others misconceived, others gabbled over in haste to reach the points; but I was irradiated with such flashes that I would again risk broken ribs for the chance of a good place in the pit to see anything like it." This is a strong testimony to the wonderful powers of the great tragedian, and although there is an idealizing tendency in the memory which may, to some extent, exaggerate the remembrance of events gone by, and which occurred at an impressionable age, yet the opinions of other writers bear the author out in claiming for Edmund Kean the position of king of the English-speaking tragedians. He was a consummate master of passionate expression, but all his efforts were regulated by a careful study of art. He vigilantly and carefully rehearsed every detail. The ideal which made him first adopt an original mode of making certain points may have been inspired, but careful study and polish regulated it, and the result was, that when sufficiently sober enough to stand or speak, he could go through his part with the precision of an opera singer delivering an aria.

The younger Kean receives at Mr. Lewes's hands a very careful and elaborate criticism. The over-shadowing genius of the father doubtless detracted much from the fame attained to by the son. He began his professional career by being a very poor actor, but by dint of perseverance and indomitable energy, succeeded in becoming a very good one. Inheriting a name and surrounded by associations that almost forced him upon the stage, his first efforts were ridiculous, and resulted in his making of himself almost a laughing stock. Yet the young, stamping, tricky, ranting actor, by a courageous devotion to his art, by slowly plodding perseverance, succeeded in attaining to an eminent position; but Charles Kean, although he played some Shakspearean parts admirably, was never a tragedian; he was really a melodramatic actor. His finest efforts were Louis the Eleventh and the two Franchi, in the "Corsican Brothers." In the latter Mr. Lewes justly states that he far excelled Charles Fechter, who was his model. In all tragedy there is a strong element of the melo-dramatic; take away the poetry and psychology from "Hamlet," and you have a fine melodrama left. Shakspeare was as sensational as Dumas, but in the latter the situations are the main object, all subordinated to it; in the former they are the mere starting points of action. The moment Charles Kean attempted one of Shakspeare's great characters he failed to reach the dignity of the assumption; he had the power of coarse painting—graphic, it is true, but wanting in subtlety of expression. You felt, when looking upon Charles Kean, that there was a finished actor before you, but there were no unforgetable looks, no utterances that stamped themselves permanently on the memory. Unaccountably, Mr. Lewes does not say one word about Mrs. Charles Kean, yet she was incomparably superior to her husband in histrionic ability.

Clean Shaved.

Kassim Pasha, when Minister of War for Egypt, was very particular in regard to the personal appearance of his officers, and issued stringent orders that they should never appear unshaved in public. One day he met upon the streets a lieutenant who had bearded the pasha and disregarded his order. "To what regiment do you belong?" demanded the indignant minister. "To the ——th regiment, at Abassueh," responded the frightened lieutenant. "Get into my carriage at once, so that I can carry you to the encampment, and have you publicly punished," was the stern command which followed. The young man obeyed, and the twain rode along gloomily enough for some time, when the pasha stopped his carriage and entered a shop for a few moments to make some trifling purchase. Seizing the opportunity, the culprit sprang from the vehicle, darted into a neighboring barber's stall, and regained his post before the return of his jailer, minus his beard. For the remainder of the route the officer buried his face in his hands, and seemed the picture of apprehension. Abassueh was reached at last, and all the officers were assembled to witness the degradation of their comrade, who all the while kept well in the rear of his chief. "Come forward, you son of a dog!" cried out the irate pasha, when there stepped before him an officer with a face as clean as a baby's, and a look of the most supreme innocence. His excellency gave one long look of blank astonishment, and then, with an appreciative smile breaking over his war-worn features, turned to the assembled officers and said: "Here, gentleman, your old minister is a fool, and your young lieutenant is a captain." Cheek, you see, is a trump card the world over.

An Impeachment.

A Saratoga correspondent writes: One of the waiters had secreted a standing dish of cut peaches for a favored guest, by placing the dish on a chair and pushing the chair up to the table's edge, the long ends of the dinner cloth falling over the whole and adding a deceptive air of innocence to the region of bliss. Along came a curled darling of society in snowy white flannel, heavily jewelled, thickly pomatumed and powerfully scented—one of your "pawtic-law fellaws," in fact. The waiter was away for the moment. Our Adonis was peering with his one-eyed glass at an angel at his right; with his left hand he drew out a chair, and sat down into those peaches! The dish snapped, the peaches sizzed and spurted to every point of the compass, and the youth sprang up with such force that he nearly upset the table. The din was as loud as Gabriel's horn and turned the waiters pale and others black in the face, Our flannel-suited friend got up from the floor looking like a cow-spotted circus horse. I thought I could swear. You should have heard the youth of the peach disaster as he went down the main aisle of the dining-room dripping with juice and broken crockery. It was distilled profanity.

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

The Fall and Winter Styles

Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well-selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the best material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Regular Office Hours, from 10 o'clock to 4 P. M.; from 7 to 8 P. M.

CONSULTATION FREE

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS
....AND....
Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se3

Maguire's New Theatre.

Last night saw the last of "Henry Dunbar." This evening "Fanchon," the play in which Miss Katy Mayhew, made such a decided hit last week, will be revived. Miss Mayhew's impersonation is thoroughly well worth seeing, and we hope there will be the good house present such a performance deserves.

California Theatre.

This is the last night of "Harebell, or the Man o' Airlie," so that those who have not seen and wish to see this charming play should avail themselves of this opportunity. To-morrow evening "Julius Cæsar," with Mr. Barrett as Cassius, Barton Hill as Marc Antony, and Harry Edwards as Brutus.

Opera House.

On Sunday evening next, Messrs. Corcoran and Fitzgerald, for a long time connected offically with Mr. Maguire, will receive a complimentary benefit at the Opera House. The list of volunteers is, as may be seen by glancing at our advertising columns, particularly strong. The bill will include "Oliver Twist" and an olio, the whole to conclude by eleven o'clock.

Pacific Hall.

On Saturday evening next, a grand clog contest is to take place between Morris Welch and Henri Stewart for the championship of the Pacific Coast, and $250 a side. The dancing is to be judged by time, style and execution. In addition to this contest there will be a well arranged olio programme.

Herold's Orchestral Matinees.

The first concert of the Second season was given yesterday afternoon to a house with every seat filled. The programme was rather heavier than those that have preceded it, but it is evident that the musical taste of San Franciscans has been pretty highly educated, for Lachner's rather tedious Suite in E minor was listened to with much close appreciation. The Suite contains five movements, an Introduction and Fugue, an Andante, a Mennetto, an Intermezzo and a Giga. Of the five the fugue and intermezzo are by far the best. The fugue is well marked and sufficiently dignified without being cumbrous. The intermezzo is a clever and consistent adherence to a peculiar theme, in peculiar time, with a graceful finale, the second part, which consisted of Lindpainter's Much-of-a-muchness overture to "Faust," a quartette for French horns by Henselt and Rossini's overture to "Tell," the principal number was the quartette for the horns played by Messrs. Schlott, Arendberg, Blythe and Lindner. This was vociferously encored and is we hope but the beginning of a series of instrumental quartettes, trios, duets and solos. You have the material, Mr. Herold.

Wilson's Hippodrome.

Jockey races, hurdle races, Roman races, Chariot races, foot races, trained horses, glimpses of an Irish merrymaking, Indian sports, and frontier life. Such are a few of the entertainments offered at Wilson's Mammoth Hippodrome, every evening and Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

These artists will appear nightly: Charley and Lotta Harris in Dutch specialties, Hughey Robinson in vocalisms, Ned Barry in new and original songs, and Charley King with his banjo.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Kimio's Dutchisms, Geo. C. Thompson's funnyisms, St. Leon in vocalisms, and Swain and West in cloggisms, are a few of the Buckleyisms for to-night.

Woodward's Gardens.

Lee Mon Ting's Great Chinese Bird Miracle—a living bird with superhuman powers of telling the exact time of day without prompting whatsoever; Signor Gonzales the Chilian Wonder, the Star Troupe and Grand Orchestral Concerts are the extra attractions for Saturday and Sunday.

Notes.

Signor Pietro Baccei, arrives in town this evening, under engagement to the Fabbri Opera Company.

The old-fashioned wedding which took place at the New England kitchen some few evenings ago, was so great a success that it will be encored this evening. The Justice of the Peace will tie the knot at nine o'clock.

Amongst those engaged to accompany Mme Titiens on her concert tour, are Mons. Sauret and Signor Orlandini.

Will Mr. Alfred Singer please call at this office any day this week between 11 and 1 o'clock?

The banks may suspend and hard times impend,
And the people grow anxious and fearful,
The I X L Store will your credit restore—
Pin this to your mind and be cheerful.

Please don't go astray when you come up our way
Or you'll lose both your coin and journey.
The I X L, mind, throws its flag to the wind
On the corner Commercial and Kearny.

The odes are sung by every tongue,
The little, great and tearful.
The I X L the chorus swell—
Be merry and be cheerful.

THE PLAYER AND THE PREACHER.

They stood around the actor,
The men of praise and prayer;
They told him of his errors,
And of his sinning, there;
"I pray," said Junius Brutus,
"Alas! no sinner's word
Availeth with the Master,
If by the Master heard."

And then the grand old actor,
With reverent words and sweet;
Began with accents tender
The Lord's prayer to repeat.
The sob of saint and preacher
Rose softly on the air,
And followed to his leading,
As blessings follow prayer.

Then, turning to his callers,
Rebuked their haughty pride:
"How can ye gauge His mercy
Who for the sinner died?
If thus a sinnnr move ye,
The children of His love,
Think not but what he heareth,

They left him, humbler, better,
"These men who came to blame,
And heard the actor calling
Upon his Maker's name.
I know not all his mercies,
But this I know in truth,
That God, who hears the Christian,
Heard Junius Brutus Booth.

Heredity in Music.

Heredity shows itself more markedly in the arts than in the sciences. Taking music we find some remarkable instances. The Bach family, which took its rise in 1550 and became extinct in 1800, presents an unbroken series of musicians for nearly two centuries of that interval. The head of the family was Veit Bach, a baker, of Presburg, and his two sons were the first of the family who were musicians by profession. The descendants literally "overran Thuringia, Saxony and Franconia," says Papillon. "They were all organists, church singers, or what is called in Germany city musicians. When they became too numerous to live all together, and the members of the family were scattered abroad, they resolved to meet once a year, on a stated day, with a view to keep up a sort of patriarchal bond of union. This custom was kept up until nearly the middle of the eighteenth century, and oftentimes more than one hundred persons bearing the name of Bach—men, women and children—were to be seen assembled. In the family are reckoned twenty-nine eminent musicians, and twenty-eight of the lower grade." Rossini's family played music at fairs; Beethoven's father and grandfather were musicians; Mozart's father was second Capell-meister to the Prince-Bishop of Salzberg.

Fishy.

A lady, knowing the incident, vouches for the truth of the following: When our present Secretary of State was Governor of New York, some years since, he had a beautiful oil picture of the juvenile members of his family, painted by a distinguished artist. The group of young faces and figures, finely executed as it was, made a very interesting painting, and attracted general attention. The Governor called in a friend one day to look at it, and his friend, having a much keener sense of the ridiculous than of the artistic, no sooner saw the canvass then he exclaimed: "Why Governor, how's this? I don't see anything but sardines!" "Sardines!" echoed the Governor. "Pray how's that?" "Don't you see?" returned the joker, "here are little Fish preserved in oil, nothing else."

Not to be Beaten.

She was an elderly lady, and as she seated herself on one of the stools in a dry goods store and asked to be shown some "caliker," she remarked that when she was a "gal," she thought she was powerful lucky if she got sixteen yards in a dress, and she thought it a "singful" waste of stuff to put in more; but she had just "heern" that Mrs. X. was agoin' to hev forty-two yards in her new caliker, and she hoped that there might be a cloud burst in seventeen minutes if that air woman should stare round at her in church and make remarks about her clothes. "You kin just cut me off forty-three yards, and I'll have it pin-back fashion, with an over-dress and a square main-sail, and a flyin' jib, and a back-action, then I'd jist like to see that stuck-up Mrs. X. put on airs over me."

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 8-cj

A Bit of Chivalry.

At Woodward's Gardens, in the city of San Francisco, writes Dod Grile, is a rather badly chiseled statue of Pandora pulling open her casket of ills. Pandora's raiment, I grieve to state, has slipped down about her waist in a manner exceedingly reprehensible.

One evening about twilight I was passing that way, and saw a long, gaunt miner, evidently just down from the mountains, and whom I had seen before, standing rather unsteadily in front of Pandora, admiring her shapely figure, but seemingly afraid to approach her. Seeing me advance, he turned to me with a queer, puzzled expression in his funny eyes, and said, with an earnestness that came near defeating its purpose:

"Good evenin' t' ye, stranger."

"Good evening, sir," I replied, after having analyzed his salution and extracted the sense of it.

Lowering his voice to what was intended for a whisper, the miner, with a jerk of his thumb, Pandoraward, continued:

"Stranger, d'ye hap'n t' knew 'er?"

"Certainly; that is Bridget Pandora, a Greek maiden, in the pay of the Board of Supervisors."

He straightened himself up with a jerk threatened the integrity of his neck and made his teeth snap, lurched heavily on the other side, oscillated critically for a few moments, and muttered:

"Brdgpnd——"

It was too much for him; he went down into his pocket, fumbled feebly round, and finally drawing out a paper of purely hypothetical tobacco, conveyed it to his mouth and bit off two-thirds of it, which he masticated with much apparent benefit to his understanding, offering what was left to me. He then resumed the conversation with the easy familiarity of one who has established a claim to respectful attention.

"Pardner, couldn't ye interdooce a feller's vants t' know 'er?"

"Impossible; I have not the honor of her acquaintance."

A look of distrust crept into his face, and finally settled into a savage scowl about his eyes.

"Sed ye knew 'er!" he faltered, menacingly.

"So I do, but I am not on speaking terms with her, and—in fact, she declines to recognize me."

The soul of the honest miner flamed out, he laid his hand threateningly upon his pistol, jerked himself stiff, glared a moment at me with the look of tiger, and hurled this question at my head, as if it had been an iron interrogation point:

"Wat a' yer ben adoin' to that gurl?"

I fled, and the last I saw of the chivalrous gold-hunter he had his arm about Pandora's stony waist, and was endeavoring to soothe her supposed agitation by stroking her granite head.

The Young Man from the East.

"I'm a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges Moderate. D. B. Magee, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. N. B. Open to 2:30 A. M. Old fashioned boiled dinners every Saturday. 2-L

The Green Room.

This popular resort of the profession and all epicures who can appreciate good liquors and a good lunch, is directly opposite the California Theatre. It has just been beautifully frescord and is now a model of taste and elegance. Everybody goes to the Green Room between the acts. x

The original "Swain's Bakery" is now established in their magnificent new place at 213 Sutter street near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

CLARA MORRIS AND THE "MOXA."

The dreadful experience through which Clara Morris has gone in Paris in the treatment of a lesion of the spinal cord excites interest in the terrible "moxa," as the treatment with white hot iron is called. It is a Japanese invention, and has been used in Japan as a counter-irritant for many centuries. The word itself means "burning grass," and is thus used because the Japanese custom is to place the finer wooly parts of the young leaves of worm-wood on the skin, in the form of small cones, and set them on fire by means of a burning-glass. They burn slowly and leave a scar or blister, but the operation is not very painful; it cannot for a moment be compared with the agony occasioned by the scoring of the quivering flesh with iron heated to whiteness—which is what we call "moxa." Its use in Japan, where it is looked upon as a cure for a great number of diseases, such as pleurisy, asthma, rheumatism, and even indigestion, is almost universal, nearly every person, especially among the lower classes, being scarred with moxa spots.

It is well-known that Clara Morris suffered much before leaving for Europe, and even during her last series of performances many times she was carried fainting from the stage, only recovering by the strength of a mighty will, which impelled her to the conscientious performance of what she had undertaken. Her disease was most distressing. It was curvature of the spine, originating in privation in childhood, and rooted by want of proper attention and treatment in later years. Three years ago it could probably have been arrested, but it was

A CRISIS IN HER PROFESSION,

And upon success in surmounting many obstacles her whole future seemed to depend. Naturally, also, her friends as well as herself failed to realize the profoundly serious nature of her troubles, recovery would follow intervals of rest and the various methods of treatment recommended by attending physicians. During the past Summer, however, the development of the disease has been rapid. A sea voyage failed entirely to produce any change for the better, and the fiat of the highest medical authorities abroad confirmed her worst fears, and condemned her to a terrible operation referred to above, the same to which Charles Sumner submitted for the cure of the same disease. Its main feature is the

BURNING OF THE FLESH OF THE BACK,

From the neck down to the waist with hot irons. This horrible torture poor Clara Morris has endured. The operation was performed in Paris, in the paesence of Mrs. Worthington, Donn Piatt's sister-in-law, who has been traveling with her, Mrs. Cleveland, her daughter, Miss Gabrielle Greeley and Sir William Belmore, the attending physician. Her medical attendants wished her to take chloroform, but she refused, and heroically bore the frightful agony until the cruel process had been repeated four times. Then the pain and smell of her own burning flesh became too much for her. Nature, even her brave nature, could stand no more, and she fainted dead away; nor were they certain for a long time whether consciousness could be restored, or that the vital spark had not been tortured out of its socket. It was impossible therefore to complete the operation, which requires that the process of burning be repeated six times, but whether t will be repeated when the patient gains strength is not certainly known.

A Word to the Wise, etc.

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

The Fall and Winter Styles

Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the [illegible] material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Don't forget to call and examine their stock at 647 Washington street, below Kearny.

Don't Help Pay Other People's Debts,

But go to the Furniture and Bedding Store of J. A. Shaber & Co., 707 Market street, near Third, and save fully 25 per cent. by buying of them. Their motto is: "Buy for cash, and sell for cash," therefore they have no bad debts to make up out of extra profits. L

The Genesis of a Star.

Nilsson's career began in much the same way as that of Rachel. About twenty years ago, might be remarked, at the fairs and fetes about Stockholm, a little girl with very fair hair, commes les blis, and big, luminous eyes, who sang with strange expression, popular songs and ballads, accompanying herself on the violin. The child's voice was clear and true, the expression deeply touching, and her little fingers handled the bow with a skill that more than one instrumentalist envied; so that the crowd knew not whether it was the violinist or the singer most commanded admiration. This child was Christine Nilsson. The little street singer attracted the attenton of artists, who, astonished by her wonderful taste, decided it would be a pity that such talent should be lost to art. Some persons of position offered the relations of Christine to give her lessons and the means of acquiring a complete musical education. The father of Nilsson, on the promise that his daughter would become a famous artist, accepted eagerly, and little Christine had professors of singing and the violin, whom she speedily astonished by her rapid progress. At that time it was yet undecided whether she should emulate Sontag or become the rival of Theresa Milanollo. As she became older, however, her voice grew so fine and so extended that they made her give up the study of the violin, fearing that handling the instrument might be injurious to the development of the child's chest. Thus singing became the only object of the little Christine. When her musical education was finished as far as possible in Sweden, she was sent to Paris and placed in the house of a flute player named Colinet, who lived at Les Batignolles, and whose wife, of English origin, was at the same time a mother and a teacher to the young Swede. During several years she received lessons from Wartel, the celebrated professor who formed the talent of so many distinguished artists, and at last, about 1865, was engaged at the Theatre Lyrique, at that time directed by Monsieur Carvalho. She made her debut as Violetta, in the "Traviata," and soon after she obtained a startling success in "Il Flauto Magico" of Mozart. All Paris hastened to applaud the wonderful foreign cantatrice, whose crystal voice ran with the agility of a squirrel to the highest Fa. Her expressive face, her big blue eyes shot with green, the delicious quality and the astonishing suppleness of her voice, all made a wonderful impression. In the artistic world it was known that Ambroise Thomas sought an Ophelia for his new opera of "Hamlet," and all cried unanimously, "Here is the wished-for Ophelia, as Shakspeare's fancy depicted her." Rossini, having heard of the new star, went to hear her in "Il Flauto," and after warmly congratulating her, "My child," said he, "when one has your talent and your future, one ought to be more saving of their voice, and not run the risk of breaking it by giving the 'contre fa.' If you were but an ordinary singer I should not speak thus, but in you there is the stuff of a great artist, and I would preserve to art such 'a marvelous instrument.'" The success of Nilsson at the Theatre Lyrique is well-known.

In conjunction with Faure she saved from shipwreck the work of the learned composer, who never truly succeeded save in the Caid, which, after all, is but a pastiche. During her tour in America she received an abundant harvest of bouquets, crowns and dollars, and the enthusiasm of the sons of Jonathan knew no limits.

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

WITHOUT THE AID OF MERCURY OR NAUSEOUS DRUGS.

Only ONE INTERVIEW REQUIRED, balance of treatment can be conducted without any interruption to business.

Prescriptions free to all every day, from 10 to 11 o'clock, A. M.

Regular Office Hours, from 10 o'clock to 4 P. M.; from 7 to 8 P. M.

CONSULTATION FREE

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of return'ng health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS

....AND....

Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

California Theatre.

"Harebell; or, The Man o' Airlie," was played again last night. This evening "Julius Cæsar" will be given with Lawrence Barrett as Cassius, and a strong cast including Barton Hill as Mark Anthony and Harry Edwards as Brutus. "Julius Cæsar" will be played to-morrow evening as well. "Harebell" will be given for the last time at to-morrow's matinee.

Maguire's New Theatre.

"Fanchon, the Cricket," with Miss Mayhew in the title role, was given here last evening to an improved attendance. We have already spoken at length of this play, and of Miss Mayhew's remarkably clever impersonation of The Cricket. "Fanchon" will be repeated this and to-morrow nights. "The Ticket of Leave Man" will be given on Saturday matinee and Sunday evening. On Wednesday, Hermann, the Magician, will make his first appearance here.

The statement published in the Call this morning, to the effect that the Hooley Company was going to Portland, next week, is incorrect. They will play next week, in conjunction with Hermann, thus presenting the public with double attractions.

Opera House.

On Sunday evening next, Messrs. Corcoran and Fitzgerald, for a long time connected offically with Mr. Maguire, will receive a complimentary benefit at the Opera House. The list of volunteers is, as may be seen by glancing at our advertising columns, particularly strong. The bill will include "Oliver Twist" and an olio, the whole to conclude by eleven o'clock.

Pacific Hall.

To-morrow (Saturday) evening, a grand clog contest is to take place between Morris Welch and Henri Steuart for the championship of tne Pacific Coast, and $250 a side. The dancing is to be judged by time, style and execution. In addition to this contest there will be a well arranged olio programme.

Wilson's Hippodrome.

This mammoth place of amusement continues to attract the immense audiences the entertainment deserves. It should be remembered that for the matinee on Saturday afternoon a scale of most popular prices has been adopted, the traiff of admission having been set down to fifty and twenty-five cents.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Kimic's Dutch songs, Thompson's negro specialties, Swain and West's song and dance, and Mortimer's general supervision, furnish the patrons of this place with plenty of amusement.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

The Dutch specialties of Charley and Lotta Harris are particularly good, Ned Barry's original songs re nightly encored. Charley King and his banjo take immensely, and all the bill is capital.

Woodward's Gardens.

Lee Mon Ting's Great Chinese Bird Miracle—a living bird with superhuman powers of telling the exact time of day without prompting whatsoever; Signor Gonzales the Chilian Wonder, the Star Troupe and Grand Orchestral Concerts are the extra attractions for Saturday and Sunday.

THE CLIFF HOUSE,—Captain Foster, the genial host of the Cliff House, entertains visitors from all parts of the Globe at his famous sea-side resort. The Cliff House is THE one thing San Francisco has to boast of as different from any thing else in the world. Omnibuses run every day from the terminus of the Lone Mountain railroad.

Notes.

We have received from M. Gray, the March from "La Jolie Parfumeuse," arranged for children.

The banks may suspend and hard times impend,
And the people grow anxious and tearful,
The I X L Store will your credit restore—
Pin this to your mind and be cheerful.

Please don't go astray when you come up our way
Or you'll lose both your coin and journey.
The I X L, mind, throws its flag to the wind

The odes are sung by every tongue,
The little, great and tearful.

Be merry and be cheerful.

AT THE PIANO.

Waiting in the twilight, while the music floats,
Fairy whispers breathing through the silvery notes,
Where the glancing fire-light mocks the dusky gloom,
Light and shadow playing through the curtained room—
Watchers fair
Listening there
For a simple music often heard before—
Waiting, watching, listening,
For a latch-key at the door.

Outside on the pavement footsteps echo loud;
Marching, marching onward, comes the busy crowd;
Shadows settling round them, clouds of gloomy gray,
Twilight sends the toilers on their homeward way,
There to meet
Kisses sweet
From the lips that love them—wait, when day is o'er,
Listening for the rattle
Of a latch-key in the door.

Joyous is the music, wild and sweet the strain,
Through the windows greeting him who comes again,
Winter winds are whistling, Winter skies above,
But within his dwelling, warmth and life and love.
Sweet and fair,
Watching there,
Listening for a footstep on the marble floor—
Waiting for the grating
Of a latch-key in the door.

BARRY SULLIVAN'S HAMLET.

"The night of his first appearance," says the critic of the N. Y. Dispatch, "Mr. Sullivan was suffering from the 'rustiness' in the throat that is apt to come to any actor, and generally does come at the most inopportune moments. He apologized for it at the end of the play, begged the indulgence of his audience, and promised to do better in the future. But by this time many of the critics had left the tneatre, and were writing articles condemning the actor's voice as harsh and unmusical. Doing justice to Mr. Sullivan, however, and regarding his huskiness as an unfortunate accident, to be pitied rather than sneered at, it was seen that his 'Hamlet' was the result of a close, careful, and conscientious study. Every man has his ideal of 'Hamlet,' and Fechter fills mine nearer than any other actor on the stage, but he must be but a weak and puerile critic who is not open to conviction, nor can appreciate the beauties and excellences of others. I found then, that Mr. Sullivan had studied the poet's thoughts and intentions with the mind of a man earnest in his search after the truth, conscientious in his beliefs, and able to give them adequate interpretation. From first to last, the characterization bore all the miniature like finish of a picture by Meissonier, with, here and there, a broad, bold dash of color such as a Fortuny or a Zamacois might have put in. His elocution is excellent, colloquial, for the most part, but with an inclination to prosiness, at times, that is somewhat apt to be unpleasant. Much of his "business" is new, and all of it admirable. His parting with Ophelia is one of the best conceptions of the scene that has ever come under my notice. The tenderness, the regretfulness, and the love he puts into it are infinitely touching, and when he catches a glimpse of the concealed King and Polonius, the wrenching of his heart at what he conceives to be Ophelia's perfidy, is a picture of outraged love almost painful to contemplate. This love, though, he cannot master, and when he takes her to his arms, imprints a chaste kiss upon her brow, and then rushes from her heart-broken, the picture is complete—a consummation of refined art. The whole performance is full of these little touches of poetic realism, and, despite the fact that you can discover that each of them is the result of careful study, of the most delicate and absolute art. They leave a lasting impression because they are the art that conceals art."

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F, Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

In the Detroit Police Court.

"I belong to Chicago," was Maria Morton's greeting as she faced the desk.

"I can't help that."

"And I've got my trunk packed to go out to-night," she contined.

Silence.

"And I'm going if it kills me."

More silence.

"And I'm going to have a lawyer if this trial goes on."

Still eating his apple.

"And I'm going to see if the police had any right to arrest me."

Last bite.

"If they hadn't, I'll make it cost 'em $10,000 apiece."

"Maria Morton," said the court, as he threw the apple core away and wiped his chin, "do you realize that you are standing in the shadder of destruction, as it were?"

"I want a lawyer," she answered.

"Do you realize that the brink of an awful legal chasm is at your feet, my dear, Maria?"

She looked down, failed to see the brink, and replied:

"I tell you I'm going to Chicago, to-night."

"Life is very uncertain, Miss Morton. We are here to-day—to-morrow we may be in Chicago, or we may not. As healthy as I am myself, I may be dead before I reach home and get away with my breakfast. Little did you think, when you were prowling around last night, smashing windows and raising disturbances, that the morning sun would shine upon your cell."

"It took three of 'em to bring me here!" she exclaimed, in tones of triumph.

"But it will only take one to carry you away. Go in and take seat number three on the blue saw-horse, and when the Maria drives around don't be backward about getting in. The sentence is thirty days."

"Can I see a lawyer?"

"There are four or five right where you are going."

"I'll have damages for this—you hear me."

"I do hear you, and I'll make it sixty days!"

"You do, eh? Well, I'll make somebody prance for this!"

"I inadvertently put the figure 9 wrong sid up. It now reads "90," Miss Morton, and if I were you I wouldn't say anything more. In about a month more, husking bees will be all the rage, and you won't have any invitation if you keep on."

She clinched her hands, gritted her teeth and wanted to "sass back," but Bijah induced her not to. Court being adjourned the Maria drove around, and a boy with a stone bruise on his heel played the jewsharp while the other sang:

"It's kinder sad to see her cry
And it makes a feller blue;
But when she up and sassed the court,
What could his Honor do?"

The Origin of the Pin-Back Dress.

Mrs. O'Flannigan was an Irish lady, with limited means and a good constitution. She, therefore, like a sensible woman, used the latter to preserve the former by taking in washing, and soon became noted as a purifier of soiled linen.

Mrs. Judy was a widow, having buried her "dear Mike" a few days after his return from a county Fair with his head broken in several places. "Small loss," said the widow to herself; yet she waked him in a manner worthy of the O'Flannigan's in olden times.

Now Judy lived in that "modern Babylon" called London, and it chanced one day that Madame la Mode, a noted French modiste, while visiting "perfide Albion," required the services of one of her craft, and, being recommended to Judy, called and, found her busy, over her tubs, her ample skirt well pinned back, and her person resembling a huge clothes-pin with a sheet tied around it.

Madame was charmed, to her it seemed a novel sight, as they do things differently in la belle France. There the washerwoman are not troubled with long skirts, besides, they generally use the river for a washtub. She immediately felt inspired with the birth of a new fashion and, on her return to Paris, produced the dres called the "Blahchisseuse" which meaning simply washerwoman, did not suit on this side of the water, and the one now in use was adopted in its stead.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

NEW YORK.

The engagement of Signor Tagliapetra, erstwhile of the Strakosch and Maretzek Italian Opera troupes, has greatly added to the attractiveness of Gilmore's Garden, which continues to be nightly crowded.

Mr. Davenport had a crowded house at the Grand Opera House to witness what was promised to be a purely American rendition of the play of "Hamlet," but he was lamentably supported and the play was very poorly mounted. Mr. Davenport's Hamlet is clever in conception and treatment, but, the day has gone by when Mr. Davenport's voice and strength will suffice to fill a a theatre of such dimensions. "Macbeth" was presented 6th; "Hamlet" 7th; "Othello" 8th; "Richard III." 9th; "Merchant of Venice' and "Oliver Twist" 10th, for the benefit of Mr. Davenport, and two comedies on the 11th to close the week.

Niblo's Theatre, New York, is likely to remain closed this season.

One of the features of "The Flying Scud," soon to be produced at Booth's Theatre, will be the introduction of a renowned race horse in the piece.

Chickering Hall, in Fifth Avenue, will be opened with Hans Von Bulow, on November 1st.

Mr. John T. Raymond is still playing Colonel Sellers at the Union Square Theatre to good business.

The Kiralfy Brothers have fully fulfilled their promises in the manner in which they have produced the great Porte St. Martin spectacle, "Around the World in Eighty Days," at the Academy of Music.

Miss Julia Mathews and the "Grand Duchess" in English, are filling Wallack's Theatre.

Madame Madeline Schiller has accepted an engagement for six weeks for an extended Western tour with Theodore Thomas, to commence early in the coming Autumn.

The Park Theatre was re-opened on the 6th, when a new American comedy, written expressly for Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Florence called "The Mighty Dollar," was produced for the first time on any stage.

Mr. Harry Allen, at Robinson Hall, is spoken of as not merely an able vocalist and comedian, but a most superior stage director. His song of the Cane, in "The Princess of Trebizonde" in the second act, has nightly to be repeated three times.

Messrs. Gran and Chizzola commenced their Fall and Winter season at the Lyceum with the introduction of an almost new French opera bouffe troupe, and the presentation in French, for the first time, of Offenbach's pleasing work, "Madame L'Archiduc"

The Mexican Infantile Opera Bouffers made so great a success at the Fifth Avenue, that they were re-engaged for another week. Augustin Daly began the regular dramatic season on the 13th with "Rose Michel."

Of Barry Sullivan's season, at Booth's, we have already spoken at length during the week.

Shakspeare's drama, "The Winter's Tale," has been produced at the Bowery in fine style.

ELSEWHERE.

Mr. Chanfrau, for nine weeks' performance of "Kit" in the past three seasons at the Boston Theatre, netted $30,000; and it is very probable that Messrs. Thayer and Tompkins will add $10,000 more for the engagement, which closes to-night, which is the fourth successive annual season Mr. Chanfrau has appeared in his popular representation of the character referred to

"Van, the Virginian" will be the opening play at Hooley's Theatre, Brooklyn, of which Mr. Bartley Campbell is manager.

Lotta succeeds Mr. Chanfrau at the Boston Theatre on Monday.

It is now rumored that Fanny Davenport will play Lady Macbeth at the Arch Street Theatre, Philadelphia, in November

The season at the Pittsburg Opera House will open on Monday with Mr. Edwin Adams.

"Saratoga" is to be produced at the Cleveland Opera House on the occasion of the opening of the season.

Mr. Hans Von Bulow's début in America will be effected at the Boston Music Hall on Oct. 18th.

Mrs. F. S. Chanfrau commenced an engagement at Ford's Theatre, Baltimore, on the 13th.

Miss Clara Fisher is engaged for the Holliday Street Theatre, Baltimore.

The Boston Courier in speaking of the appearance of two English actors in that city says Geo. Honey ought to Bee popular here, and Mr. Cowper ought to have no Task before him to secure the public good will.

Harrigan and Hart and troupe opened at the Holliday Street Theatre, Baltimore, 13th, one week, will show at Ford's Opera House, Washington, 20th, for one week.

Messrs. Kiralfy and French, proprietors of the famous pictorial play of "Around the World," have enjoined from Messrs. Pillet and Connolly playing the piece in Chicago.

Maggie Mitchell and troupe were at Wolcottville, 13th; Hartford, 14th and 15th; Newport, 18th; will be at New London, 21st; Norwich, 22d.

Frank Frayne and family of children, dogs and horses, opened in Troy on the 13th.

John Thompson and troupe will be at Trenton, 23d, Norristown, Pa., 24th; Allentown, 29th.

Frank Mayo and troupe, opened at the Walnut, Philadelphia, 13th; will be at Rochester, 20th, one week.

De Bar's, St Louis, opened its season on the 6th.

Vokes Family are making excursions in the neighborhood of Providence.

The Providence Opera House opened the regular season on the 11th, with W. H. Power, W. P. Sheldon, E. L. Tilton, H. P. Norman, W. Treville, H. W. Harwoo', M. Steadman, M. Blackman, J. N. Beers, Ida Savory, Josie Bailey, Nannie Egberts, Mrs. M. A. Pennoyer, Hattie Willis, Lizzie Primead, Jennie Hastings, Ida Waterman, Emma Cline, and the Misses Chester

Theodore Tilton delivered his first lecture since the scandal trial at Port Jervis, N. Y., 15th.

Su[illegible] Denin and troupe were at Bloomington, Ill., on the 7th.

Edwin Adams and troupe will be at Elmira, N. Y., 27th.

Fay Templeton's Star Alliance showed at Williamsport, Pa., on the 10th and 11th.

Charl[illegible] R. Thorne, Jr., as D'Artagnan in the "Three Guardsmen," opened at the Boston Theatre on the 30th ult.

The Charlotte Thompson Combination company commenced an engagement at New Haven, Conn., 6th and 7th; were at Hartford, 8th; Westfield, Mass., 9th; Springfield, 10th; Worcester 11th.

E. L. Davenport will be at the Arch, Philadelphia, 20th, to open regular season.

Harry Braham and the Worrell Sisters are at the Athenæum, Boston.

Manager Bidwell, of New Orleans, will control the Mobile Theatre this season.

A woman named Easkins, who weighs 640 pounds, and one of whose dainty white stockings holds a bushel of shelled corn, has been secured in North Carolina by one of Barnum's agents.

Pittsburgh Opera House opened season on the 13th, with Kate Fleshter, Catherine Weidman, Alice Hastings, Alfy Perry, Mary Rickards, Mrs. Sarah A Baker, Celia Johnson, Annie Curran, Albertine Marshall, Cornelia E. Conn, Pauline Fisher, Fay Beckett, Francis Ellis, Julia Phillips, Charles Waverly, H. N. Wilson, W. F. Owen, J. P. Lean, W. H. Crompton.

The Grand Opera House, Cincinnati, opened on the 6th, with Frank Roche, leading man; A. D. Bradly, old man and stage manager; Moses Fisk, comedian; M. M. Price, heavy man; W. H. Southard, juvenile; H. C. Shine, walking gentleman; J. A. Mead, character; C. H. Vane, second comedian; J. A. Thompson, second old man: S. Dowling, prompter; Messrs. The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419. opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

CHRONIC

......AND......

Special Diseases

....TREATED....

WITHOUT THE AID OF MERCURY OR NAUSEOUS DRUGS.

Only ONE INTERVIEW REQUIRED, balance of treatment can be conducted without any interruption to business.

Prescriptions free to all every day, from 10 to 11 o'clock, A. M.

Regular Office Hours, from 10 o'clock to 4 P. M.; from 7 to 8 P. M.

CONSULTATION FREE

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS

....AND....

Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

MAGUIRE'S NEW THEATRE.—"Fanchon" is the best thing the Hooley Comedy Company has produced since its return to this city. Miss Katy Mayhew's impersonation of the elfish heroine, is at once clever and charming. It will be repeated for the last time this evening. This afternoon and to-morrow evening "The Ticket of Leave Man." On Wednesday evening first appearance of Hermann, the Magician.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—"Julius Cæsar" was produced to a full house last night, with Lawrence Barrett as Cassius, and a cast including Bares Hill as Mark Anthony, Harry Edwards as Brutus, John Wilson as Julius Cæsar, Miss Pateman as Calphurnia, and Miss Ellie Wilton as Portia. Mr. Barrett's Cassius is one of his best characters, he is the lean and hungry Roman to the very life. "Julius Cæsar" will be repeated this evening. For the afternoon "Harebell." On Monday, John Brougham's drama of ' The Duke's Motto" will be produced with Mr. Barrett in his famous character of Lagardere. The play will be embellished with a grand ballet.

OPERA HOUSE. — To-morow evening, the Ushers and Doorkeepers of this house, who for a long time have held honorary sinecures, will receive a benefit which has been tendered them by a great number of actors and actresses of this city, among them being Miss Ellie Wilton, William Mestayer, T. W. Keene, J. N. Long, Miss Aggie Keene, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rea, and the Misses McCabe. The bill will consist of "Oliver Twist" and an olio. In the drama, Miss Aggie Keene will play Oliver; her father, Bill Sikes; W. Mestayer, Fagin; John Torrence, the Dodger; Miss Ellie Wilton, Nancy; and Mrs. Rea, Mrs. Corney, Frank Rea, Bumble.

GRAND GERMAN AND ITALIAN OPERA—The first opera of the season, will be given at Platt's Hall, on Tuesday evening next, when "La Dame Blanche" will be given, with the cast as per programme. For a full account of the company, see Notes.

HEROLD'S ORCHESTRAL MATINEE.—The second concert of the second series of concerts will be held on Wednesday afternoon next, when a programme will be presented including such gems as Mozart's Symphonie in E flat, Mendelsshon's overture to "Fingal's Cave" and Weber's Jubilee overture.

WILSON'S COLOSSAL HIPPODROME.—This mammoth place of amusement continues to attract the immense audiences the entertainment deserves. It should be remembered that for the matinee on Sunday afternoon a scale of most popular prices has been adopted, the traiff of admission having been set down to fifty and twenty-five cents.

PACIFIC HALL.—This evening there will be a grand clog contest for the championship of the Pacific Coast, between Morrie Welch and Henri Steuart. An extra inducement will be the stake of $250 a side. An excellent olio bill has also been prepared and the whole entertainment will conclude with a social ball.

BUCKLEY'S NEW VARIETY THEATRE. — Songs and dances, comic ditties, banjo solos, fancy breakdowns, Dutch specialties, duets and well arranged acts are all found on the well arranged bill for to-night.

NEW OLYMPIC VARIETY THEATRE.—The Harrises in their special acts, Ned Barry in new and original songs, Hughey Robinson in his vocalisms and all the company in various acts to-night.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS.—Attractions.—Lee Mon Ting's Great Chinese Bird Miracle—a living bird with superhuman powers of telling the exact time of day without prompting whatsoever; Signor Gonzales the Chilian Wonder, the Star Troupe and Grand Orchestral Concerts are the extra attractions for Saturday and Sunday.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—Captain Foster, the genial host of the Cliff House, entertains visitors from all parts of the Globe at his famous sea-side resort. The Cliff House is THE one thing San Francisco has to boast of as different from any thing else in the world. Omnibuses run every day from the terminus of the Lone Mountain railroad.

DRAMATIC NOTES.

A sitting at the rehearsal of "La Dame Blanche" yesterday, has convinced us that Madame Fabbri has more than fulfilled her pledge to the public in gathering together the musical artists that form her Grand Opera Company. Guided by a professional experience of many years in Europe, and a general acquaintance with operatic artists there, she has chosen a company that augurs most favorably for the success of her forthcoming season. Of Madame Fabbri and Miss Anna Elzer's vocal and artistic abilities the San Francisco public need not be told. Miss Josephine Frankenberg, prima donna soprano, is from the East, and was formerly a member of the English Opera Company lately performing in this city. Miss Ivy Wandesforde, is a resident of San Francisco, and is a soprano of recognised ability. Pietro Baccei, the well known tenor di forza, was brought from the East to take this position in the troupe. The public are well acquainted with Signor Baccei's rare vocal and dramatic qualities, and it is only necessary for us to state that he is one of the few tenors on the stage that can take high C and get away with it successfully. Theodore Habelmann, the lyric tenor, is originally from Vienna. He is a tall, fine-looking man, about 30 years of age, with a captivating moustache and a very sweet and sympathetic voice. Charles Pfiueger and L. Eisenbach are both German tenors, with fine, full voices. F. Lafontaine is a baritone, of Vienna reputation; whilst L. Forti, the other baritone, brings wit' him high professional repute from sunny Its Carl Formes, the basso profundo, needs no endorsement at our hands, his reputation is world-wide. Franz Fischer, the young basso, is from Germany, and possesses a true German bass voice, full-toned and sympathetic. He also gives unmistakable evidence of being a good actor as well as singer. The troupe is well chosen and is a much stronger one than we had any reason to expect. There has been no flourishing of trumpets about this company, but we feel sure that the musical public will be most agreeably surprised next Tuesday evening, when the company [illegible] appearance at Platt's Hall, in De Boildieu's opera of "La Dame Blanche." The programme announcement appears on our first page, to which the reader is referred for minor particulars. As the season advances the public will have the pleasure of hearing Ilma di Murska and Theodore Wachtel, who are under positive engagement to Madame Fabbri to appear later in the season.

Mrs. Oates has been doing Long Branch, and this is how Olive Logan writes about her: "Under ordinary circumstances to speak of a lady's conduct as sans reproche would seem superogatory, but when that lady is young and pretty: when she is an opera bouffe singer; when she is unhappy in her marital relations; when she is stopping at a water-place hotel, always the very tropical hot-house in the nursery of scandal, and when her conduct is so decorous that Sir Benjamin Backbite and Lady Sneerwell and Mrs. Candour and Mr. Snake have been actually obliged to strike her off their books as positively unassailable, one feels it a bounden duty to tell it to Gath and telegraph it to Askelon."

Miss Ella F. Badger, the California artist, has been engaged for a season of one week at the Petaluma Theatre, during the Fair, commencing on the 4th of October. She will be supported by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fulford and a strong company from this city, under the management of Mr. Fulford, formerly of the Proctor Troupe. We wish our Petaluma friends an enjoyable season and hope they will extend to the company the encouragement they deserve. The FIGARO will be the advertising medium of the company, and will be thoroughly distributed throughout Sonoma county during the Fair.

G. L. Fox's "Humpty Dumpty Troupe," which opens at the California Theatre after Dominick Murray's engagement, is at present playing at Buffalo. Mr. Fox opens at Chicago on the 4th of October, and at the California on the 25th.

Montgomery Queen's Circus showed at Rochester, Pa., last evening. Romeo Sebastian has left the concern.

Mme. Arabella Goddard has arrived in New York

Miss Carlotta Leclercq commenced a star engagement at Scarborouge, England, on Monday last.

Dominick Murray, who follows Lawrence Barrett at the California Theatre, is at present at DeBar's St. Louis.

The members of the new Oates' English Opera Company were introduced to each other at the Howard Atheneum, Boston, on Monday morning last. John Howson, Charley Drew, James Jones and Jesse Williams are re engaged.

The Carlo family are at the Olympic, New York

Miss Katharine Rogers is now leading lady at the Globe Theatre, Boston.

Miss Marguesite Chambers, whose Honor McQuade in "Belle Lamar," and Sally in "Fate" made her quite a reputation in New York, is, on dit, under engagement for the stock of the California Theatre.

Stephen Massett writes to inform us that he is going to have his travels and adventures published in book form. His ballad of "Sun et" is being sung by Mr. Mattheson at a panoramic entertainment given at St. James' Hall, London.

The Letter Song from "La Perichole," arranged for little fingers, has been received from M. Gray.

Bryant's San Francisco Amateurs gave a successful entertainment at Pacific Hall, on Wednesday evening last.

The second week of the Emerson Minstrels' return to Hooley's, Chicago, opened propitiously, and the interest of the public has not flagged, as the crowded houses nightly go to prove. The following programme of the past week may be read with interest:

PART FIRST—Kiss me Darling, R. S. Tyrrel; Blow ye Winds, W. Arlington; I am waiting, Bessie Dear, W. H. Tilla; When Terrence joined the gang, Billy Emerson; There's a letter in the candle, J. G Russell.

PART SECOND—Stratagem! embracing Billy Rice, J. R. Kemble, Charles Reed and Ernest Linden. Billy Emerson in his songs and dances. In and Out! Norcross and Arlington. Burlesque Ballads, "Wash D y," Mackin and Wilson. The Three Orphans! Arlington, Rice and Emerson, and a political oration by Charley Reed, the whole concluding with "Immolation, or Broken Vows."

The Minstrels re-open at the Opera House, on Bush street, the first Monday in October.

The Alleghanians report to FIGARO, that they will play at Hamilton Hall, Grass Valley, this afternoon and evening.

The Piper Opera House Company have been playing at the Metropolitan Theatre, Sacramento, during the past week, and playing from all accounts to good business. George D. Chaplin, Miss Jean Clara Walters and Miss Annie Firman are the underlined members of the company. "Divorce" and "Rosedale" have been the two chief plays.

The Fair week at San Jose will have one attraction in the appearance at the Opera House, of Joe Murphy in "Maum Cre." Ned Deaves, of this city, has painted a new ship scene for this play which Brohaska is determined to put on in fine style.

At Salt Lake, Jas. Shepard, concluded his series of concerts at the Institute, on Saturday last. On Monday the Lingard company opened at the Salt Lake Theatre. The bill consisted of "The Admiral," Lingard Sketches, and the comedy of "The Weavers." Frank Gilder filled in the entr'actes with his pianoforte solos. Miss Blanche Galton and Miss Emily Dunning, are amongst the company.

The question of producing burlesque by the Hooley Comedy Company, is still being talked over in the box office, and we should not be surprised if by Monday week, the bills bore the underline of "The Fair One With the Golden Wig." Meanwhile, Hermann, the Magician, appears in an act of diablerie as an extra attraction.

Wachtel, who is announced to join the Fabbri Troupe, later in the season, opens at the New York Academy, on the 28th of October, in "Le Postillion de Lonjumean."

We are extremely glad to hear that Miss Clara Morris is much better. The excessively painful operation of the "moxa," which was described at length in yesterday's issue, has proved a success, and she is out of danger.

Rossi, the great Italian tragic actor, makes his first bow before a New York audience on October 26th. His performances will run simultaneously with those of Edwin Booth. Signor Rossi will perform in London for a short season before starting for this continent. We predict a very great success for him, and much the same popularity as that enjoyed by his only rival, Signor Salvini.

Manager Maguire is expected from the East every day. He will most probably arrive with Hermann, the master of the magic art, on Monday or Tuesday evening next.

We are pleased to find that Professor Geo. Evans is still moving in the matter of establishing a concert garden in San Francisco, to which we alluded some two or three weeks ago. We spoke then, of his having fixed upon some central building, that building, it may as well be said, is the Horticultural Hall. With a very moderate expense it might be converted into a thoroughly charming garden, where, with a good orchestra, comfortable places for refreshment, selected spaces for dances, and a popular price of admission, the rainy Winter evenings, might be most pleasantly passed. We look for further action from Mr. Evans in a matter which will add—should the idea be carried into action—a great feature to the amusements of San Francisco.

Longfellow's New Poem.

The shades of night were falling fast,
When up through Kearny street there passed
Ten thousand men, whose banner bore
This legend of the I X L Store—
Be-cheer-ful.

Up went the windows every side;
"What means this throng?" the peope cried.
Their voices loud in concert swell,
"'Tis tribute due the I X L."
Be-cheer-ful.

"Oh, stop," a maiden said, "and take
An order for my Charlie's sake;
I'll have no man who don't dress well,
And buy his clothes at the I X L."
Be-cheer-ful.

So cried the ladies, far and near;
The men responded with a cheer—
For ladies' tastes are always well—
"We'll patronize the I X L."
Be-cheer-ful.

Way up the street, another throng
Vented their disgust, loud and strong,
Standing all crowding round the door,
Cursing poor suits they'd bought and wore.
Be-cheer-ful,

Their leader spoke and they applaud—
"We are served right, deserve our fraud;
The papers herald, the people tell
The great cheap store is the I X L."
Be-cheer ful.

With hands uplifted, all then swore—
"Hereafter we'll go to that store
To buy the best of hats and boots,
Our underwear and nobby suits."
Be-cheer-ful.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F, Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm. *

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges Moderate. D. B. Magee, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. N. B. Open to 2:30 A. M. Old fashioned boiled dinners every Saturday. 2-L

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

The Green Room.

This popular resort of the profession and al epicures who can appreciate good liquors and a good lunch, is directly opposite the California Theatre. It has just been beautifully frescord and is now a model of taste and elegance. Everybody goes to the Green Room between the acts. x

The Fall and Winter Styles

Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well-selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the best material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Don't forget to call and examine their stock at 647 Washington street, below Kearny.

Photographic Art

Is supposed by some to be in its infancy. We doubt it much, as it is impossible to imagine pictures retouched and finished with more artistic skill than those we saw at Brodeck & Co's new Art Gallery, 640 Market street, opposite the Palace Hotel.

Baths

At No. 10 Post Street, Masonic Temple. At this establishment can be had the celebrated Munro bath, combination hot air, steam, medicated, steam, salt, electro, chemical, hot air, plain, steam, mecurial and toilet baths. Office hours, from 8 A. M. to 10 P. M.

Laughing Gas.

Dr. Wilson, Dentist, 205 Third street, makes a specialty of extracting teeth without pain by the use of laughing gas, and with twelve years experience in its use can warrant success with entire safety in the most difficult cases.

FOREIGN THEATRICAL NEWS.

They do things pretty roughly in Paris. Mlle. Schneider was to sing in a new opera by Offenbach, entitled "La Boulangiere." Not being pleased with it she insisted upon its being rewritten, upon hearing which piece of audacity, although the composer and librettists had consented to do as she wished, the manager of the Gymnase Theatre instantly dismissed the Diva.

A Chinese tenor is to be the next sensation in Paris. He has an ut dieze, and will appear soon at the Grand Opera! They ought to engage a Japanese prima donna. The only Japanese lady we ever knew sang deliciously both Japanese and European songs, and told us that the women of her country possesses very fine, but very high, soprano voices.

German newspapers state that Madame Lucca is contemplating one more tour through Germany, in order to sing at various places, and that afterwards she will retire into private life. For her German tour she has concluded a contract with the impressario, M. Mazcelli, who has guaranteed her £150 for every performance in which she takes part.

The London Hornet says Salvini was not appreciated in America. Well, he was appreciated to the extent of $60,000.

Soldene and her troupe are in the English Provinces doing very fairly.

The death is announced of Mlle. Victoria, "Queen of the slack wire," whom Barnum brought to this country last year.

James K. Emmet will shortly sail from Liverpool for Australia.

English opera is to be tried at the Princess', London, with Carl Rosa's troupe.

"Queen Indigo," Straus' opera, has been a great success at Bordeaux.

Arsene Houssaye has resigned the post of director of the The Lyrique, and M. Campocasso, director of the Brussels Grand Opera, has been appointed.

The "Great" Harry Rickards is back in London. His style is now dubbed old, and he will have no reason to be thankful that he has returned to his native shores.

The Vienna Presse states that the famed tenor, Herr Niemann, had returned to Berlin from Bayreuth, having thrown up his parts in the "Nibelungen," owing to a quarrel with Herr Wagner, who attaches, remarks the London "Athenæum" more importance to a single fiddler than to a solo singer, if we are to judge by an extraordinary telegram (from Bayreuth) published by Messrs. Gatti, of the Covent Garden Promenade Concerts, which is too rich not to be given in extenso, "Please to excuse Mr. Wilhelmj. His presence to the rehearsals here was quite indispensable to the success of the enterprise." If this telegram of Herr Wagner should prove no hoax, it is clear his champions have all been mistaken as to his theory of the new lyric drama. It is not the form of art in which music, acting, and poetry are to be combined into a perfect trilogy that is indispensable to the success of the Wagnerian Theatre, but the fiddling of Herr Wilhelmj.

A Tender-Hearted Brother.

Two enterprising Dutchmen, doing the clothing business in Atalanta, are interviewed by a customer in search of a coat. The senior of the firm handles the new comer, and soon finds a first-class fit. In answer to the price, the response is eighteen dollars.

"Well, sir, I like your coat very much, but don't like the price."

"Well, mine frent, ze price is nothing so you like ze coat. We let you take 'em at fifteen dollars."

The customer still complains of the price, saying that fifteen dollars is too much. This is too heavy for the dealer, so, taking his customer to the extreme end of the store, and drawing him into a dark corner, he whispered in his ear:

"Mine frent, I let you have zat coat for twelve dollars and a half."

"Well, sir," said the customer, "I like your coat very much, and am satisfied with your price, yet I would like to know why this mysterious performance."

"Vell, mine frent, you see that little man there? He was mind broder. He got ze heart disease, and so help me gracious, if he was to hear me tell you I take twelve dollars and a half for zat coat he drop dead mit his tracks."

Mr. Toole and Duncan & Sherman's Bank.

The London Figaro says: "Apropos of British stars in American skies in general, and of Mr. J. L. Toole in particular, I read the following in an American journal: 'Most artists from abroad, and nearly all managers and actors who visit Europe yearly, transacted their affairs through Duncan, Sherman & Co. Mr. J. L. Toole holds their paper, which he bought a fortnight ago, before sailing, to the extent of about $30,000.' So far as Mr. Toole is concerned I have great pleasure in stating (on the authority of Mr. J. L. Toole himself) that this report is incorrect. But Mr. Toole was only saved by the skin of his teeth. He invested $6,000 in Messrs. Duncan, Sherman & Co.'s paper, but choose to have it at sight, instead of at the usual sixty days. The money was payable at the Union Bank of London, and Mr. Toole took the precaution to forward it by post for collection to his own bank (the London and County) by the first mail. He started from New York a short time afterward, and in due time arrived at Queenstown. The steamer was, as usual, boarded by shore boats, and the first news that met the ears of the travellers was the information that Duncan, Sherman & Co. had smashed. The instant Mr. Toole landed he, of course, rushed to the telegraph office, and wired the London and County Bank: 'Have my bills been met?' The reply was that they had been cashed on the Monday, and on the Tuesday the news had arrived by cable that Duncan, Sherman & Co. had failed. Mr. Toole, in fact, had saved his £6,000 by a few hours only. 'If,' he says, 'I had lost my money I might have used bad language; but now I am so glad.'"

Good Grit.

An honest faced stranger called on Justice Potter the other day and inquired what his Honor's usual fee was for joining a couple in the holy bonds of wedlock.

"The fee is two dollars in case you come here," was the reply.

"Less see," mused the man as he handed out a roll of bills; "there's three dollars for a bedstead, eight dollars for a second-hand stove, two dollars for dishes, two dollars to run the house on, and—and that is every blamed cent!"

"So you are short?" inquired the Justice.

"There's the pile," replied the young man, "but I'll knock the two dollars off for dishes and give it to you, for I am bound to be harnessed to my girl this week if I have to bile 'taters in the tea-pot!"

And in less than an hour the two were made one.

Mrs Oates has been doing Long Branch, and this is how Olive Logan writes about her: "Under ordinary circumstances to speak of a lady's conduct as sans reproche would seem superogatory, but when that lady is young and pretty: when she is an opera bouffe singer; when she is unhappy in her marital relations; when she is stopping at a water-place hotel, always the very tropical hot-house in the nursery of scandal, and when her conduct is so decorous that Sir Benjamin Backbite and Lady Sneerwell and Mrs. Candeur and Mr. Snake have been actually obliged to strike her off their books as positively unassailable, one feels it a bounden duty to tell it to Gath and telegraph it to Askelon."

Miss Ella F. Badger, the California artist, has been engaged for a season of one week at the Petaluma Theatre, during the Fair, commencing on the 4th of October. She will be supported by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fulford and a strong company from this city, under the management of Mr. Fulford, formerly of the Proctor Troupe. We wish our Petaluma friends an enjoyable season and hope they will extend to the company the encouragement they deserve. The FIGARO will be the advertising medium of the company, and will be thoroughly distributed throughout Sonoma county during the Fair.

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419. opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

CONSULTATION FREE

DR. SPINNEY is well-known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS

....AND....

Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which be undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

California Theatre.

This evening John Brougham's great drama of "The Duke's Motto, or I am Here" will be revived at this house for the first time in five years. The play will be presented with Mr. Barrett in the star character of Lagardere, and with a ballet composed of Madame Marzetti, Miss Amy Bennett, Mme. Therese, Mons Schmidt, and twelve ladies. Henry Edwards, T. W. Keene, W. A. Mestayer, Robert Pateman, Miss Bella Pateman and Miss Ellie Wilton are in the cast.

Maguire's New Theatre.

"Fanchon" was played for the last time on Saturday night, to a good house, the appreciation of Miss Katy Mayhew's acting in the chief role, having become at once just and general. This evening, H. J. Byron's drama of "Blow for Blow," will be given with a strong cast. The play will also be given to-morrow evening. On Wednesday evening, Hermann, the Magician, makes his appearance in combination with the Hooley Company, who will play a series of short pieces.

Grand Opera.

The initial opera of Madame Fabbri's new season at Platt's Hall will be given to morrow evening. De Boildieu's, but little known (here) work, "La Dame Blanche" has been chosen for the inauguration of the season. Its cast will include Madame Fabbri as Anna, Miss Elzer as Jenny, and Miss Brant as Margaret. These ladies are known to us. But the opera will also be marked by three first appearances, being these of Theodore Habelmann, (tenor) as George Brown, Chas. Pfluger, (tenor) as Dickson, and Franz Fischer (basso) as Gaveston.

Wilson's Hippodrome.

Saturday's two houses were the largest of the season, the immense tent being crammed at each performance. But this is the last week, so that the small portion of the public that has not yet visited this unique place of amusement has but a short time in which to gratify its curiosity. The great feature of the week will be the Sports of Merrie England, introducing the Derby Day. This will take the place of the Donnybrook Fair.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

"The Two Artists," "The Fellow That looks Like Me," "Happy Uncle John," and "The Hotel Runners," are the acts for to-night, besides which there is a most interesting olio.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

The acts for to night are "Nine Points of the Law," "The Two Runners," "The Tourist" and "The Statue Blanche, besides which there is a splendid olio.

HEROLD'S ORCHESTRAL MATINEE.—The second concert of the second series of concerts will be held on Wednesday afternoon next, when a programme will be presented including such gems as Mozart's Symphonie in E flat, Mendelsshon's overture to "Fingal's Cave" and Weber's Jubilee overture.

Notes.

Miss Clara Morris has arrived in New York, slightly improved in health.

John McMahon and Homer Lane, write to inform us that they have left for Sacramento to fulfil an eight days' engagement, of what nature, deponents say not.

A day or two ago Messrs. Robert Eberle and his inseperable, Cass Downing, out of the fulness of their hearts (and pockets), presented T. W. Keene with a handsome fob gold chain, as a mark of their appreciation of and liking for the favorite leading man of the California Theatre.

The benefit of the Ushers and Doorkeepers of the Opera House held last night, was a success. The house was crowded and the bill—which consisted of "Oliver Twist" and an olio—passed off smoothly. In the drama, the Fagin of William Mestayer, the Bill Sikes of T. W. Keene and the Nancy of Miss Ellie Wilton were desevring of notice, Mestayer in his make-up, Keene for his brutality and Miss Ellie Wilton for a performance at once powerful and pathetic.

Miss Carlotta Leclercq commenced a star engagement at Scarborouge, England, on Monday last.

Dominick Murray, who follows Lawrence Barrett at the California Theatre, is at present at DeBar's St. Louis.

The members of the new Oates' English Opera Company were introduced to each other at the Howard Atheneum, Boston, on Monday morning last. John Howson, Charley Drew, James Jones and Jesse Williams are re-engaged.

Stephen Massett writes to inform us that he is going to have his travels and adventures published in book form. His ballad of "Sunset" is being sung by Mr. Mattheson at a panoramic entertainment given at St. James' Hall, London.

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

The Green Room.

This popular resort of the profession and all epicures who can appreciate good liquors and a good lunch, is directly opposite the California Theatre. It has just been beautifully frescoed and is now a model of taste and elegance. Everybody goes to the Green Room between the acts. x

BEFORE THE LEAVES FALL.

I wonder if oak and maple,
  Willow, and elm, and all,
Are stirred at heart by the coming
  Of the day their leaves must fall?
Do they think of the yellow whirlwind,
  Or of the crimson spray
That shall be when chill November
  Bears all the leaves away!

"If die we must," the leaflets
  Seem one by one to say,
"We will wear the colors of all the earth,
  Until we pass away.
No eyes shall see us falter;
  And before we lay it down
We'll wear in the sight of the earth
  The year's most kingly crown."

So, trees of the stately forest.
  And trees by the trodden way,
You are kindling into glory
  This soft Autumnal day.
And we, who gaze, remember
  That more than all they lost,
To hearts and trees together
  May come through ripening frosts.

STRAY HITS AND STOLEN BITS.

A party of naturalists was very much amused, one day last week, by the spectacle of a Wisconsin potato bug jerking an ox-cart around a ten-acre lot in order to get up an an appetite.

A Pennsylvanian hunter, who went ten miles to where game was plenty, and then found that he had brought a box of pills instead of percussion-caps, returned home in disgust.

They talk of building a monument to John Smith in Virginia. We have a vague recollection of seeing that name before, but we didn't know the gentleman was dead.

There is one consolation in being bald. When a policeman strikes you on the head with his club the doctor doesn't have to waste any time in cutting the hair away from the wound.

A woman may so forget herself as to allow a man to lace up her boots before they are married, but after marriage she attends to the lacing herself.

They say if you want a free fight while traveling in in the far West, you must find a Granger whose fields have been devastated by grasshoppers, and congratulate him on having disposed of his crop without the intervention of a middleman.

All bachelors are not entirely lost to the refinement of sentiment, for the following toast was lately given by one of them at a public dinner: "The ladies—Sweet briars in the garden of life!"

A slow match—A wedding after a long courtship.

There is said to be a journal in England published in the interest of the undertakers. A mourning paper, of course.

"What is home without a mother." In the first year of married life it is a very nice sort of place.

Bogus—If your girl or her big brother comes along and points a pistol at you, and tells you to walk down to the minister's and be married, go right along and do it; the marriage will be bogus. That has recently been decided by the Supreme Court of New York.

As a Dentist.

A little Missouri girl has developed parts as a dentist. She tied a string to her little brother's tooth, tied the other end to the stove leg, and then touched a red hot coal to the little victim's nose. The tooth came out.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F, Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 8-cj

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equal to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm. *

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges Moderate. D. B. Magee, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. N. B. Open to 2:30 A. M. Old fashioned boiled dinners every Saturday. 2-L

The Antelope Oyster House.

Our specialty, always the best oysters in market served up in the best style of cooking. Our Eastern transplanted oysters excel any other in market. Established in 1864. No. 612 Market near Montgomery. N. B.—Ice Cream, Strawberries and Cream, and all Fruits in season. B

A Blunder.

In what was intended for a very pretty speech a great blunder was perpetrated by a dignitary of the church, who was asked to marry a young couple in a country place where he happened to be staying, and was also called upon to propose the health of the bride and bridegroom at the subsequent breakfast. "To sum up all our good wishes for the happy pair whom we have seen united this morning," he said in conclusion, "we can not, I am sure, do better than express a desire that the result of their union may prove strictly analagous to that of the parents of the fair bride." Whereupon the "fair bride" went into hysterics, the bridegroom's eyes flashed daggers, the bridesmaids colored and looked down, and the master of the house blew his nose violently, He who had caused all this commotion wisely sat down and held his peace, wondering at the effect of his innocent compliment to the host and hostess. He soon, however, found one to enlighten him. "She is not their daughter at all," his informant explained, "but a niece who came to live with them when her father and mother were divorced."

The Vokes.

The Vokes, it seems, were all born in London. "Fawdon," the Clipper tells us, was born in 1847; Fred in 1848; Jessie in 1852; Victoria in 1854; and Rosina in 1856. They debuted between 1855 and 1856. Rosina as baby in the farce of "Mr. and Mrs. White." Amongst their characters was Prince Arthur, in "King John;" the Prince of Wales, in "Richard III.;" and Little Pickle. They first appeared in combination in 1861 at Edinburgh as the "Vokes' children," and were highly successful, and have been so ever since.

An Elegant Carpet.

The perfection that has been obtained in the manufacturing of carpets can be seen in a specimen of the French "moquet" carpets on exhibition in Hall & Lachman's window, on Sutter street a few doors above Montgomery. It is of the tapestry pattern of light and dark crimson, adorned with beautifully wrought classical figures, busts, and Roman colonades. It is a veritable picture in velvet, and the finest peice of carpet ever exhibited in San Francisco.

Longfellow's New Poem.

The shades of night were falling fast,
  When up through Kearny street there passed
Ten thousand men, whose banner bore
  This legend of the I X L Store—
    Be-cheer-ful.

Up went the windows every side;
  "What means this throng?" the peope cried.
Their voices loud in concert swell,
  "'Tis tribute due the I X L."
    Be-cheer-ful.

"Oh, stop," a maiden said, "and take
  An order for my Charlie's sake;
I'll have no man who don't dress well,
  And buy his clothes at the I X L."
    Be-cheer-ful.

So cried the ladies, far and near;
  The men responded with a cheer—
For ladies' tastes are always well—
  "We'll patronize the I X L."
    Be-cheer-ful.

Way up the street, another throng
  Vented their disgust, loud and strong,
Standing all crowding round the door,
  Cursing poor suits they'd bought and wore.
    Be-cheer-ful,

Their leader spoke and they applaud—
  "We are served right, deserve our fraud;
The papers herald, the people tell
  The great cheap store is the I X L."
    Be-cheer-ful.

With hands uplifted, all then swore—
  "Hereafter we'll go to that store
To buy the best of hats and boots,
  Our underwear and nobby suits."
    Be-cheer-ful.

The Fall and Winter styles

Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well-selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the best material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Don't forget to call and examine their stock at 647 Washington street, below Kearny.

Photographic Art

Is supposed by some to be in its infancy. We doubt it much, as it is impossible to imagine pictures retouched and finished with more artistic skill than those we saw at Brodeck & Co's new Art Gallery, 640 Market street, opposite the Palace Hotel.

STRAY HITS AND STOLEN BITS.

The Leavenworth belle is frequently forced to take whiskey in self-defence. At a ball given there, recently, as a young man was gathering her in for a round dance, her nose went up like the leaf of a sensitive plant, and jerking herself loose from him, she exclaimed -"John, ain't you got no more of them cardemen seeds? Because if you ain't, I'll have to take another drink or change my partner."

Jasen Welch, of Iowa, got mad and stopped his newspaper, and then because the withdrawal of his patronage didn't kill the paper he went and killed himself.

When you meet a small youth playing the drum, at the head of a lot of two-foot soldiers, with a stick and brass kettle, you may know that his mother has the preserving fever, and has sat down to wring her hands and wonder "what on earth has become of that boy" she sent after Mrs. Jones' kettle two hours ago.

A Patchogue woman kept her mouth pried open for six hours in order to cure a gumboil and hasn't been able to close it since. Her husband is a believer in special Providence.

The other day a Detroit husband was reading in a newspaper that the premonitory symptoms of insanity were a wild look, flushed face, thick speech and so forth, and he handed it to his wife and remarked: "Mary, if I ever come home looking that way you'll know what it means, and you'll know what to do." "Yes, darling," she softly replied as she laid the paper down, "I'll have an emetic and a club waiting for you."

An exchange says "the Sandwich Islanders believe that Beelzebub walks the earth in the form of a woman." And now and then you will find a man in this country who believes so too, and that he has married the woman.

The Chicago Tribune says that "Daniel O'Connell was proud of his power of giving a lick with the rough side of his tongue." It would have been a great relief to the young men in the post office if Mr. O'Connell's services could have been secured for the stamp department.

Nothing is so discouraging to a young lawyer just as he waxes eloquent about angel's tears, weeping willows and tombstones, as to be interrupted by the cold-blooded justice with "You're off your nest, bub; this is a case of hog-stealing."

A number seven hat will just fit a St. Louis mosquito bite.

Nothing in the world makes a man so mad as to dream that he is kissing an academy girl, and wake up to find that a depraved fly is waltzing around the ragged edges of his mouth.

A broker's son, feeling the premonitions of a boil, said he would hold it for a rise.

The announcement that Russia has agreed to recognize the Khan of Khokand, creates considerable satisfaction in this neighborhood as the Khan was always known to be a perfect gentleman, and a man who would scorn to wear a clean shirt or pay a board bill.

It depends upon the sun whether or not coming events cast their shadows before.

A few days ago a Norwich man bought a chest of tea in Providence, and on opening found a stone inside weighing nearly eleven pounds. He remarked that the weighs of Providence are very mysterious.

Henry Ward Beecher was introduced to a Shaker at the White Mountains the other day, and said to him. "I understand your belief deprives you of some of the pleasures of this life," whereupon the other replied, "It shields us from some of its temptations, also."

A St. Paul mother recently took her fifteen-year-old daughter to a party for the first time, and was astonished to find that the "little girl" knew nearly every society man about town, understood the figures of the German and could talk like a magpie.

An Oriental Tale.

One day the good old man Haroun Al Rashed walked in his garden to commune with Nature.

The sky was bright.

The sun cast cheerful shadows.

All nature smiled.

"Mankind are but flowers," said the good old man as he meandered down the graveled paths. "While the sun shines and his sky is clear, man is joyful; when the clouds of adversity come and the winds are chill he fades and dies."

As Haroun Al Rashed walked he met his wife, who was likewise communing with Nature.

"What hast thou seen in the garden, my angel?" asked the old man, as he fondly patted her cheek.

"My husband, I have seen that the verdure is typical of human life," she sadly answered. "Some of the trees are dying, some of the flowers fading, and others are strong in their beauty."

"Let us go and seek our son Rousan, and ask what he has seen," said Haroun Al Rashed, and they walked on together.

In a little time they found young Rousan, seated at the foot of a tree reading a paper.

"My son," said the aged father, "hast thou read of those things to-day which will add to thy moral strength on the morrow?"

The young man slanted his hat over his ear and did not answer.

"Tell me, my son, what thou hast read?" continued the father, smiling proudly. "Tell me if it be some noble precept."

"Oh, shoot your precepts!" answered young Rousan, as he cast the paper from him. "I was reading that Tom Allen had challenged Pig-Iron Kelly to fight him for $500 a side, and I'll bet you an X that Kelley will back water!"

And then Haroun Al Rashed and his wife walked no more in the garden, but sent the young man out for a copy of the Clipper, so that the good old man could prepare to lay his stamps on the best man.

The French Vaudeville.

There are two kinds of vaudevilles—the old and the new. The distinctive characteristic of the former is a series of couplets which are sung throughout the piece without any good reason therefor. Suddenly, without admonition of any kind, a verse is sprung on the public with the brusqueness which characterizes the appearance of the miniature devil in the bandbox, finishing as abruptly. Then the playing is resumed where it was left off. No dramatic author of merit now does this kind of work. The old vaudeuille has recently developed into the opera bouffe, where a portion of the scenario necessary to the understanding of the play is sung, and the germ now appears very meagre and simple compared with the full orchestration and magnificent decorations of its offspring. In some of the minor theatres authors of little note still occasionally put here and there musical airs into the mouths of people who do not know how to sing, and to hear a comedian of the Bariere executing them with an absinthe voice shows the custom in its most ludicrous aspect. What is now called the vaudeville—the new one—is the society play or comedy.

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419. opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS
....AND....
Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

Maguire's New Theatre.

H. J. Byron's highly colored drama of "Blow for Blow" was given at this house last night to a most appreciative house. The play, though of the most sensational order is a good one, well constructed, and to do the Hooley Company justice, well played. The characters of Charley Spraggs, the pugilistic clerk, afterwards a sporting swell and taken by W. H. Crane; of Kitty Wobbler, a gushing young thing desperately in love with Spraggs and taken by Miss Katy Mayhew; of John Drummond the cowardly, cringing villain, and taken by M. A. Kennedy—are all well worthy of notice.

California Theatre.

The revival of "The Duke's Motto" was attended by a crammed house, and the augury of a continuation of that success which marked its last production at this theatre, some five years ago. Our readers are all familiar with the incidents of this exciting French melodrama, and how Lagardere--played like a flash of lightning by Mr. Barrett—always turns up exactly at the right time and place, as a knightly gentleman should, whose motto is that of "I am here." Besides the natural interest excited by the run of the story, there are the additional attractions of a large and well-drilled ballet, a capital chorus and much handsome scenery, of all of which we shall have more to say ere the week has passed

Grand German and Italian Opera.

The initial opera of Madame Fabbri's new season at Platt's Hall will be given this evening. De Boildieu's, but little known (here) work, "La Dame Blanche" has been chosen for the inauguration of the season. Its cast will include Madame Fabbri as Anna, Miss Elzer as Jenny, and Miss Brant as Margaret. These ladies are known to us. But the opera will also be marked by three first appearances, being those of Theodore Habelmann, (tenor) as George Brown, Chas. Pfluger, (tenor) as Dickson, and Franz Fischer (basso) as Gaveston. Herr H. Hinrichs, occupies the responsible position of Conductor and M. F. Lafontane that of Stage Manager.

Wilson's Hippodrome.

We beg to call especial attention to the foot note of the announcement of the last week of the Hippodrome. The note calls on all not to fail to witness the sports of this mammoth place of amusement before it closes, and further informs all intending visitors that cars from all parts of the city will take them there for one fare. "The Sports of Merrie England" are the attractions for this week.

Herold's Orchestral Matinees.

The second concert of the second series of will be held to-morrow afternoon, when a programme will be presented including such gems as Mozart's Symphonie in E flat, Mendelsshon's overture to "Fingal's Cave" and Weber's Jubilee overture.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Frank Mortimer always arranges a good programme and that for to-night is one of his best. Acts and olio are all of a first-class style.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

The acts are particularly good and the olio is of such a nature as to bring every member of this strong company to the front in his or her best specialty.

Woodward's Gardens.

Lee Mon Ting's Great Chinese Bird Miracle—a living bird with superhuman powers of telling the exact time of day without prompting whatsoever; Signor Gonzales the Chilian Wonder, the Star Troupe and Grand Orchestral Concerts are the extra attractions for Saturday and Sunday.

Notes.

Professor Hermann and his wife are on the overand passenger list for this evening.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since.

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm. *

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions Club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relie by applying at Dr. R. H. WEDDED.

Some quick and bitter words we said,
And then we parted. How the sun
Swam through a sullen sea of gray!
A chill fell on the Summer day,
Life's best and happiest hours were done;
Friendship was dead.

How proud we went our separate ways,
And spake no word and made no moan;
She braided up her flowing hair,
That I had always called so fair,
As though she scorned my loving tone,
My word of praise.

And I? I matched her scorn with scorn,
I hated her with all my heart,
Until—we chanced to meet one day;
She turned her pretty head away;
I saw two tender tear-drops start,
Lo! love was born.

Some fond, repenting word I said
She answered only with a sigh;
But when I took her hand in mine
A radiant glory half divine
Flooded the earth and filled the sky;
Now we are wed.

A Moral French Play.

"The other evening, at the Theatre Francais," says the Paris correspondent of the New York Spirit of the Times, "we had what is most appropriately called a 'Soiree Dramatique Morale.' It opened with a one-act piece by Jules Sandeau, entitled "Marcel." The plot, exceedingly simple, has a pathetic turn which is very effective. A gentleman, fond of sports, gives a fete at his chateau. While prowling about the terrace shooting night-birds, his little son, of five years, Marcel, wishing to play a boyish trick upon his father, conceals himself near at hand. By accident the son is shot and killed, and when the father realizes his dreadful deed he becomes crazed. At the time of this calamity, the wife and mother, enciente, gives birth to a son. At the expiration of five years, the insane father, who has been traveling under the care of devoted friend, is recalled home by his physician. He is purposely brought to his own room at night, very weak and tired with travel, where he falls asleep. All the surroundings are arranged as they existed before the accident. In the morning the wife comes in, bringing her son, who has grown to be the perfect prototype of what Marcel was before his death. The physician and friend follow, and assure the bewildered man that he has been very ill with brain-fever, and the five years are but as many days. He appeals to the old servant, whose concurrent testimony convinces him. Then follows a pathetic scene, in which the father seeks to recognize the son as his Marcel. Their colloquy is very touching. "Thou art not my son," exclaims the father. "But you are my papa!" says the boy. "How old are you!" asks the parent. All breathlessly wait the child's reply. "I'm five years old, papa!" "Then thou art not Marcel," cries the father, through his tears. The boy, by an impulse of natural feeling, springs into his father's arms and exclaims, "I am Marcel, but I am not my own little brother!" The cloud lifts from the parent's mind, he looks at his wife, and comprehends it all. This play, so sweet in sentiment, has long been a favorite at the Francais. The part of the child is played by a bright little girl, of great beauty.

A Hard Winter Coming.

From the Vicksburg Herald: "Next Winter's gwine to be a mighty hard one, ef you b'lieve me," said a steamboat rouster on the elevator the other day.

"Why so?" a Herald reporter asked.

"Look at de mus-keeters."

"Well?"

"Y'ever see 'em so thick?"

"They are rather numerous."

"And dey don't sing a bit."

"Maybe they're out of music; besides, you know the acoustics of this building are bad."

"Sowsticks?"

"No sound, you understand. Throats of the little warblers out of order; ceiling of the building phonocamptic. Their little songs melt away in the distance, as it were; the sound is refracted, and—

"Well, I don't know nuffin' bout dat, but I tell you's gwine to be a hard Winter. When you see so many skeeters not singing a bit, but jest gettin' down right squar to business, you may know dey's layin' in a supply of pervishuns for a hard winter. Dat's my sign."

Queer Names for Newspapers.

What sort of an object, for instance, did an editor in Jefferson, Texas, have in his brain when he christened his newspaper the Jimplecute? Odd sounding titles, however, seem to be fashionable in Texas, for there we find the Busy Bee, the Moving Ball, the Developer, the Dallas Itemizer, the Cotton-Gin-Free-Stone Herald, and the Golden Man.

Louisiana furnishes a very classic title in the town of Homer, whither a journalistic lunatic with an idea of the fitness of things went from a long distance to establish a paper and call it the Iliad of Homer. In Mississippi the Corinth Sub-Soiler suggests thorough cultivation of the newspaper field, and the Copiahan suggests nothing in particular. Among the luminous titles we find Le Phare des Lacs shedding its light over the water from Buffalo; the Housatonic Ray glimmers in Connecticut; the Headlight is an Iowa illuminator; and the Winterset Sun, also of Iowa, is too suggestive of a decline to be well named; the Kingdom of Heaven is a spiritualistic publication; the Palestine News does not contain, as its name would indicate, the freshest mail and telegraphic advices from the New Jerusalem, but is a plain Illinois weekly; the Family Casket is not a periodical issued in the interest of the undertakers; nor is the Silent World printed for graveyard circulation, but simply for the benefit of the deaf mutes. It is to be hoped that the Clarksville Tobacco Leaf does not exercise a narcotic effect on its readers.

For short, crisp names, that trip lightly over the tongue, commend us to the Punxsatawney Mahoning Argus of Pennsylvania, and the Walhalla Leowee Courier of South Carolina, as well as to the good old standbys, the Philadelphia North American and United States Gazette, and the Baltimore American and Commercial Advertiser. The Spirit of Jefferson is now published in West Virginia, but the name is not copyrighted, and may, of course, be used by the Jeffersonian organ in Chicago. The Opposition, published in Kansas, is undoubtedly one of the general hell-raising newspapers, which are deservedly so popular and successful. The Reformed Missionary does business in Iowa, but what the missionary did, that was naughty, the prospectus does not state. Perhaps he went to the Sandwich Islands, where little birds sing habitually in the native ladies' hearts.—Chicago Tribune.

Longfellow's New Poem.

The shades of night were falling fast,
When up through Kearny street there passed
Ten thousand men, whose banner bore
This legend of the I X L Store—
Be-cheer-ful.

Up went the windows every side;
"What means this throng?" the peope cried.
Their voices loud in concert swell,
"'Tis tribute due the I X L."
Be-cheer-ful.

"Oh, stop," a maiden said, "and take
An order for my Charlie's sake;
I'll have no man who don't dress well,
And buy his clothes at the I X L."
Be-cheer-ful.

So cried the ladies, far and near;
The men responded with a cheer—
For ladies' tastes are always well—
"We'll patronize the I X L."
Be-cheer-ful.

Way up the street, another throng
Vented their disgust, loud and strong,
Standing all crowding round the door,
Cursing poor suits they'd bought and wore.
Be-cheer-ful,

Their leader spoke and they applaud—
"We are served right, deserve our fraud;
The papers herald, the people tell
The great cheap store is the I X L."
Be-cheer-ful.

With hands uplifted, all then swore—
"Hereafter we'll go to that store
To buy the best of hats and boots,
Our underwear and nobby suits."
Be-cheer-ful.

The Fall and Winter Styles

Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well-selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the best material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Don't forget to call and examine their stock at 647 Washington street, below Kearny.

Photographic Art

Is supposed by some to be in its infancy. We doubt it much, as it is impossible to imagine pictures retouched and finished with more artistic skill than those we saw at Brodeck & Co's new Art Gallery, 640 Market street, opposite the Palace Hotel.

STRAY HITS AND STOLEN BITS.

A Canadian girl offers to match herself against any man in the Dominion at driving a reaping machine. She often drives the reaper all day, and at night entertains the work-hands with music on the organ, accompanied by her voice.

"Our common mother's unfortunate fruit speculation," is the latest way of referring to that misfortune which compels us to work for a living.

A St. Louis physician has offered a reward of $1,000 for an authenticated case of death from eating ripe watermelon.

The Chicago ministers are trying to preach down the pinned-back dresses, and a Canadian priest threatened the pinned-back women of his congregation with excommunication.

Kate Field is not creating as much excitement in the British Empire as might have been expected. In the saloons of Belgravia she is known as the "spiteful American." "She is clever, very clever," remarked an old lady, "but too 'orrid for anything."

At a court-martial, a young Irish officer, when questioned whether he had not given the lie to a certain person, replied, "No; I only said that either he or the colonel had told a lie, and that I was sure it wasn't the colonel."

A barber, who was in the habit of stunning his customers' ears by the rapidity of his tongue, asked an individual one day, how he wished his beard cut. "Without saying a single word," replied he.

What a perfect idea of impecuniosity is given in the remark made last week by one despondent Hibernian to another: "Faith," says one, "I haven't more than ten cents in my pocket." "Be jabers," retorted the other, "you are better off than I am, then; I've nothing in my pocket, and very little of that, ayther."

"There was a place apart in heaven" says a Chinese sage "for good wives who could judge a wicked thing as harshly when a man did it as when a woman did it. But it has never been occupied, I believe."

"Say, mister," said a soiled looking boy on the wharf, "do you ever give a piece o' watermelon to a poor boy whose father'n mother's both dead, 'n who goes to Sunday school, 'n has got a sore heel?" The man was deeply touched and gave him a large slice off a rotten one.

Pull Backs.

To dress as some folks do, I say it's a sin and a shame. [A woman wrote this.]

Custom house officials are in love with the pull back dresses. They say ladies returning from Europe cannot conceal one-half the quantity of smuggled goods under such contracted suits, as they did under their old expansive skirts. So the pull-back dresses are also a pull back to smuggling.

Anna Dickinson says she does not see any sense in pull-back dresses. That is very true, but it isn't sense that men are looking for when they gaze on a traveling pull-back.

"Blest are the ties that bind" the pin-back skirt.

The present style of dress is a great "draw back" to married ladies who are cultivating a family.

Trim 'em down in front, as long as the texture will stand it! Pull 'em back—pull till the last thread snaps!

A young lady was heard to remark the other day, "With being tied around above, and tied around below, I haven't had a square sit-down since the introduction of the new fashion."

The Young Rascal.

A boy tried his first pipe the other day. When his father came home to dinner he found a deathly pallor overspreading his face. "What is the matter with you?" inquired the amazed parent. "My—teacher is—sick," gasped the boy. "Well, you mustn't feel so badly about it, Tommy," said the father, kindly. "She will get well again, without a doubt." And then, stepping aside, he observed to his wife that that was the most sympathetic boy he ever saw.

Little Baggage.

The death of ex-Governor Weller, of California, revives this anecdote of him: "Weller was once unfortunate enough to be caught in a shipwreck. Arriving at San Francisco, he was asked by a sympathizing friend if he had lost much. 'Lost everything, sir, said Weller, 'everything but my reputation.' 'Governor,' said the friend, 'you travel with less baggage than any one I ever saw.'"

Palmers have received a new supply of ladies' and children's underwear—very cheap—726 to 734 Market street.

In the Detroit Police Court.

A POET RECEIVES GOOD ADVICE.

He was a young man with a sentimental air. His hair was drawn back over his ears; his eyes had a far-off look; one could see poetry in all his motions, especially in the way he stubbed his toe against the stove as he balanced out. In searching him the night before the police had taken away his latest poem. It was a poem entitled "A Wail." One verse will introduce the young man's merits:

When I look around me and see other boys happy it makes me feel quite sad.
To be a lonely boy since mother is dead.
Hark! I hear a voice saying, my child, rejoice, be of good cheer.
Tho' out of sight, yet in my own soul's memory, you are ever dear.
My happy days of childhood I wish I could again recall;
Some happy days since then I spent, but them surpassed all.
Mother is dead and gone, I hope her soul is with the angels bright—
May she rest in peace with the saints who enjoy eternal life.

"Ferdinand Thompson, did you write this trash?" asked his Honor, after pouring over the poem for five minutes.

"Yes, sir—that poetry."

"And your mother is dead?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, I don't blame her for dying. I wonder that her ghost doesn't go around groaning with the bilious colic."

"I think I am a good judge of poetry," stiffly replied the young man.

"You are, eh? Well, now you hear me. It was your first drunk, and you may go, but if I ever catch you here again with any more poems in your pocket I'll legally and theoretically make your heels mash your shoulder-blades! Those verses are trash, sir—regular skim-milk nonsense, and it's my business to warn you that it will be forty times better for you to hunt for an ax and a woodpile than to go any further with the poets trade."

SUSAN BLACK.

She was a long, thin colored woman. She had on a long pink sun-bonnet, carried a long face, and she chewed at a quid of gum as if her life depended on her chewing forty chews to the minutes.

"Your name's Black, is it?" asked his Honor.

"Yup," she answered between her chews.

"Throw that gum away," he commanded.

She removed the "hunk," looked at it from all sides, held it a moment, and then it descended and struck the floor with a bang, keeled over, and its beauty was forever destroyed.

"Susan Black, how dare you in this the nineteenth century get drunk and try to climb a shade tree?" he asked.

"'Pears to me I had a fit," she drawled, yawning heavily.

"Do you want to be sawed in two?" he shouted, rapping on the desk.

"'Scuse me from dat, jedge."

"Well, then, you straighten up and answer my questions. You were both drunk and disorderly, the warrant says."

"Sure's you lib, jedge, I had a fit."

"Do you have these fits often?"

"Yes, sah."

"Will you ever have another?"

"Yes, sah."

"I'll bet you won't have another for six months."

"Is dat de decision?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"Jedge," she remarked after a long look at him, "jest 'low me to fasten dese fingers into yer ha'r for 'bout free minutes an' I'll go up dar' peacefuller dan a lamb!"

He refused, and as she was taken away she looked like a shadow being swallowed up in a fog.

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419. opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

A New Way to Pay Debts.

Sheridan, one day, being dressed in a very handsome pair of new boots, met a friend, when the following dialogue ensued: "Those are handsome boots, Sherry. Who made them?" "Hoby." "How did you prevail on him?" "Guess," "I suppose you talked him over in the old way." "No, that won't do, now." "Then, when they came home, you ordered half-a-dozen pair more?" "No." "Perhaps you gave a check on Hammersley, which you knew would not be honored?" "No, no, no—in short, you might guess till to-morrow, before you hit it; I paid for them!"

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.
DISEASES OF THE LUNGS
....AND....
Bronchial Affections.
Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.
DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.
TO THE LADIES
DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.
Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!
So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?
COME AND BE HEALED.
It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.
YOUNG MEN.
Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500
For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.
MIDDLE-AGED MEN!
There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.
All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.
Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.
N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

Large houses continue to attend the presentation of "The Duke's Motto," and the play will evidently run out the week to good business. A stirring play good acting, a ballet, a chorus and splendid scenery are certainly attractions enough for one night.

Maguire's New Theatre.

Professor Hermann's first appearance at this theatre last night was the occasion of a crowded house, and his performance well warranted it. His feats of diablerie, although none of them particularly novel, are all done with such finish and neatness, that Mr. Hermann is well nigh warranted in calling himself the King of Magicians. At any rate he is the Prince of Palmers It will hard'y be worth while to detail the acts of hey-prestoism, for one is as good as another, and all are as cleverly done as they are marvellous. The Professor is assisted by a pretty girl in full suit of male evening attire, and is as deft and modest as her principal is deft and quick. The soirée magique is preceeded by the old time drama of "Ben Bolt." Same bill this evening.

Grand German and Italian Opera.

The second opera of the season will be given at Platt's Hall to-morrow evening, "Lucia di Lammermoor" being the work chosen. The cast will include Mme. Fabbri as Lucia, Fritz Lafontaine (first appearance in this city) as Henry Ashton, Pietro Baccei as Edgardo, Frans Fischer as Raymondo, and Charles Pflueger as Arthur.

Herold's Grand Orchestral Matinees.

The second concert of the present season was attended by the now usual crowded house. The first part of the programme contained a Grand March of Neumann's and Mozart's Symphonie in E flat. This symphonie has been given before and was then written of. In the second part were Mendelssohn's overture to "Fingal's Cave," Chopin's Funeral March, Spindler's "Husarenritt" and Weber's "Jubilee" overture. The arrangement was particularly good, Spindler's descriptive and rattling "Hussars' Ride," being a marked contrast to Chopin's "Marche funebre," whilst Mendelsshon's delicate arrangement of strain and harmony, and Weber's eccentric, yet charming method, if method it can be called, offered a second contrast equally strong

Wilson's Hippodrome.

This is positively the last week of the Hippodrome and even had it not been so determined, the exciting and reckless way in which the paraphernalia is being sent to glory in a smashed up condition would put an end to this unique show. Yesterday afternoon, for instance, in that terrible chariot race, both chariots were knocked to smithereens and both riders knocked senseless. The programme for this evening, will, however, include the chariot race! On Monday, grand farewell benefit to Manager Wilson and last performance for the season.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Swain and West in their song and dance, Charley Kimic in his Dutch specialties, George C. Thompson in his negro delineations, and all the company in the acts and olio.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

The acts and olio are all good here, specialties by specialists are produced almost every evening, and the show is, generally, one calculated to keep the visitor wide-awake.

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.

This new place of amusement is doing finely. Borthwick Reid in his Scotch dances and feats of dexterity, are a great feature, whilst the whole performance concludes with a grand boxing match. There is a balcony serenade every evening at 7.

Woodward's Gardens.

Lee Mon Ting's Great Chinese Bird Miracle—a living bird with superhuman powers of telling the exact time of day without prompting whatsoever; Signor Gonzales the Chilian Wonder, the Star Troupe and Grand Orchestral Concerts are the extra attractions for Saturday and Sunday.

Notes.

Day after day we have announced Mr. Tom Maguire's probable speedy return, and every time without there being any name on the passenger list to warrant it. Now we learn that he has been detained in Chicago by the illness of his wife, and will not start for 'Frisco before next week.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1860 and has been in successful operation ever since. 8-cj

Why so sorrowful, darling—
  Why so sorrowful, pray?
You are looking out for the clouds, dear,
  And meeting the storm half-way.
Where is the use of fretting
  Over the worries of life.
Haven't you got your babies?
  And haven't you got your wife?

I am a sickly nuisance;
  The babies do nothing but squall;
And it gives you trouble to find, dear.
  Bread and butter for all.
But what would you do without us?
  Where would you like to roam,
If you hadn't the wife and babies
  To anchor you here at home?

Don't we divide your sorrow?
  Don't we double your joys?
What would you do with your money
  Without the girls and boys?
I know that they tear their dresses,
  And wear out holes in their shoes;
I know we have had a panic,
  And business has got the blues.

It's horrid to be a merchant,
  And worse to be a clerk,
It was mean for the house to fail, dear,
  And throw you out of work.
But times have always been hard, dear,
  Since ever the world began;
And didn't you always growl, dear,
  Like every business man?

We've plenty to eat, my darling,
  And clothes enough to wear;
They'll last till you get to work, dear,
  And what more need we care?
Let us have done with sorrow,
  And drive sad thoughts away;
There's no such thing as to-morrow—
  When it comes it will be to-day.

Let me smooth out your forehead
  And kiss away that frown;
You know you've the prettiest babies
  And the merriest wife in town.
Panics don't last forever;
  They end in a little while;
Pluck up your courage, darling,
  And take life with a smile.

Pudding and Plums.

The following story is told of a Yankee captain and his mate: "Whenever there was a plum pudding made, by the captain's orders all the plums were put into one end of it, and that end placed next the captain, who, after helping himself, passed it to the mate, who never found any plums in his part of it. Well, after this game had been played for some time, the mate prevailed on the steward to place the end which had no plums in it next to the captain. The captain no sooner saw the pudding than he discovered that he had the wrong end of it. Picking up the dish, and turning it in his hands as if merely examining the china, he said, "This dish cost me two shillings in Liverpool," and put it down again, as though without design, with the plum end next to himself. "Is it possible?" said the mate, taking up the dish, "I shouldn't suppose it was worth more than a shilling," and, as if in perfect innocence, he put down the dish with the plum end next himself. The captain looked at the mate, the mate looked at the captain. The captain laughed, the mate laughed. "I tell you what, young one," said the captain, 'you've found me out, so we'll just cut the pudding lengthwise this time, and have the plums fairly distributed hereafter."

By the 'Owly.

"How much for that broad-faced chicken on the fence?" inquired an Irishman of a farmer on Staten Island the other day. "That's not a chicken, it's an owl," replied the farmer. "I don't care how ould he is, I would like to buy him," said the Irishman.

A Word to the Wise, etc.

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

Not Crazy.

The other evening a Vicksburg husband went home under escort of two stalwart citizens, and after he had been in the house a few minutes the cook was heard to remark that his conduct was "redickerlous." The next day it leaked out that the man was closely confined in his apartment to prevent mischief. A night or two afterwards, the crazy man made his escape, ran down the back-stairs into the back-yard, climbed over the fence into a neighbor's back-yard, hotly pursued by his whole family, whose cries aroused the neighborhood. He had on nothing but his night clothes; his hair was unkempt, and his mien was wild and haggard. Up and down and all around the neighboring yards, lanterns in hand, they chased the crazy man, assisted by a full corps of yelping curs, that wouldn't be denied the privilege of taking part in the frolic.

"Don't you know me, Charles?" said his loving wife, as she bent over the crazy man after he was captured, don't you know your own Matilda?"

"Yes, I know you too well," was his reply.

The cook turned away with an air of mingled disappointment and disgust, remarking:

"Sha! Dat man ain't crazy."

A Religious Discussion.

"You see, when you don't shuffle off this mortuary coil, and the spirit presents itself at the golden gates," argued a colored revivalist yesterday, "Gabriel gwine to ask you what church you 'longed to in de flesh."

"Yes, I speck so," said the listener.

"Ef you 'longed to de Missiumary Baptist, he gwine tole you walk right in and set by the footstool.

"Ef you 'longed to de Methodist Church he say stay on de outside whar your shoutin' won't 'sturb de angels."

"Ef you's a 'Piscumpalion——"

"Hold on, Mr. Middleton. Dey ain't no niggers Piscumpalion. Dem's all white folks," interrupted the listener.

"Dat don't make no difference," continued the expounder of religion; "de principle's de same, ain't it? Ef you're a 'Piscumpalion de angel say to you, 'go over dar among de white folks.

"Ef youse Caffolicks, de angel pint you to de Virgin Mary, and tell you—"

"But look heah, Master Middleton, sposen he didn't 'long to no church in de flesh?" queried the listener.

"Well, what he be doin' dar, den?" asked the colored divine, scornfully.

"Well," replied the unconverted sinner, "I thought in dat case, he could do as he dam please."

Base-Ball.

"What is the matter with your fingers?"

"Struck with a ball and drove up, but it's a noble game," was the reply.

"Precisely—and your thumb, too, is useless, is it not?"

"Yes—struck with a ball, and broken?"

"That finger joint?"

"A ball struck it. No better game to improve a man's physical condition—it strengthens one's sinews."

"You walk lame; that foot, isn't it?"

"No; it is the—the—the—well, a bat flew out of the player's hand and hit my kneepan. We had the innings."

"One of your teeth is gone?"

"Knocked out by a ball—an accident?"

"Your right hand and your nose have been peeled—how's that?"

"Slipped down at second base—only a mere scratch."

"And you like this sort of fun?"

"Glory in it, sir. It is the healthiest game in the world, sir."

From Bad to Worse.

It is related of a Parisian portrait painter that having recently painted the portrait of a lady, a critic, who had just dropped in to see what was going on in the studio, exclaimed, "It is very nicely painted; but why did you take such an ugly model?" "It is my mother," calmly replied the artist. "Oh! pardon, a thousand times," from critic, in great confusion. "You are right; I ought to have perceived it. She resembles you completely."

The Fall and Winter Styles

The Editor's Visitor.

This scene is cast in an editorial sanctum of the Danbury News. The editor himself is very tired. He has communications to decipher, proof to read, items to dress, and an auction bill to revise. It lacks about an hour of going to press, and the foreman is hovering nervously on the outskirts. Enters beaming visitor. The languid editor and the beaming visitor exchange salutations. The latter takes a chair, and thoughtfully inquires if the editor is busy, and is assured that he is not.

B. V.—I have got a good thing for your paper, a tip top joke, an' I want you to put it in.

L. E.—(With a desperate attempt to appear interested), Ah?

B. V.—It is a hot one, I assure you, an' you never published a better. You see there was a lot of us in the hotel, this morning, chaffing away about one thing an' other, an' Bob Lewton spoke up an' he says to me, "Thompkins, if you was out in the middle of a desert for a week, you would get a little of that fat off'n you, I bet." "How is that?" sez I. "You would not get anything to eat, you know," sez he. "Oh, yes, I would" sez I. "How?" sez he. "Why," sez I, "I would eat the sand—which—is—there." Ha, ha, ha. You had oughter seen him look. You see the point, of course.

L. E.—(feebly smiling), "Y-e-s."

B. T.—(With renewed animation and some anxiety), "The sand, see?—which—is—there, sandwiches—there. You see the point now. Sand—which—is—there, sandwiches—there. Ha! ha! ha! ho! ho! ho! hee!"

L. E.—(suppressing a yawn), "Pretty good."

B. V.—(wiping his eyes), "You're right it is. Put in your next paper. Give it a good place. I wouldn't put in the full name, just say Thompkins. Everybody knows me. I'm traveling all over the country, an' see all sorts; an' I've got a good deal of the comic in me, if I do say it. I'll send you on a lot of stuff when I can get the time to dot it down. Good-by. If you ever come to Boston, come an' see me."

And he was gone.

The L. E. pressed one hand to his fevered brow, feebly clinched the other, moved his lips as if in prayer, and crawled to his work again like a giant refreshed.

Rapid Transit in Detroit.

When a Michigan avenue street car made the trip from Twelfth street to Woodward avenue (two miles) inside of three hours, the astonished passengers made up a purse of fourteen cents for the driver, and a red headed man fell on his neck and exclaimed:

"I never thought I should live to see this thing!"

A woman with a big breastpin on clasped his hand and said:

"I want to die now; I can't stand this!"

A boy with a new straw hat on leaned up against the car and wiped his nose and sobbed:

"I wish father could have seen this afore the ager took him off!"

The driver was much affected, and brushing a tear from his eye he replied:

"I don't know how it happened. Don't tell the company or I shall be discharged."

Pudding and Plums.

The following story is told of a Yankee captain and his mate: "Whenever there was a plum pudding made, by the captain's orders all the plums were put into one end of it, and that end placed next the captain, who, after helping himself, passed it to the mate, who never found any plums in his part of it. Well, after this game had been played for some time, the mate prevailed on the steward to place the end which had no plums in it next to the captain. The captain no sooner saw the pudding than he discovered that he had the wrong end of it. Picking up the dish, and turning it in his hands as if merely examining the china, he said, "This dish cost me two shillings in Liverpool," and put it down again, as though without design, with the plum end next to himself. "Is it possible?" said the mate, taking up the dish, "I shouldn't suppose it was worth more than a shilling," and, as if in perfect innocence, he put down the dish with the plum end next himself. The captain looked at the mate, the mate looked at the captain. The captain laughed, the mate laughed. "I tell you what, young one,' said the captain, 'you've found me out, so we'll just cut the pudding lengthwise this time, and have the plums fairly distributed hereafter."

In the Detroit Police Court.

"BUB."

"Bub, what's the matter?" asked the court, as a boy of eight was brought out.

"I fit J-Jim," sobbed the boy.

"When?"

"Last n-i-t-e."

"And where's Jim?"

"He got away."

"And why didn't you get away?"

"H-had a sore h-h-e e-l."

"Was it much of a fight?"

"Y-yes, sir. I licked him."

"What caused the fight?"

"He kicked my little bruther."

"My son," said the court, after a glance through the window, "there was once a boy. He was a good boy. He didn't hook apples, or put pins under anybody. His face was always clean, his hair was slick. Ah! he was a jewel of a boy. He wouldn't cheat, lie, swear or fight. He went to bed early, got up early, minded his mother, and what do you think became of him?"

"Got run over by a buss," sobbed the boy.

"No, my son; he got to be Governor of Michigan. Will you promise and try to be a Governor?"

"Yes."

"And next time you'll run rather than fight?"

"Yes, sir, if I can't g-get hold of a club."

He was told to go.

A FADED FLOWER.

"Who's this?" asked the court, as a man of forty stood before the bar—dirty, ragged and outlandish in look and dress.

"Martin Henry Jackson," was the answer.

"Well, you are the meanest-looking old vagrant I ever saw. You look as if you had slept with the hogs.

"How can I help it?' asked the fellow.

"Hang it, man, if I had but one finger and one toe left I'd put in a better appearance than you do, or I'd blow my head off."

"I hain't any work and no money."

"There you are, fat and healthy as the head cook on a steamboat, and yet you loaf around the streets, chew apple cores, sleep in sheds, and put up with anything rather than do a stroke of work. I wish I could send you up for a thousand years."

"What have I done?" asked the old vag.

"Nothing, nothing at all. That's what ails you. If you should get in the way of a Bogardus kicker you'd be too lazy to move. Oh! it makes me mad to see anybody moping around like a sore-heeled dog when he might be somebody. I'll chalk you for six months, and if you don't leave Detroit as soon as your time is out, I'll buy a mule and turn him loose on you."

Bijah announced that the moment had arrived for a painful separation until another morning, and the boys waited for Martin and sang:

"He's rags, and tags, and rags,
He's dirt from chin to heel;
And if he had jumped off the dock,
How happy we should feel."

Harrowing to the sole—pegs.

"Belles" call a great many people to church.

A young lady advertises to teach "vocal singing."

The cheapest of lawyers—keeping one's own counsel.

Marriage is described by a French cynic as a tiresome book with a very fine preface.

Give a boy a basket of groceries to carry home and he swings it across his spine, bends half way to the ground and groans with agony; but give him that weight of base-ball bats, and he will skip along as merry as a potato bug in a ten-acre lot.

By the 'Owly.

"How much for that broad-faced chicken on the fence?" inquired an Irishman of a farmer on Staten Island the other day. "That's not a chicken, it's an owl," replied the farmer. "I don't care how ould he is, I would like to buy him," said the Irishman.

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.
DISEASES OF THE LUNGS
....AND....
Bronchial Affections.
Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.
DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.
TO THE LADIES
DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.
Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!
So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health!
COME AND BE HEALED.
It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.
YOUNG MEN.
Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500
For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.
MIDDLE-AGED MEN!
There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.
All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.
Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.
N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

Amusements, Etc.

Maguire's New Theatre.
Professor Hermann continues to draw crowded houses, his feats of legerdemain being of a nature both neat and marvellous. If anyone is of the opinion that the "quickness hof the 'and cannot deceive the heye" let him go here and be disabused of such an idea.

California Theatre.
"The Duke's Motto" has lost none of its attractiveness and the California is nightly crowded with those who delight in melodrama, good acting, a well arranged ballet and splendid scenery.

Grand German and Italian Opera.
The second opera of the season will be given at Platt's Hall this evening, 'Lucia di Lammermoor' being the work chosen. The cast will include Mme. Fabbri as Lucia, Fritz Lafontaine (first appearance in this city) as Henry Ashton, Pietro Baccei as Edgardo, Franz Fischer as Raymondo, and Charles Pflueger as Arthur.

Wilson's Hippodrome.
The last four nights of this mammoth place of amusement begin to-night—last of the matinees Saturday and Sunday afternoons. There will be a grand extra performance on Monday evening next for the benefit of Manager Wilson, and then on Tuesday, Hippodrome and what is left of the chariots and horsemen start for Oregon.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.
Here the sensation is four end men in the first art, which may be called going two better than the usual lay-out of a minstrelsy band. Acts, dances, songs and fun generally.

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.
This variety hall is pushing along to a good position. The entertainment is of a somewhat novel nature the place is well conducted, and an hour or two may be very pleasantly passed.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.
The last sensation of two end ladies in the first part of minstrelsy has taken immensely. In fact the whole performance is of a sensational and taking character.

Woodward's Gardens.
Lee Mon Ting's Great Chinese Bird Miracle—a living bird with superhuman powers of telling the exact time of day without prompting whatsoever; Signor Gonzales the Chilian Wonder, the Star Troupe and Grand Orchestral Concerts are the extra attractions for Saturday and Sunday.

Managers
3-cj

A Word to the Wise, etc.
It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm. *

The Old Mint Restaurant.
At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges Moderate. D. B. Magee, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. N. B. Open to 2:30 A. M. Old fashioned boiled dinners every Saturday. 2-L

When the Fair Closes
And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

Don't Help Pay Other People's Debts,
But go to the Furniture and Bedding Store of J. A. Shaber & Co., 707 Market street, near Third, and save fully 25 per cent. by buying of them. Their motto is: "Buy for cash, and sell for cash," therefore they have no bad debts to make up out of extra profits. L

Do Not Suffer from Corns.
The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relie by applying at Dr. R. H. Cowan's Institute, removed to 207 Kearny street, between Sutter and Bush, from 1 to 6 P. M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. Reference given if required. B

The Antelope Oyster House.
Our specialty, always the best oysters in market served up in the best style of cooking. Our Eastern transplanted oysters excel any other in market Established in 1864. No. 612 Market near Montgomery. N. B.—Ice Cream, Strawberries and Cream, and all Fruits in season. B

The Green Room.
This popular resort of the profession and al epicures who can appreciate good liquors and a good lunch, is directly opposite the California Theatre. It has just been beautifully frescord and is now a model of taste and elegance. Everybody goes to the Green Room between the acts. X

Baths
At 10 Post Street, Masonic Temple. At this establishment can be had the celebrated Munro bath, combination hot air, steam, medicated, steam, salt, electro, chemical, hot air, plain, steam, mecurial and toilet baths. Office hours, from 8 A. M. to 10 P. M.

Palmer Bros.
Sell the Palmer two-button Kid Glove for $1 25 a pair; 726 to 734 Market street.

Fresh and Sweet.
For the best confectionery, go to Canty and Wagner's, 107 Montgomery St. near Sutter. X

MY LOVE IS FAIR, BUT VERY SHY.

My love is fair, but very shy:
For one soft glance in passing by—
One loving look from those brown eyes,
I'd live long years alone.

The words of love have waited long,
I cannot breathe them, save in song,
And rugged hills and woods among,
Where love is seldom known.

Still, warmly in another clime,
Sweet Jeanie's heart may beat on mine,
The sweet low whisper, "I am thine,"
May show that heart mine own.

Bores.
It is not right that Brown should constantly fall a victim to Smith. Smith, be it understood, is a gentleman who has always got a dreary story to tell of which he or some one in some way connected with him is the hero. This is not all. He will persist in telling his story his own way, and a very long way his is. There is no use interrupting him, with the view of diverting him from his purpose; and unhappy Brown knows this very well. Experience has taught him that Smith is not to be shaken off, and so he makes the best of a bad job: he smiles as Smith plods heavily along; he eulogises "points" which to him are simply contemptibly dull to the last degree, because he fancies Smith would be offended if he did not do so; and he never thinks of hinting that Smith's stories, when they are worth telling at all—which is not often the case—might be better told in half, nay, a quarter of the words which Smith employs to tell them, for he knows that Smith has invariably rehearsed his tale, and flatters himself that it is a very good one, and neatly got up. Nor does he condemn the palpable exaggerations into which Smith is led, in order that he (Smith) may create as much sensation as possible, though the exaggerations are often absurd, and always uncalled for. Yet Smith is extraordinarily careful that Brown shall not bore him, which shows that he lacks the feeling of gratitude as he does other good things. Brown may have remarkable servants, bats, dogs, horses, etc., may have performed what are in his opinion remarkable feats; but Smith does not care about hearing of them, and will show this is a very unmistakable—not to say, rude—manner. Poor Brown may now and then attempt to talk on a matter in which he is himself interested, but he soon discovers the futility of doing so, and abandons the attempt in despair. Then, until he finally resolves to give up Smith, he is made the receptacle into which Smith mercilessly pours his dreary prosings.

Now if Smith could have his mantle of egotism torn from him it would be well both for him and Brown, for he would then acquire an amount of knowledge which he now seems unlikely ever to obtain, and Brown would be saved a great deal of suffering, besides which, he might be enabled to retain a friend whom he is otherwise compelled to throw away.

First Theatrical Performance in N. Y.
"Our stage history," we quote from Henton's History of the United States, "at least in its connection with a regular theatrical company, commences at a date no historian of the drama except ourselves has given to it. Dunlap, Dr. Francis Watson and others invariably connect it with the advent of Hallam's English company in the year 1752. As early as 1747 a regular company of comedians opened a place in New Yok, on Little Dock street, below Second. Seats were circularly arranged; the stage raised a few feet above the level of the floor of the hall; a small orchestra; the whole dimly lighted by oil lamps. It was here the first play was represented. In 1748 two good actors from the West Indies joined the company, viz: Mr. Thomas Kean and Mr. Murray. Kean was the original Richard III. in this country.

In 1750, by permission of the Governor of the State of New York, these two gentlemen opened the first regular built theatre in the colonies. It was situated on the east side of Nassau street, between John street and Maiden lane, N. Y. They opened it on 5th day of March, 1750. We annex the bill, the first ever published announcing (properly) a theatrical performance in this country:

"By His Excellency's Permission,
At the Theatre in Nassau street,
on Monday, the 5th day of March, next (1750). Will be represented, the Historical Tragedy of King Richard 3d (Richard, Thomas Kean), wrote originally by Shakspeare,
and altered by Colley Cibber, Esq.
Pit, 5 shillings. Gallery, 3 shillings."

The Fall and Winter Styles
Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the best material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Don't forget to call and examine their stock at 647 Washington street, below Kearny.

Laughing Gas.
Dr. Wilson, Dentist, 205 Third street, makes a specialty of extracting teeth without pain by the use of laughing gas, and with twelve years experience in its use can warrant success with entire safety in the most difficult cases.

The original "Swain's Bakery" is now established in their magnificent new place at 213 Sutter street near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place o business.

"Smashing."
Vassar College girls would seem to have a peculiar penchant for making themselves talked about, and the latest instance is that of one of them, who writes to the Buffalo Express describing what she eloquently terms the "smashing" going on that institute of learning. She says when a young woman at Vassar sees another whose appearance, general style, talents, or eyes (especially the latter she admires, instead of seeking her acquaintance in an orthodox manner, straightway she announces to her friends and cronies with the most mysterious and confidential air, that she is hopelessly, completely, entirely, utterly "smashed"—in fact, "dead gone." Then follows a series of the most idiotic performances. "Smash" notes are written; elegant flowers, boxes of candy, costly books, &c., are sent by the "smashee" to the "smasher;" appointments are made in dark corridors to kiss each other good night; smirking and ogling are in vogue in the dining-room and in the chapel. This state of affairs is kept up for some time—length of time depends upon the violence of the attack. Then the "smash" develops into an astonishing friendship, or they drop one another by mutual consent. If all this be true, it certainly develops an amount of absurdity on the part of the Vassar girls that is absolutely pitiable in its puerility.

Convinced.
"That's you, is it?"
"Yes, darling," was the answer.
"Are you drunk?"
"No—haven't tasted a drop."
"Not even beer?"
"No, not even beer."
"Perfectly sober, are you?"
"Just as sober as a preacher."
She leaned out of the window, peered into his upturned face, and then said:
"You'll swear to it?"
"I'll swear to it on a stack of bibles ten feet high."
"Well, I'll open the door. You seem to be all right; but I'll have a club handy, and, if you've lied to me, the coroner will call it a case of justifiable homicide."

Had Him There.
A friend of ours had a birthday lately, and, while speaking to a German musician of his absent friends with whom he would have liked to reunite on the joyous occasion, the man of music asked how old he was.

"Thirty-one," replied our friend.

"Dirdy von! O, nix! You is more as dat."

"No; I was born in 1844."

"1844? Ah! now I hafe got you puddy goot," said he, in great triumph.

"How so?"

"Pecause you dold me more as five years ago dot you vas porn in 1844."

Out Heroding Herod.
A Californian was visiting at Boston once, and some fine cherries, rather early ones, were placed upon the table. The Bostonian plumed himself upon this, and said, "These are fine cherries." "Well," assented the Californian, "they are pretty tidy cherries, I must say." The other said, "You have not got cherries like these in California. Now what would you pay for such cherries as these?" He was floored in a moment by one massive stroke. "Well," said the Californian, "if you must know that, it just depends. In California, if you take a whole cherry you get them cheaper."

Ruralizing.
The young lady who went into the country making hay, with intent to be a Maud Muller, has come home again. The only judge she saw was a judge of whisky, and he was so far gone that a glass of water would have struck him dead. But the skin is peeling off her face with sunburn, her nose is like a banana, and she has the most beautiful pair of swelled feet you ever heard of.

Little Baggage.
The death of ex-Governor Weller, of California, revives this anecdote of him: "Weller was once unfortunate enough to be caught in a shipwreck. Arriving at San Francisco, he was asked by a sympathizing friend if he had lost much. 'Lost everything, sir, said Weller, 'everything but my reputation.' 'Governor,' said the friend, 'you travel with less baggage than any one I ever saw.'"

Photographic Art
Is supposed by some to be in its infancy. We doubt it much, as it is impossible to imagine pictures retouched and finished with more artistic skill than those we saw at Brodeck & Co's new Art Gallery, 640 Market street, opposite the Palace Hotel.

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

NEW YORK.

The management of the Grand Opera House announce the intended early production of a new Shakespearian play. This literary curiosity consists entirely of extracts from the enacted plays of Shakspeare. Every line is by the great bard, and yet altogether the extracts constitute an entirely new and quite effective play, illustrating the times of Edward the Fourth. "Red and Black; or, The Life of a Gambler," is also in active rehearsal.

One of the fleetest horses of the Fall meeting is to be ridden by George Belmore, who appears at Nat Gosling, in Boucicault's sensation drama of "The Flying Scud," at Booth's Theatre, Monday week.

Miss Victoria Vokes is about to be led to the hymeneal altar, Mr. Clayton, being the happy man, to whom she brings a dowry of something like £10,000 as tangible results of her recent successful tour in the United States.

We clip from the N. Y. Dispatch the following horror: "The Gamester" has backed the "Flying Scud" to win the "Mighty Dollar" in this "Gilded Age," on the 20th, his colors being "Red and Black." Whoa! By the way, the clever dramatic editor of this weekly, Mr. J. S. G. Hagan, is writing a very entertaining and useful series of articles on the New York stage, which ought to be collected and published in book form.

Dr. Edward McGlynn, pastor of St. Steven's Roman Catholic Church, responded to the toast, "The Church and the Drama," at the breakfast given to Barry Sullivan, on Tuesday week last, at Delmonico's.

Mr. Barry Sullivan closed his engagement at Booth's, as Beverly in "The Gamester." On Friday evening, the 17th, Mr. Sullivan had a grand farewell benefit, when another grand Irish-American demonstration was indulged in in his honor.

The Bowery is determined to keep up its name as the melodramatic theatre of New York. The "Colleen Bawn" and "The Maniac Lover," one night, with "La Tour de Nesle" and "Robert Macaire" on the next, are fair samples of the recent bills.

"The Mighty Dollar," now being played at the Park Theatre by Mr. and Mrs. Florence, is most emphatically condemned by the New York press. Trashy and vulgar are two of the epithets bestowed on it.

On Monday, October 4th, Mlle. Teresa Tietjens will make her American début at Steinway Hall, under the direction of the Brothers Maurice and Max Strakosch.

Notwithstanding Mr. Harry Allen's stage management and Miss Nellie Larkelle's attractions, Robinson Hall closed suddenly the week before last, and is now open as the Parisian Varieties.

Fred Zimmerman had two weeks' splendid business with the Mexican child bouffers at Daly's. He now purposes traveling.

Mr. John T. Raymond, alias Colonel Sellers, pursues the even tenor of his successful engagement at the Union Square, to large and fashionable audiences. "Rose Michel" is to succeed the current attraction early in the ensuing month.

"Col. Sinn," says the N. Y. Dispatch, "is doing much to relieve Brooklyn from the odium of the Beecher-Tilton scandal, with his variety show."

The regular dramatic season at Wallack's was opened on Monday, September 20th, with the production of H. J. Byron's comedy, of "Our Boys."

German Grand Opera, with Wachtel as the hero, will be inaugurated by Manager Neuendorf, at the Academy of Music, Oct. 13th

Niblo's Theatre, N. Y., is still for rent.

The Worrell Sisters appeared at the Olympic Theatre on the 23th.

The Fall season was inaugurated at the Lyceum, by the production for the first time, in its original form of Offenbach's opera bouffe, "Madame L'Archiduc," by the Geoffroi Troupe.

All arrangements are now completed for the three grand concerts to be given in Steinway Hall, on the evenings of Wednesday, October 20th, Friday, October 29th, and Wednesday, November 10, by the Centennial Choral Union of New York. The chorus will number eight hundred voices, and the solos will be rendered by the illustrious cantatrice, Mlle. Titjens. The works produced will include Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," and Mendelssohn's "Elijah."

James Steele MacKaye, the exponent of the Delsarte theory, has written a play entitled "A Radical Fool," which is designed for, if not accepted, by Mr. Montague.

The spectacle of "Around the World in Eighty Days" at the Academy, has been greatly improved by considerable excisions of the text, the omission of one or two scenes, and a general rearrangement of the piece. It now plays smoothly and easily within three hours.

Mr. George Rignold arrived in New York on the 10th. His first appearance will be as "Henry V." at Ford's, Baltimore.

"It is a noteworthy fact," says the N. Y. Dispatch, "that although Mr. Augustin Daly cannot find money to pay the well earned salaries of his company, he does not hesitate to spend money in contesting useless lawsuits, in which no one, strange to say, could lose so much as himself in getting a verdict." He seems to be getting into hot water with all the N. Y. Managers. On the 11th the arguments were being heard in the Superior Court concerning the continuing of a temporary injunction against Mr Daly from playing "Rose Michel," Messrs. Shook & Palmer being the instigators of the suit. And now Mr. Lester Wallack has begun a suit against Mr Augustin Daly to restrain him from producing, in violation of the former's alleged rights, the play entitled "Our Boys," and has obtained a temporary injunction. The complaint alleges that in the Winter of 1874-75, Henry J. Byron wrote "Our Boys," which was produced at Vaudeville Theatre, London, where it was successful and is still being performed. But it never has been published, and yet exists in manuscript form, as the property of Henry J. Byron. On the 24th day of August last Mr. Byron, by Thomas H. French, his attorney and agent, sold to Mr. Wallack for $500 the sole right to produce the comedy New York. Mr. Wallack intends to open his dramatic season with the play the first week in Oct. Mr. [illegible]y, he charges, threatens to and is preparing to perform almost immediately at the Fifth Avenue Theatre the same comedy of "Our Boys," thus robbing Mr. Wallack of his exclusive right and of the money value thereof and of the novelty of the play.

Nym Crinkle pays Marie Gordon (Mrs. John T the Union Square Theatre to see how Mark Twain's popular caricature would look in Mr. Palmer's gold frame. We had all written columns about it last Winter when the town was shaking its sides over it. But what it needed then was the blood which Miss Gordon has given it. I recall now the smart things that were said about Miss Kellogg and Miss Field. Sombody said to me: "Are you not deeply interested in the artists's endeavors?" and I said, "Hang it no; I'm mainly interested in the woman of the play." Well, here is the play, and the woman and not the artist is now conspicuous. So natural cleverness wins another victory over acquired smartness. Who Miss Gordon is, probably everybody knows better than I do. I only know that she does what nobody else has done in the some role before, made it reasonable and interesting by making it as humorous as the text will permit.

The admirers of Miss Lydia Thompson will be pleased to hear that she returns to this country next April; to again "farewell" we presume.

Colonel James H. Mapleson, director of Her Majesty's Opera, sailed for New York from Liverpool per steamship Celtic on September 15th, to consult with Mr. Max Strakosch regarding the Tietjens season and with a view towards establishing Italian opera in New York on a premanent basis.

ELSEWHERE.

Edwin Adams played in New Haven, Conn. Sept. 20th; Hartford, 21st; Springfield, Mass., 23d Pittsfield, 23d; Utica, 24th; will be in Syracuse to-night, and Elmira, 27th.

The season at the Chestnut Street Theatre, Philadelphia, was opened on the 20th, with the production of H. J. Byron's "Our Boys." The company embraces James W. Norris, George H. Griffiths, Charles Stanley, L. F. Barrett, George Holland, Charles H. Bradshaw, A. H. Stuart, T. F. Brennar, E. Bartman, Harry Bave, H. L. Smith, C. Gregory, Mrs. Louise Allen, Mrs. Mary Saville, Mrs. E. J. Phillipps, Mrs. Annie Yeamans, Miss Lizzie Harold, Miss Florence Richmond, Miss Emma P. Markley, Miss Laura B. Scanlan, Miss Anabel Daly, Miss Clareen Petrea, Miss Lydia Yeaman and Miss Bertha Winans.

Charlotte Thompson and troupe were at Providence 13th, 14th; Bridgeport 16th; will be at Oswego, October 8th.

Montgomery Queen's Circus was at Auburn, 22d; Syracuse, 23d; Clyde, 24th; will winter at Peru, Ill.

Fay Templeton and troupe played at Allentown, Pa., on the 20th and 21st.

John Thompson and troupe play at Allentown this evening; Scranton, 23th.

Harrigan and Hart and troupe are at Ford's Opera House, Washington, 20th, for the week. Will open at Trenton, 28th; New Brunswick, 29th.

Mr. Frank Mayo went from Philadelphia to Rochester, where he played on the 20th, 21st, 22d and 23d.

Mrs. Chanfrau opened at the National, Washington, 20th, with New Orleans Variety Company; will be at Williamsport, Pa., 29th.

A new Grand Opera House, Indianapolis, has been inaugurated.

Mrs. Scott Siddons will return to the United States during the current month, and proposes to inaugurate a reading tour in October.

The two rival tragedians opened on the same date at Philadelphia, Monday last, Davenport at the Arch and Sullivan at the Walnut

The Cincinnati Grand Opera House has been reopened with a new version of "Ultimo."

Theodore Tilton lectured at Kingston last night.

Frank B. Aiken and troupe opened at Omaha, 20th for six nights.

Robert McWade finished a week's engagement at Kansas City on the 19th.

Lotta opened at the Boston Theatre on the 20th.

Miss Lillian Conway has been engaged as soubrette for the Globe Theatre, Boston.

Maggie Mitchell and troupe open at Providence for one week on the 27th.

Mrs. F. S. Chanfrau is playing an engagement at the National Theatre, Washington, commenced on the 20th.

Dominick Murray is playing a good engagement at De Bar's, St. Louis.

It is now asserted that Salvini will return to this country and play a long engagement in Philadelphia, next Summer.

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419. opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

A City Item.

We see it reported in the papers that burglars, after robbing a store on Kearny street, a few nights since, were so disgusted with their plunder that they threw it into a swill tub.

Oh! what a stock that store must have,
And what a cheek to blow it,
When thieves, disgusted with their haul,
Should in a swill-tub throw it.

The bargains at our evening sale
The people all entices;
No rogue would risk the County Jail
When buying at our prices.

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS
....AND....
Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

CALIFORNIA THEATRE. — "The Duke's Motto" has run all the week to good business, and we have no doubt that this afternoon's matinee and this evening's last performance will end its revival in good order. On Monday the society drama of "Divorce" will be produced with a strong cast.

MAGUIRE'S NEW THEATRE.—Hermann and his diablerie have evidently taken the people's fancy for the house is crowded every night. The professor seems to grow defter and neater each night, and his tricks are now managed with a quickness and dexterity which leave nothing to be desired.

GRAND GERMAN AND ITALIAN OPERA—Donizetti's famous and favorite opera of "Lucia di Lammermoor" was given by the new grand opera company at Platt's Hall last night to a full house. The performance was certainly successful throughout. Signor Pietro Baccei's reappearance as Edgardo, was made pleasant by much hearty welcoming. Herr Fritz Lafontaine's first appearance as Henry Ashton, was marked in the same kindly manner, he showing himself to be the possessor of a voice of good, sterling quality, whilst the other members of the company were received with almost equal favor. All the artists were recalled at the conclusion of the last act, and the sextette at the conclusion of the second, was of course, encored. To-morrow night "La Dame Blanche."

HEROLD'S ORCHESTRAL MATINEE.—The third concert of the present season will be given on Wednesday afternoon next with a programme including selections from the symphonies of Schumann, Gade, Lachner and Mendelssohn, Weber's overture to "Oberon," Gounod's meditation on Sebastian Bach's first prelude, and Reissiger's overture to "Felsenmueble."

WILSON'S COLOSSAL HIPPODROME.—The last two matiness are this and to-morrow afternoons, the last three performances begin to-night. On Monday night, which is the last night of the season, a grand testimonial benefit will be tendered Manager John Wilson. Many new features will be introduced, and it remains with the public to show its appreciation of the enterprise and tact which have furnished San Francisco with a species of amusement as exciting and entertaining as it is novel.

BUCKLEY'S NEW VARIETY THEATRE. — The latest sensation is the clever sketch entitled "Parisian Life or One Night in Paris," which introduces a glimpse of real metropolitan life, and the famous Can-Can dance.

NEW OLYMPIC VARIETY THEATRE.—Ned Barry's comic songs, the two end ladies, the Dutch specialties of Charley and Lotta Harris, Charley King and his banjo, and Hughey Robinson in his vocalisms, are a few of the attractions for to-night.

HARP AND STAR VARIETY THEATRE.—A grand extra programme has been arranged for to-night which will include the first appearance of Vinnie Welch and Tony Vincent, and a grand sparring match between the well-known boxers Barney Farley and Billy Moss.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS.—Attractions.—Lee Mon Ting's Great Chinese Bird Miracle—a living bird with superhuman powers of telling the exact time of day without prompting whatsoever; Signor Gonzales the Chilian Wonder, the Star Troupe and Grand Orchestral Concerts are the extra attractions for Saturday and Sunday.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—Captain Foster, the genial host of the Cliff House, entertains visitors from all parts of the Globe at his famous sea-side resort. The Cliff House is THE one thing San Francisco has to boast of as different from any thing else in the world. Omnibuses run every day from the terminus of the Lone Mountain railroad.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 8-cj

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm. *

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges Moderate. D. B. Magee, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. N. B. Open to 2:30 A. M. Old fashioned boiled dinners every Saturday. 2-L

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, ' M. Hepburn.

Don't Help Pay Other People's Debts,

But go to the Furniture and Bedding Store of J. A. Shaber & Co., 707 Market street, near Third, and save fully 25 per cent. by buying of them. Their motto is: "Buy for cash, and sell for cash," therefore they have no bad debts to make up out of extra profits. L

Sell the Palmer two-button Kid Glove for $1 25 a pair; 736 to 734 Market street.

DRAMATIC NOTES.

Sometime in November, there will be opened at the corner of Market and Powell streets, the handsomest theatre in America. We say this advisedly and with the authority of the architect and decorating artist. It will be the handsomest in construction and certainly the handsomest specimen of the art decorative as applied to places of amusement. The visitor to the theatre can already see the clear signs of what the building will be generally like when completed and to what he can see, we may be able, perhaps, to add a few items of news more in our way than his. He, the visitor, will see that the building now that it is covered in, looks very much larger than it did when open An idea of its size may be gained from the fact that it will seat when completed seventeen hundred people. All the three tiers are fixed in place, the roof is on, and on Monday the building will be handed over to the lathers who with the plasterers will work another marked change in the interior appearance of the building. The visitor will not fail to notice the graceful sweep of the galleries and the attention that has been paid to affording everyone a free and uninterrupted view of the stage. All the tiers are ready for the reception of the chairs and seats. The chairs are on the steamer now en route from Panama, and will be placed in position as soon as the interior is rid of the plasterers. The upholstering will then be hurried on and the building will be fit for the reception of its visitors. A few steps across the street and we are in the studio of Signor Gariboldi. the scenic and decorative artist, from New York. It is to this gentleman's taste and skill, that the beautifying of the building has been consigned and his designs point to a degree of artistic beauty, something unusual. The drop curtain will represent an amour of Apollo and Psyche, the sun god in his chariot holding the soul goddess in his arms. The ceiling of the proscenium will have for its subject the procession of the arts and sciences, the central figure being a typical of poetry and music. The group will contain over one thousand figures. At the corners of the proscenium arch will be the figures of Shakespeare and Corneille. Signor Gariboldi's studio is now a scene of hurry and confusion, but out of it are daily growing the works of beauty which will enrich and ornament a theatre of which San Francisco may well be proud.

Mrs. James A. Oates's English Comic Opera Company opened their season of 1875-76 at the Howard Athenæum, on Monday evening, Sept. 20th, playing only one week. The company has been reorganized and strengthened, new operas have been added to the repertory, and new costumes have been imported from London and Paris. Mrs. Oates is of course the prima donna, but Miss Larkelle is succeeded by Miss Anna Kemp Bowler. Mr. Drew and Mr. Howson remain, but Mr. Allen has retired.

The troupe which is to support Miss Kellogg in English opera this Fall will comprise Mrs. Van Zandt, Miss Beaumont, Mrs. Seguin, Miss Montague, and Messrs. Castle, Maas, Peakes, Carleton and Hamilton. Mr. S. Behrens, will be the conductor. Miss Kellogg will open at Booth's Theatre, New York, on October 11th, for a season of two weeks. The chief feature in interest of the season will be the production of Balfe's "Lily of Killarney," with Miss Kellogg as Eily O'Conner.

The order of business for the coming week of Madame Fabbri's present season of German and Italian opera is as follows: To-morrow evening De Boildieu's "La Dame Blanche;" on Tuesday, Donizetti's "Lucrezia Borgia;" on Friday, repetition of "La Dame Blanche;" and on Sunday, Nicolai's "Merry Wives of Windsor." So far everything augurs a successful season. The company merits patronage and the public awards it, which happy combination of cause and effect is equal to a success.

Apropos of "La Dame Blanche," it is the purpose of the Kellogg English Opera Troupe to produce this work in the vernacular during their present tour

Frank Rea brought us in a letter yesterday, which he had received from old John A. Adams, the purport of which was that the writer was dead broke at Reno. He had had four months of doing nothing at Virginia City, and at last, in desperation, resolved if he could do nothing else to tramp it back East. But at Reno he gave up, and from Reno he has written Frank Rea to see if he cannot get a few dollars to send him on his way. Mr. Adams will be remembered by many as the brother of Augustus Adams, as the author of several plays, and as having played at the Metropolitan Theatre, not so many years ago, under Bert's management. Frank has already got together a few dollars to send on to the old man, but he would like to get a few more, and if there are any brother professionals who feel like contributing a mite, we shall be happy to receive, to acknowledge the same and to hand it over to Frank Rea as something to swell the pile.

On Monday next Mr. John McCullough commences his Fall and Winter star season by putting in a week's playing at Louisville. After that his engagements will run as follows: Chicago, October 11th, two weeks; Indianapolis, October 25th, one week; Cincinnati, Nov. 1st, one week; Baltimore, Nov. 22d, one week; Washington, 29th, two weeks; New Orleans, Dec. 20th, two weeks; Cleveland, Jan. 10th, one week; Pittsburgh, January 17th, one week; Boston, Jan. 31st, two weeks; Philadelphia, Feb. 21st, two weeks.

The first Concert of the American Conservatory of Music, will be given at Platt's Hall this afternoon.

Fox's Humpty Dumpty Troupe play at Fort Wayne, Indiana, on Monday night. The time for their appearance here is fixed for Monday October, 25th.

The New York correspondent of the Baltimore Bulletin, gives Owen Marlowe—who is playing in "Around the World in 80 Days,"at the Academy—the following gentle rubbing down: "Mr. Owen Marlowe is as raide an Englishman as the most aggressive Frenchman could conceive and the stiffest of Americans embody. If oiled, Mr. Marlowe might be as serviceable as the other machinery; as it is, he needs lubricating the worst way."

Gus Hall, late of the English Opera Company has joined the Oates Troupe.

James Peakes writes to inform us that he has been appointed Stage Manager of the Kellogg Opera Company during the coming season.

Miss Minnie Walton is now a favorite at the Haymarket Theatre, London.

Miss Morris is in New York, much relieved by the terrible operation which she endured. She will most probably appear at the Fifth Avenue Theatre in November, in a play which Mr. Daly fathers, and which, according to its author, is "as strong as 'Article 47' and as tender as 'Alixe.'" Miss Morris also intends making a specialty of "Mary Stuart," which has been prepared for her by a French author, resident in New York.

There is nothing doing in any of the interior towns with the exception of Sacramento, where the Fair has drawn, the Piper's Opera company and Joe Murphy—the company occupying the Metropolitan Theatre and Joe, Central Hall.

The Lingards closed at Salt Lake on the 14th.

The Alleghanians were last heard from at Salt Lake. After thoroughly doing California and Oregon they will go East and leave for Europe on the first of the coming year.

The order of business at Maguire's New Theatre for next week will be, Madison Morton's charming comedy of "Little Mother" by the Hooley Comedy Company, and then, Hermann the magician, in an entirely new programme. It is just possible that on Friday Mr. Calhoun's new comedy entitled "Women of Intrigue" will be produced. Mr. Calhoun is a young gentleman of this city, and we shall look with interest for the proof of his ability or otherwise. However, it is not yet decided whether the play will be given for a week or two, but when it is, it will be noticed.

Pro Bono Publico.

When young men to your burning ears first give their love expression,
No matter with what glowing words they make
 the sweet confession,
Oh! list not to their artful tales, and not believe them—never,
For 'tis a proverb trite and true—men were deceivers ever.
 Trust them not.

Young men, a word: When girls beguile with glances most coquetting,
Such looks that burn into the soul, and there is no forgetting;
Don't trust your peace upon their wiles, or tremble at their speaking;
Such girls are only guying you—'tis only fun
 they're seeking.
 Trust them not.

Old fogies thus, we often find, their worn-out
 stock a blowing,
And when you once examine them, oh! what a fearful showing;
The I X L sells first-class goods and never does
 dissemble,
While those who strive to copy us with envy
 shake and tremble.
 Trust them not.

MONDAY ....SEPTEMBER 27

JOHN T. RAYMOND AND THE "GILDED AGE.

[The following from the N. Y. Mercury is a very fair example of misrepresentation, as those who know the facts of the case will see.]

M. Raymond had been toiling for nearly a score of years and had only made a little reputation and a little salt. He had not gained a seat at the full banquet of success; he was only standing at the side-table of life. He grew impatient of his fate; he was down on his luck. But the darkest hour is just before the dawn, and "as nights to moons, to souls occasions come." About this time, while playing his third, and not very lucrative, engagement in California, he received a note from Mr. Densmore, of the Golden Era, in reference to a certain play which he had written and in which there was a certain character, a Col. Sellers, which Mr. D. thought would suit him. This was the crisis of fate, This was big with the fate of Sellers and of Rome. Had Raymond looked at this MS. carelessly, or had his judgment been in fault; had he "seen nothing" in the part, the world would have heard little of John T. Raymond. But, wanting a play, being both ambitious and disappointed, he read the MS. line for line, word for word, and made up his mind to accept it. He did so, and the first and original acting version of the now famous play, "The Gilded Age," was performed for the first time at San Francisco—and without creating any furore whatever. The piece, as then produced, created little excitement, and did not fufill either the expectations of the dramatist or the actor. But believing in the truth of the old adage that "a bad beginning makes a good ending," Raymond, nothing daunted, still held to his faith in Col. Sellers and the star of destiny. In the course of time reaching New York, he determined to reproduce this play. Ere he could fulfill his intention, however, he received a note from Mr. Clemens (Mark Twain) notifying him that this play was founded upon his novel, and was therefore a violation of his rights. Mr. Raymond immediately wrote back to Mr. Clemens that in this case he would respect his rights, and he also wrote to Mr. Densmore, notifying him that he had withdrawn the play. He then requested an interview with Mr. Clemens in person. The author and actor met by appointment, and an arrangement was made between them on a mutually satisfactory basis. Mr. Clemens then set to work and produced a dramatisation of "The Gilded Age," but was not satisfied with it at all. He tore up the manuscript and recommenced his labors. The final result was the play as at present produced at the Union Square Theatre, and familiar to the world. But even this, the third, last and amended version of "The Gilded Age" did not make a hit from the start. On the contrary, the fates were for a while against it. It was played at Rochester on the 30th of August, 1874, one year ago, and was produced to a poor house. The local press praised it, but the people did not seem to care for it. At Buffalo the same lot of indifference awaited it, and for a while even the sanguine nature of Raymond despaired of his favorite. Finally he determined to make one more bold and decisive venture; he came to New York and engaged the Park Theatre for three weeks at his own responsibility The sequel of this attempt is known to the theatrical world. Success crowned the head of her patient votary, and Col. Sellers became the rage of the town. He took the metropolis by storm. The three weeks expanded into 120 nights, and the piece which San Francisco had pooh-poohed the piece which Rochester and Buffalo had ignored, became the piece-de-resistence of the dramatic season. Col. Sellers, like Byron, woke up one Tuesday morning and found himself famous, and from that day to the present John T. Raymond alias Col. Sellers has been one of the most brilliant stars in the theatrical firmament. "The Gilded Age" has been, of common consent of the critics, among the few characteristic American plays of the era, and actor and play have drawn money till literally the "Colonel's" favorite expression, "there's millions in it," seems to be in a fair way to be realized. The moral of such a career as Raymond's is certainly Nil Desperandum. The lesson of such a life is "to labor and to wait." The play of "The Gilded Age" has this advantage over "Extremes," "Fashion," "Kit," "Saratoga, "Davy Crockett," and other "American plays," that its chief character—Col. Sellers—represents a type of men, and has an "idea" back of him. The world of America is full of just such men as Col. Sellers—speculative, hopeful, ingenious, plausible, untiring, irrepressible. There are Colonel Sellerses in divinity, in law, in medicine, and in politics. There are Col. Sellerses in journalism, in art, in commence, in every phase of life. Every man and woman in the audience can recall from one to twenty-one men whom he or she knows, who might pass for the original of the Colonel. Consequently the character is life-like, real, vital, and appeals directly and forcibly to the hearts of the people. Of course the original credit of the conception of the Colonel is due to Mark Twain, but it is but simple justice to give Mr. Densmore the merit of having first suggested the dramatic capabilities of the part.

Castor Oil.

She had her mind made up for two or three days that the boy needed some castor oil, but she knew that she must approach him gently. She placed the bottle where he could see it, and when he turned up his nose she said:

"It's just like honey, my darling."

He seemed to doubt her word, and she continued:

"If you'll take some I'll let you go to the circus."

"How much?" he cautiously inquired.

"Oh, only a spoonful, just one spoonful," she replied as she uncorked the bottle.

"And you'll give me some sugar, beside?" he asked.

"Of course I will—a big lump."

He waited until she began pouring from the bottle and then asked:

"And you'll give me ten cents, too?"

"Yes, of course."

"And you'll buy me a shoo-fly kite?" he went on, seeing his advantage.

"I guess so."

"No kite—no ile," he said, as he drew back.

"Well, I'll buy you the kite," she replied, filling the spoon clear up.

"And a velocipede?"

"I'll think of it."

"You can't think no castor oil down me!" he exclaimed looking around for his hat.

"Here—I will, or I'll tease father to, and I know he will. Come, now, swallow it down."

"And you'll buy me a goat?"

"Yes."

"And two hundred marbles?"

"Yes. Now take it right down."

"And a coach dog?"

"I can't promise that."

"All right—no dog, no ile!"

"Well, I'll ask your father."

"And you'll buy me pony."

"Oh, I couldn't do that. Now be a good boy and swallow it down."

"Oh, yes, I'll swallow that stuff, I will!" he said, as he clapped on his hat. "You may fool some other boy with a circus ticket and a lump of brown sugar, but it'll take a hundred dollar pony to trot that castor ile down my throat!"

And he went out to see if the neighbor's cat had been caught in the dead-fall he set for her.

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419. opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

A City Item.

We see it reported in the papers that burglars, after robbing a store on Kearny street, a few nights since, were so disgusted with their plunder that they threw it into a swill tub.

Oh! what a stock that store must have,
  And what a cheek to blow it,
When thieves, disgusted with their haul,
  Should in a swill-tub throw it.

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS

....AND....

Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se3

Amusements, Etc.

Maguire's New Theatre.
This house another big house last night, principally attracted doubtless by the wonderful and magical manipulations of Professor Hermann. To-night his programme will be an entirely different one from that of the past week and will be preceded by the Hooley Comedy Company in Madison Morton's charming comedietta of "Little Mother," with Miss Katy Mayhew in the title role.

California Theatre.
This evening Augustin Daly's great society drama of 'Divorce" will be produced with a very strong cast including Mr. Lawrence Barrett as Alfred Adriance, Mr Robert Pateman as Templeton Jitt, Miss Bella Pateman as Miss Fanny Ten Eyck, and Miss Ellie Wilton as Miss Lu Ten Eyck. Besides these the cast will be worthy of note by reason of the introduction to the public of Miss Marguerite Chambers, the new member of the company, in the part of Molly.

Grand German and Italian Opera.
"La Dame Blanche" was repeated to a full and fashionable house, last night. To-morrow evening Donizetti's grand opera of "Lucretia Borgia" will be presented with Mme. Fabbri in the title role, Miss Elser as Maffio Orsini, F. Lafontaine as Duke Alfonso, Sig. Pietro Baccei as Genares, C. Pfleuger as Rustighello, and F. Fischer as Gubetta.

Herold's Grand Orchestral Matinees.
The third concert of this season will be given on Wednesday afternoon next with a programme including selections from the symphonies of Schumann, Gade, Lachner and Mendelssohn, Weber's overture to "Oberon," Gounod's meditation on Sebastian Bach's first prelude, and Reissiger's overture to "Felsenmueble."

Wilson's Hippodrome.
The remarkably successful season of this unique place of amusement closes to-night with a grand testimonal benefit to Mr. John Wilson. In addition to the splendid performance of the entire company (all having volunteered), there will be living pictures of scenes in the war of California in 1846 by the native Californians, under the command of Col. Pico, who will bear the original Mexican flag used at the battle of Santa Clara. To-morrow the whole immensity of canvass comes down and the Hippodrome will be no more.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.
The acts and olio are of a particularly interesting nature whilst the concluding scene of "Parisian Life; or, one Night in Paris," is one of the best things given at this place of amusement for some time.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.
To-night "La Statue Blanche" will be produced for the first time. The programme which is full of attractions of all sorts will conclude with the laughable farce entitled "Under the Influence."

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.
There is an entire change of programme for this evening's performance. To-night the boy wonder George Neilson the trapeze artist makes his first appearance, besides which there are no less than four first-rate variety artists who also make their bows to the patrons of the Harp and Star.

Notes.
The Emerson Minstrels left Chicago yesterday morning and will be due here Thursday night. Will open at the Opera House, on probably either Saturday or Monday evening. Mrs. Emerson arrives to-night. It will be found that the troupe includes many new faces.

J. C. Arnold, an old attaches of the theatres, and author of many of the local pieces produced at the variety theatres, has returned to town, and can be found at the Harp and Star Varieties.

Manager Wilson and troupe leave for Victoria, B. C., to-morrow.

On Friday next in the revival of "La Dame Blanche," Mme. Frankenberg will assume the role of Anna in place of Mad.me Fabbri, who retires to pay the debutante this compliment.

The order of business at the California Theatre during the present week will be as follows: To-morrow evening "Rosedale," Wednesday "Hamlet," and on Thursday, "The Marble Heart." On Friday evening Mr. Barrett will have a farewell benefit, when "The Merchant of Venice" and "David Garrick" will be given.

Mr. Dominic Murray and Mr. W. C. Barry arrived in town on Saturday night. Mr. Murray will commence his engagement on Monday next with the production of Mr. Barry's dramatization of Cooper's novel "The Spy," the star as The Spy and Mr. Barry as George Washington.

We learn from the Australian papers to hand that Miss Emilie Melville's first appearance at Sydney, in "Girofle-Girofla," was a complete success.

MARRIED.

DANIELWITZ—CIPRICO—On Sunday, Sept. 26, 1875, at the residence of the bride's mother, in San Francisco, by the Hon. Wm T. Wallace, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of California, Isidor Danielwitz to Charlotte E. Ciprico. No cards.

Managers
Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 8-cj

A Word to the Wise, etc.
It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm.

New and beautiful designs of Carpets at 116 Sutter street, Hall & Lachman's.

THE COLONEL.

Under my window, in the cherry boughs,
A thieving robin redbreast has his tent;
A noisy fellow, full of merriment,
And very jealous of his pretty spouse,
A sleek young thing, tea-colored, like a mouse;
A bride, I fancy. Upon forage bent
(Crumbs from the cloth, or ground-worm timely sent),
He makes incessant raids about the house.
Just at this moment, with his shrewd bead-eye
Cocked at my window, he keeps watch on me;
Firm-seated on his green boughs prancing high,
Gay in his top-boots reaching to the knee
My jaunty colonel of artillery!

FOREIGN THEATRICAL NEWS.

Poor Sophie Hamet! writes Lucy Hooper from Paris. She was a good mother and a good woman, and yet she played the part of the atrocious old hag in "Les Deux Orphelines" with such striking realism that the excitable audience of the upper tiers used to hurl insulting epithets at her, and once even, a band of strong-armed dames de la halle waited outside the stage-door to give her the thrashing which they thought that her treatment of poor blind Louise richly merited. Fortunately, their purpose was discovered, and Madame Hamet was smuggled out of the front door, thus escaping her ferocious would-be assailants.

Mr. James K. Emmet had been meeting with great and continued success in the English provinces. He was to close at Scarborough 28th September; thence to Margate, one week, 30th; Bristol, Sept. 6, two weeks; Margate again 20th, two weeks; Bristol again Oct. 4, one week; Sheffield, 11th; Edinburgh, 18th, one week (second visit since July); Leeds, Nov. 1, two weeks (second visit since August); Belfast, 15th one week; Dublin, 22d, two weeks; Sheffield again, Dec. 6 one week; Manchester again 13th, one week—all at first-class theatres.

A telegram from London, under date of Sept. 7th, says: "The construction of the new National Opera House on the Thames embankment has commenced. There was an informal gathering of managers, artists and others at the site of the building this morning, and Mlle. Titiens laid the first brick. The public ceremony of laying the corner-stone will take place in a few days, and the Prince of Wales has promised to officiate."

Mme. Adelina Patti has consented to lay the foundation-stone of the London Throat and Ear Hospital, on September 16th. She recently sang at Dieppe for the poor, and made over 2,000 francs for their benefit.

Arthur Sullivan is composing an opera for the Italian Theatre at St. Petersburg, the leading part to be sung by Madame Nilsson.

Mlle. Emma Albani, whose career in Europe has been one of unexceptionable brilliancy, is engaged for the forthcoming musical festival at Norwich, England.

Gungl took the baton at the London concerts, Covent Garden, for the first time on August 28th.

"Girofle-Girofla" has met with great success at Barcelona in its Spanish dress.

"Meine erste und einzige Liebe" is the title of Bronson Howard's "Saratoga" at Berlin.

Donizetti's remains were to be transferred to the Cathedral of Bergamo in September, and the body of Mayer, the composer of "Medea," was to be laid in the same grave. The two composers were friends while living.

A Leak.
I have laughed a great many times as I called the incident to mind. It was in the years agone, when the common affairs of to-day were very uncommon. I was at work at the printing business, on Cornhill, and my employ was a man from Bangor, Maine. During the Summer a verdant specimen of the genus Yankee made his appearance in the office. He was a cousin of my Bangor journeyman, and fresh from the backwoods of the Pine-tree State—a tall, lank, sunburned youth of two-and-twenty, genial, modest and good-natured. He answered to the name of Ichabod. He had come to pay his cousin a visit and to see the sights.

One day Ichabod was just emerging from Cornhill into Court street, when one of the new sprinkling carts came along—a huge cistern upon wheels—and as it reached the corner where Scollay's building then stood the driver placed his foot upon the lever and opened his "sprinkler."

Ichabod had seen water drawn upon wheels before. He done it himself. On the farm at home was a hogshead, which could be set upon wheels in time of protracted drought for the purpose of bringing water from a distant pond.

"Hallo! I say, you chap on that ere cart! You're losin' yer water. Yer hogshead's sprung a leak!"

The man on the cart paid no attention.

"Halloo!—Yeou!—Mister!—I say! halloo!"

Now the man on the cart looked around.

"Jerewsalum! ole feller, yeour hogshead's sprung a leak, and yer water's all goin' to kingdom come!—don't ye see?"

The man on the cart placed his thumb to his nose, slightly wiggling his fingers, and then drove on with apparent unconcern.

"Wal, I'll be darn'd!" exclaimed Ichabod. "Ef that chap aint about the all-firedest fool I ever did see! But I guess he'll open his eyes when he finds I told him the trewth. Blast him! 'f he don't care for his own interest, I'm blamed if I do!"

Pro Bono Publico.

When young men to your burning ears first give their love expression,
No matter with what glowing words they make the sweet confession,
Oh! list not to their artful tales, and not believe them—never,
For 'tis a proverb trite and true—men were deceivers ever.
Trust them not.

Young men, a word: When girls beguile with glances most coquetting,
Such looks that burn into the soul, and there is no forgetting;
Don't trust your peace upon their wiles, or tremble at their speaking;
Such girls are only guying you—'tis only fun they're seeking.
Trust them not.

Old fogies thus, we often find, their worn-out stock a blowing,
And when you once examine them, oh! what a fearful showing;
The I X L sells first-class goods and never does dissemble,
While those who strive to copy us with envy shake and tremble.
Trust them not.

The Mexican Children.

"For opera bouffe pure and undefiled—out of the months of babes and sucklings—commend me" says Walsingham, the N. Y. correspondent of the Baltimore Bulletin, "to the performances of the Mexican Juvenile Opera Company, who are now airing their diminutive graces on the boards of the Fifth Avenue Theatre. In "La Grande Duchesse" these small people reduced to miniature a representation of full-grown and animated performers, and, while it must be candidly admitted that the good notes of their voices are like angels' visits, few and far between, there is no doubt of the cleverness of their acting. The prima donna, Nina Moran, carries off the dash of the fair but fickle sovereign with a knowing air, an easy carriage, and a certain excellence of vocalism which, on the night I was present, excited the Spaniards in the audience into a furore of admiration. I was most amused, however, by the spasmodic efforts of her sister, a sweet, dark-eyed child, who tried so hard to sing, and who certainly succeeded in making Wanda as coquettish as though—like the opera bouffe prime donne of larger growth—she had "learned in suffering what she lisped in song." The dear little thing, relying upon the long false braids that dangled down her back, and clutching as a measure of protection or inspiration a very large mouchoir, poured out her little throat, and flirted, and made wild, dark eyes at the conductor, and beat time with her little footsie-tootsie, until she proved vastly more entertaining than ever she had; revelled in roulades, and held us entranced with the very ecstacy of song."

STRAY HITS AND STOLEN BITS.

An Ohio man ran a mile in six minutes the other day. So did his wife. She was after him.

Dark eyes show power. Anybody who has had his eyes well blackened will feel the force of this remark.

Kissing in the dark is not quite so unsatisfactory as smoking in the dark.

Six-inch alligators sell for half-a-dollar each in New Orleans.

In Russia locusts are salted and smoked like herring.

There has not been a steamboat disaster on the Mississippi river for nearly two weeks, and old boatmen predict that the world is coming to an end.

A Wyoming husband has given full consent for his wife to run for office, but he didn't give it until after a conflict which broke every dish in the house.

Peach brandy is the favorite Delaware drink, and the peaches are generally of such an inferior quality that a man feels like murdering all his relations five minutes after drinking a glass of the mixture.

This is from an exchange: "Boyle & Job constitute a Hazleton, Pennsylvania, firm. When his partner breaks out on him, Job has to bear it tranquilly, for he can't sit down on him.

Comfortable quarters—Twenty-five cent pieces.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of E. F, Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 8-cj

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm.

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops. Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges Moderate. D. B. Magee, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. N. B. Open to 2:30 A. M. Old fashioned boiled dinners every Saturday. 2-L

A Mean Man.

When Hugo Himmelman was going to be married to Gretchen Kolb, he goes down to Parson Rogers, at Digby, to procure a license.

"Parson," says he, "what's the price of a license?"

"Six dollars," says the parson.

"Six dollars!" says Hugo. "That's a dreadful sight of money. Couldn't you take no less?"

"No," says he; "that's what they cost me at the secretary's office at Halifax."

"Well, how much do you ax for publishing in church, then?"

"Nothing," says the parson.

"Well," says Hugo, "that's so cheap I can't expect you to give no change back. I think I'll be published. How long does it take?"

"Three Sundays."

"Three Sundays!" says Hugo. "Well, that's a long time too. But three Sundays only make a fortnight, arter all;—two for the covers and one for the inside, like; and six dollars is a great sum of money for poor men to throw away. I must wait."

So off he went, jogging toward home, feeling as mean as a new-sheared sheep, when all at once a bright thought came into his head, and back he went as fast as his horse could carry him.

"Parson," says he, "I've changed my mind. Here's the six dollars. I'll tie the knot to-night with my tongue that I can't untie with my teeth."

"Why, what in natur' is the meanin' of all this?" says the parson.

"Why," says Hugo, "I've been a ciphering it out in my head, and find it's cheaper than publishin' banns, arter all. You see, sir, it's potato-diggin' time. If I wait to be called in church, her father will have her work for nothin', and as hands are scarce and labor dear, if I marry her to-night she can begin to dig our own to-morrow, and that will pay for the license, and just seven shillings over; for there ain't a man in all Clements that can dig and carry as many bushels in a day as Gretchen can. And, besides, fresh wives, like fresh servants, work like smoke at first, but they get sarcy and lazy arter a while; so I may as well make the most of her."

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419. opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

WITHOUT THE AID OF MERCURY OR NAUSEOUS DRUGS.

Only ONE INTERVIEW REQUIRED, balance of treatment can be conducted without any interruption to business.

Prescriptions free to all every day, from 10 to 11 o'clock, A. M.

Regular Office Hours, from 10 o'clock to 4 P. M.; from 7 to 8 P. M.

CONSULTATION FREE

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of return'ng health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS

....AND....

Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

Maguire's New Theatre.

Another crowded house last night. The comedy of "Little Mother" with W. H. Crane and Katy Mayhew in the two chief roles, affords a most agreeable way of spending an hour, whilst Professor Hermann's new stock of diablerie affords an equally agreeable way for spending another.

California Theatre.

"Divorce" drew a fairly filled house last night and except for its length, was a particularly enjoyable performance. After Mr. Barrett whose Alfred Adriance is a well known character, there should be mentioned the two Misses Ten Eyck as played by Miss Bella Pateman and Miss Ellie Wilton, the De Wolf De Witt of Harry Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Kemp by W. M. Leman and Mrs. Edwin and the Molly of Miss. Marguerite Chambers, who last night made her first appearance at this theatre and who in the character above mentioned, treated the audience to a bit of as rich humor and brogue as were ever found in the Emerald Isle. To-night "Rosedale." To-morrow evening "Hamlet."

Grand German and Italian Opera.

This evening Donizetti's "Lucretia Borgia" will be presented with Mme. Fabbri in the title role, Miss Elzer as Maffio Orsini, F. Lafontaine as Duke Alfonso, Sig. Pietro Baccei as Genares, C. Pfleuger as Rustighello, and F. Fischer as Gubetta.

Herold's Grand Orchestral Matinees.

The third concert of this season will be given to-morrow afternoon with a programme including selections from the symphonies of Schumann, Gade, Lachner and Mendelssohn, Weber's overture to "Oberon," Gounod's meditation on Sebastian Bach's first prelude, and Reissiger's overture to "Felsenmueble."

Wilson's Hippodrome.

Manager John Wilson's benefit, last night, was the great success he so well deserved. The house was crowded, and the whole performance of a most interesting nature. Through one of these kindly motives of benevolence for which Mr. Wilson is celebrated, he has delayed his departure and the taking down of the canvass until after Thursday next, on the evening of which day he will open the Hippodrome (for that night), for the benefit of the Relief Fund, for the Texas Sufferers.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

The grand real-life sensation of "One Night in Paris," introducing the Can-Can, Geo. Thompson in his specialties, Swain and West in song and dance and other acts and attractions to-night.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

"La Statue Blanche," Charley King and his banjo, Lotta and Charley Harris in their Dutch scenes, and the farce of "Under the Influence" all on the bill for to-night.

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.

Borthwick Reid and Millie Martini, Randall the eccentric, and George Neilson, the wonderful boy trapezist are all, with many others on the bill for to-night.

Woodward's Gardens.

Mlle. Scarsey the great Parisian Velocipedist, in her immensely fascinating exhibition of style and skill on Saturday and Sunday, also Gonzales the Chilian wonder and champion tumbler, Mons. Broed the Man with the Iron Jaw, Miss Linden and Grand Orchestral Concert.

Notes.

Our Australian letter has not come to hand, so that we are, unfortunately, only able to present the few following items of theatrical news culled from the columns of the Sydney and Melbourne papers that have come to hand.

A copy of The Illustrated Sydney News, (addressed we think in the handwriting of Tracy Titus,) has reached us, containing portraits of Ristori, Janauschek and Emelie Melville.

Torch processions must be cheap in Australia. Ilma di Murska has been honored with one in Melbourne, and Ristori received a similar compliment in Sydney. The engagements of both artists have been remarkably successful. Both are at present in Melbourne.

On Janauschek's arrival in Sydney, she found that through a misunderstanding, the Victoria Theatre, in which she was to play her engagement, had been secured by Lyster for his Emelie Melville season of Opera Bouffe. Mr. Ellis vowed vengeance on the proprietor, and started off in a huff for Melbourne, when it was decided to play an engagement at Lazar's theatre, in Sydney. Mr. Lazar, although he now holds a minor theatre, is an enterprising man, and will most possibly be the lessee of the new theatre about to be built in Sydney.

Maggie Moore and J. C. Williamson played a farewell benefit at Melbourne on the 23d of August, and on the 24th, sailed for Adelaide, en route for India.

Of the success of Miss Emilie Melville's debut at the Victoria Theatre, Sydney, there can happily be no doubt. She opened under Mr. Lyster's management in "Girofle-Girofla" on the 23d of August last. The Sydney press, without exception spoke in terms of high favor of her debut. The Athenæum refers to her as "possessed of youth, good looks and talent to recommend her," and as already being "an immense favorite." The Stock Whip styles her "a charming little body, possessed of a pretty face, a handsome figure, magnificent taste in dress, good elocutional powers and a clear mezzo-soprano voice." The Echo, too, is charmed with her "pretty and expressive face, style, graceful figure, arch and vivacious delivery, refined and comprehensive acting" and predicts for her "a career of success." After concluding her engagement in Sydney, she will most probably play for a few nights in Newcastle and then open for the season at Melbourne, on the 1st of January, 1876.

Mlle. Sarsey, the Parisian velocipedist, is in town and will, most probably, give an exhibition of her skill in managing the two-wheeled festive steed at Maguire's during Hermann's engagement.

Marie Antoinette Nathalie Pollard will, by special invitation, read extracts from her celebrated lecture on "Life in Washington," at Dashaway Hall this evening.

Bat.

At No. 10 Post Street, Masonic Temple. At this establishment can be had the celebrated Munro bath, combination hot air, steam, medicated, steam, salt, electro, chemical, hot air, plain, steam, mecurial and toilet baths. Office hours, from 8 A. M. to 10 P. M.

Palmer's have received a new supply of ladies' and children's underwear—very cheap—726 to 734 Market street.

EVENING SONG.

Close, little weary eyes,
The day at last is over.
To-night no more surprise
Shall they discover.
Nor bird nor butterfly,
Nor unfamiliar flower;
Nor picture in the sky,
Nor fairy in the bower.

Rest, little weary feet,
The woods are dark and lonely;
The little birds rest sweet,
The owl is watching only.
No buttercup is seen,
No daisy in the meadow;
Their gold and white and green
Are turned to purple shadow.

Fold, little busy hands,
Day is the time for doing?
The boats lie on the sands,
The mill-wheels are not going.
Within the darksome mine
Are hushed the spade and hammer;
The cattle rest supine,
The cock withholds his clamor.

Still, little restless heart,
Be still until the morrow;
Till then thou hast no part
In either joy or sorrow.
To new and joyous day,
Shall little birds await thee;
Again to work and play,
With strength renewed, betake thee.

FOREIGN THEATRICAL NEWS.

Poor Sophie Hamet! writes Lucy Hooper from Paris. She was a good mother and a good woman, and yet she played the part of the atrocious old hag in "Les Deux Orphelines" with such striking realism that the excitable audience of the upper tiers used to hurl insulting epithets at her, and once even, a band of strong-armed dames de la halle waited outside the stage-door to give her the thrashing which they thought that her treatment of poor blind Louise richly merited. Fortunately, their purpose was discovered, and Madame Hamet was smuggled out of the front door, thus escaping her ferocious would-be assailants.

Mr. James K. Emmet had been meeting with great and continued success in the English provinces. He was to close at Scarborough 28th September; thence to Margate, one week, 30th; Bristol, Sept. 6, two weeks; Margate again 20th, two weeks; Bristol again Oct. 4, one week; Sheffield, 11th; Edinburgh, 18th, one week (second visit since July); Leeds, Nov. 1, two weeks (second visit since August); Belfast, 15th one week; Dublin, 22d, two weeks; Sheffield again, Dec. 6 one week; Manchester again 13th, one week—all at first-class theatres.

A telegram from London, under date of Sept. 7th, says: "The construction of the new National Opera House on the Thames embankment has commenced. There was an informal gathering of managers, artists and others at the site of the building this morning, and Mlle. Titiens laid the first brick. The public ceremony of laying the corner-stone will take place in a few days, and the Prince of Wales has promised to officiate."

Mme. Adelina Patti has consented to lay the foundation-stone of the London Throat and Ear Hospital, on September 16th. She recently sang at Dieppe for the poor, and made over 2,000 francs for their benefit.

Arthur Sullivan is composing an opera for the Italian Theatre at St. Petersburg, the leading part to be sung by Madame Nilsson.

Mlle. Emma Albani, whose career in Europe has been one of unexceptionable brilliancy, is engaged for the forthcoming musical festival at Norwich, England.

Gungl took the baton at the London concerts, Covent Garden, for the first time on August 28th.

"Girofle-Girofla" has met with great success at Barcelona in its Spanish dress.

"Meine erste und erirzige Liebe" is the title of Bronson Howard's "Saratoga" at Berlin.

Donizetti's remains were to be transferred to the Cathedral of Bergamo in September, and the body of Mayer, the composer of "Medea," was to be laid in the same grave. The two composers were friends while living.

A Leak.

I have laughed a great many times as I called the incident to mind. It was in the years agone, when the common affairs of to-day were very uncommon. I was at work at the printing business, on Cornhill, and my employ was a man from Bangor, Maine. During the Summer a verdant specimen of the genus Yankee made his appearance in the office. He was a cousin of my Bangor journeyman, and fresh from the backwoods of the Pine-tree State—a tall, lank, sunburned youth of two-and-twenty, genial, modest and good-natured. He answered to the name of Ichabod. He had come to pay his cousin a visit and to see the sights.

One day Ichabod was just emerging from Cornhill into Court street, when one of the new sprinkling carts came along—a huge cistern upon wheels—and as it reached the corner where Scollay's building then stood the driver placed his foot upon the lever and opened his "sprinkler."

Ichabod had seen water drawn upon wheels before. He done it himself. On the farm at home was a hogshead, which could be set upon wheels in time of protracted drought for the purpose of bringing water from a distant pond.

"Hallo! I say, you chap on that ere cart! You're losin' yer water. Yer hogshead's sprung a leak!"

The man on the cart paid no attention.

"Halloo!—Yeou!—Mister!—I say! halloo!"

Now the man on the cart looked around.

"Jerewsalum! ole feller, yeour hogshead's sprung a leak, and yer water's all goin' to kingdom come!—don't ye see?"

The man on the cart placed his thumb to his nose, slightly wiggling his fingers, and then drove on with apparent unconcern.

"Wal, I'll be darn'd!" exclaimed Ichabod. "Ef that chap aint about the all-firedest fool I ever did see! But I guess he'll open his eyes when he finds I told him the trewth. Blast him! 'f he don't care for his own interest, I'm hlamed if I do!"

A Canadian girl offers to match herself against any man in the Dominion at driving a reaping machine. She often drives the reaper all day, and at night entertains the work-hands with music on the organ, accompanied by her voice.

A barber, who was in the habit of stunning his customers' ears by the rapidity of his tongue, asked an individual one day, how he wished his beard cut. "Without saying a single word," replied he.

What a perfect idea of impecuniosity is given in the remark made last week by one despondent Hibernian to another: "Faith," says one, "I haven't more than ten cents in my pocket." "Be jabers," retorted the other, "you are better off than I am, then; I've nothing in my pocket, and very little of that, ayther."

"There was a place apart in heaven" says a Chinese sage "for good wives who could judge a wicked thing as harshly when a man did it as when a woman did it. But it has never been occupied, I believe."

"Say, mister," said a soiled looking boy on the wharf, "do you ever give a piece o' watermelon to a poor boy whose father'n mother's both dead, 'n who goes to Sunday school, 'n has got a sore heel?" The man was deeply touched and gave him a large slice off a rotten one.

Madame L'Archiduc.

The following is the story of Offenbach's latest opera "Mme. l'Archiduc" now being played by the Geoffroi Troupe at the Lyceum Theatre, New York: Count Castleando, son of an ex-conspirator against Archduke Ernest of opera bouffedom, is strongly suspected of participation in the movement which at the moment threatens the destructions of the reigning powers. An order of arrest has been issued for him, and it is intrusted to one Fortunato, a young and gallant officer of dragoons. To escape from the Archduke's emissaries Count Castelando and his wife induce Giletti and Marietta, two domestics of a certain inn, in the neighborhood, at which they are sojourning, and have only recently become man and wife, to take their places, and the first act closes upon the departure of the mock Count and Countess in charge of the military. The second act reveals Giletti and Marietta vigilantly guarded by Fortunato, who is by no means insensible to the blushing maiden beauty in the manor of the real Count. In due course the Archduke Ernest appears and proceeds to hold a court. On a sentence passed by this tribunal the supposed Castelando and a quartette of comical conspirators, whose mysterious movements enliven the story, and supplement it with flashes of merriment as they flit through it, are condemned to the penalties of the Duke's decisions. This same Duke is an eccentric old fellow, who takes a vast amount of pleasure in doing the very reverse of what every rational being who approaches him would expect, and from this it happens that after falling in love with Marietta, and finding that, unlike most other ladies at the court, she resists his entreaties and efforts, he creates her, at her own suggestion, Archduke, and commands that she shall be obeyed by all his subjects and dependents as himself and absolute sovereign of the State. The sequel may be readily imagined. While cunningly keeping the veritable sovereign at arm's length, Marietta bends him to all her caprices. She appoints Giletti Prince Consort, and at once enriches him with all the spare funds in the kingly treasury. She dissolves the Cabinet, and promotes the conspirators to the rank of ministers. In brief, she gratifies in every way the Archduke's longing for originality, in all things, and with the merry spectacle of a dance the second act terminates. The third is occupied with the attempt of the Archduke to secure a return of the honors he has forsaken and conferred, and the money he has spent. Finally, through the instrumentality of Fortuanato, the Archduke gets rid of Giletti by sending him off on anembassy, but,as the windings of the subject bring about, he gains nothing by the husband's absence, and Giletti at length returns at a most critical moment. A general clearing up of mistakes takes place, Count Castelando and Giletti reverse their respective positions, the Archduke regains his power, place and sceptre, quite content with his recent experiences and indulgences in eccentricity. They have proven fruitless in one sense, but they have taught him a lesson in another, and, like all merry and fanciful fantasies, the opera winds up in universal good feeling and satisfaction.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F, Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-oj

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. A Few Epitaphs.

Gravestone literature is both curious and amusing, as has been often shown. Seldom, however, has a more striking collection of epitaphs been brought together than that just collected by a London contemporary. For example, according to one correspondent, this curt epitaph is in a Croyden churchyard:

> Died of a horse and cart;

while this equally suggestive one is in the churchyard of Penrith:

> Here lies Moll,
> Fol de rol rol—

which surely must have been written by the same heard-hearted and unforgiving Benedict who inspired the following couplet, to be found in the Old Gray Friars burying-ground, Edinburg:

> Here snug in grave my wife doth lie;
> Now she's at rest—and so am I!

Gowalton churchyard, Notts, would also seem to be not without its quaint epitaphs; anyway, it has one—at least, so another correspondent solemnly assures us—and here it is:

> She drank good ale, strong punch, and wine,
> And lived to the age of ninety-nine.

Wanted Jones.

The other day when a Vicksburg citizen inquired of a negro deck-hand, whom he met on the levee, if a negro by the name of Jones worked on a certain boat, the black asked:

"Does you mean Lightning Jones?"

"No, I guess not."

"P'raps you mean Buffalo Jones?"

"No, he isn't the one."

"Can't be Glass Eye Jones, can it?"

"No, this Jones has no such name."

"Is it Will Jones, Small Jones, Dick Jones, Sam Jones or Peaceful Jones?"

"No, none of them."

"Well, dat's all de Joneses on dat ar' steamboat, and if none of dem haint de chap ye'll have to look furder."

The Young Man from the East.

" Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419. opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS

....AND....

Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any

California Theatre.

"Rosedale' filled the house last night as "Hamlet" will, we expect to-night, and "The Marble Heart" to-morrow night. These announcements are all tha. need be made; a full house, a favorite actor and a popular play.

Maguire's New Theatre.

Hermann's feats of magic and the Hooley Comedy Company in the farcical comedy of "Little Mother" offer sufficient inducement to amusement seekers to comfortably fill the house each night. No change of bill advertised except for Monday night.

Opera House.

To morrow or Friday the favorite Emerson Minstrels after a long and successful tour through the principal Eastern States, return to the city and will open at the Opera House on Monday next, October 4th. It will be found that although the head of the company remains unchanged, many of the principal members are new.

Grand German and Italian Opera.

It was generally conceded last night that the performance of "Lucrezia Borgia" by the Fabbri Opera Troupe, was the best of the season. Both in acting and singing there was a freshness of spirit introduced, which was possibly in consequence of the opera having been given in Italian. From the prima donna downward each artist was honored with the commending attention of the audience. It should here be mentioned that the chorus and orchestra contrast most favorably with the similar necessary adjuncts to other opera companies. Miss Elzer as Maffio Orsini, carried off a large share of the honors, her brindisi in the last act, though perhaps a trifle too florid, receiving a well merited encore. So, too, Signor Baccei's interpolated song of 'Mia Madre,' was recalled. On Friday 'La Dame Blanche" will be repeated with Mme. Frankenberg in the role of Anna.

Herold's Grand Orchestral Matinees.

The third concert of this season will be given this (Wednesday) afternoon, with a programme including selections from the symphonies of Schumann, Gade, Lachner and Mendelssohn, Weber's overture to "Oberon," Gounod's meditation on Sebastian Bach's first prelude, and Reissiger's overture to "Felsenmueble."

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

"Parisian Life, or One Night in Paris" is taking immensely, the place being nightly crowded. The Can-Can which is introduced, is danced with immense vigor. Frank Mortimer's part of Mr. Fitzwilliams, an old English sport, is capitally played.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

"The Two Cheese Brows," Barney's Courtship," "La Statue Blanche," "Post Office Sam" and "Under the Influence," are the capital acts for to-night.

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.

On the bill for to-night, we find Borthwick Reid in his wonderful feats of dexterity with the sword, Randall and Cook in song and dance, Billy Randall in his specialties and George Neilson the wonderful boy trapezist.

Woodward's Gardens.

Mlle. Scarsey the great Parisian Velocipedist, in her immensely fascinating exhibition of style and skill on Saturday and Sunday, also Gonzales the Chilian wonder and champion tumbler, Mons. Broed the Man with the Iron Jaw, Miss Linden and Grand Orchestral Concert.

Notes.

Mlle. Sarce, makes her first appearance at Woodward's Gardens on Saturday next.

We are very glad to be able to announce that a benefit is being organized for Mlle. Gracie, the trapezist, who, about a month ago, fell from the trapeze at Woodward's Gardens, the effects of the fall being to render her at present unable to earn a livelihood, and probably to lame her for life.

Joe Murphy gives the San Joseites a week of his humor, beginning on Monday next, assisted by a snap company from this city.

The lecture advertised to be given at Dashaway Hall last night by Miss Pollard did not come off.

The following telegraphic dispatch has been received by the daily papers:

NEW YORK, September 28th.—Edwin Booth in conversation yesterday, stated that his left arm is utterly and absolutely powerless. When unbandaged he says it falls helplessly by his side like a bar of lead. He continued: "I have no power to move it whatever. I can't even move my wrist, let me do what I will. The muscular strength and nervous energy of the arm seem entirely gone. It is impossible for me to tell you when I will appear on the stage again. Unless there is a great change in my condition I must keep off the boards, and force must be applied to loosen the stiffened joints. I will have to be put under the influense of some strong anæsthetic, as the pain would be more than I could endure. The arm and wrist are swollen to twice their natural size."

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges Moderate. D. B. Magee, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. N. B. Open to 2:30 A. M. Old fashioned boiled dinners every Saturday. 2-L

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

The Fall and Winter Styles

Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the best material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Don't forget to call and examine their stock at 647 Washington street, below Kearny.

Baths

At No. 10 Post Street, Masonic Temple. At this establishment can be had the celebrated Munro bath, combination hot air, steam, medicated, steam, salt, electro, chemical, hot air, plain, steam, mecurial and toilet baths. Office hours, from 8 A. M. to 10 P. M.

Palmer's have received a new supply of ladies' and children's underwear—very cheap—726 to 734 Market street.

THE MASHER.

(In the Vernacular.)

BY F. C. FILLEY.

[Who has not seen him? dressed in fancy suit, direct from the I X L Auction House, seated in some prominent seat, ogling all the girls and generally making an ass of himself? Hear his plaint:]

I saw her in the ballet, in my dreams I see her yet;
'Twas at the Harp and Star, the night I can't forget;
I knew I took her notice, I saw her bright eyes flash,
As she whispered to a coryphee—"That rooster's on the mash."

Of the Frenchman at the Lick House I bought a sweet bouquet,
Among the fragrant roses I hid a note away,
In melting words I wrote her—"Oh! dearest, let us meet,
I'll wait for you, at ten to-night, below on Kearny street."

I watched her as she entered, she looked divinely sweet,
I caught her eye and threw my gift at her angelic feet;
She pressed it to her bosom, my note did soon espy,
I knew that I was hunky, I saw it in her eye.

I saw her when the play was done, she appeared among the crowd,
Like one of Raphael's cherubs emerging from a cloud;
She'd taken off her fixins, but looked angelic fair,
The rouge was yet upon her cheek, the frizzle in her hair.

I approached her with a killing bow; a sort of coup de grace,
When a smile of recognition flashed like sunshine o'er her face;
She whispered sweetly in my ear—"Thank you for that bouquet,"
Then slid her little hand in mine, and then we walked away.

I took her for refreshments to a neighboring saloon,
My spirits were as rarefied as if up in a balloon;
She said she didn't care for much, she'd take a little lunch,
She worried down six oyster fries and celery by the bunch.

And then against my shoulder she sweetly did recline,
And the same road the oysters went slid half a dozen wine.
I thought, for such a fairy, she was heavy on her hash,
And found out to my sorrow it didn't pay to mash.

I soon spent all my coin, my watch I had to spout,
And, cruel thing, she shook me, when she had played me out.
She's traveling with another chap, who's better off in cash,
And he'll find out, as I have done, it doesn't pay to mash.

I saw them both, the other night, she and her cher ami,
They were going in to get their feed at the Maison Doree.
She plays him for his money, with her artful smiles and smirks,
And he'll find, as I have found, just how the whole thing works.

A CONQUEROR.

"And what ails you?" asked his Honor of the first man out.

"Weakness," was the mild reply.

"How?"

"Can't stand up under a pint of whisky as I could when I left the army."

"Don't try any jokes on me, old relic of gory battle," continued the court. "You were in the army, eh?"

"Five years."

"Did you go as a sutler or a colonel?"

"Sutlers didn't get them off, did they?" asked the vet., as he held up a hand minus three fingers, "nor bullets in the shoulder, nor sabre cuts on the head? No, sir! I fit—waded right for the jaws of death!"

"And now you wade for the jaws of demijohns and decanters?"

"I got drunk," answered the soldier, "but it was a mean, sneaking drunk—none o' the old sort we had during war-time. I'm kinder sorry, but I'm going to stand by the colors and take sentence."

"Your nose is red, your eyes bleary, your voice way down in your knee-pans, Charles Hildreth," said the court, "and it is evident to me that whisky is killing you. Still I'll try you once. It isn't the right way to attempt the conquest of the world by carrying your battle-flag on your nose, but there is one chance in a million for you to reform. 'Bout face! Forward—eyes right—march!"

AN ASTHMATIC PRISONER.

He was a fat man, almost as wide as the corridor door, and as he came out, one of the news-boys whispered:

"What a sinker he'd make for a fish-line!"

"Your name is Rufus Jackson, is it?" asked the court.

"Yes—certainly—of course my name's Rufus Jackson," wheezed the fat man in reply.

"And you hail from Milwaukee?"

"Why, yes—certainly. Lived there twenty-eight years."

"And you were drunk last night?"

"No, sir—no, sir—I deny the charge in totum. Never was more astonished in my life, sir. Perhaps you have taken me for some one else."

"Perhaps I have, Mr. Jackson, but if you weren't drunk how came you to be lying flat on the walk, hat in the gutter, satchel in the street, and your feet spread all over? And when an officer raised you up, Mr. Jackson, you plainly and distinctly exclaimed: 'Zon't g'way an' lemme' 'lone I'll knock 'er head off!' Would a sober man make such a remark?"

"May it please the court," wheezed the fat man, "I am a victim of asthma. I was born of honest parents, and my life has been one long epoch of respectability. I am fat. I'd give the world to be lean, but I can't be. I can't run. Other men can skip and gambol, while I must creep. I can't sing. I can't whistle. I am an enthusiastic politician, but I can't holler for the candidates on my ticket. If I try to, my voice merely makes a sound like the wind sobbing through a corrugated stovepipe elbow. This asthma is killing me by inches. The doctor says that I may live to see strawberries come again, but beyond that I dare not hope. Last night as I came into your beautiful city I was seized with a faintness and fell down, and if the officers had not found me I should likely have been robbed and murdered. I am indeed greatly obliged, and I can't close my remarks without complimenting the efficient police force of your handsome and orderly city.

"Fat man from Milwaukee," said the court as the prisoner paused, "once I was like a child. I looked at things as a child. I believed every story and statement, and my heart was free from suspicion. Men took advantage of me; women deceived me with their crocodile tears—I felt sad for the men who cut their hair close and bet their money on dog fights. I have changed, Mr. Jackson. The lamb has become a cougar. That was a good speech of yours, but I can't part company until you hand the clerk a ten dollar bill."

The prisoner smiled sadly, paid the money, and was not long getting out of doors.

An Amusing First Night.

"Last Saturday," says the London correspondent of the N. Y. Spirit of the Times, writing under the date of August 28th, "we had one of the most amusing first nights at the Holborn, or the Mirror Theatre as it is now called, I remember to have assisted at for some years.

The piece was "The Dogs of St. Bernard," and the fact that performing dogs had been obtained from Paris, to take part in the piece, was enough to secure a crowded house. For some reason or another, the dog piece, which was, of course, the piece of the evening, was put last on the bills, and did not come on till after ten o'clock; and the two pieces which preceded it were not by any means of an entrancing or even an entertaining description. To begin with there was "A Naval Engagement", being an old-fashioned comedietta, and three act comedy, by John Oxenford, dramatic critic of the Times, which was, most assuredly, not worth revival. Now, the "gods" were naturally impatient for the dogs to come on; they had paid their money and fought for front places to see the performing hounds, and when hour after hour passed, and there was no sign of the canine drama, the inhabitants of Olympus became very impatient indeed. Only one incident pleased the gallery in the earlier part of the evening, and that was the reappearance of an actor under a new name. A year or two ago a certain Herbert Crellin, who had gained favor at the Olympic and other theatres saw fit to run off with a married woman, the wife of a well-know West End hatter. The husband pursued, caught Crellin, and finding some of his wife's jewelery on him, gave him into custody. For a week or two it went hard with the stage Lothario, for the magistrate refused to take bail, and he was locked up till the sessions. Then, however, he was acquitted, as was generally expected, and the usual proceedings in the Divorce Court followed. Subsequently Crellin was lost to the London stage, but on Saturday he reappeared, having assumed the somewhat peculiar alias of J. H. Standing. Now, the gallery recognized its old friend immediately he appeared, and hailed him with shouts of "Bravo Crelin !" and seemed so pleased to think it had established his identity, that for some time after there was comparative quiet. But only for a time, and then the uproar was recommenced, and no one was sorry when the curtain at last rose on "The Dogs of St. Bernard." I must at once say that, as a dramatic piece, it was contemptible; there was the merest outline of a hackneyed story, the author of which had well guaged the importance of his work by withholding his name. Hunted Innocence, in the person of an artist with long hair, is pursued by villainy of the deepest dye in the shape of an officer in a bright orange uniform, who climbs blithely about the Alps, followed by a nondescript army of seven, all told. It is needless to say that the military scoundrel loves the artist's wife, who, accompanied by her child, is also aimlessly touring among the mountains, and that the honest guides of the district are, with one exception, on the side of Hunted Innocence and his wife. The exception, of course, drinks, and offers to betray the hiding place of the hunted one. But Henri, called Ongeri by all the dramatis personæ impartially, is the good genius of the play. Henri has a wonderful dog called Turco. Henri rescues the wife of the artist at the moment Captain Orangecoat is about to outrage her, and receives, unharmed, a volley from his entire army. Henri breaks down the bridge when the villain would follow, and, in a general way, directs Turco's movements. I say in a general way advisedly, for the "celebrated dog which performed in Paris," turned out to be anything but tractable. In the first act he only came on after considerable bounding on from the wings, and when on the stage insisted on worrying a basket instead of going off to fetch a cheese as he was told. Turco also steadily refused to lie down and watch over Hunted Innocence, and had to be held in his place by a hidden hand. The only thing he did on being told was, in fact, to give his p[illegible], a thing nine dogs out of ten will do without achieving thereby celebrity in Paris or anywhere else. In the second-act the babe is discovered to be at the bottom of a precipitous ravine, where it had fallen in a pr[illegible]ous act. After some preliminary trouble Turco is induced to run down some canvas rocks, conveniently arranged in stair-like order, and to bring back a bundle supposed to represent the infant. Such was the sum total of the phenomenal dog's performances on the first night. As to the other dogs, they were only led across the stage and back again, and did not perform at all. As a performing dog Turco was simply contemptible. But though piece and animals were egregrious failures, the whole performance was very amusing. The villain of the deepest dye was excruciatingly funny with his "Ha, ha! Terremble terraitor-r-r. I am on thy ter-rack! But no mattar-r-r a te-ime will come!" Then he died in the good old orthodox fashion, gasp, gurgle, kick, gasp and so on. It was beautiful. The scenery was most ambitious, and presented two phases of the Alps, in one of which cotton-wool clothed the landscape, whilst in the other a cataract of blue book-muslin, after steadily ascending for a time, refused to work at all.

"The Choir is Bursted."

The New York Star tells the following: At Deckertown last Sunday there was an exhibition of the contrariness of church choirs that was both annoying and amusing. Rev. Mr. Hamilton, Pastor of the Presbyterian church of that place, being absent on Sunday, the Rev. Mr. Soper filled his pulpit. He was ignorant of the fact that the choir had quarreled among themselves the night before, and that not a member was there to sing on Sunday morning.

He gave out his hymn selected for the opening, and read it through. There was no musical response—no sound of praise—from choir or congregation. After a moment's embarrassing silence, a brother arose, and walking up to the pulpit, whispered in the preacher's ear. The preacher nodded his head and smiled. He thought the brother had said the wrong hymn had been read, so he turned the leaves again and gave out another. It was a long one, and he read it through, closing with "Please omit one stanza."

A dead silence in the congregation again. The preacher looked uneasy, was about to give another hymn, when another brother arose and spoke from the gallery:

"You see our choir is busted. Some of 'em thought the bass sung too low, and some of 'em thought the spranny was too high, and others thought we ought to have a better alto, and there wasn't many that liked the tenor, ond so the rest got mad, and they won't be any singin' to-day."

And so the services were ended without any "singin'."

Wanted Neither.

A gentleman having prevailed upon a young lady to whom he was engaged to give him her miniature, promised his in return, as soon as he should find a good artist. The lovers meanwhile had a quarrel. The gentleman, desirous of making his peace, said: "I have just seen a fine miniature by the celebrated E——, mine shall be executed next week, if you say so." "It is a matter of equal indifference to me," she replied, "which is executed, you or your miniature, for I have resolved to accept neither."

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has over been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

CONSULTATION FREE

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS
....AND....
Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

Maguire's New Theatre.

Although "Little Mother" by the Hooley Company, and Professor Hermann's extremely interesting soirée magique, are sufficient to attract good houses night after night, there will probably be a change to-morrow evening, "Woman's Love, or the Momentous Question" taking the place of "Little Mother." Mr. O'Neill will make his reappearance in this play

California Theatre.

Mr Barrett's studied and artistic Hamlet is too well known to need any notice at this time and at this stage of his engagement. This evening, last performance of "Rosedale." To-morrow, benefit of Mr. Barrett and presentation of the "Merchant of Venice" and "David Garrick." A great bill.

Grand German and Italian Opera.

To-morrow evening, Boildieu's "La Dame Blanche" will be repeated with the same cast as at its first production. It was the intention of the management to arrange for Madame Frankenburg's first appearance in the role of Anna, but as that lady has not arrived, Madame Fabbri wi'l retain her original position On Sunday Nicolai's "Merry Wives of Windsor" will be produced, in which Carl Formes and Miss Ivy Wandesforde will make their first appearance for the season.

Herold's Grand Orchestral Matinees.

Another and still more marked success has to be chronicled for Herold's present season. Not only was the house filled with its usual fashionable audience, and not only was the programme simply a selection of orchestral gems from beginning to end, but the audience also proved itself distinctively appreciative. In the first part, whilst the Maestoso and Allegro from Schumann's Symphonie in B flat, the Andantino gracioso from Gade's Symphonie in C. and the Saltarello from Mendelssohn's Italian Symphonie were all applauded, to the Intermezzo from Lachner's suite in E minor was awarded the compliment of the first encore for the afternoon. In the second part too, there was a second encore, this time of Gounod's Meditation on Sebastian Bach's first prelude, yesterday afternoon's being the only concert during which there have been two encores. Weber's Overture to "Oberon" and Reissiger's overture to "Felsenmuhle," completed the programme. The improvement of the orchestration was particularly noticeable in the selections with which the audience was familiar, the crescendo passages being now really effective, and the general attention to light and shade being much happier.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Without the concluding act the bill would be an attractive one, but "Parisian Life" takes 'em all. The Can-Can and the general liveliness are particularly affecting.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

The acts and olio are capitally arranged by Charly King who is Stage Manager, as well as one of the most prominent artists of the company. A real pleasant entertainment.

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.

The programme is a good and attractive one. Borthwick Reid is in himself a whole performance. But besides him there is a host of clever performers and specialists.

Woodward's Gardens.

Mlle. Scarsey the great Parisian Velocipedist, in her immensely fascinating exhibition of style and skill on Saturday and Sunday, also Gonzales the Chilian wonder and champion tumbler, Mons. Broed the Man with the Iron Jaw, Miss Linden and Grand Orchestral Concert.

Notes.

The performance advertised to take place at the Hippodrome this evening for the benefit of the Texan sufferers, has been postponed until some time next week, to allow of fuller arrangements being made to present a thoroughly attractive entertainment.

The "California Minstrels"—Emerson's—closed their season at Hooley's Theatre, Chicago, on Saturday last, with the benefit of Billy Emerson; J. G. Russell had a benefit on the night previous. "The Two Off-uns," a burlesque of "The Two Orphans," is spoken of as being a success. The Minstrels are on the train—no pun meant—and will be due here to-morrow night. They open at the Opera House Monday evening next.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—Captain Foster, the genial host of the Cliff House, entertains visitors from all parts of the Globe at his famous sea-side resort. The Cliff House is THE one thing San Francisco has to boast of as different from any thing else in the world. Omnibuses run every day from the terminus of the Lone Mountain railroad.

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. THE MOUNTAINS.

Ah, yonder in their fairy grandeur stand
The glorious mountains of my Fatherland;
Blue, sunny peaks 'mid silver clouds en-isled,
Fresh upland airs, that fanned me when a child,
And earth-o'er gazing outlooks, bare and wild,
I greet once more in lowlands long exiled.

O holy youth-time on the mountains spent,
A neighbor of the dark blue firmament;
Where gush the fountains of the lowland streams
Whose cradle-murmurs haunt my manhood's dreams;
Where unto subject lands with crimson glow
The Moon and Evening's purple banners flow,
Sojourning in the steaming vales of sense
I mindless grew of their magnificence;
Forgot the starry fires that o'er them wheeled,
Their measureless pavilion azure-ceiled;
Forgot the mountain wind's Memnonian swell,
The sigh of streamy gorge and pine-clad dell.

At length the hated days of exile o'er,
I plant my feet upon the heights once more,
And scan afar the ocean's misty floor,
And almost hear its distant, muffled roar!

Stage Readiness.

The London Echo gives the following anecdote from a foreign contemporary: Gobert, the French actor, whose specialite was the impersonation of Napoleon I., was troubled with an infirmity of memory, in consequence of which all letters handed to him to be read on the stage had to contain the words he was to deliver. In some military piece or other the Emperor had to receive a letter from his adjutant and read it aloud to his assembled officers. A certain Gautier, the wag of the theatre, acted the adjutant, and one evening, instead of giving Gobert the written letter, he handed him a blank sheet of paper. The actor took it, and perceiving the trick that had been played on him, returned the missive to Gautier, saying with perfect gravity, "Read it yourself, General." Gautier, who did not know a word of the part, and was too much taken aback to extemporize, could not extricate himself from the position before the public had discovered his discomfiture. Gobert's readiness was indeed almost as remarkable as that of a less celebrated actor, whose forte was the part of Richard III. At the approach of one of his best points a hostile clique induced the supers to accost the tragedian with, "My lord, we've taken Buckingham and cut his head off." "'Tis well," replied he; had it not been so, I should have said, 'Off with his head; so much for Buckingham!'" thus getting in his great effect after all.

Hi! Hi!

An inquisitive French bishop once caught a Tartar in the Duke de Roquelaure. The latter, passing in haste through Lyons, was hailed by the bishop with "Hi! Hi!" The duke stopped.

"Where have you come from?" inquired the prelate.

"Paris," said the duke.

"What is there fresh in Paris?"

"Green peas."

"But what were the people saying when you left?"

"Vespers."

"Goodness, man," broke out the angry questioner, "who are you?"

"Ignorant people call me 'Hi! hi!' Gentlemen term me the Duke de Roquelaure. Drive on, postilion."

Too Much Motto.

A young gentleman who attended a party in Austin (Nev.) a short time since, handed to a lady with whom he was but slightly acquainted a motto bearing the following inscription:

> "What perfect, what ecstatic bliss,
> To print upon thy lips a kiss."

The Reveille says that when the young lady's big brother's number ten boot got through fooling around under the young gentleman's coat-tails, he went out into the silent air and murmured that he didn't write the motto, and wouldn't kiss her if she would hold her mouth open with a silver knife and fork, and get down on her knees and beg of him to.

An Obtuse Man.

She was a stylish young lady about eighteen years old, and to accommodate a friend she took the baby out for an airing. She was wheeling it up and down the walk when an oldish man, very deaf, came along and inquired for a certain person supposed to live on that street. She nearly yelled her head off trying to answer him, and he looked around, caught sight of the baby, and said:

"Nice child that. I suppose you feel proud of him?"

"It isn't mine," she yelled at him.

"Boy, eh? Well he looks just like you."

"It isn't mine," she yelled again, but he nodded his head and continued:

"Twins, eh? Where's the other one?"

She started off with the cab, but he followed and asked:

"Did it die of colic?"

Despairing of making him understand by word of mouth she pointed to the baby, at herself, and then shook her head.

"Yes—yes, I see—'tother twin in the house. Their father is fond of them, of course!"

She turned the cab and hurried the other way, but he followed and asked:

"Do they kick around much nights?"

"I tell you 'taint mine," she shouted, very red in the face.

"I think you're wrong there!" he answered. "Children brought up on the bottle are apt to pine and die."

She started on a run for the gate, but before she had opened it he came up and asked:

"Have to spank 'em once in a while, I suppose?"

She made about twenty gestures in half a minute, and he helped the cab through the gate and said:

"Our children were all twins, and I'll send my wife down to give you some advice. You see—"

But she picked up a flower-pot and flung it at him. He jumped back, and as she entered the house he called:

"Hope insanity won't break out on the twins!"

Britishers and Sagebrush.

Dan de Quille's account of his trip across the continent, contains some very good things, none of them better than this: We had on our car, he says, a party of English folk from Australia, going home to England. They were chiefly remarkable for calling a band of cattle a "mob," for the interest they took in any and every kind of grazing land, and for their jolly independence wherever we came. In passing through Nevada these men did not know what to make of the predominant vegetation. One of them got off the cars up on the Humboldt and pulled a lot of sagebrush, which he took on board for critical inspection. After smelling and tasting, they were much puzzled. Said one of them: "It's bloody bitter. It caunt be possible that cattle feed on this blausted stuff—whew! the smell of it quite makes me sick." "Well," said another, "we've passed several mobs of cattle, and blast the bit of grass or anything but this have I seen; it must be this they're feeding on." "Well, my dear fellow, they caunt do it, you know—just smell of it!"

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 8-cj

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equal to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm. *

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relief by applying at Dr. R. H. FOREIGN THEATRICAL NEWS.

The coming season in Paris promises to be rich in dramatic works of the highest class. The "Remords" of M. Sardou, at the Gymnase, the new comedy by Alexandre Dumas, one by Melhac and Halevy, and the "Mahomet" of M. de Bornier, all at the Comedie-Francaise; the new pieces by Augler and Condinet, at the Vaudeville; the "Joseph Balsamo" of the elder Dumas, at the Odeon; and the "Muscadins" of Jules Claretie, at the Theatre-Historique, make up a full list of strong intellectual attractions. Most of these pieces have been purchrsed by New York managers.

Miss Edith Wynne, the accomplished singer, who came to this country with the Delby troupe, is soon to be married to Mr. Aviet Agabeg, an English barrister.

The veteran Norwegian violinist, Ole Bull, will next Winter make a last concert tour through Sweden, Denmark and Germany.

The phrase "an old song" is often used contemptuously when we wish to indicate the worthlessness, or at least the insignificant value, of an article. Quite as frequently, too, the expression is a flagrant misuse of language; for there are songs and songs. At a recent sale of the stock-in-trade of a London firm of music-sellers, the plates on which Mr. J. L. Hatton's magic notes are engraved were by mistake put with some others of little account—a job lot, in fact. The purchaser did not dream of there being such a musical nugget among so much dross until he came to look over his bargain, when he found himself the lucky possessor of "To Anthea." So large a sale has it had that it is in itself a small income to its owner, to whom the auctioneer knocked it down literally for a song.

Andrew Halliday, the dramatist, is very seriously ill in London.

An amusing tale is told of an opera troupe who, on the point of traveling from Bucharest to Pesth, recently became victims to the troubles in Herzegovina. Their truuks were searched, and were found to contain swords, daggers, helmets and cuirasses, which were forthwith seized by the authorities as contraband munitions of war. M. Morava, the director of the troupe, was brought before the police authorities, and although he declared he was lessee of the theatres at Pesth, and the suspicious articles were properties belonging to the singers in "L'Africaine" and "Don Cæsar de Bazan," he was kept in durance vile, and now awaits further examination.

Two hundred and twenty-five dollars is the modest sum fixed by Wagner as the price of a stall for the first performance of the four-night opera; the "Nibelungen Ring," at Bayreuth, next August; $150 is is the price of the score of the opera.

The London Daily Telegraph of September 3d, says: "The oldest theatre in London will this day close its eventful history as a place of dramatic entertainment, unless some spirited speculator thinks it possible to revive its fallen fortunes. The building and unexpired lease will be sold by auction at the Mart, Tokenhouse yard, at 2 o'clock, and it will be observed that the auctioneer, Mr. Edward Hasleham, points out that the property is valuable for other than theatrical purposes. The brightest period in the annals of old Sadler's Wells Theatre, which has remained unchanged in its external appearance for more than a century, will be identified with the memorable eighteen years' Shakspearian management of Messrs. Phelps & Greenwood."

Cheating the Devil.

A member of a colored church was the other evening conversing earnestly with an acquaintance, and seeking to have him change into better paths, but the friend said he was too often tempted to permit him to become a Christian.

"Whar's yer back bone, dat ye can't rose up and stand temptation!" exclaimed the good man. I was dat way myself once. Right in this yer town I had a chance to steal a pa'r o' boots—mighty nice ones, too. Nobody was dar to see me, and I reached out my hand and the debbil said take 'em. Den a good spirit whispered fur me to let them boots alone."

"An you didn't take 'em?"

"No, sah—not much. I took a pa'r o' cheap sh[illegible] off de shelf an, left dem boots alone."

MR. BARRY SULLIVAN IN "THE GAMESTER."

"In Moore's forlorn play," says the critic of the New York Spirit of the Times, "Mr. Barry Sullivan undid every good impression we had formed of his excellencies. He was most wretched from the rise of the curtain to its fall. In it, more than in anything he has yet done, did he display his disagreeable habit of using a rising inflection of the voice, to which we alluded last week. As Mr. Beverley, he showed us, moreover, a series of faults in elocution, in knowledge of stage business, and in every branch of his art. He pronounced our language ill. He called time "ti-him." A boy he termed a "boy-ee." When a man was cruel to him, he declared he was "cru-ill." His wife's jewels in his eyes were so many "jew-ills," and, when he would have had us believe him "strongest," he went to New England for his pronounciation, and uttered the word through his nose. In the last act he tried to make believe that he was drunk. Indeed, his legs betrayed his having taken a drop too much, but marvellous sober, considering the circumstances, remained his voice. He strutted, he limped, he stumbled, he fell about, but the veriest innocent in the gallery could perceive that he was singularly free from the effects of liquor. His voice was as clear as a bell. There was no huskiness in it, and little or no excitement in his manner, beyond that which was the result of sheer artifice. He wriggled about the stage, and labored like a Hercules to convey to us how great were his emotions, but no one was deceived, for all he did was artificial, and unfelt even by himself. But for politeness' sake, we were vastly inclined to follow the example of our neighbors, and indulge in a hearty laugh at the show. After taking poison in the last scene, and when his false friend stood before him, Mr. Sullivan seemed to imitate Salvini, and gave vent to a horrid howl, like that which the Italian actor utters when he perceives Iago in the last scene of Othello, and which we were to believe was intended to express execration. Salvini, in such a scene, would have frozen our blood. Mr. Sullivan simply made us laugh at his ridiculous effort to be terrible. His howl was not that of an infuriated tiger, but the shrill cry of a hyena caught in a trap, a kind of prolonged yelp. There were, it is true, excellent points here and there in his acting. The outburst of rage at the close of the third act, where the trusting Beverley first finds out the wickedness of his corrupt friend, was well rendered, and frequently, during his scenes with his wife Mr. Sullivan was very good. But his performance was, as a rule, unequal, stagey, ill-pronounced, mannered, and unworthy of his reputation, and certainly unworthy of the man who, only a few nights ago, gave so good an interpretation of Richard III. If instead of being Mr. Sullivan, he had been an ordinary actor, in the part of Mr. Beverley, he would have been most most coldly received by the audience, and still less amicably by the press."

The Young Man from the East.

" Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely servod and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

Regular Office Hours, from 10 o'clock to 4 P. M.; from 7 to 8 P. M.

CONSULTATION FREE

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS

....AND....

Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genitourinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

Amusements, Etc.

California Theatre.
"Rosedale" was given last night to a house in which standing room even was at a discount. By general request it will be repeated to-morrow evening, when those who wish to see a favorite actor in his favorite role, perhaps for the last time for many years, will have their sole opportunity of doing so. This evening we look for another jam as it is the benefit of the Star, Mr. Barrett appearing as Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice" and David Garrick, in the play of that name. To-morrow afternoon for the last Barrett matinee, "Divorce," will be presented.

Maguire's New Theatre.
This evening, the melodrama entitled "Woman's Love" will precede Professor Hermann's feats of legerdemain. The melodrama has on its cast the names of Jas. O'Neill as Robert Shelley—his first appearance during the Hermann engagement—E. J. Buckley as James Greenfied, W. H. Crane as Union Jack and Miss Louise Hawthorne as Rachel Ryland. The story of the melodrama is doubtless familiar to many through the celebrated engraving entitled "The Momentous Question."

Grand German and Italian Opera.
This evening, Boildieu's "La Dame Blanche" will be repeated with the same cast as at its first production. It was the intention of the management to arrange for Madame Frankenburg's first appearance in the role of Anna, but as that lady has not arrived, Madame Fabbri will retain her original position. On Sunday Nicolai's "Merry Wives of Windsor" will be produced, in which Carl Formes and Miss Ivy Wandesforde will make their first appearance for the season.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.
There is no need to make any change of bill here. The house is nightly crowded to see "Parisian Life" with the scenes in the Mabille Gardens and the Great Gan-Can.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.
A new bill for this evening. "The Statue Blanch," however, having made a big hit is retained on the bill. The acts and olio are particularly entertaining. Next week the Grand Parisian Can-Can will be an important feature of the bill.

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.
Great attractions are being arranged for to-morrow night, both inside and outside the house. There will be a grand trial jig between Stuart and Finnerty inside, and outside George Neilson will make a tight rope ascension from the theatre to the building opposite.

Woodward's Gardens.
Mlle. Scarsey the great Parisian Velocipedist, in her immensely fascinating exhibition of style and skill on Saturday and Sunday, also Gonzales the Chilian wonder and champion tumbler, Mons. Broed the Man with the Iron Jaw, Miss Linden and Grand Orchestral Concert.

GLAD TIDINGS.

California All Right.

To-morrow the great California Bank will resume its career as of yore;
All honor to those who stepped into the breach, its glorious record to restore.
How those small curs must feel when they hear the glad news, who yelped when the lion was down,
Who crawled at his feet in the hight of his power, and trembled with fear at his frown!

When the people were frantic and wild with dismay, all cool was the Great IXL;
We knew that our coin was safe in its vaults, tho' its fortunes were under a spell.
Now the sun of its glory once more mounts the sky to dazzle and charm as before,
Let every depositor who would do well buy his suits at the IXL Store.

Tho' the envious journals, both North, East and South, have bitterly spoke of the past;
Have slandered our people in ill-suited words, have said they were lavish and fast;
Whoever they be, in this they agree—and this is the verdict they tell:
If you want to buy cheaply, and wisely, and well, you must go to the Great IXL.

IXL Auction House, 616, 618 and 620 Kearny street, 647 and 649 Commercial. *

A Word to the Wise, etc.
It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm. *

The Old Mint Restaurant.
At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges Moderate. D. B. Mageo, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. N. B. Open to 2:30 A. M. SLEEP.

When to soft sleep we give ourselves away,
And in a dream as in a fairy bark
Drift on and on through the enchanted dark
To rosy daybreak—little thought we pay
To that sweet bitter world we know by day.
We are clean quit of it, as is a lark
So high in heaven no human eye may mark
The sharp, swift pinion cleaving through the gray.
Till we awake, ill-fate can do no ill,
The resting heart shall not take up again
The heavy load that yet must make it bleed;
For this brief space, the loud world's voice is still,
No faint echo of it brings us pain.
How will it be when we shall sleep indeed?

STRAY HITS AND STOLEN BITS.

"Suppose I should quiz you about your bald head, you wouldn't get mad, would you?" said a young fop, to an indignant old man, in a railway depot. "Not at all; I should only just say, that when my head gets as soft as yourn, I kin raise ha'r tew sell, or somethin' o' that sort," smilingly replied the old man.

The other day a minister offered prayer at the laying of a corner stone. A brisk young reporter bustled up and said: "I wish that you would give me the manuscript of that prayer?" "I never write out my prayers," said the preacher. "Well," said the reporter, "I couldn't hear a word you said." "I wasn't praying to you," quickly responded the parson.

There is considerable human nature in man, and sometimes a little of it in woman. "What's the use of going out in this muddy weather?" asked a husband of his wife. "And what," she returned, "is the use of having striped stockings?"

Mme. Badarzewska, the horrid woman who inflicted society with that dreadfully easy, but seemingly difficult, show piece called "La Priere d'un Vierge" (The Maiden's Prayer), has recently composed a new show-piece, called "Under the Willow She's Sleeping." It is to be hoped it will never be as popular as "The Maiden's Prayer." Many a woman has lost a husband through playing that piece during courtship.

Britishers and Sagebrush.
Dan de Quille's account of his trip across the continent, contains some very good things, none of them better than this: We had on our car, he says, a party of English folk from Australia, going home to England. They were chiefly remarkable for calling a band of cattle a "mob," for the interest they took in any and every kind of grazing land, and for their jolly independence wherever we came. In passing through Nevada these men did not know what to make of the predominant vegetation. One of them got off the cars up on the Humboldt and pulled a lot of sagebrush, which he took on board for critical inspection. After smelling and tasting, they were much puzzled. Said one of them: "It's bloody bitter. It caunt be possible that cattle feed on this blausted stuff—whew! the smell of it quite makes me sick." "Well," said another, "we've passed several mobs of cattle, and blast the bit of grass or anything but this have I seen; it must be this they're feeding on." "Well, my dear fellow, they caunt do it, you know—just smell of it!"

Hi! Hi!
An inquisitive French bishop once caught a Tartar in the Duke de Roquelaure. The latter, passing in haste through Lyons, was hailed by the bishop with "Hi! Hi!" The duke stopped.

"Where have you come from?" inquired the prelate.

"Paris," said the duke.

"What is there fresh in Paris?"

"Green peas."

"But what were the people saying when you left?"

"Vespers."

"Goodness, man," broke out the angry questioner, "who are you?"

"Ignorant people call me 'Hi! hi!' Gentlemen term me the Duke de Roquelaure. Drive on, postilion."

Artfully Done.
Here is an anecdote of Eugene Sue, taken from the memoirs of a journalist which appeared in the Paris Figaro: "Eugene Sue was at a party of bels esprits who were arguing as to the safest and easiest manner of ridding one's self of sa maitresse when she no longer charmed. All had given their experience when Sue said, 'I will tell you how I served a lady who was too faithful to me. She had read one of my most popular novels, and showered upon me invitations and verses. I went to her house, found her very pretty, very amiable, and very much epris of me. At last I tired of her; the intervals between my visits became longer and longer; at last I ceased going to her house. Then was my table inundated by billets begging for an explanation of my conduct. I wrote one day, appointing an interview for the next morning at 10 o'clock. Shortly before that time I dressed myself in fantastic raiment—red waistcoat, white apron, and a feather-brush in my hand. Madame was announced. 'M. Sue; is he at home?' 'Yes, madame, but pray speak in a low key.' Madame looked at me, reddened slightly, and said, 'What means this mystery?' 'I implore you, madame, speak quietly; I would not for worlds have my master know I practiced this imposition on you.' Never shall I forget the effect of my words. She looked me over from head to foot with the most freezing contempt, shuddered, and left the room muttering, 'Un valet de chambre!'"

Stage Readiness.
The London Echo gives the following anecdote from a foreign contemporary: Gobert, the French actor, whose specialite was the impersonation of Napoleon I., was troubled with an infirmity of memory, in consequence of which all letters handed to him to be read on the stage had to contain the words he was to deliver. In some military piece or other the Emperor had to receive a letter from his adjutant and read it aloud to his assembled officers. A certain Gautier, the wag of the theatre, acted the adjutant, and one evening, instead of giving Gobert the written letter, he handed him a blank sheet of paper. The actor took it, and perceiving the trick that had been played on him, returned the missive to Gautier, saying with perfect gravity, "Read it yourself, General." Gautier, who did not know a word of the part, and was too much taken aback to extemporize, could not extricate himself from the position before the public had discovered his discomfiture. Gobert's readiness was indeed almost as remarkable as that of a less celebrated actor, whose forte was the part of Richard III. At the approach of one of his best points a hostile clique induced the supers to accost the tragedian with, "My lord, we've taken Buckingham and cut his head off." "'Tis well," replied he; had it not been so, I should have said, 'Off with his head; so much for Buckingham!'" thus getting in his great effect after all.

Wanted Neither.
A gentleman having prevailed upon a young lady to whom he was engaged to give him her miniature, promised his in return, as soon as he should find a good artist. The lovers meanwhile had a quarrel. The gentleman, desirous of making his peace, said: "I have just seen a fine miniature by the celebrated E———, mine shall be executed next week, if you say so." "It is a matter of equal indifference to me," she replied, "which is executed, you or your miniature, for I have resolved to accept neither."

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

NEW YORK.

Mr. Josh Hart expects to open his new Eagle Theatre about October 11th.

The great Italian tragedian, Rossi, will make his first appearance in this country at the Lyceum Theatre, New York, October 25th.

The Globe Theatre, gave up the ghost on the 11th, owing to the consumptive condition of the treasury.

Judge Curtis, in the Superior Court, on the 17th, on the part of the Kiralfy Brothers, and Thomas A. French, rendered the injunction permanent against Connoly and Pillet, from playing "Around the World in Eighty Days" in any part of the Union.

Booth's Theatre—On Monday evening, the 20th, Mr George Belmore, one of the most sterling comedians of the present generation, made his first appearance in America as Nat Gosling, in "The Flying Scud," a sporting drama appropriated from one of Angus Roach's novels by Boucicault.

Park Theatre—"The Mighty Dollar," is still being played here, the piece having been cut down into much more symmetrical shape, and going very much more smoothly than at first. Mr. and Mrs W. J. Florence are immensely amusing in their impersonations of Hon. Bardwell Slote and Mrs. General Gilflory.

Mr. Daly has been enjoined in the Superior Court, by Judge Curtis, from producing "Rose Michel" during the suit to restrain him from doing so by Messrs. Shook & Palmer. He was also restrained by Judge Donohue, on a suit of Mr. Lester Wallack, from producing "Our Boys;" but on the 16th that judge dissolved the injunction, recognizing Mr. Daly as the first purchaser of the piece.

The litigation in regard to "Our Boys" having been settled in favor of Mr. Daly, that comedy was produced for the first time in America on Saturday, September 18th, at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, with a cast including Messrs. Charles Fisher, Maurice Barrymore, Jeffreys Lewis, and Sidney Cowell, the latter's first apperance in New York. The comedy proved something worth fighting about and will certainly have a long run.

We are now in full possession of the arrangements in reference to the first appearance in New York of Mlle. Titjens. That lady's debut will be made in concert, at Steinway Hall, N. Y., on Monday evening next, October 4th, upon which occasion Mme. Arabella Goddard, the world-renowned pianist, will also make her first appearance in New York. The accompanying artists will be Mr. Tom Karl and Mr. H. A. Bischoff, tenors, Sig. Orlandini, baritone, and M. Emile Sauret, violinist.

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419. opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS
....AND....
Bronchial Affections.
Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.
DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES
DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!
So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.
It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500
For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!
There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Amusements, Etc.

MAGUIRE'S NEW THEATRE.—"Woman's Love" is an extremely interesting melodrama of the old school and last night with James O'Neill and Miss Hawthorne in the principal roles attracted much attention. The soiree Magique of Professor Hermann completed a most interesting entertainment. On Monday there will be an entire change of bill, Professor Hermann introducing his wonderful feats of electro-biology and mesmerism.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE. — This theatre was crowded last night, the occasion being, the farewell benefit of Mr. Lawrence Barrett. The bill was a long one, a very long one in fact, including "The Merchant of Venice" and David Garrick." Of his impersonations that of the Jew is the better At the conclusion of the first play he came before the curtain and made an earnest and courteous speech of thanks to the "dear public." Flowers and applause were also in order. This afternoon "Divorce" and this evening "Rosedale" to conclude Mr. Barrett's engagement.

GRAND GERMAN AND ITALIAN OPERA—"La Dame Blanche" was repeated last night to a full and appreciative house. Of the further proceedings of the company and of "The Merry Wives of Windsor" which will be given to-morrow evening more is written in the Notes.

HEROLD'S ORCHESTRAL MATINEE.—The fourth concert of the present season will be given on Wednesday afternoon next, when the programme will include Neumann's Grand March from "Fagdlust," Beethoven's Symphonie in C major, selections from "Tannhauser" and Adam's overture to to "Le Roi d'Yvetot."

BUCKLEY'S NEW VARIETY THEATRE. — The last act "Parisian Life" with the Can-Can, is wisely retained on the bill, the other acts are "Old Black Joe," "Dutch Apprentice" and "Banjo Act," Ned Barry makes his first appearance here to-night in his new song "The Workingman's Friend."

NEW OLYMPIC VARIETY THEATRE.—The bill for this evening is one of the best of the week, full of humor and capital entertainment. Everyone should visit this variety theatre.

HARP AND STAR VARIETY THEATRE.—The entertainment here to-night is splendid. New acts and new faces, with feats of strength and exhibitions of grace.

MCMAHON'S CLUB ROOMS.—Mr. John McMahon, the champion collar and elbow wrestler of the United States, will open a saloon at No. 38 Geary street, between Dupont and Kearny, this Saturday) evening. During the evening an exhibition will be given of the science, in costume, by Mr. McMahon and Mr. Homer Lane.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS.—Attractions.—Mlle. Scarsey the great Parisian Velocipedist, in her immensely fascinating exhibition of style and skill on Saturday and Sunday, also Gonzales the Chilian wonder and champion tumbler, Mons. Broed the Man with the Iron Jaw, Miss Linden and Grand Orchestral Concert.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—Captain Foster, the genial host of the Cliff House, entertains visitors from all parts of the Globe at his famous sea-side resort. The Cliff House is THE one thing San Francisco has to boast of as different from any thing else in the world. Omnibuses run every day from the terminus of the Lone Mountain railroad.

What Are You Going to do About It?

A City Firm Propounds the Above Conundrum.

OUR ANSWER

The riddle is easy to tell, is simple, no person can flout it,
All trade at the Great IXL, and that's what we just do about it,
When the question to children is asked, they say they'll go and ask pa,
If that 'aint sufficient, you know, I'll go right away and ask ma.

Fast time make the great Palace Cars on the Overland route, they all do it:
But who ever saw an old safe with a couple of pups harnessed to it;
We never have seen such a sight, tho' we've seen every sort of a car,
But perhaps after all it is so, at least we will go and ask ma.

Our customers come in scores—just take a peep in if you doubt it;
Our prices they say beat all stores, and that's what we just do about it;
On the corner Commercial and Kearny, our store it is known near and far;
If other firms say please come in, just answer, I'll go and ask ma.

IXL Auction House, 616, 618 and 620 Kearny street, 647 and 649 Commercial.

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm.

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges Moderate. D. B. Magee, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. N. B. Open to 2:30 A. M. Old fashioned boiled dinners every Saturday. 2-t

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relie by applying at Dr. R. H. Cowan's Institute, removed to 207 Kearny street, between Sutter and [illegible], from 1 to 6 P. M. We speak from experi[illegible], having tested the Doctor's capability. Reference given if required. H

The Fall and Winter Styles

Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the best material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Don't forget to call and examine their stock at 647 Washington street, below Kearny.

New and beautiful designs of Carpets at 116 Sutter street, Hall & Lachman's.

DRAMATIC NOTES.

M. Gray has published yet another song of Felix Marti's, entitled "Give." The words are by Miss Adelaide Proctor.

Billy Sweatnam is playing in Philadelphia and will probably organise a company for the Centennial.

Canfield and Booker have organized an Irish Comedy Troupe and are traveling in the East, playing at Belle Plain, Minn., to-night.

Nicolai's famous opera of "The Merry Wives of Windsor" will be the bill for to-morrow evening's performance of the Fabbri Grand Opera Troupe. It will be given in its entirety, with all the recitatives sung and not spoken as was the case when the opera was produced at the California Theatre. In fact that performance was really more of a lyrical drama than an opera. It should be mentioned as an interesting fact, that the part of Sir John Falstaff was originally written by Nicolai for the artist who will fill the part to-morrow evening, Carl Formes. In the 3d act, there will be a moonlight ballet scène.

Madame Josephine Frankenberg, the new prima donna of the Fabbri Grand Opera Troupe, has arrived in town and will make her first appearance on Friday evening next as Azucena in "Il Trovatore."

"Lawrence Barrett is still acting in California, at Maguire's New Theatre, to good houses." N. Y. Spirit of the Times.

On dit that Miss Tennie C. Claflin is to play Juliet at the Grand Opera House soon. Henry Ward Beecher, Tilton, and the rest of them ought to appear with her.

It was stated in last Sunday's issue of the Call or Chronicle, we forget which, that Mr. G. L. Fox's engagement at the California Theatre, was indefinitely postponed in consequence of that gentleman's illness. He is advertised we see, to play at Springfield Mass., to-night.

Mr. McCullough's next engagement is at Chicago, where he opens on the 11th. Thence to Cincinnati, commencing November 1st.

For unmitigated cheek, to call it nothing harsher, we offer the following paragraph from the Yreka Journal of the 29th: The celebrated Miss Fannie Marston, the young California prima donna, will appear in a grand operatic and ballad concert, at the Court House this Wednesday evening, assisted by a first class concert troupe. She is regarded as the musical prodigy of the Pacific Coast, possessing a voice which, in compass and sweetness, has not been surpassed since the days of Jenny Lind. All who have heard her, speak in the highest terms of her great musical power, her voice comprising both contralto and soprano, and ranges three octaves, every note as clear as a trumpet. We also learn that she has been selected by Gilmour to sing the "Star Spangled Banner" at the Philadelphia Centennial next year, assisted by a chorus of 50,000 voices. (!!)

The following is the full and correct list of the company at present comprising the Kellogg English Opera Troupe, from which we may expect a visit, possibly before the year has run out: Miss Kellogg, Mrs. Vanzandt, Miss Montague, Miss Beaumont Mrs. Seguin, Mr. W. A. Morgan, Mr. Castle, Mr. Maas, Mr. Carleton, Mr. H. Peakes, Mr. J. G. Peakes, Mr. Conly, Mr. Hamilton, and Mr. Cayla. The feature of the New York season will be the first representation in America of Benedict's "Lily of Kilarney," with Miss Kellogg as Eily O'Connor. The additional music written by Mr. Benedict, and the recitatives will be presented on the occasion. They open at Booth's, N. Y., on the 11th inst.

A Mr. T. S. Nelson, has written a piece, said to be "new and startling," entitled "Stricken Down," which is to be produced at Jackson, Miss., on the 20th, under the management of one Mr. W. H. Martin. Mr. T. S. Nelson and his brother Mr. Stanley Nelson, are to travel with their play (under the management of Mr. Martin), visiting amongst the first cities, San Francisco. So says the report and here ends what we know of the matter.

By referring to our advertising columns our readers will find the programme for the opening night of the Petaluma Theatre, on Monday next, by Mr. Robert Fulford and a strong company from this city. The company will include the popular California artist, Miss Ella F. Badger. We congratulate our neighbors on this visit from a company deserving patronage and support, and exp ct to hear of a successful week's business. The season will open with the "Lady of Lyons," and on Tuesday Miss Badger appears as Parthenia in "Ingomar."

Charles Vivian is doing "Ten Thousand Miles Away" at Salt Lake. Madame J. Reiffarth is still with him.

"Mr. H. J. Montague is in town, looking as handsome as ever, and preparing to do great mischief with his fine eyes this season. He will be the hero of the 'Overland Route.'" So says the last New York Spirit of the Times, and it is just such silly paragraphs as this that would send Mr. Montague into a confirmed state of hopeless and idiotic self-complacency,—provided Mr. Montague were not a sensible and gentlemanly young fellow, which for his profession's honor, we are glad to say he is.

On Monday evening next, Oct. 4th, Joe Murphy and company open at the Opera House, San Jose, in "Maum Cre." The season will be for a week, and the company includes Chas. Edmonds, Frank Rea, Harry Thompson, Mrs. Jos. Murphy, Mrs. Frank Rea, Miss Hattie Roache and Miss Katie Pell. San Jose is one of Joe Murphy's strongholds.

Although it was supposed in the box office of Maguire's New Theatre that the Minstrels would arrive from Chicago some day this week, and although the bills were out to the effect that they would open at the Opera House on Monday next, such it seems is not to be the case. Induced by the great success which has attended the last and present visit of the Minstrels to Chicago, Mr. Tom Maguire decided to make hay whilst the sun was shining, and so determined to prolong his stay in the lake city for yet another week or two. The next time we announce the coming of the Minstrels will be when we see their names in the passenger list as having passed Carlin.

Latest reports from New York speak of Mr. Edwin Booth's state of health being sufficiently improved to enable him to carry out his contemplated season at Daly's Fifth Avenue, if such an event were necessary, but "Our Boys" has proved such a success, drawing something like $1,200 a night, that Mr. Booth's engagement is indefinitely postponed in consequence.

Mrs. Jas. A. Oates and Company, began their present season at the Howard Athenæum, Boston, on the 20th, playing "Girofle-Girofla" on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and filling in the week with "The Princess of Trebizonde" and "The Pretty Perfumer." The company open at Providence on Monday evening, and commence a two weeks' engagement at the Arch Street Theatre, Philadelphia, on the 11th.

Fred Zimmermann and his Infantile Boufferos Mexicanos, have commenced their traveling. They played for a week at the National Theatre, Washington, on the 27th. So far we hear of nothing but success.

Piper's Opera House Company played at Hamilton Hall, Grass Valley, on the 27th and 28th, the bills being "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and "The Three Fast Men" Chaplain, Miss Jean Clara Walters and Miss Annie Firmin, are in all the glory of big type.

Our latest theatrical news from Victoria, B. C., speaks of Zoe Gayton, Fanny Morgan Phelps and Jas. Herne, playing an engagement at the Theatre Royal.

The Alleghanians will appear at the Salt Lake Theatre on the evenings of October 8th and 9th.

Some month or two ago we referred at length to a new play entitled "Ben Israel," the work of E. W Tullidge Esq, a resident of Salt Lake City. It is, we learn, to be produced at the Globe Theatre, Boston, with Miss Katherine Rodgers in the principal role.

On Monday evening next, Mr. Dominick Murray will commence a star engagement at the California Theatre, with the sensational and historical drama of "The Spy; or America one Hundred Years Ago." It is a dramatization of Cooper's novel of that name, the dramatist being Mr. W. Barry, who accompanies the star, and who will support him in the character of George Washington, a character which it may be remarked en passant, Mr. Barry is wonderfully fitted for, both in face and figure. He will need but little making up. The play is one of the first of a long list of Centennial dramas, which will spring into existence 'twixt this and July 4th, 1876, and is spoken of as likely by its merits to attain a position in dramatic literature, anything but ephemeral.

Last night during Professor Hermann's trick of the Rosh-Hashonah hat, an irascible old codger, who put more faith in his eyes than he had belief in the Professor's power to restore the crushed, shapeless piece of silk and paper to his sleek, shapely hat, took his revenge for the (supposed) mischief out of Hermann, and hit him several times with his cane. The Professor took the matter very cooly at the time, but on returning the hat which dropped from the proscenium arch to the stupidly angry old gentleman, he gave him two minutes to clear out of the house. Old party not moving, Hermann seized him by the collar of the coat, the crowd joined in, and in quicker time than Hermann rolls two rabbits into one, the old gentleman was rolled into the street somewhat pummeled, and with his hat quite as damaged as was the old one so cleverly and recently put in its place. So much for meddling with a magician.

We are sorry to hear that Owen Marlowe left the New York Academy of Music on the 14th, with his name standing on the bill.

Hooley's new venture in Brooklyn known as Hooley's Brooklyn Opera House, opened on the 14th under the management of Bartley Campbell, with his play of "Van, the Virginian." "Ultimo" was played on the 20th.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 8-cj

A NEW HISTORICAL PLAY.

"A few evenings since" says the Boston Courier, "several actors and journalists had the pleasure of listening to the reading of a new historical drama entitled "The Countess Helene, or The Divorce of Josephine." We call it a new play, for although it was written twenty-five years ago, by a gentleman now living in this city, it has never been published, and until recently, no attempt has been made to place it upon the stage. It is in five acts, the first four in one scene, the last in three, and the characters are as follows:

The Countess Helene.
Josephine, Empress of France.
Hortense, Josephine's daughter, afterwards Mother of Napoleon III.
Napoleon Bonaparte, Emperor of France.
Jerome Bonaparte, King of Westphalia.
Colonel, afterwards General Villroy, of the French Army.
Eugene, Son of Empress Josephine.
Marshal Marmont.
Fouche, Minister of Police.
Roustan Marmeluke, servant to Napoleon.
English Envoy.
General McDunald. } of the General Messina. } French Army.
Courtiers, Soldiers and Attendants,

The following brief sketch of the plot of the drama will give some idea of the directness with which the author has told an interesting story intimately associated with the stirring events of the closing years of Napoleon's career: In 1805, on the return of the Napoleon's victorious army from the battle of Austerlitz General Villroy one of his staff, in a moment of vanity and seeking for adventure, makes a wager with Marshal Marmont that any woman he can name will accept a good offer of love. Marshal Marmont names the Countess Helene, one of the ladies of the court and the favorite of the Empress Josephine, who has refused his own offer, which refusal causes him to seek revenge. By strategy Villroy makes her acquaintance and finds that he is deeply and truly in love—that he has at last found his long sought ideal, and that his love is returned. She accepts his offer and the marriage takes place, but at the same time Marmont appears and denounces Villroy and relates the story of the wager. The lady in her anger and disappointment bids Villroy farewell forever, and flies to the Empress for protection and revenge. Villroy in his frenzy and rage attempts the life of Marmont in the presence of Napoleon, for which he is sentenced to death on the spot, but is saved from that fate by the efforts of the Countess only to be banished forever from France. On the divorce of the Empress the Countess Helene remains her favorite, still loving and forgiving her banished husband. Villroy in disguise, and full of devotion to Napoleon, joins the grand army as a common soldier, and is a number of times in the next ten years instrumental in saving the life of the Emperor, but will accept of no reward. The year 1814 finds the power of Napoleon fast crumbling away. He and his army are driven near to Paris by the combined armies of Europe, and they find themselves themselves near to Malmaison, the residence of the ex-Empress Josephine. The Emperor pays her a visit, and, as a distinguished mark of his favor, selects the disguised soldier Villroy to announce his intentions to Josephine. The mission is performed, and Villroy finds the Countess still true to her lost but not forgotten husband. Marshal Marmont, lured by British gold, attempts to secure the person of the Emperor and deliver him to the enemy, but this scheme is frustrated by the vigilance of Villroy and the Marmaluke. The mask now falls from Villroy—he has saved France—he is rewarded by the love of the Countess—he is made a Marshal of France—and in the words of Napoleon: "With such valor, I will regain my Empire, or perish 'mid its ruins!"

The Wrong Man.

Peter Cooper, of Mississippi, set a spring gun to shoot a chicken thief, but killed the wrong man. Peter was not arrested, because he happened to be the wrong man, and his funeral expenses amounted to more than all his chickens were worth.

Stage Readiness.

The London Echo gives the following anecdote from a foreign contemporary: Gobert, the French actor, whose specialite was the impersonation of Napoleon I., was troubled with an infirmity of memory, in consequence of which all letters handed to him to be read on the stage had to contain the words he was to deliver. In some military piece or other the Emperor had to receive a letter from his adjutant and read it aloud to his assembled officers. A certain Gautier, the wag of the theatre, acted the adjutant and one evening, instead of giving Gobert the written letter, he handed him a blank sheet of paper. The actor took it, and perceiving the trick that had been played on him, returned the missive to Gautier, saying with perfect gravity, "Read it yourself, General." Gautier, who did not know a word of the part, and was too much taken aback to extemporize, could not extricate himself from the position before the public had discovered his discomfiture. Gobert's readiness was indeed almost as remarkable as that of a less celebrated actor. whose forte was the part of Richard III. At the approach of one of his best points a hostile clique induced the supers to accost the tragedian with, "My lord, we've taken Buckingham and cut his head off." "'Tis well," replied he; had it not been so, I should have said, 'Off with his head; so much for Buckingham!'" thus getting in his great effect after all.

The Young Man from the East.

" Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS

....AND....

Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

California Theatre.

This evening, the new star, Mr. Dominick Murray will commence his engagement at the California Theatre, with the sensational and historical drama of "The Spy; or America one Hundred Years Ago." It is a dramatization of Cooper's novel of that name, the dramatist being Mr. W. Barry, who accompanies the star, and who will support him in the character of George Washington, a character which it may be remarked en passant, Mr. Barry is wonderfully fitted for, both in face and figure. He will need but little making up. The play is one of the first of a long list of Centennial dramas, which will spring into existence 'twixt this and July 4th, 1876, and is spoken of as likely by its merits to attain a position in dramatic literature, anything but ephemeral. Mr. Murray will assume several exigent characters, necessary to the run of the play, and the scenery will be of a particularly interesting character.

Maguire's New Theatre.

There was another big house here last night. This evening there will be an entire change of bill. In the first place the Hooley Comedy Company have gone from antique melodrama into Shakespearian comedy and will produce "Katherine and Pertruchio," whilst Professor Hermann goes one step further in his course of diablere and gives us such spiritual manifestations as will serve to convince us definitely as to the tie which binds him to the grand master of the Black Art.

Grand German and Italian Opera.

Nicolai's famous opera of "The Merry Wives of Windsor" was the bill for yesterday evening's performance of the Fabbri Grand Opera Troupe. It was given in its entirety, with all the recitatives sung and not spoken as was the case when the opera was produced at the California Theatre. In fact that performance was really more of a lyrical drama than an opera. It should be mentioned as an interesting fact, that the part of Sir John Falstaff was originally written by Nicolai for the artist who filled the part last evening, Carl Formes. The whole performance was a wonderful success, the opera going off with remarkable eclat, whilst the audience not only packed the hall proper, but lined the vestibule and passages. Indeed, at least two hundred must have been turned away. To-morrow evening the same opera will be repeated, as well it may be.

Petaluma Theatre.

By referring to our advertising columns our readers will find the programme for the opening night of the Petaluma Theatre, this evening, by Mr. Robert Fulford and a strong company from this city. The company will include the popular California artist, Miss Ella F. Badger. We congratulate our neighbors on this visit from a company deserving patronage and support, and expect to hear of a successful week's business. The season will open with the "Lady of Lyons," and to-morrow Miss Badger appears as Parthenia in "Ingomar."

Herold's Grand Orchestral Matinees.

The fourth concert of this season will be given on Wednesday afternoon next, when the programme will include Neumann's Grand March from "Fagdlust," Beethoven's Symphonie in C major, selections from "Tannhauser" and Adam's overture to to "Le Roi d'Yvetot."

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

This variety theatre is in full tide of success, and is crowded every night. Kimic, Mortimer, George C Thompson, Ned Barry, Swain and West, Price and Senate appear in Ethiopean farces, and the popular "Parisian Life," every night.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

A very full variety bill will be offered here to-night. Manager Harrington is catering for South Enders very satisfactorily. He gives three or four farces nightly, and presents a very attractive bill of variety entertainments besides

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.

Several new faces will appear to-night and a new programme will be given, including Borthwick Reid's Sword exercises, Jester, the Man with the Talking Hand, "Herman Out lone," "Hand Andy," "The Wig Makers, etc.

Woodward's Gardens.

Scarsey, the Parisian Velocipedist, is making a great hit in her immensely fascinating exhibition of style and skill. She appears again Saturday and Sunday with Gonzales the champion tumbler, Sheridan and Harris clog and song and dance, Mons. Brood the Man with the Iron Jaw, Scheverria and Luproil in their daring Ladder Act and the Grand Orchestral Concert. The beautiful Stanhopea Oculata is in bloom.

Notes.

Wallack's Theatre—The regular season at this theatre will commence this evening, October 4th. It has been magnificently decorated and fitted up and a refreshment room for ladies is, we learn, being prepared. This is a great thing. A ladies' restaurant ought to be attached to each theatre.

Union Square Theatre—Mr. John T. Raymond's engagement closed Saturday, as the regular season commences with the production of "Rose Michel," this evening.

San Francisco Minstrels—This body of dusky humorists have no abatement of public patronage to complain of.

Lyceum Theatre Offenbach's "Madame L'Archiduc" has given place to "Madame Angot," which will in turn be followed by "Girofle-Girofla."

Bowery Theatre—Mr. J. B. Studley, in melodrama, still holds the boards.

Grand Opera House—"Red and Black; or a Gambler's Life," being an adaptation of "Rouge et Noir," forms the bill.

Madame Josephine Frankenberg, the new prima donna of the Fabbri Grand Opera Troupe, has arrived in town and will make her first appearance on Friday evening next as Azucena in "Il Trovatore."

THE WAY TO FAIRYLAND.

What's the way to Fairyland?
Melts it through the meadow?
Leads it where on silver sand
Lies a golden shadow?
Where the Spring, 'neath Maia's hand,
Shoots to Summer's stature?
What is youth, but Fairyland—
Fairyland, but Nature?
Lies the lot by sea or land,
Steerest thou by stream or strand,
Strife and storm shall be at hand
On the way to Fairyland.

Is it dewed with morning's kiss,
Dimmed with sunlight setting?
Runs it through remembered bliss,
Lurks it in Forgetting?
'Mid the mountains' heaving mass
Must I dive to find it,
Where the gnomes beneath the grass
Gather gold and grind it?
Be thy burden blessed or banned,
Gain'st thou gold from sea and sand,
Woe and want will warders stand
On the way to Fairyland.

I have worn both want and woe,
Yet they lead not thither:
Must I grope no more, but go
Flying up through Ether?
Love will lend me wings to rove
Through the orbed Seven—
What is Fairyland, but Love—
What is love, but Heaven?
Fly thou far by Fancy fanned,
Breakest thou both bolt and band,
Death will grasp thee by the hand
Ere thou findest Fairyland.

What's the way to Fairyland?
Not by Star, or Stream, or Strand,
Close one finger of thy hand,
And 'twill close on Fairyland.

Holding Him Even.

A paper out in Dakota Territory, the Elk Horn Gleaner, relates the following story of a fellow who solemnly pledged himself not to drink a drop of liquor either inside or outside of a house for two years. Soon afterwards he passed a saloon where three former boon companions were taking their drop of comfort, and he could not help stopping and casting one mournful look of longing within. One of them spied him, and invited him to join them.

"Oh, no," said he, "I wish I could, but I've sworn not to take a drop either inside or outside of a house for two years."

"Oh," says one, "you can have one drink, for all that; we'll lift you off the threshold, and you can drink half inside the house and half out."

So one took hold of each leg, and thus they raised him up, while the third filled and passed the bottle. He took one long drink, and was just drawing breath for another, when one of his supporters shifted a little, and he shouted:

"Oh, hald me even, boys, for my soul's in your hands."

How Patti Studies.

Madame Adelina Patti, most generous of prime donnas, recently gave a concert at Dieppe for the benefit of the poor of the town, and the receipts amounted to about $2,500. It is said that her facility for study has so greatly increased that she finds it possible to learn in a few weeks a role which others blunder over for months. She already knows thirty-four operas from begining to end. When she is studying, her habit is not to sing aloud the role which she wishes to learn. She either reads or hums it. Even her accompanist often can not hear her voice on these occasions. It is the same at rehearsals. Only at the last grand general rehearsal does she condescend to sing with her full voice.

In For a Penny, in For a Pound.

A party of benighted gentlemen, about a certain hour, began to think of home and their wives' displeasure, and urged their departure. "Never mind," said one of the guests, "fifteen minutes can make no difference; my wife is as mad now as she can be."

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

Photographic Art

Is supposed by some to be in its infancy. We doubt it much, as it is impossible to imagine pictures retouched and finished with more artistic skill than those we saw at Brodeck & Co's new Art Gallery, 640 Market street, opposite the Palace Hotel.

Baths

The original "Swain's Bakery" is now established in their magnificent new place at 218 Sutter street near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room

How Liszt Became an Abbe.

It is not generally known how Liszt became an Abbe. It appears that, after he left Weimar, Liszt paid a visit to Rome, where he had an audience of the Pope, and played before his holiness. He remained in Rome some time, and acted as organist in the Sistine Chapel. He was a great favorite of Pius IX., who, by the way, is possessed of an exquisite taste in art, and at the request of the musician the Pope made him an Abbe, a dignity which does not involve any ecclesiastical duty, but entails upon the holder of the rank certain restrictions pertaining to the priesthood; among others that of celibacy. Since that time Liszt has retired from public life, although he appears now and then and his purse and talents are always ready at the call of charity. On his first appearance at the Opera des Italiens, in Paris, he created perhaps, the greatest furore ever made by a single performer. He alone appeared for a number of consecutive nights. He had four pianos upon the stage. 'Four pianos! What for?' 'Well, the instruments were not made then as they are now, and would not stand the thumping.' He has been known to break the strings of all of them in an evening. At the end of the performance the ladies would beg for the broken strings, and would have bracelets made out of them. Paganini joined Liszt during this visit to Paris. The two musicians were great friends, and often played together.

What Are You Going to do About It?

A City Firm Propounds the Above Conundrum.

OUR ANSWER:

The riddle is easy to tell, is simple, no person can flout it,
All trade at the Great IXL, and that's what we just do about it,
When the question to children is asked, they say they'll go and ask pa,
If that 'aint sufficient, you know, I'll go right away and ask ma.

Fast time make the great Palace Cars on the Overland route, they all do it;
But who ever saw an old safe with a couple of pups harnessed to it;
We never have seen such a sight, tho' we've seen every sort of a car,
But perhaps after all it is so, at least we will go and ask ma.

Our customers come in scores—just take a peep in if you doubt it;
Our prices they say beat all stores, and that's what we just do about it;
On the corner Commercial and Kearny, our store it is known near and far;
If other firms say please come in, just answer, I'll go and ask ma.

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm. *

STRAY HITS AND STOLEN BITS.

It must be decidedly mortifying for a man when he gets to the end of his rope to find that it is somehow attached to his neck.

Tennyson and Joaquin Miller have got mad at each other, and Tennyson calls Miller "the poet of the rag-bag." We might as well have war with England now as ever.

Miss Ada and Miss Lizzie Challis have purchased the Martinsville (Ind.) Gazette. In a leading editorial of the first number under the new regime this extract occurs: "Pause, young man; you want to get married, and it is about time you did." Who will be the first to put the Challis to his lips?

A deliberative body—a slow man.

Sweetness and light—a love match.

Fruit for balloonists—currents in the air.

An old lady was son-struck while passing down Market street, yesterday. The son is in custody.

"Cold streaks playing tag down my back," is the way a little Ypsilanti (Mich.) girl describes the approach of an ague chill.

The Easton Free Press says that Joshua was the first man who ever stopped a newspaper. He stopped the daily sun. We suppose he did so because the war news did not suit him.

"My articles do not receive a very warm reception of late." "Our fair correspondent is mistaken," replied the editor: "they meet with the warmest reception possible. We burn them all."

Think about marriage as we please, there is no pleasanter sight than a newly-wedded couple walking home from church on the first Sunday, with the bride's mother in the rear thoughtfully adjusting the bustle and back bows of the happy daughter.

Babies are described as coupons attached to the bonds of matrimony.

The alligator that swallowed a corset is dead. It stayed on his stomach.

Supposing she did walk three fourths of a mile in the rain, soil her new striped stockings and nearly ruin her dress, what was that in comparison to the joy of being the first one to tell Mrs. Jones that the Smiths couldn't board at the Revere this Winter, as old Smith had failed.

Said a pompous fellow, brow-beating his auditors: "I have travelled around the world." Replied a wit: "So has this cane I hold in my hand, but its only a stick for all that."

Let's stop slurring pull-back dresses. When one comes to remember that a woman has got to sit sideways on a horse, and that she can't put her feet on the top of the stove, it does seem as if she might be allowed some extravagances.

If the new kind of stockings have stripes around the tops why doesn't the New York Herald bring out a map and exhibit its enterprise in advance of its cotemporaries.

When fashion demands that a woman shall pay $30 for a pair of stockings it's time she stumped around barefooted with a trailing dress on.

A Dubuque minister is charged with throwing kisses across a pasture half a mile wide at a woman sixty-eight years old. Can any one say whither we are drifting.

A Broad street youth objects to the pull-back skirts because they are so narrow that he can't sit on them.

Clara Louise Kellogg is translating a scientific work from the French.

Chickanery—palming off an old hen as a young chicken.

A Western editor, thinking to stock his depleted larder, advertised, "Poultry taken in exchange for advertising." The villainous compositor, seeing his opportunity to pay up a long-standing grudge, set it up, "Poetry taken in exchange for advertising;" and since that time the office boy has been clearing fifty cents a day from the waste-paper man.

A Cleveland man advertises "woman's shirts." What are they?

Mlle. Sophie Croizette.

The London Figaro gives the following account of this lady's career: "Mlle. Sophie Croizette has finished her conge, and made her rentree at the Francais, on Friday, as Suzanne d'Ange, in Le Demimond. Mlle. Croizette was actually born at St. Petersburg, where her mother Mme. Louise Carbowna Croizette, was premiere danseuse at the National Theatre. However, as little Sophie was brought to France at the age of six months, and has ever since remained in that country, she has very good reasons to claim the land of Gaul as her fatherland. She entered the Conservatoire, the national training-school of France, in 1867. A pupil of M. Bressant, she made rapid progress, became premiere associee for comedy in 1868, and carried of the first prize in 1869. The latter distinction gained for her, almost as a matter of course, an engagement at the Theatre Francais, in the company of which she has ever since remained. Her debut was made on the 7th of January, 1870, in the role of La Reine Anne, in La Verre d'Eau, of Eugene Scribe and since that time she has played on upwards of 700 occasions at this theatre. She has a repertory of about twenty pieces in the classical works of Moliere. Beaumarchais, Marivaux, and Alfred de Musset, and has besides sustained leading parts in the works of such modern writers as Scribe, Alexandre Dumas, Emile Augler, Camille Doucet, Jules Sandeau, and Octave Feuillet. Her chief creations have been in Nany, La Part du Roi of Catulle Mendes, L'Acrobate of Octave Feuillet, L'Ete de Saint-Martin of Melhac and Halevy, Jean de Thommeray of Augler and Sandeau and Le Sphynx of Octave Geuillet. The last two works have chiefly contributed to make her fame, and the cocotte Bleanche, in Jean de Thommeray, and the comtesse de Chelles, in Le Sphynx, parts so widely different from one another, have gained for her a high reputation. Some of the critics, it is true, protested against the hideous realism in the death scene of Blanche de Chelles, but the public flocked to see it, and the drama became celebrated throughout Europe. Mlle. Croizette is also renowned for the tastefulness and correctness of her costumes. These who are in the secret of the coulisses aver that these costumes are the work of her brother-in-law, the artist Carolus Duran, who painted the celebrated picture of Mlle. Croizette, in Amazonian costume, seated on a gigantic horse, on the sea beach, which was exhibted in the Salon of 1872. Mlle. Croizette has been, since 1873, a societaire of the Comedie Francase, and though she had frequently played in the French provinces, she has never appeared in England."

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS
....AND....
Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.
DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

Amusements, Etc.

Maguire's New Theatre.

"Katherine and Petruchio," which is the condensed three-act version of Shakspeare's "Taming of the Shrew" and a new entertainment by Prof. Hermann, formed the bill last night. The comedy was fairly played, Miss Hawthorne's Katherine and W. H. Crane's Grumio, both deserving kindly notice, but Mr. O'Neill's Petruchio displayed an uncommendable want of study. The Professor's entertainment was the best he has yet given. The spiritual seance, in which he was assisted by Mlle. Addie, was a complete success, whilst the new feats of legerdemain were even more wonderful than those which he had already presented to his audiences. The house as usual, good.

California Theatre.

A crowded house—especially in the gallery—welcomed Mr. Dominick Murray and the new piece "The Spy." Its author, or rather its adaptor rom Cooper's novel of the same name is Mr. W, Barry, who supports Mr. Murray as General Washington. The play is certainly not lacking in incident, and the dialogue—which must be mostly Mr. Barry's—is bright and interesting, but there is a little something wanting in construction. But it must be confessed Mr. Murray has done wonders with the story, for a novel of Cooper's must be about as difficult to dramatize as Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" would be. Mr. Murray who takes the part of Harvey Birch, the Spy, and during the play assumes two or three disguises, is clever and earnest, though, perhaps, a trifle physically weak for such an arduous part. The play was splendidly mounted, the tableaux of the burning house, the crossing of the Delaware and the naval engagement exciting the wildest enthusiasm amongst the gods. Altogether "The Spy" may be taken as a very respectable sample of the American patriotic drama.

Grand German and Italian Opera.

Nicolai's opera of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," which proved such a success on Sunday evening last, will be repeated this evening with the same cast, and, as we confidently expect, with the same marked success.

Herold's Grand Orchestral Matinees.

The fourth concert of this season will be given to-morrow afternoon, when the programme will include Neumann's Grand March from "Fagdlust," Beethoven's Symphonie in C major, selections from "Tannhauser" and Adam's overture to to "Le Roi d'Yvetot."

Mrs. Blake's Concert.

On Thursday evening next a complimentary concert, which has been tendered to Mrs. M. B. Blake, will be held at Pacific Hall, Mrs. Blake, who is a most popular artiste, and one ever ready to give her services to the aid of charity, will be assisted by Miss Clara Beutler, Mr. Walter Campbell, Mr. John Trehane, Mr. Heinrichs and Don Santiago Arrillaga, who makes his first appearance.

Petaluma Theatre.

This fine theatre was opened last night by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fulford and a company from this city. The attendance was good, and the performance gave great satisfaction to all. "The Lady of Lyons" was the opening piece, after which came an interlude of mirth and music and the capital farce of "The Quiet Family." The season opens under the most flattering auspices, and all our Petaluma friends feel sanguine of the Company's success, financially and otherwise. Miss Ella F. Badger, so favorably known to the public, will make her first appearance this evening in Parthenia, a character in which she achieved great success in this city. Mr. John Allen, with an efficient orchestra, supplies the music.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Kimic, Swain and West, Ned Barry, Geo. C. Thompson, and Frank Mortimore in their specialties, and the great sensation of "Parisian Life" fill the house every night.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

Charley King makes his reappearance here tonight, and will again give the audience a touch of his skill on the banjo. Charley and Lotta Harris have a new act entitled "Dutchland and Ireland," and the rest of the programme is equally good.

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.

The rope ascension by the boy wonder, George Neilson, and the balcony serenade attract a big attendance on the outside every evening, whilst a most entertaining bill attracts just as large an audience to the inside of the building.

Woodward's Gardens.

Scarsey, the Parisian Velocipedist, is making a great hit in her immensely fascinating exhibition of style and skill. She appears again Saturday and Sunday with Gonzales the champion tumbler, Sheridan and Harris clog and song and dance, Mons. Broed the Man with the Iron Jaw, Scheverria and Luproil in their daring Ladder Act and the Grand Orchestral Concert. The beautiful Stanhopea Oculata is in bloom.

Notes.

The New York critics are rather severe on Mr. Woolf's new drama, "The Mighty Dollar." They can't see any cents in it.—Boston Post.

Niblo's is let—let alone.

It is related that Mr. George Belmore, the actor, graduated as advance agent for an English circus, and that his debut in the dramatic arena was due to accident. His great successes were made in "The Porter's Knot," "The Flying Scud," and as Newman Noggs in "Nicholas Nickleby."

Anna Dickinson is underlined for "probable engagement" at Daly's Fifth Avenue, New York, after the close of the season of Miss Clara Morris.

There is a prize of 1,000 thalers, founded by Meyerbeer, bestowed every two years on the competitor who sends the best piece of original music. The prize is awarded at Berlin, and this year there were no competitors, and no award. Yet 1,000 thalers is not to be despised. Why do not our musi[illegible] go for it? The prize is open for competition [illegible] all nationalities.

Hooley's Theatre, Chicago, is spoken of in some of the Eastern papers as Maguire's. How many

Our readers may, perhaps, remember our occasionally noticing a series of Peoples' Concerts which were being given in Salt Lake by a Madame Stevenson and our dear young friend Master McKenzie. And now there is a paragraph in the Salt Lake Footlights praying for information as to the whereabouts of the sweet singers. Like the baseless fabric, etc., etc.

PARACELSUS BROWN.

I had a friend who seldom came
From country into town,
A lovely-mannered man, whose name
Was Paracelsus Brown.

His form was lank, his glance was mild,
His voice was soft to hear,
And at the slightest cause he smiled,
He smiled from ear to ear.

Beyond all question it were wrong
To call him grand of port;
He wore his flaxen hair too long,
His pantaloons too short.

A single passion stirred my friend's
Composed and gentle mind:
He loved old dusty odds and ends
Of every earthly kind.

Throughout his house these ancient wares
In pell-mell style he'd mix—
Repulsive crockery, uncouth chairs,
And hideous candlesticks.

His money used to melt as sure
As ice in sunshine melts,
At all trash a la Pompadour,
Or a la something else.

For years indulgently I'd seen
This hobby of poor Brown,
And greeted him with smiling mien
Whene'er he came to town.

I'd watched his idiotic glee
O'er duds of great expense,
And knew his gullibility
Was perfectly immense.

I bore with him in patient wise,
Till once, I well recall,
He showed two skulls of differing size,
A large one and a small.

Two human skulls! And now his voice
In bleating murmur rose:
'They're something wonderfully choice,
As everybody knows."

"Why, then," I said, "they held erewhile
The brains of great men once?"
He answered, with a ready smile,
"They are Napoleon's!"

"What! Both?" I cried. "That cannot be!"
Said Brown, in murmur low,
"The gentleman who sold them me
Assured me it was so."

My temper rose. I smelt a rat.
"Now, Brown." I shouted, "pray
Inform me just exactly what
Your 'gentleman' dared say."

"He told me," Brown's meek answer ran,
While all his vast mouth smiled,
"One was Napoleon's when a man,
And one while yet a child."

I turned with rapid steps away
To hide my wrathful frown,
And I have never since that day
Seen Paracelsus Brown.

Here is Wisdom!

Women love but once—shun that once.

Women hate in proportion to their love.

Most women retain their virtue, but many like to risk it.

Not all women lie, but no woman ever tells the whole truth.

Hatred is at the bottom of love, as death is at the bottom of life.

One always thinks he is in love when going up stairs; coming down he is not so sure of it.

You cannot impede a woman in her love; you cannot recall the arrow shot into space.

A woman is a fortress that can always be taken—by him who knows how to make the assault.

Man's vanity is irritated by defeat and consoled with a rupture. Woman's vanity acts in an inverse sense.

Ask not a woman's heart; she has but one and may give it. Of all fatal presents, a woman's heart is the most deadly.

Do not love a romantic woman. She will make an ideal of you which you cannot realize, and which it will grieve you to destroy.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F, Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 8-cj

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

Photographic Art

Is supposed by some to be in its infancy. We doubt it much, as it is impossible to imagine pictures retouched and finished with more artistic skill than those we saw at Brodeck & Co's new Art Gallery, 640 Market street, opposite the Palace Hotel.

Baths

The original "Swain's Bakery" is now established in their magnificent new place at 213 Sutter street near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place o business.

New and beautiful designs of Carpets at 116 Sutter street, Hall & Lachman's.

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

What Are You Going to do About It?

A City Firm Propounds the Above Conundrum.

OUR ANSWER:

The riddle is easy to tell, is simple, no person can flout it,
All trade at the Great IXL, and that's what we just do about it,
When the question to children is asked, they say they'll go and ask pa,
If that 'aint sufficient, you know, I'll go right away and ask ma.

Fast time make the great Palace Cars on the Overland route, they all do it;
But who ever saw an old safe with a couple of pups harnessed to it;
We never have seen such a sight, tho' we've seen every sort of a car,
But perhaps after all it is so, at least we will go and ask ma.

Our customers come in scores—just take a peep in if you doubt it;
Our prices they say beat all stores, and that's what we just do about it;
On the corner Commercial and Kearny, our store it is known near and far;
If other firms say please come in, just answer, I'll go and ask ma.

IXL Auction House, 616, 618 and 620 Kearny street, 647 and 649 Commercial.

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm.

The Old Mint Restaurant.

MLLE. TITIENS.

From a Correspondent of the London Musical Standard.]

There is a period in the duration of every good voice, when it is possessed of an especial charm. The particular time of its occurrence and the length of its continuance are uncertain. With some it is early, with others comparatively late. With some too it is brief, with others, again, somewhat lasting. No certain rule can be given when to look for it, as in this matter Nature is capricious; but mostly, though not always, it is to be found before the voice has attained its full ripeness. In this case, though the voice subsequently would be pronounced finer, the particular fresh charm or bloom might be wanting. The word "bloom" must not on any account be accepted as the synonyme of "veil," which is essentially different, as its cause and effect are different.

It would be invidious to point to all those public singers who are now in the possession of this charm of voice. Suffice it is to say that Mlle. Titiens possesses it. She is an example of those who retain it for a lengthened duration. And possibly in her case a long course of singing had to be gone through ere that peculiar bright tinge of color came. It is to be hoped that when our friends across the Atlantic hear her for the first time, the gifted lady will be in perfect health, and free from both bodily and mental fatigue, as this freedom is a condition, generally speaking, of this charm. Then will America know in a measure what an artist England has been enjoying since 1858, when the late Mr. Lumley first introduced the lady to the subscribers to the Opera held at Her Majesty's late Theatre. It will, however, but be in a measure that the greatness of the Titiens will be known, as, if report be correct, the lady will not appear on the stage, but only in the concert room and in oratorios. America, therefore, will be incapable of fully realizing the portrait, musical and dramatic, of the devoted wife (Fidelio), with which English amateurs are familiar, and which again and again they can picture to their mind's eye so indelibly impressed is it upon their imagination, owing to the exceeding power with which it was first presented to their intelligence. In like manner that country will be incapable of comprehending the pictures, appreciable from several points of view, of "Lucrezia," "Valentine," "Semiramide," "Medea," and "Norma," among a few others, which opera frequenters have for long admiringly looked at, until their sense of admiration has become either heart-sympathy or awe, this latter emotion being particularly excited by the "Ortruda" which the great artist presented, leaving upon the remembrance of all who witnessed it (especially those who were present at Drury Lane on the Saturday evening when "Lohengrin" was produced) an impress as if the very letters of the character of Elsa were moulded in the purity of angels' wings.

But in the concert room to which, it may be, Titiens will confine her talents, there will be enough to fill all listeners with delight. There will be the majestic tones, steady, grand, rich, well-modulated, and tinted with the charm already alluded to, but which it is beyond the power of any one adequately to describe. There will be the noble conception of all the great songs she undertakes. Added to this will be her vocal resources, her executive skill, her coloratura, her variety of tone-color indicative of the sentiments by which she will seem to be animated; as such an artist will not give utterance to a thought or feeling in musical cadence which will not carry with it the proper tone-shade, telling its spontaneity, and proclaiming it as warm and fresh from the heart.

Whilst she is away, the English people—who never cross the fathomless ocean, and who shrink with something of terror from the thought of those long days and long nights where nothing is to be seen but sky and water, save when a distant ship is described, an object of excitement to all on board, especially to those traversing the boundless deep for the first time—will be with her in imagination, anticipating her triumphs, anxious to read the earliest reports of her reception, and of the enthusiasm she will have occasioned, and desiring most of all her happy return, crowned with the laurel of the tens of thousands of our appreciating friends across the Atlantic, who do as we do, speak the English language, and take no greater pleasure than in sympathizing with us in everything that is great and noble, whether it be in acts of policy, deeds of war, the adaptation of science, or the exaltation of art.

Who Was the Culprit?

The following curious domestic drama, the dramatis personæ of which are discreetly valid by impossible initials, is described by de Droit. A banker in a fashionable quarter of Paris decided, at his wife's request, upon taking her for a trip to London, and on the day before the journey obtained 5,000 francs from his cashier for the necessary expenses. Next morning, when it was time to start, the lady became alarmed at the fatigue of the expedition, and induced her husband to give it up. He, accordingly, hastened to restore the notes he had drawn to the cashier; but on opening the case in which he had placed them, found he had but two 1,000 franc notes instead of five. He had three servants, one of whom, the cook, had a drunken and needy husband. His suspicions, therefore, rested on her, and he accused her of the theft. After defending herself for a time in vain, she exclaimed that the thief should soon be discovered, and, after placing a crucifix on the table, laid her hand upon it and swore she was not guilty. The two other servants took the same oath "Now, Madame," said the cook dryly, addressing her mistress, "it is your turn." The lady, surprised at so much insolence, left the room. Her husband, now in a violent passion, was about to call the police to arrest his maid-servant, when Madame returned with the three 1,000 franc notes, which she had found concealed in the drawing-room curtains. Monsieur still believes that he was robbed by one of his servants.

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS
....AND....
Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN,

Who may be suffering from the effect of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

California Theatre.

"The Spy," with Dominick Murray as Harvey Birch, W. Barry as George Washington, and all its scenic and patriotic effects, drew another full house last night. It will be repeated this evening and until it fails to draw. We must not omit to mention W. H. Mestayer's capital darkey, Cæsar Thompson. Though black, he helps materially to lighten the piece.

Maguire's New Theatre.

"Katherine and Petruchio" with Hermann's spiritual manifestations, and his new programme of feats of legerdemain, afford a thoroughly enjoyable means of spending an evening. By the way, what a thoroughly invaluable assistant the trim, Mlle. Addie, must be to the Professor. Supposing she should one day be no longer able to resist the feminine temptation to spread a secret or two, where would the magician be?

Grand German and Italian Opera.

"The Merry Wives of Windsor," was, many will allow, better given last evening than on Sunday night. The parts hung together better and there was more esprit and "go" in the whole performance. The audience was large and enthusiastic, the moonlight fairy scene and the ignominious exit of the fat knight in the basket of soiled linen attracting particular and uproarious attention. On Tuesday night next, "Il Trovatore" will be produced with Madame Frankenberg who makes her San Francisco debut in the character of Azucena.

Herold's Grand Orchestral Matinees.

The fourth concert of this season will be given this (Wednesday) afternoon, when the programme will include Neumann's Grand March from "Fagdlust," Beethoven's Symphonie in C major, selections from "Tannhauser" and Adam's overture to to "Le Roi d'Yvetot."

Petaluma Theatre.

Miss Badger's appearance at this theatre last evening was an unqualified success, and she won hosts of friends and admirers by her artistic rendering of the beautiful character of Parthenia. There was a fine audience present of the very best people of the place, and all were most enthusiastic over the success of this Company. To-night, "The Honeymoon," in which Miss Badger, Mr. and Mrs. Fulford and the entire company will appear.

Mrs. Blake's Concert.

On Thursday evening next a complimentary concert, which has been tendered to Mrs. M. R. Blake, will be held at Pacific Hall, Mrs. Blake, who is a most popular art'ste, and one ever ready to give her services to the aid of charity, will be assisted by Miss Clara Beutler, Mr. Walter Campbell, Mr. John Trehane, Mr. Heinrichs and Don Santiago Arrillaga, who makes his first appearance,

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

The programme here is of the best. Variety of every sort is to be found, from mildly grave to wildy gay, from very lively to nothing at all severe. On Friday evening there will be a complimentary benefit to Johnny Price.

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.

There is indeed a spice of variety in the entertainment given here, and on Saturday next something that is an attraction will be offered. We mean a set-to between John Sullivan the Australian light weight, and Barney Farley.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

The concluding act entitled "Chinese Servants" is intensely ludicrous. With this and all the other acts and specialties, a splendid bill is made up.

Woodward's Gardens.

Scarsey, the Parisian Velocipedist, is making a great hit in her immensely fascinating exhibition of style and skill. She appears again Saturday and Sunday with Gonzales the champion tumbler, Sheridan and Harris clog and song and dance, Mons. Broed the Man with the Iron Jaw, Scheverria and Luproil in their daring Ladder Act and the Grand Orchestral Concert. The beautiful Stanhopea Oculata is in bloom.

Notes.

"NEW YORK," staying at the Grand Hotel, has kindly taken the trouble to send us an extract "from an exchange," which he states, "has probably never been published on this coast," and which, in consequence, he writes, "will, I predict, be heartily enjoyed by the thousand and one readers of FIGARO. Very kind, we're sure, but strangely enough the interesting clip that "New York" sends us, is in reality taken bodily, cut from FIGARO, with the date on its back, October 4th. Did "New York" have the idea that he was playing a joke on the "astute editor" of this "erudite sheet?"

Sullivan's exquisite song "Sleep, My Love, Sleep," has been published by Messrs. Sherman & Hyde.

What Are You Going to do About It?

A City Firm Propounds the Above Conundrum.

OUR ANSWER:

The riddle is easy to tell, is simple, no person can flout it,
All trade at the Great IXL, and that's what we just do about it,
When the question to children is asked, they say they'll go and ask pa,
If that 'aint sufficient, you know, I'll go right away and ask ma.

Fast time make the great Palace Cars on the Overland route, they all do it;
But who ever saw an old safe with a couple of pups harnessed to it;
We never have seen such a sight, tho' we've seen every sort of a car,
But perhaps after all it is so, at least we will go and ask ma.

Our customers come in scores—just take a peep in if you doubt it;
Our prices they say beat all stores, and that's what we just do about it;
On the corner Commercial and Kearny, our store it is known near and far;
If other firms say please come in, just answer, I'll go and ask ma.

Auction House, 616, 618 and 620 Kearny street, 647 and 649 Commercial.

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equal to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm.

BEFORE THE BALL.

Go Lizette! Tell papa I'm coming.
Oh, dear! but I look like a fright;
I don't think this dress is becoming;
I wish I had put on my white.
And my hair, it looks simply disgusting—
Why didn't she fix up that braid!
I'll never again go to trusting
That horrid, deceitful French maid.

There's my skirt, it's just dragging the ground,
And my lace-strings are all coming loose.
Where's that girl? She is never around,
Lizette! Oh, Lizette! It's no use!
Just see how I look in that glass;
It's a miserable mirror, I think,
Perhaps it's the glare of the gas,
But my complexion looks really too pink.

The deuce take that terrible corn!
I guess that my shoes are too tight;
But I'll wear them, as sure as you're born,
If I burst every button to-night.
"You can't find that pair of white kid!"
Hereafter I'll try and arrange
To have all my new gloves well hid;
The way you lose things is quite strange.

Come to look—I don't know, after all,
You think my dress trop decollette?
And say, when I enter the ball
I'll create a sensation? Dare say,
Why, the last time I wore it Captain Gray,
The impudent thing, said aside,
I reminded him quite of Cape May,
And the smooth, white beach at low tide.

Let me see. Yes! the first set, Boy Hairs,
Who has such a killing mustache;
Dance second, (they'll talk, but who cares),
With that lovely divorced Col. Gash—
I suppose that dear Jaak won't come near,
After our frightful row of last week;
Well, let him walk off on his ear,
For he has a sublime deal of cheek.

On dit, that Jack's flirting with Blevin,
That girl that I so hate and despise.
I wish she was dead and in heaven.
I could almost scratch out her green eyes.
Oh dear! how my head aches and hurts,
I wonder if I faint at the ball
If Jack, (he's a mean little flirt),
Would try to catch me as I fall.

What's that air I was just now a humming?
"Apres l' absence l' amour."
Yes, papa dear! Your daughter is coming.
Lizette, lift my train from the floor.
Is my white opera cloak in the hall?
O yes! Here it is. I'm all right.
I wonder if Jack's at the ball.
Drive on with the carriage. Good night.

Grass Widows.

It may be thought that the following item has but little right of place in the columns of an amusement paper, until it is remembered how much amusement may be got out of a grass widow: The term "grass widow" is said to be a corruption of "grace widow," the former being a barbarism. Grace widow the term applied to one who becomes a widow by grace of favor, not of necessity, as by death, originated in the early ages of European civilization, when divorces were granted but seldom, and wholly by the Catholic Church. When such a decree was granted to a woman, the Papal receipt stated, "Vidua de gratia," which interpreted is widow of grace. In the law of the French it would read, "Veuve de grace," or grace widow "veuve' being translated as widow.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 8-cj

MR. AND MRS. FLORENCE IN "THE MIGHTY DOLLAR."

The New York correspondent of the Baltimore Bulletin thus writes:

To get back to the play; it is absolutely inoffensive on the moral ground, although Mrs. Gilflory (Mrs. Florence) does exclaim, in the jargon she effects at a certain stage, "Quelle comedy, real French!" Mrs. Gilflory is a well-meaning and well dressed widow who affects something more than a smattering, and who seizes upon every excuse to bring in some exclamation in that favored tongue. This character is played to absolute perfection by Mrs. Florence who identifies herself thoroughly with the character, and who displays a power of identifying herself with the eccentricities of the role which a great many well-known actresses have yet to acquire. Her little shriek of "Libby, dear!" breaking in upon the tenor of her conversation, as she strives to keep an eye out for her coquettish niecé, who is always in her thoughts; her injunctions "not to aller," or her exclamation "How mechante!" her utter confusion of mind when, having undertaken to lobby a bill through, at the solicitation of the Hon. Slote she mixes up Chalkville with Muggins Glen, and gets the boasted array of influence on the wrong side—all the phases and situations, in fact, in which the showy, "Frenchified" and good-natured widow figures are rendered by Mrs. Florence with a finish and unconscious appreciation which have a hilarious effect. And, lastly, Mr. Florence creates a character in the Hon. Bardwell Slote, which is a perpetual lurer on to mirth. To look at him—the red face, grayish beard, loosely-fitting broadcloth clothes and collar-strings dangling down behind—one would never recognize the man. His performance is instinct with good-humor suffused with a genial glow which reaches even as far as the promulgation of the questionable doctrine supposed to be characteristic of a certain order of Washington politicians. There is one bit which is as finely sarcastic as anything I have seen. The Hon. Bardwell Slote proceeds to get his boots blacked, and seated on the back of one darkey, who gets on his knees to oblige him, places a foot apiece on the blacking-boxes of two other negroes, and there delivers in "Congressional Record" style a speech on the emancipation of the negro. Then, as they advance to receive a trifling gratuity, he puts his hand in his pockets, finds them empty, and waves the disgusted darks away with: "No, my brothers. I will not insult you!" Mr. Florence's Slote is a picture, when in response to a gushing young man's inquiry: "Oh, Judge, have you ever loved?" he closes one eye, beams and swells with "consciousness" and conveys for an instant by expressive silence that he has "by a large majority." The Judge's favorite habit is "initializing" his ideas, and he does not always give the unspoken words the letter proscribed by the rules of orthography. One of the best of these expressions is when he despatches a waiter for some refreshment, and tells him to get it "P. D. Q." Whereupon the audience roar at recognizing "pretty damn quick." But I am afraid I should be open to the charge of gushing if I went on describing the effect of Mr. Florence's performance, or relate how, even in the incident of the dance, when he cut the ancient pigeon wings until his coat-tails soared aloft like the American eagle, he preserved the spirit of the character. And in the "Mighty Dollar" there is nothing to offend the politician's susceptibilities past repair.

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419. opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish heck."

The Antelope Oyster House.

ABSENCE OF MIND.

Among Linley's most notable eccentricities was absence of mind. His brother-in-law, Sheridan, invented ludicrous instances of it, and even told them in his presence. When allusion was made to one of these, Linley, exclaimed with indignation: "That is an everlasting lie; but," he added, with returning good humor, "I will tell you something better which befell me." He then began: "While I was a minor canon at Norwich, I went one evening to my tobacconist's, and, having filled my snuff-box, was about to leave the shop, when, I know not how it happened, I took up the two brass candle-sticks, that were standing lighted on the counter, and was walking into the street with them, one in each hand, when the tobacconist recalled me to myself by exclaiming, 'Surely, Mr. Linley, you do not intend to carry off my candle-sticks?'"

My friend sometimes related a still more remarkable instance of his own obliviousness: "It was my turn," he said, "as a minor canon to preach in Norwich Cathedral, and well knowing my infirmity, I rang the bell, and put the key of my study into my landlady's hands, requesting her to lock the door, and come again to let me out in time for the service. She raised objections, and insisted on returning the key, but somehow I remained under an impression that she had taken it with her as I desired. Accordingly I read my sermon over until the bells began to ring. I then put on my surplice, but no landlady came to release me. I read half my sermon over again, but still no landlady appeared. Looking out of the window, I saw the congregation assembling, and at length the great bell began to toll, as it always did when the Dean and Chapter were about to form into procession. Still no landlady appeared. In this extremity I threw open the window, and, with the help of the water-butt and water-spout, climed down in my canonicals into the street. Happily I was so late that comparatively few of the congregation witnessed this exploit. On my return home after the service I put my hand mechanically into my pocket, and opened the door of my lodgings before I called to mind my imaginary difficulty."

When he related this anecdote, Mr. Linley sometimes added: "The sermon I preached was copied verbatim from Bishop Hoadley, whom the Dean and Chapter looked upon as an execrable heretic, but who was an especial of the Bishop, Dr. Bathurst. After the service, as we were going into procession to the vestry, the Bishop turned to me with a gracious smile, 'Mr. Linley, I am much obliged to you for the excellent sermon you selected.'"

"What have I to pay?" said Mr. Linley, coming to a turnpike, whip in hand, with a bridle trailing on the ground. "You have nothing to pay, sir," replied the turnpike-keeper; "you must have left your horse behind you." The conjecture was correct. Linley had undertaken to do duty at a church a few miles from Norwich, and in order to relieve his horse had dismounted to walk part of the way. The bridle had slipped off while he was in a brown study, thinking of "Plato's Dialogues," or "Hartley on Man," and he had reached the turnpike quite unconscious of the loss he had susiained. Happily he found the animal grazing on the roadside not far off, and was able to reach the country church in time for the performance of his duties.

English Education.

The following answers have been given in examinations in English public shools: "'Don Quixote' was written by Mark Twain, and 'Robinson Crusoe' by Milton;" "Polonius was a wizzard who lived on an uninhabited island, till his daughter, Miranda, married a young man named Caliban; and "Edward II. was a king of England; they dragged him about, shaving him with cold water, till he died;" and, lastly, "the feudal system was the curfew bell."

This is from the Shelby (Ky) Republican: "The worst case of selfishness that we have been permitted to present to the public emanated from a youth who complained because his mother put a bigger mustard plaster on his younger brother than she did on him, after they had partaken a little too freely of melons and green apples." Such a boy would lick his brother for having the worst stomach-ache.

Sale and Sold.

"What kind of peaches are these?" asked a gentleman of a fruit-vender on the street on Saturday. "Them's Enoch Arden's peaches, sir," was the response. "Never heard of that kind before. Good, are they!" "Splendid, sir." "Why do you call them Enoch Arden peaches, my young fellow?" "'Cause they are waiting for a sale." He bought some, and passed on musing.

Timid Young Brown.

"Sir, I-I-I come to ask you if——"

"Fond father—"Ah! I know how it is. Take her, my boy, take her and be happy; and when you are married we will come and live with you. She is a splendid girl."

Brown "Yo-you are-are slightly mistaken, sir; I only want to ask your consent to take her to a picnic!"

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

Amusements, Etc.

Maguire's New Theatre.

"Katherine and Pertruchio" improves nightly and should therefore be played several nights more. Professor Hermann's spiritual manifestations may be safely called inexplicable, whilst his feats of legerdemain may as surely be called neat and clever.

California Theatre.

There is apparently no lessening in the number of patriotic souls who attend the representation of "The Spy," at this theatre, and there certainly is no abatement of patriotic enthusiasm on the part of those who attend. The deeds and shifts of Mr. Murray as Harvey Birch; the appearance of Mr. Barry as George Washington; the tableaux and the soldiers are all welcomed with the applauding shouts of a full house. Argal, the play is a success.

Grand German and Italian Opera.

To-morrow night "Il Trovatore" will be presented at Platt's Hall, with Madame Inez Fabbri as Leonora, Signor Pietro Baccei as Manrico and Herr Lafontaine as Count di Luna. The Azucena will be intrusted to the newly arrived prima donna, Madame Josephine Frankenberg, whose debut is looked forward to with some interest.

Herold's Grand Orchestral Matinees.

Whilst the concert yesterday afternoon was to a great extent a revival, it contained two or three new orchestral selections, which in themselves were worth the price of admission. Not that by this it is meant for a moment to say, that the pieces revived were not worth as much. Such selections as Mendelsshon's overture to "Fingals Cave," the pizzicato Poker of Strauss and Vogt's Reverie for string instruments, one cannot hear too often. The new features were Beethoven's first Symphonie in C major, and Adam's overture to "Le Roi d'Yvetot." The Symphonie is in four numbers two Adagios, an Andante, and a Minuetto. Of the four, the Andante struck us as being the best, being graceful, and full of rhythmic beauty. Adam's overture is as whimsical as a midsummers night's dream.

Mrs. Blake's Concert.

To-morrow evening, a complimentary concert, which has been tendered to Mrs. M. R. Blake, will be held at Pacific Hall, Mrs. Blake, who is a most popular art'ste, and one ever ready to give her services to the aid of charity, will be assisted by Miss Clara Beutler, Mr. Walter Campbell, Mr. John Trehane, Mr. Heinrichs and Don Santiago Arrillaga, who makes his first appearance,

Petaluma Theatre.

As we prophesied, Miss Badger has made a decided hit at Petaluma, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fulford and the company that support her have been very enthusiastically received by the good people of this thriving town. The audiences have increased in numbers, and the season will doubtless prove entirely successful, pecuniarily and otherwise. To-night will be presented the beautiful play of "The Lady of Lyons," on which occasion Mrs. Fulford will assume the leading role, after which will be presented "The Rough Diamond" with Miss Badger as Margery.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

The programme here is of the best. Variety of every sort is to be found, from mildly grave to wildy gay, from very lively to nothing at all severe. On Friday evening there will be a complimentary benefit to Johnny Price.

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.

Attractions are to be found here by the score. The balcony serenade, the tight-rope ascension Borthwick Reid's feats of strength and skill, Billy Randall's feats of legerdemain and acts calling for the full force of the company every night.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

Hughey Robinson's song of "Terry Shook the Gang," is a great favorite, Tom Butler's song and dance is nightly applauded, the two Harrises are clever and the whole programme is an entertaining one.

Woodward's Gardens.

Scarsey, the Parisian Velocipedist, is making a great hit in her immensely fascinating exhibition of style and skill. She appears again Saturday and Sunday with Gonzales the champion tumbler, Sheridan and Harris clog and song and dance, Mons. Broed the Man with the Iron Jaw, Scheverria and Luproil in their daring Ladder Act and the Grand Orchestral Concert. The beautiful Stanhopea Oculata is in bloom.

Notes.

We learn from Frederick W. Bert, Lessee of the Grand Opera House, on Mission street, who has just returned from the East, that the work on that structure will be carried on to completion, and that the Opera House will open before the Holidays with attractions suitable for the event.

What Are You Going to do About It?

A City Firm Propounds the Above Conundrum.

OUR ANSWER:

The riddle is easy to tell, is simple, no person can flout it,
All trade at the Great IXL, and that's what we just do about it,
When the question to children is asked, they say they'll go and ask pa,
If that 'aint sufficient, you know, I'll go right away and ask ma.

Fast time make the great Palace Cars on the Overland route, they all do it;
But who ever saw an old safe with a couple of pups harnessed to it;
We never have seen such a sight, tho' we've seen every sort of a car,
But perhaps after all it is so, at least we will go and ask ma.

Our customers come in scores—just take a peep in if you doubt it;
Our prices they say beat all stores, and that's what we just do about it;
On the corner Commercial and Kearny, our store it is known near and far;
If other firms say please come in, just answer, I'll go and ask ma.

ONLY GOING TO THE GATE.

Like the bell of blossom ringing,
Clear and childish, shrill and sweet,
Floating to the porch's shadow
With '' fainter fall of feet,
Comes this answer softly backward,
Bidding tender watcher wait,
While the Baby Queen outruns her;
"Only going to the gate."

Through the moonlight warm and scented,
Love to beauty breathes his sigh,
Lingering, to leave reluctant,
Loth to speak the low good-bye;
Then the same old echo answers,
Waiting love of older date,
And the maiden whispers backward,
"Only going to the gate."

Oh, these gates along our pathway,
What they bar, outside and in!
With the vague outlook beyond them!
Over ways we have not been!
How they stand before, behind us,
Toll-gates some, with price to pay,
Spring-gates some, that shut forever;
Cloud-gates some, that melt away!

Just across their slender weavings
Troth-plight happy hands have crossed;
Yet their locks have rusted ruddy,
Or their keys in night-shade lost.
Over latches softly falling,
Good-bye prayers have dropped like dew;
Little gateways, softly shutting,
Yet have cut a love in two.

So we pass them going upward
On our journey, one by one,
To the distant, shining wicket
Where each traveler goes alone;
Where the friends who journey with us
Strangely falter, stop, and wait;
Father, mother, child, or lover,
Only going to the gate.

STRAY HITS AND STOLEN BITS.

A night or two ago, a Vicksburg woman was trying hard to get her drunken husband home, and as she pulled him along the street her words and actions were so tender that a citizen halted and said: "Well, all drunkards' wives haven't your disposition." "Sh! don't say anything," she replied in a whisper; "I've got to call him pet names to get him home, but wait till he drops into the hall—be around then.

Dutch Wit.

A correspondent of Harper's Magazine was chatting a few weeks ago on the piazza of the United States Hotel at Saratoga, with a bright German gentleman, retired from business who related the following little anecdote: "Going down to New York, the other night," he said, "I got to chatting with a German acquaintance, and asked him what he was doing." "Vell," he replied, "shoost now I am do nodings, but I have made arrangements to go into pizness." "Glad to hear it. What you are going into?" "Vell, I goes into partnership mid a man." "Do you put in much capital?" "No; I doesn't put in no gapital?" "Don't wan't to risk it, eh?" "No, I puts in de experience." "And he puts in the capital?" "Yes, dot ish it. We goes into pizness for dree year; he puts in the capital, I puts in de experience. At de end of dree year I vill have de gapital, and he will have de experience."

Then and Now.

She used to meet him at the gate with a kiss, and a smile like morning light; but now she comes to the door in a dingy calico wrapper, and shoes down at the heel, shades her eyes with her hand, looks earnestly, to make sure it is him, and as he walks up to the house, tired and careworn, inquires, with a voice that seems to need oiling—"Did you bring that butter?"

Foreign Ignorance.

The ignorance of foreigners is something suberb. Dumas has written an American novel, in which a coon chases a couple of United States lovers up a tree, and then tries to get them by gnawing through the trunk. Dumas says that a Virginia coon is as large as a yearling calf.

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,

To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm.

CLIPS FROM "THE ARCADIAN."

MILD REGRET.

It is with regret that we learn that Miss Olive Logan is suffering from inflammation of the eyes, which prevents her at present from writing. We have no desire to be jocular at the expense of such an affliction as this, and could we have been consulted we would have desired that Miss Logan should be incapacitated in some way less unpleasant and painful to herself.

SARCASTIC.

Many people are under the impression that Charles Reade is writing a series of letters on copyright for the Tribune. This is a mistake. The letters are on "Masks and Faces," "Foul Play," "Never Too Late to Mend," and other works by a celebrated English author, of whom Mr. Reade is an enthusiastic admirer.

TOOLE AND FLORENCE.

"Everybody has heard, I suppose," says Trinculo, "how Toole, when he came over here to give us lessons in English humor, found Billy sitting in a front seat on the opening night, and had to send word round to Moss that he wouldn't and couldn't go on till they got Florence out of the house. 'The fact is,' said 'Toole, he makes me laugh so that I forget my part.'

Billy, who is one of the most accommodating fellows in the world, immediately consented, when the case was put to him, to retire to the lobby. But he was indiscreet enough to linger there. The result was that in fifteen minutes Toole sent another message to Moss, 'For God's sake, bring Florence inside or I won't have a beggarly corporal's guard to play to.'

It's a fact, but everybody wanted somehow to go into the lobby.

I suppose Billy was telling one of his stories out there."

WHO WAS RESPONSIBLE?

Mr. Beecher, in his letter declining a reception, says: "It would tend to renew discussions, of painful public transactions, which should never have had existence.' Exactly, but who is responsible for the cause of those transactions?

A SHREWD DETECTIVE.

Recently a foreign embassy sought the aid of the English police to find a young girl who had just become the heiress of many millions. The instructions were very vague, and the task was necessarily given to one of the keenest detectives. At the end of six weeks the detective reported at headquarters and handed in his resignation. "Well," said the chief," and what about the young girl?" "I found her about a month ago in a dressmaker's shop," was the answer. "And what then?" "I married her yesterday, and this morning I have just received her six millions."

MODEST BOUCICAULT.

Some one asked Boucicault in the Garrick Club recently about the prospect in America. "There will not be an original play produced in that country in two years," said he.

"Why not, pray?" some one asked.

"Because," replied the inimitable Dion, "I shall not return there within that time."

RATHER MIXED.

Will any one kindly explain the following announcement of a lady pianist, who "is ready for the reception of serious students, as well as for ladies and gentlemen desirious to study orchestral compositions they hear from Thomas's orchestra, by reading at sight, playing four hands?" We have devoted considerable time to this, but it has beaten us.

GRATEFUL GREECE.

The project for the monument to Byron is progressing satisfactorily, and there is some prospect of a site being chosen on the Thames embankment. The Greek government, which, strange to say, still remembers with gratitude, Byron's services, has offered to supply all the marble that may be required.

New Publications:

We have received from Messrs. Payot & Upham Alexander Dumas' historical romance entitled "Isabel of Bavaria." In this work, every event recorded will be found to be historically correct, and the characters depicted, genuine representations of the originals. The vividness of style, and animated descriptions in which Dumas so greatly excels, will be found to possess all their original brilliance: whilst the utmost care has been taken to preserve the many useful lessons that may be derived from a perusal of the work. Much vice is here portrayed without offending delicacy; and the description of those turbulent times of old,—of bigotry combined with loose morality,—of unlimited power with impotent laws,—may induce us to congratulate ourselves that we live in an age when Christianity is something more than a name, and the laws by which society are regulated and controlled something more than a dry, inefficient code. The works of Alexander Dumas will be read for their great, and tragic merit for all time to come, for they enjoy a popularity such as no others can boast of. In skilfulness of arrangement, vivacity, sustained interest of narrative and inventive faculty, no writer has ever equalled him.

Great Expectations.

A good deal was expected of a manservant in the olden time. The following is a copy of a handbill circulated in Peterborough, England, in 1784: "Wanted for a sober family, a man of light weight who fears the Lord and can drive a pair of horses. He must occasionally wait on the table, join in the household prayer, look after the horses, and read a chapter in the Bible. He must, God willing, rise at seven in the morning, and obey his master and mistress in all lawful commands. If he can dress hair, sing psalms, and play at cribbage the more agreeable. N. B.—He must not be too familiar with the maid-servants of the house, lest the flesh should rebel against the spirit and be induced to walk in the thorny paths of the wicked. Wages, fifteen guineas a year.

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges Moderate. D. B. Magee, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. N. B. Open to 2:30 A. M. Old fashioned boiled dinners every Saturday. 2-t

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

WITHOUT THE AID OF MERCURY OR NAUSEOUS DRUGS.

Only ONE INTERVIEW REQUIRED, balance of treatment can be conducted without any interruption to business.

Prescriptions free to all every day, from 10 to 11 o'clock, A. M.

Regular Office Hours, from 10 o'clock to 4 P. M.; from 7 to 8 P. M.

CONSULTATION FREE

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS

....AND....

Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

California Theatre.

Dominick Murray and "The Spy" will finish the week as it was begun, that is, with a good house. At least judging from past and present appearances there is every reason to believe this. To-night and to-morrow night are the last two evening performances. "The Spy" will, of course, form the bill for to-morrow's matinee.

Maguire's New Theatre.

"Katherine and Petruchio," as now played by the Hooley Comedy Company, is a bright and crisp performance, and a great improvement on its first representation. Professor Hermann grows in public favor as his feats grow in their remarkable qualities.

Grand German and Italian Opera.

To-night (Friday), "Il Trovatore," will be presented at Platt's Hall, with Madame Inez Fabbri as Leonora, Signor Pietro Baccei as Manrico and Herr Lafontaine as Count di Luna. The Azucena will be intrusted to the newly arrived prima donna, Madame Josephine Frankenberg, whose debut is looked forward to with some interest.

Mrs. Blake's Concert.

Last night, the complimentary concert, tendered to Mrs. M. R. Blake, by her musical friends, was held at Pacific Hall. The artists were the beneficiary herself, Miss Clara Beutler, Messrs. John Trehane, Walter Campbell, Yardly, Heinrichs and Sr. Santiago Arrillaga, and the affair must have proved to Mrs. Blake how much she is appreciated.

Petaluma Theatre.

The success of Miss Ella F. Badger at Petaluma, is something very remarkable in a young lady of so limited experience in the theatrical profession. It is but a few weeks since she made her debut in this city, and she is now doing l ading business at the above theatre with complete success, and playing nightly to crowded houses. This establishes the correctness of our previous estimate of the young ladies ability as recorded in past issues of the FIGARO.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

To-night, Johnny Price will take his benefit, and will give for the occasion, "The Pawn Brokers in Trouble," "The Two Pompeys," "Quiet Lodgings," in all of which he appears, an extra variety entertainment, and specialties by Kimic, Thompson, Mortimer and Ned Barry.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

"Don't Take It," "Regular Army, Oh!" "Interior and Exterior," songs, dances and variety interludes; and the Can-Can to-night for the first time.

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.

The new sketch of J. C. Arnold, entitled "The Claymore" and written expressly for Borthwick Reid has proved a success. It enables this famous Swordsman to give the audience a fair example of his wonderful dexterity. To-morrow night, John Sullivan, the Australian champion, who comes here to make a match with James Trevillian, will give a display of science in the manly art of self-defence in conjunction with Barney Farley, the scientific boxer. On Sunday night the clog and jig dance contest for a silver cup will come off.

Woodward's Gardens.

Scarsey, the Parisian Velocipedist, is making a great hit in her immensely fascinating exhibition of style and skill. She appears again Saturday and Sunday with Gonzales the champion tumbler, Sheridan and Harris clog and song and dance, Mons. Broed the Man with the Iron Jaw, Scheverria and Luproll in their daring Ladder Act and the Grand Orchestral Concert. The beautiful Stanhopea Oculata is in bloom.

Notes.

Manager Maguire has written to say that the Minstrels will leave Chicago on Sunday morning, so as to arrive here Friday night, the 15th, and open at the Opera House on the following Monday. More to-morrow.

Pinney Heard From.

Please acknowledge $1,000 in gold sent to day,
Which I owed you for clothing when I ran away;
Your suits fit so nicely and please me so good,
I've no heart to beat you, if beat you I could.

Since I left San Francisco I roamed wide and far,
With the Russian and Japanese smoked a cigar;
Among all the vast nations one story they tell,
"Three cheers and a tiger for the Great I X L."

Those fine suits of beaver you got up soon
I gave as a gift to the mighty Tycoon,
While the Emperor of China cut a great swell
In an English tweed suit from the Great I X L.

There are others in trade who should be off to Guinea,
What a blessing 'twould be if they'd run after Pinney!
Should they take good advice and sail over the billow,
Let them take their poor stock for the ape and gorilla.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F, Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 8-cj

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm. *

OUR EVANGEL.

Declare not, O Moody, that "doing is damning,"
And sing not, O Sankey, that working is sin;
If piety be not emotional stammering,
Old Duty's bed-rock is the place to begin.
This country is much more familiar, the fact is,
With preaching than practice—
And always has been.

O Mood y and Sankey, your voices shall wake her;
No people need so much converting as we;
Our soil grows a big crop of rogues to the acre;
Embezzlers and bribers of every degree
Are thicker than grasshoppers out in Nebraska,
Or fleas in Alaska,
Or fish in the sea.

Convert the bad boys who are not in the panel;
Convert our robust and respectable thieves;
Convert young Jay Gould; oh convert Uncle Dan'l!
If a dealer will keep sticking cards up his sleeves,
We don't care a cent whom he prays or sings songs to,
What church he belongs to,
Or what he believes.

Convert Indian agents—teach them to be honest,
And straighten up all the annuity kinks;
Convert Mr. Subsidy Schoomaker (non est;)
Induce Bunsby Bacon to say what he thinks;
To mix in a hurry
His wives and drinks.

ENGLISH AND AMERICAN SLANG.

[We are quoting from the "Table-Talk" of Appleton's Journal:]

Some of our readers may recall one of Punch's society pictures which depicted an English and American young women playing billiards, with a legend below which ran as nearly as we can recollect, as follows: "American girl—"Oh, what a horrid scratch! English girl (much shocked). —You should not talk like that; that's slang; say what a beastly fluke." Punch, always so keen, watchful and truthful never sent an arrow more directly to the mark than in this instance. The sensitiveness of our English friends in regard to American slang and American manners would entitle them to admiration were they not all the time the most obtuse people in the world to their own errors and shortcomings of the same nature. Wholly satisfied with their own mode of saying and doing things, they seem to have set their hearts upon exposing our social deficiencies and upon trying—we suppose this must be their object—to reform them. The latest showing up we have is in the current number of Temple Bar, where we learn in a story how one Smith fell in love with "a beautiful Yankee," and how this fascinating young person talked and conducted herself. The hero first sees our countrywoman at the table d'hote at Trouville, and is immediately struck with her exquisite beauty and faultless dressing, and watches eagerly for her to speak, to hear the words "ripple out of those coral lips," and is astonished, when she does speak, that, instead of the words "rippling through the little coral lips, they descend unmistakably through her chiseled nostrils." After the accomplishment of this wonderful feat, the "beautiful Yankee" astonishes our hero by sundry strange utterances—talking about her mother being "real sick," asserting that Trouville is a "right elegant place, and the company most refined," declaring she is "passionately fond" of dancing, notwithstanding all of which Mr. Smith, still fascinated, seeks an acquaintance with the queer-speaking lady. Then follows a flirtation, of course. It is the true charming Yankee pronounces Europe "Yrrup," America "Amurrica," and Paris "Parris;" is invited to dance, and talk about the "Boston slow," the "New York slide," the "Saratoga swoop," and says to her partner, "I reckon if you don't squeeze me tighter, Mr. Smith, I shall slide;" talks about "a piggy young lady"—but here we have made a blunder; a second look shows us that it is not the Yankee that talks about "a piggy young lady," but one of the immaculate Englishmen of the story, who in referring to the fact that our Yankee Venus is the daughter of a pork-merchant, thus characterizes her; and of course English slang, "you know," is quite right and proper, "you know"—orders her partner "to keep his pecker up"—but this again is distinctly English slang, although put in the mouth of a Yankee—and so on. Our smitten Mr. Smith is dazzled by the beauty and strange sayings of his divinity, but doesn't win her. Queer and vulgar as the daughter of the pork-merchant is, Mr. Smith is not alone in his admiration, his making the seventeenth proposal she had received that year alone, the sixty-ninth being the grand total! It is refreshing to know that a pretty American woman can make so many conquests, notwithstanding the drawback of vulgarity and slang. It would not be a bad idea for some of our story-writers to amplify the idea in the Punch anecdote with which we began this paragraph, and write a story in which the slang and manners of an English young woman shall be set "cheek by jowl" with the slang and manners of an American. It is only in this way that people on both sides of the Atlantic can be brought to see themselves as others see them.

Dr. McBride.

Some five years ago, we, with our contemporaries, published a well-written and very interesting obituary and biographical sketch of Dr. McBride, taken from a Vicksburg paper, founded upon the report of his death in that city. It will be seen, by referring to our first page, that the whole affair was premature, and that the Doctor still lives to do good to the afflicted. He has reached this city on his continental tour, and has his office at the Morton House. It only needs one glance at his "counterfeit presentment" there published to see that he is the original and genuine Dr. McBride, and very well preserved, at that, for a man who has had his obituary published in nearly all the papers in the Union.

Thrown Away.

An inebriated individual staggered into the City Hall, yesterday, and yelled out:

"Rah f'r Fou'th of July!"

"Fourth of July, you doughhead!" replied a policeman; "why, it's October."

"I know (hic)."

"The 7th of October."

"Course 'tis, an' zhont Fou'th July allus come on seventh day Oksober?"

"No, you idiot."

"It zhont?"

"No."

"Zhen what a fool I am!" sighed the inebriate, "to go'n frow 'way all zhis drunk!"

And he staggered sadly out.

Fashion and Comedy.

One day Rachel found herself socially at the house of the Countess Castlelane. She was asked by the Marquise de Fenelon to pass out first from the salon to the dining-room. Rachel bowed and refused.

"Let me insist; you are such a great actress."

"After you, Madame la Marquise!" responded Rachel, with one of her grim smiles.

She was right, for fashionable women always play comedy well.

A High Dispute.

Two colored citizens had a little trouble on the post-office corner. "Sir, I stigmatize you as a falsehoodfier!" exclaimed the first. "And you, sir, are a cantering hipelcrite!" replied the second. "Ah! talk away!" growled the first; "but my character is above disproach." And your influenzoes don't detach from my refutation one Iowa!" growled the other. And thus they parted.

Photographic Art

Is supposed by some to be in its infancy. We doubt it much, as it is impossible to imagine pictures retouched and finished with more artistic skill than those we saw at Brodeck & Co's new Art Gallery, 640 Market street, opposite the Palace Hotel.

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419. opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

NEW YORK.

Another N. Y. theatre has gone in The Grand Opera House season came to an inglorious termination on Tuesday evening, Sept. 21. A drama entitled "Red and Black" was produced on Monday evening, but it attracted only a limited attendance On Tuesday evening, the audience was sparse in numbers, and the curtain did not rise at the usual time. Mr. Jos. Wheelock at length came before the audience, and stated in effect that, owing to there being no money in the treasury with which to pay the salaries of the company, they had refused to perform for a further period, and the management would be compelled to close the theatre Those in attendance had their money refunded, and thus terminated another unsuccessful attempt to run this theatre.

The Julia Matthews comic opera company closed a successful engagement at the Brooklyn Theatre on the 2d.

"Around the World in Eighty Days" is now in its seventh week at the Academy of Music. The season must close on the 18th as the German opera company has leased the building from that date.

Ben Cotton, Dave Reed and Bob Hart are doing good business at the Darling Opera House.

Opera bouffe, comedy and vaudeville, with Mlle. Geoffroi in the principal roles, form the attraction at the Lyceum Theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. Florence have no cause to complain of the people's appreciation of "The Mighty Dollar," and the Treasurer of the Park Theatre has had a good many embodiments of the title to handle during the run of the piece.

George Belmore has established his reputation as a good eccentric comedian by the manner of his playing Nat Gosling in "The Flying Scud," at Booth's. The engagement closes to-night.

Stanley McKenna, a well-known N. Y. journalist, has become the business manager of the Lyceum Theatre.

"Our Boys" is a success at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, and Daly would be happy were it not that he has got into more trouble He was summoned before Justice Quinn on Sept. 22d, to answer a complaint made by the executors of the late Peter Gilsey, owners of the theatre, who allege that Mr. Daly is in arrears for rent to the amount of $16,800. In the proceedings they allege that Mr. Daly continues in the possession of the theatre, contrary to the wishes and without the consent of the owners, and they require him to remove from the premises, or show cause before the court for not doing so. Mr. Daly's attorneys filed an affidavit in response, and the proceedings were adjourned until Thursday, Sept. 30, the landlord reserving the right to move for judgment, and the tenant demanding a jury.

Several novel features having been added to the attractions of Gilmore's Concert Garden the audiences do not diminish.

Robinson Hall has indeed undergone a change, and as the Parisian Varieties has lost its former identity. A sad accident occurred at the matinee of the 23d Sept. A male and female performer called the Casinos fell to the floor while sliding heads downward from the upper to the lower bar. The male performer was stunned by striking his head first, and his female companion broke her left arm, and in consequence of blood oozing from her mouth was supposed to be internally injured. They were both removed from the stage, and the performance proceeded.

The last week of John T. Raymond's engagement at the Union Square Theatre, closed on the 2d. prior to his starting on a tour of the country. The regular season will commence on Oct, with "Led Astray." The company will include Messrs. Chas. R. Thorne, Jr., Stuart Robson, Frederic Robinson, J. H. Stoddart, John Parselle, Edward Arnott, Claude Burroughs, Eben Plympton, H. W. Montgomery, W. H. Wilder, Willie Seymour, W. S. Quigley, the Misses Rose Eytinge, Fanny Morant, Kate Claxton, Marie Gordon, Ida Vernon, Blanche Grey, Dora Goldthwaite, Roberta Norwood, Meta Bartlett, Anna Brown, and Mrs. Marie Wilkins. John Parselle will be stage manager. Sheridan Shook is the proprietor, and A. M. Palmer, manager.

Melodrama retains its supremacy at Wood's Museum. On the 27th Mr. F. S. Chanfrau presented "Kit," and at the daily matinee "Oliver Twist" was given by the regular stock company

Wallack's regular season opened on the 2d with Tom Taylor's comdy-drama of "The Overland Route." The new company is both numerous and well qualified, as will be seen by a perusal of the annexed list: H. J. Montague, John Gilbert, Harry Beckett, W. R. Floyd, C. Stephenson, J. W. Jennings, W. Herbert, H. Gwinnette, E. M. Holland, C. E. Edwin, W. J. Leonard, C. Rosene, J. Atkins, J. Peck, J Josephs, J. Curren, Misses Ada Dyas, Effie Germon, Ione Burke, Mme. Panisi, Nina Varian, Geraldine Maye (her first appearence on any stage), Mrs. John Sefton, Misses E. Blaisdell, C. Bate and Kate Bartlett.

A legitimate comedy theatre has become a necessity to Brooklyn, and Manager Hooley has struck the nail on the head by devoting his cosy opera house to that purpose Since the opening night business has been good, and "Bulls and Bears," presented on the 20th Sept., proved a veritable "Big Bonanza." On the 27th "Women of the Day" was given.

The Kellogg English Opera Troupe begin a season of twelve evening and two matinee performances at Booth's Theatre on Monday next, Oct. 11. The leading roles will be filled by Miss Clara Louise Kellogg

Tony Pastor assumed the management of the Metropolitan Theatre on Oct. 4.

CONSULTATION FREE

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS

....AND....

Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death; when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

Amusements, Etc.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE. — "The Spy" with Dominick Murray as Harvey Birch, will be presented for the last times at the matinee this afternoon and at this evening's regular performance.

MAGUIRE'S NEW THEATRE.—The entertainment afforded by the Hooley Comedy troupe in "Katherine and Petruchio," and Professor Hermann in his wonderful exhibition of prestidigitatism, continues to fill this house, and will continue to do so next week, we are sure, when both comedy company and magician will offer a new bill.

GRAND GERMAN AND ITALIAN OPERA— "Il Trovatore," of which San Francisco seems never to grow tired, proved as strong an attraction as ever, last night. The house was good, and the audience enthusiastic to a degree which almost at times bordered on the troublesome. The Miserere and duo, the people would have over again, and Baccei high C in 'Di Quella Peia' brought out another noisy encore. Madame Fabbri's Leonora was just the artistic, forcible carrying out of the role that was expected from this accomplished artiste. In consequence of M. Lafontaine's indisposition his place was filled by Signor Contini, at short notice, and filled in most creditable style. The debutante, Madame Josephine Frankenberg, proved herself a lady possessed of a clear mezzo-soprano voice and much knowledge of stage business, To-morrow "Stradella."

HEROLD'S ORCHESTRAL MATINEE.—The fifth programme of the present season will be held on Wednesday afternoon next, when the programme will include "Freidrich's March"by Gung'l, Mendelssohn's music to Shakspeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," Weber's overture to "Euryanthe" and Rossini's overture to "Semiramide." Certainly the most attrrctive programme of the season.

PETALUMA THEATRE. — Miss Ella F. Badger, our California girl, supported by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fulford and a full dramatic company, from this city, have been playing to big business in Petaluma, the past week, and accounts from there give them credit for having given great satisfaction to the Fair visitors and citizens generally. The houses have been packed nightly with the exception of the first night. Miss Badger has constantly made remarkable progress in her profession and will doubtless ere long achieve fame and fortune. The season closes this evening with the play of "East Lynne" and the "Rough Diamond."

HELP TO THE SUFFERERS. — On Wednesday week next, October 20th, special entertainments will be given at the California Theatre, for the benefit of the sufferers of Texas, tendered by the Committee of Relief, Mr. Dominick Murray and the California Theatre Company.

BUCKLEY'S NEW VARIETY THEATRE. — The great bill at this place continues to draw a crowded house every night, "Parisian Life" still forms the main attraction and is as rollicking a piece as one would wish to see.

NEW OLYMPIC VARIETY THEATRE.— The new after-piece, "Paris by Gaslight," in which the Parisian Can-Can is introduced, was brought out last night, and includes nearly all the members of the company in the cast. The usual variety of interlude acts and farces precede it.

HARP AND STAR VARIETY THEATRE.— There is a great bill offered to the patrons of this place of amusement for this evening. The principal attractions will be a set-to between John Sullivan, the Australian light weight, and Barney Farley. If possible too, a match will be got up between Sullivan and Jimmy Trevillian, the Cornish champion. The Performance will conclude with "Gay Life in Paris."

WOODWARD'S GARDENS.—Attractions.— Scarsey, the Parisian Velocipedist, is making a great hit in her immensely fascinating exhibition of style and skill. She appears again Saturday and Sunday with Gonzales the champion tumbler, Sheridan and Harris clog and song and dance, Mons. Broed the Man with the Iron Jaw, Scheverria and Luproil in their daring Ladder Act and the Grand Orchestral Concert. The beautiful Stanhopea Oculata is in bloom.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—Captain Foster, the genial host of the Cliff House, entertains visitors from all parts of the Globe at his famous sea-side resort. The Cliff House is THE one thing San Francisco has to boast of as different from any thing else in the world. Omnibuses run every day from the terminus of the Lone Mountain railroad.

Pinney Heard From.

Please acknowledge $1,000 in gold sent to day,
Which I owed you for clothing when I ran away;
Your suits fit so nicely and please me so good,
I've no heart to beat you, if beat you I could.

Since I left San Francisco I roamed wide and far,
With the Russian and Japanese smoked a cigar;
Among all the vast nations one story they tell,
"Three cheers and a tiger for the Great I X L."

Those fine suits of beaver you got up soon
I gave as a gift to the mighty Tycoon,
While the Emperor of China cut a great swell
In an English tweed suit from the Great I X L.

There are others in trade who should be off to Guinea,
What a blessing 'twould be if they'd run after Pinney!
Should they take good advice and sail over the billow,
Let them take their poor stock for the ape and gorilla.

IXL Auction House, 616, 618 and 620 Kearny street, 647 and 649 Commercial.

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm.

Palmer Bros.

Sell the Palmer two-button Kid Glove for $1 25 a pair; 736 to 734 Market street.

DRAMATIC NOTES.

A London paper states that "Miss Jenny Lee and her husband have returned from California." "This," remarks the Spirit of the Times "is as bad as the Paris paper which spoke of "'Mlle. Dejazet's daughter.'"

"Queen Mary," Tennyson's latest work, was presented for the first time in America by Manager Gardner, at the Arch, Philadelphia, October 4th, with Miss Augusta Dargon in the title role.

The Lingard troupe is at Kansas City.

The new company of Mrs. Jas. A. Oates is both numerically and artistically a strong one. Its members are Chas. H. Drew, Gustavus F. Hall, E. Horan, H. Nicholls, E. Collins, Mills Hall, W. Har is, H. Amberg, G. Caldwell, John Howson. J. H. Jones, M. A. Kinghorne, C. C. Cotta, Chas. Decker, George Crippen, F. Vernon, Ella Caldwell, C. Lagrasse Marie Clarkson, Annie Kemp Bowler, Harry Chapman, Susie Winner, Tracy White, Carrie Stewart, Veni Clancey, Julia Bland, Phillis Newman, and Lizzie Wright. The repertoire embraces "Girofle-Girofla," "Mme. Angot's Child," "Les Bavards," "Les Cent Vierges, "Mme. L'Archiduc," "Chilperic," "Les Noces de Jeannette," "The Rose of Auvergne," "The Blind Beggars," "La Belle Helene," "The Princess of Treblzonde," "The Pretty Perfumer," "Les Pres St, Gervais," "L'Œil Creve," "Le Manior de Pictordu," "The Sultan of Mocha," "Trial by Jury," "Barbe Bleue." The company is at present playing at Providence, and will open at the Arch, Philadelphia, on Monday next for two weeks. We may expect Mrs. Oates and company to revisit us sometime in the beginning of the new year.

It seems from the London correspondent of the Arcadian that Mr. Boucicault, whose exceeding artfulness riva's that of Captain Cuttle, opened his engagement at Drury Lane by assembling the entire company before the curtain and leading them off in "God save the Queen." This must have been very funny, and especially so to Mr. Boucicault, who understands better than most, the apostolic art of "being all things to all men."

The joke about Bret Harte's play has crossed the water, and it is said in London that the drama is very nearly commenced.

It was known to most that when Miss Caroline Richings-Bernard and her husband left San Francisco, they had seceded from the Kellogg-Hess company. They have organized a troupe of their own, and will play, we see, at Springfield, Mass., on Wednesday next.

The New York Sun of the 23d, says: "Neilson's husband, Lee, is reported to have run away from her the other day, leaving her ill in Paris."

"There are two interesting things attending the production of a new play in this city," says the New York Arcadian; "one is, who is going to produce it, and the other is how many injunctions are going to be previously served."

It may interest our readers to know that, in the small village of London there are twenty-two theatres in full swing, and in the neighboring village of Paris just that same number. This of course does not include the concert and variety halls.

Miss Sydney Cowell is making her mark at Daly's Fifth Avenue. The other night she took Miss Davenport's role in "Saratoga" at short notice and did well with it. Childless and with her husband in Australia she wants something to cheer her.

Fred Zimmerman is, we are glad to hear, making money with his Mexican Infantile Bouffers. They played to crowded houses in Baltimore and will, on Tuesday and Wednesday next play at Ford's Opera House, Washington.

Montgomery Queen's Circus showed at Syracuse on the 2d, of September and the Courier of that date, in speaking of the show says: "If Mr. Queen's show is a fair sample of the good things of California, we will not be surprised hereafter at huge hotels, big bonanzas, great events and wonderful doings of the El Dorado of the Pacific." James Robinson, Charles Fish and Mollie Brown are in the company.

Last week in referring to G. L. Fox's indefinitely postponed engagement at the California Theatre, we spoke of his playing at Springfield, that evening. We have since learned that Mr. Fox has been struck with paralysis and that he has been unable to keep his engagements. We heard on Thursday evening that it was through the incessant use of bismuth.

We are glad to find Miss Ella F. Badger has played a thoroughly successful week's engagement at Petalmma. Her impersonations of Margery in "The Rough Diamond," Juliana in "The Hooney moon" and Parthenia in "Ingomar," are spoken most favorably of by the Argus.

As we mentioned yesterday, the Maguire and Emerson Minstrels leave Chicago for San Francisco to-morrow, arriving here on Friday next and opening at the Opera House on Monday, the 18th. The city is just now ripe for a Minstrel performance and there is a pretty good golden harvest waiting to be reaped. The troupe will consist mainly of new faces, the list of performers being as follows: Billy Emerson, Fayette Welch, Macklin and Wilson song and dance men, Joe Noerie, Fred Walz a tenor singer, J. G. Russell and W. H. Tills. In addition to the company here, Mr. Thomas Maguire will also have in part managership a second Minstrel company at Hooley's Theatre Chicago, of which company the principal members will be J. R. Kemble, Charles Sutton, Comedian; Manchester and Jennings, song and dance men; Charles Henry, vocalist; John Oberist, Comedian and S. S. Fredericks, balladist.

Speaking of Mr. Boucicault and Conn in London, the Cosmopolitan of that city has an amusing recipe for the construction of such a play as "The Shaughraun," which is worthy a place in FIGARO: Take equal parts of Handy Andy, Mickey Free, Ragged Pat, Shaun-na-Post, and Galloping Jack of Kildare, mix well, and triturate to a fine paste. Moisten with potteen whisky, simmer over a turf fire, stir well with a "shillelagh" till the mixture arrives at a consistence sufficient to form a "broth of a boy." Pour out to cool, all but the head, which is kept constantly heated by a spirit lamp. Mould into the true Boucicault shape, hang a fiddle round its neck, according to the old ditty—

The fiddler's boy to the fair is gone,
  In the dancing-tent you'll find him,
With his father's fiddle, for his own's in pawn,
  In a green baize bag behind him,

Dress in a suit of holes, held together by a few rags, animate with the true spirit of Dionysius (Bacchus), give him the stage all to himself, and (as they say in America) "Let him rip." So shall you fill the house for many days, and your heart be made glad with the fullness thereof.

LOUISVILLE, KY, October 8th—Mrs. Charlotte Crampton, once a well-known actress, died suddenly on the 6th instant. She had lately played the Queen to Mr. McCullough's Hamlet. She has been in delicate health for some time past. In her youth she was a woman of remarkable beauty, and an actress of uncommon talent.

Chas Vivian and company played at Ogden on Friday and Saturday last.

Madame Fabbri offers a splendid programme for the coming week's performances. To-morrow, "Stradella;" Tuesday, "Il Barbiere;" Friday, "Martha;" Saturday matinee, "La Dame Blanche; and Sunday, "Le Postillion de Longjuineau."

It seems that Rossi has definitely decided not to visit California.

There are no amusements of any sort at present in Portland.

We learn that we are shortly to expect the advent of Mlle. Cora Adriana, a "picturesque" dancer who was once a great attraction at Niblo's, New York.

The Bianchi-Marston Operatic Company is somewhere in British Columbia; the Sound and Oregon are to be taken in on the tour.

Mrs. F. M. Phelps has made arrangements for leasing Reed's Opera House, Portland, and will appear nightly there during the Fair week.

"The Spy" will be withdrawn to-night, and Mr. Murray offers an attractive list of plays to be produced during his engagement. On Monday, "Arrah-na-Pogue" will be presented with Mr. Murray as Shaun the Post. Underlined as being "in rehearsal" we find, "Willie Reilly," "The Golden Bubble," "Mickey Free" and "Innocent, or The Gambler's Crime."

In addition to "Stradella," as the bill for to-morrow evening's performance, at which the officers of the Austrian Corvette will attend in full uniform, "The promise behind the Hearth" will be performed.

Joe Murphy has run out a week of splendid business at the San Jose Opera House during the fair The bill for this evening consists of "Barney the Baron" and "The Masquerade Ball."

The Alleghanians play at the Salt Lake Theatre this afternoon and evening.

John McCullough came over from England with Mlle. Titiens, and the two, according to all accounts, have struck up a warm friendship. If——

John Wilson and circus are at Victoria, B. C., and will soon be heading for Portland and Salem

We learn from a contemporary that Herr Formes who sings the part of Malvolio in "Stradella," to-morrow evening, so pleased the Emperor of Austria by the manner in which he sustained that role in 1814, that his majesty appointed him a member of the Court opera. But that was in 1844.

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419. opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F, Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

The Fall and Winter Styles

Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well-selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the best material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Don't forget to call and examine their stock at 647 Washington street, below Kearny.

The Antelope Oyster House.

Our specialty, always the best oysters in market served up in the best style of cooking. Our Eastern transplanted oysters excel any other in market. Established in 1864. No. 612 Market near Montgomery. N. B.—Ice Cream, Strawberries and Cream, and all Fruits in season. B

The Green Room.

This popular resort of the profession and al epicures who can appreciate good liquors and a good lunch, is directly opposite the California Theatre. It has just been beautifully frescord and is now a model of taste and elegance. Everybody goes to the Green Room between the acts. x

Speculative Madness.

A volumne entitled "Hamlet; or, Shakespeare's Philosophy of History; a Study of the Spiritual Soul and Unity of Hamlet,' recently published in England is commented upon in the Athenæum as follows: "The wildest extravagance of German speculation upon the remote significance of Shakspeare seems tame besides this attempt to solve the mystery of "Hamlet." At the outset, the author asserts that his book is 'not addressed to those who can see no mystery in the works of Shakespeare.' Without being sure whether we are of this bat-like few or many, we can at least see no such mystery as Mercade suggests. According to an ideal key to "Hamlet" which he prefixes, and the disquisition which follows, Shakespeare in 'Hamlet" had the intention of suggesting many very remote and remarkable things. 'He fathomed,' says Mercade, 'the great dynamical principle of modern history in Europe. Time is the stage upon which the play is built, Mankind the actors; Truth and Error the acton of the drama.' Claudius thus presents 'Error, injustice, etc.' Gertrude 'Human belief and custom.' Their marriage 'indicates the corruption of Christianity,' while Hamlet's father presents 'Unadulterated Christianity prior to the second century—ideal, truth and justice.' The bulwarks of Error and Polonius, presenting 'Bigotry, intolerance, absolutionism;' Reynaldo, 'discouragement of learning, probably inquisition;' Voltimand, repression by force, persecution (?);' Cornelius, 'Hard-heartedness (?);' Rosencrantz, 'opposition of those who benefit by abuses;' Guildenstern, 'Sophistry, casuistry, hypocrisy, evasion;' Ophelia, 'Church;' Lærtes, 'historical continuity of authority, orthodox literature, conservatism;' and Osric, 'Society and criticism.' On the other side is Hamlet, representing 'Progress.' With him are Francisco, Bernardo, Marcellus, 'typifying the end of dark ages, first movement of the growth of knowledge (revival of learning), probably reading, criticism, inquiry and printing.' Horatio comes as the spirit of justice, independence and scholarship, resulting from above. Fortinbras is 'Liberty;' the first Clown is 'an artistic double to Hamlet,' and the Ghost is 'the revival of Christianity.' The interlude, it may be added, is the Reformation. We have shortened some of the explations of the Key of Mercade, which is as advanced as ideal, but have endeavored to preserve the sense. Those who see any benefit to philosophy, science, or common-sense, in such speculations, will find abundance of similar matter in the book. To us the whole is 'Minsummer madness.'"

A Notable Invention.

Mr. August Wolff has invented what he calls the "tonal" or "harmonic" pedal, which only holds or prolongs the sounds of notes in harmony with what the performer is executing. It is effected by a smaller key board placed above the ordinary one, and handled in the same way, only with the difference that every key touched remains down, to intimate that the note is prolonged as well as all the smaller notes in the instrument; thus, if "A" is down, all the "A's" are prolonged, etc. This smaller key board can be worked with the same facility as the organist works the stops of an organ.

Preaching and Practice.

A gentleman, lately boasting of the neatness and regularity of his wife, said: "If I get up in the night, pitch dark, I can find my clothes, down to my very gloves, all in their proper places. I was up this morning before daylight," he continued (putting his hand into his pocket for his handkerchief), "and—" here he pulled out, not his handkerchief, but nis wife's nightcap.

Innocence.

A little girl aged ten whom I will call Eva, was sternly reproved by her sternly virtuous governess for carelessness of a certain kind, and told that she must never, on any occasion, allow herself to be seen in her chemise by boys or gentlemen. The lesson having sunk deep into Eva's mind, an occasion for practicing it soon arose. Her young cousin was rushing into the room one morning, and the girl screamed: "Stop! you musn't come in! I am in my chemise." There was a pause, after which Eva cried, "Now you may come in." The dear child had stipped off her chemise—her only garment—and stood, a statue of innocence!

A Handy Conscience.

"My son would not steal peaches from Mr. Gammon's orchard, I hope?" "No, ma; I wasn't in that crowd the other night." "That's right my boy. Keep out of bad company, and you'll never do wrong. Let your conscience be your guide in all things," and the fond mother patted her son on the head, and went about her duties with a light heart. Left to himself, the noble boy thus soliloquized: "You don't catch me foolin' around old Gammon's. My conscience can guide me to lots of better orchards than his, where there ain't no dog nuther."

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS

....AND....

Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se-3

Maguire's New Theatre.

The entertainment will begin this evening with the popular comedy of "Time Tries All" with E. J. Buckley as Mathew Bates, M. A. Kennedy as Colender Yawn, W. H. Crane as Tom Fact and Miss Kate Mayhew as Fanny of the same name. Following this will come Hermann's spiritual manifestations and a new programme of diablerie.

California Theatre.

Saturday night saw the last of spasmodic patriotism and "The Spy". This evening "Arrah-na-Pogue" will be presented with Mr. Dominick Murray, in his original character of Shaun the Post, Harry Edwards as the O'Grady, Robert Pateman as Michael Feeny, W. H. Mestayer as the McCool, and Miss Alice Harrison the new soubrette as Arrah Meelish.

Grand German and Italian Opera.

So far, the Italian opera season has been a series of successes, and the performance of "Stradella" last evening was certainly an addition of one to that series. The house was crowded, part of the audience consisting of the officers of the Austrian corvette Freidrich and some of the men. It was in their honor that the Austrian national hymn was sung and the little comedietta of "The Promise Behind the Hearth" played. In the comedietta Herr Fischer showed himself an accomplished [illegible] on the zither as well as on another instru- player [illegible] of overgrown guitar with two necks. ment, a sore[illegible] Habelmann and Formes cer- In the opera, Messrs. [illegible] the Barbarino of the tainly carried off the honors, [illegible] being the first and the Malvolio of the secon[illegible] Stra- characters of the evening. Chas. Pflueger's [illegible] della and Madame Frankenberg's Leonora were somewhat deficient, the artist in voice and the artiste in manner. To-morrow evening "Il Barbiere di Siviglia."

Herold's Grand Orchestral Matinees

The fifth programme of this season will be held on Wednesday afternoon next, when the programme will include "Freidrich's March" by Gung'l, Mendelssohn's music to Shakspeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," Weber's overture to "Euryanthe" and Rossini's overture to "Semiramide." Certainly the most attractive programme of the season.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

The olio continues the same here, and will so continue until Wednesday, when the great success of "Parisian Life" will be replaced by the spectacular play entitled "The Turkish Slave Mart."

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.

There was a great attendance on Saturday evening to witness the sparring match. The usual interesting performance to-night, concluding with "Gay Life in Paris."

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

"The Jew Clothes Dealer," and "Dont Take It," are the introductory acts, the whole concluding with the latest sensation of "Paris by Gaslight."

Woodward's Gardens.

Another wonder is on exhibition, the mammoth grape vine of Santa Barbara, to which the Queen's vine at Hampton Court of great renown, is but a pigmy. This will be the last opportunity to see it as it goes to the Centennial. On Saturday and Sunday the pantomime of "Lisbin in a Net," Miss Mathews, Sig. Gonzales, the gymnastic troupe and an orchestral concert.

Notes.

W. H. Mestayer, having a few off nights, has accepted a star engagement at Virginia City, and will commence on the 18th in "The Three Guardsmen." "Up in the Clouds," and "Life in 'Frisco" are also underlined.

Joe Murphy has come back from San Jose, and proposes going on to Marysville.

On Wednesday, October 20th, a special entertainments will be given at the California Theatre, for the benefit of the sufferers of Texas, tendered to the Committee of Relief, by Mr. Dominick Murray and the California Theatre Company.

Madame Fabbri offers a splendid programme for the coming week's performances. To-morrow, "Stradella;" "Il Barbiere," Friday; "Martha;" Saturday matinee, "La Dame Blanche; and Sunday, "Le Postillion de Longjumeau."

As we mentioned on Friday, the Maguire and Emerson Minstrels leave Chicago for San Francisco to-morrow, arriving here on Friday next and opening at the Opera House on Monday, the 18th. The city is just now ripe for a Minstrel performance and there is a pretty good golden harvest waiting to be reaped. The troupe will consist mainly of new faces, the list of performers being as follows: Billy Emerson, Fayette Welch, Macklin and Wilson song and dance men, Joe Noerie, Fred Walz a tenor singer, J. G. Russell and W. H. Tilla. In addition to the company here, Mr. Thomas Maguire will also have in part managership a second Minstrel company at Hooley's Theatre Chicago, of which company the principal members will be J. R. Kemble, Charles Sutton, Comedian; Manchester and Jennings, song and dance men; Charles Henry, vocalist; John Oberist, Comedian and S. S. Fredericks, balladist.

Last week in referring to G. L. Fox's indefinitely postponed engagement at the California Theatre, we spoke of his playing at Springfield, that evening. We have since learned that Mr. Fox has been struck with paralysis and that he has been unable to keep his engagements. We heard on Thursday evening that it was through the incessant use of bismuth.

Pinney Heard From.

Please acknowledge $1,000 in gold sent to day,
Which I owed you for clothing when I ran away;
Your suits fit so nicely and please me so good,
I've no heart to beat you, if beat you I could.

Since I left San Francisco I roamed wide and far,
With the Russian and Japanese smoked a cigar;
[illegible]ng all the vast nations one story they tell,
"[illegible]hree cheers and a tiger for the Great I X L."

Those fine suits of beaver you got up soon
I gave as a gift to the mighty Tycoon,
While the Emperor of China cut a great swell
In an English tweed suit from the Great I X L.

There are others in trade who should be off to Guinea,
What a blessing 'twould be if they'd run after Pinney!
Should they take good advice and sail over the billow,
Let them take their poor stock for the ape and gorilla.

THE THEATRICAL BOARDING-HOUSE.

We've ambitious lady-singers,
Who create a fearful din
By attempting "Casta Diva"
To a wailing violin;
We have also "Dancing Brothers,"
Who, to exercise their powers,
Will perform the "double shuffle"
At the most unholy hours.

There are fascinating "premieres,"
In a scarcity of clothes,
That can dance for twenty minutes
On the summit of their toes?
We have brave and daring gymnasts,
Scorning danger and a fall,
Who are not the least bit airy,
Though they're oft above us all.

There are "Marrionette" performers
Who are rather fond of noise—
There are gents who play the ladies,
And the girls who "do" our boys.
We have merry Celtic singers
From the country of the bog,
With "Monarchs of the Banjo,"
And "Princes of the Clog."

We possess a "Lightning Changeist"
Who's a marvel of disguise
And we boast a "Dancing Spider"
Who will leap to clutch the flies;
We've a daring "Champion Swimmer,"
Who declares it quite a joke
To recline beneath the water,
Though it might turn out a choke!

Ventriloquists amusing
Astound us with their freaks—
We've a host of "Female Minstrels"
And a stock of "Dutch Comiques."
We have men who cork their faces
(Though the cork is light, is blacks)—
If they meet a good idea,
They will hatch it in their acts!

There's a chap who swallows daggers—
People say he's much admired—
And a man who whirls a musket
Though he must get very tired!—
Of all our wondrous people
[illegible] column could not tell,
A c[illegible] give their best performance
But they [illegible] hear the dinner bell.

One of Father Prout's Sermons.

What is said to be a hitherto unpublished sermon by Father Prout has just been printed in a Cork paper. How characteristic it is! Having chosen for his text "He that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord," he goes on to show that the real poor are "the clargy," and this is how the great Irish humorist winds up:

"Last Thursday was a week since Bartlemy fair, and I wint down to buy a horse, for this is a large parish an' mortification an' frettin' have puffed me up so, that God help me it's little able I am to answer all the sick calls to say nothin' o' stations, weddin's, and christenin's. Well! I bought the horse an' it cost be more than I expicted, so there I stood without a penny in my pocket after I paid the dealer. It rained cats an' dogs, an' as I am so poor I can't afford a great-coat, I got wet to the skin i' less than no time. There ye were, scores o' ye i' the public houses with the winders up that all the world might see ye a atein' an' dhrinkin' as if it was for a wager; an' there wasn't one o' ye had the grace to ask Father Prout ha' ye got a mouth i' yer face? An' there I might ha' stood i' the rain until this blissid hour (that is supposin' it had continued rainin' until now) if I hadn't been picked up by Mr. Mun Roche o' Kildinan—an honest gintleman an' an hospitable man I must say tho' he is a Protestant. He took me home with him an' there to yer etarnal disgrace, ye villains, I got as full as a tick—an' Mun Roche had to send me home in his own carriage, which is an everlasting shame to all o' ye who belong to the true Church.

"Now, I ask, which has carried out this tixt? Ye, who did not give me even a poor tumbler o' punch at Bartlemy, or Mun Roche who took me home an' filled me with the best atein' an' dhrinkin', an' sint me to my own house afther that in his own iligant carriage? Who best fulfilled the Scriptur? Who lint to the Lord by given' to the poor clargy?

"Remember a time will come when I must give an account o' ye! What can I say thin? Won't I have to hang down my head in shame on yer account? 'Pon my conscience, it wouldn't much surprise me, unless ye greatly mind yer ways, if Mun Roche an' you won't have to change places on that occasion—he to sit along side o' me, as a friend who had thrated the poor clargy well i' this world, an' ye in a sart'n place, which I wount particularly mintion now, except to hint that its precious little frost and snow ye'll have in it; but quite the revarse. However, it's never too late to mind; an' I hope by this day week it's quite another story I'll have to till o' ye all.

The Fall and Winter Styles

Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well-selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the best material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Don't forget to call and examine their stock at 647 Washington street, below Kearny.

The Antelope Oyster House.

A correspondent of Harper's Magazine was chatting a few weeks ago on the piazza of the United States Hotel at Saratoga, with a bright German gentleman, retired from business who related the following little anecdote: "Going down to New York, the other night," he said, "I got to chatting with a German acquaintance, and asked him what he was doing." "Vell," he replied, "shoost now I am do nodings, but I have made arrangements to go into pizness." "Glad to hear it. What you are going into?" "Vell, I goes into partnership mid a man." "Do you put in much capital?" "No; I doesn't put in no gapital?" "Don't wan't to risk it, eh?" "No, I puts in de experience." "And he puts in the capital?" "Yes, dot ish it. We goes into pizness for dree year; he puts in the capital, I puts in de experience. At de end of dree year I vill have de gapital, and he will have de experience."

Foreign Ignorance.

The ignorance of foreigners is something suberb. Dumas has written an American novel, in which a coon chases a couple of United States lovers up a tree, and then tries to get them by gnawing through the trunk. Dumas says that a Virginia coon is as large as a yearling calf.

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown,
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
[illegible] to the SADDLE ROCK,
Rig[illegible]
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equal to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm.

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

The Green Room.

This popular resort of the profession and all epicures who can appreciate good liquors and a good lunch, is directly opposite the California Theatre. It has just been beautifully frescord and is now a model of taste and elegance. Everybody goes to the Green Room between the acts. x

FOREIGN THEATRICAL NEWS.

For the next operatic season at La Scala, Milan, the tenor, Bolis, the baritone, Aldighiera and Sparapani, the basi, Maina, Signore Mariana and Mantilla are engaged. Save further modifications, the repertory stands at present thus: "I Vespri Siciliana;" "La Lega," by Josse; "Aida;" "Joconda," a new opera by Ponchiella; and Verdi's "Messa da Requiem."

M. Charles Gounod is finishing an oratorio for which the text has been drawn from the life of Sainte Genevieve, written by the Abbe Freppel in 1869, when he was pensioner of the chapel attached to the church which bears the name of the patron saint of Paris.

On the 17th of September, just previous to her departure for America, Mlle. Titjens laid the first brick of the new National Opera House, to be built by Mapelson upon the Thames embankment. In addition to that lady there were present Miss Kruls, her niece, Lord Alfred Paget, Lord Suffield, Mr. Mapelson, Mr. Fowler, the architect, and Mr. Webster, the contractor. Lord Alfred Paget, Mr. Mapelson and Mr. Fowler each subsequently laid a brick, and the parties proceeded to lunch, when Lord Alfred Paget, in congratulating Mr. Mapelson, remarked that the undertaking would be carried on by private enterprise and without government aid. Mr. Mapelson said he hoped to have the theatre ready for the season of 1876. In addition to Italian opera, a portion of the year would be devoted to English opera, and also six weeks or two months to the drama, under Calvert, of Manchester. The Royal Academy of Music would also probably be in the building, likewise a training school for music and a school for stage dancing. The house was to be the largest in Europe, with the exception of the San Carlo, at Naples, and La Scala, at Milan.

Another novelty, which is not likely to be long before the Pariisian public, is "Dagobert," an opera bouffe, by Herve. The music is a hash-up from several of his previous failures, and the libretto is utterly stupid. The chief feature in the piece is the performance of an insane youth, who is always playing upon the ophicleide. Herve has written nothing good since "Chilperic," and his talents are not well in sympathy with the requirements of opera bouffe.

The fourth session of the General Association of German Musicians was held in Frankfort from the 17th to the 20th of August. This body, which has existed only three years, counts over 7,000 members, distributed among eighty local societies. The organ of the society is the Deutsche Musikerzeitung, which is published in Berlin and edited by Herr Hermann Mendel.

It is intended to produce at Vienna the whole series of Wagner's operas at the Hofoperntheater. The rehearsals are already in full progress. "Tannhauser" is shortly to be given; and Herr Janer, the director of the theatre, is in treaty with the managers of the Grand Opera at Paris with the view of obtaining the magnificent scenery which was prepared for the Paris representation of the work.

A new tenor, M. Valdejo, a former pupil of the Conservatoire, made a very successful first appearance at the Opera Comique, Paris, on the 21st ult., in "Zampa." The debutant has been previously engaged at the opera at Liege, and is said to possess a fine voice and to be an excellent actor.

A Butter Fiend, or Clara Morris in a New Character.

In last Sunday's Mercury we read; "Miss Morris recently told a reporter that, at a boarding-house in London, the landlady constantly kept her eye upon her because she eat so much butter. She was called the butter fiend of the establishment." Suppose when next this lady appears on the stage here, instead of bouquets, we throw her elegantly arranged pats of butter, wouldn't that be nice? This reminds us of an anecdote related to us some years ago by Mme. Galleti Gianoli, a great Italian singer, who grew weary of bouqets, and suggested, through the papers, that she would prefer more substantial offerings at her benefits. The hint was taken, and, on the eventful evening, the stage presented a remarkable sight; hams, partridges, pheasants, baskets of fruits and vegetables, dozens of wine, etc., littered it, and the fair prima donna received substantial gifts to entertain her friends with at a handsome banquet. Now, that was doing things substantially. You can't eat flowers, but you can—butter.

The Young Man from the East.

" Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419. opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVIELE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS

....AND....

Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any

California Theatre.

It is a matter of great doubt when the people will get tired of watching the love of Shaun the Post and Arrah Meelish with all its attendant troubles and joys. At any rate, certain it is that last night the California Theatre was crowded with an audience apparently as greatly interested as when "Arrah-na-Pogue" was first put on. The Shaun of the star, Mr. Dominick Murray, is a quiet toned young Irishman, with less rollicking humor about him than we are accustomed to see, but altogether, perhaps, bright enough under his trying circumstances. Miss Morrison may claim a success, her Arrah Meelish of the Kiss being a sympathetic and charmingly graceful young woman who must certainly take a hold of the hearts of other young men than Shaun. Mr. Pateman distinguished himself by playing Michael Feeney in such a particularly vivid manner as almost to extinguish all the other members of the company in the cast—which, by the bye, is too familiar to need further mention.

Maguire's New Theatre.

The performance last night of "Time Tries All," by the Hooley Comedy Company, was a marked improvement upon anything this company has done for many weeks. The piece went evenly and there was more than one character taken in a way to secure commendation. Under this head should be mentioned the Mathew Bates of E. J. Buckley, the Tom Tact of W. H. Crane, the Laura Leeson of Miss Emily Baker and the Fanny Fact of Miss Katy Mayhew, who during the evening sang a particularly pretty song which we did not recognize. Then came Hermann's Spiritual Manifestations and then a new programme of sleight-of-hand illusions. Altogether the bill is a thoroughly good one.

Herold's Grand Orchestral Matinees

The fifth programme of this season will be held to-morrow afternoon when the programme will include "Freidrich's March" by Gung'l, Mendelssohn's music to Shakspeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," Weber's overture to "Euryanthe" and Rossini's overture to "Semiramide." Certainly the most attractive programme of the season.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

"Parisian Life" continues to attract full houses, but it will be withdrawn on Wednesday evening to give place to "The Turkish Slave Mart." Before it is withdrawn we should especially mention Frank Mortimer's capital performance of Mr. Fitzwilliams, an old English sport.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

"Paris by Gaslight," still continues to attract. The acts and olio programme are at once excellent and entertaining.

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.

The sensation of "Gay Life in Paris" will to-night be replaced by the entertaining act entitled "The Masquerade Ball," by the company. Miss Blanche makes her first appearance to-night.

Woodward's Gardens.

Another wonder is on exhibition, the mammoth grape vine of Santa Barbara, to which the Queen's vine at Hampton Court of great renown, is but a pigmy. This will be the last opportunity to see it as it goes to the Centennial. On Saturday and Sunday the pantomime of "Lisbin in a Net," Miss Mathews, Sig. Gonzales, the gymnastic troupe and an orchestral concert.

Notes.

Something entirely new is promised us at Maguire's New Theatre shortly. Aug. Pitou's drama of "The American's Gold" is in rehearsal, and will shortly be produced with Miss Emmie Wilmot in the leading role.

To-night, Rossini's favorite opera of "Il Barbiere di Siviglia" will be produced, with Miss Anna Elzer as Rosina, Mr. Habelmann as Count Almaviva, Mr. Lafontaine as Doctor Bartolo, Signor Forti as Figaro, and Herr Formes as Don Basilio, this being but a complimentary assumption of the role.

M. Gray has published No. 3 of his series of opera bouffe selections, being the Brindisi from "Girofle-Girofla."

It is very probable that Hermann, on concluding his engagement with Maguire, will open for a short season at the Opera House San Jose.

Maguire and Emerson's Minstrels will arrive here by overland train on Friday night, and will open at their old home, the Opera House, Bush street, on Monday evening next, October 18th. The troupe will consist in the main of new faces, the list of performers being as follows: Billy Emerson, Fayette Welch, Macklin and Wilson song and dance men, Joe Noerie, Fred Walz a tenor singer, J. G. Russell and W. H. Tilla. The box office will be opened on Thursday, when seats can be secured without extra charge. The rush for the first nights will be immense, and those who want comfortable seats had better secure them in advance.

From a letter to Clay Greene we learn that Chas. Vivian is still in Salt Lake City. He has traveled through Nevada playing at Eureka, Palisade, Elko, Hamilton, Treasure City; and in Utah at Ogden

Thomas Maguire and Richard Hooley have dissolved partnership. Hooley has now no share either in the theatres in San Francisco or Chicago, but will, with Bartley Campbell, manage the new Opera House, Brooklyn. The Opera House, Chicago, is under the joint management of Maguire and J. H. Haverley (of the Haverly Minstrels), a partnership for a number of years having been entered into between these two. As far as we have learned, Mr Manager Maguire, will have the sole control of three of the San Francisco theatres, the Opera House, the New Theatre and that on Market street. Mr Maguire intends carrying out all the engagements made by Manager Hooley with the Hooley Comedy Troupe.

Jno Jack and Miss Annie Firman open for a short star season at Piper's Opera House, Virginia City, in "Surf."

We have been reliably informed that W. H. Lingard will return to this city in November, play throughout the State, and start for Australia on the 1st of January, 1876, leaving the children, whom he intends to bring on here with him, on a ranch in charge of his sister Emily. So far it seems the case in England is going in his favor.

and Salt Lake, where he followed Lingard, meeting in San Francisco. Charles was presented to the President, and formed part of the company who escorted him on the special train to Ogden on his homeward trip. U. S. was kind to him and "condescended to puff the festive regalia with him on the rear platform."

A WOMAN'S ANSWER.

Do you know you have asked for the costliest thing
Ever made by the Hand above—
A woman's heart and a woman's life,
And a woman's wonderful love?

Do you know you have asked for this priceless thing,
As the child asks for a toy,
Demanding what others have died to win,
With the reckless dash of a boy!

You have written my lesson of duty out,
Man-like you have questioned me—
Now stand at the bar of my woman's soul,
Until I shall question thee.

You require your mutton shall always be hot,
Your socks and your shirts be whole;
I require your heart to be true as God's stars,
And pure as His Heaven your soul.

You require a cook for your mutton and beef,
I require a far better thing.
A seamstress you're wanting for socks and shirts,
I look for a man and a king.

A king for that beautiful realm called home,
And a man that the Maker, God,
Shall look upon as he did the first
And say, "It is very good."

I am fair and young, but the rose will fade
From my fair cheek one day—
Will you love me then, 'mid the falling leaves,
As you did in the bloom of May?

Is your heart an ocean, so strong and deep
I may launch my all on its tide?
A loving woman finds heaven or hell,
On the day she is made a bride.

I require all things that are grand and true,
All things that a man should be;
If you give this all, I would stake my life
And be all you demand of me.

If you cannot be this—a laundress and cook
You can hire, with little to pay;
But a woman's heart and a woman's life
Are not to be won that way,

Extacter of a Letter From Tom Hood.

"Dear Dilke—I burn without getting warm. I wish I were the ham between two buttered slices of bread, well mustarded—that seems like warmth. But this wind is keen enough to cut sandwiches. I wish that in settling other Eastern questions they had disposed of this wind. I confess for two nights past I have wished for a little 'warm-with,' but the only bottle I'm allowed is at my feet, and even then it's only warm water without. I almost fancy myself a gander sometimes, and web-footed. My stomach is like a house where the washing is done at home—all slop, hot water, and tea, So I stop. I'm so cold and washy, I'm only fit to correspond with a frog. Give my love to all, but you had better mull it."

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vandershce & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm. *

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges Moderate. D. B. Magee, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. N. B. Open to 2:30 A. M. Old fashioned boiled dinners every Saturday. 2-L

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

The Fall and Winter Styles

Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the best material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Don't forget to call and examine their stock at 647 Washington street, below Kearny.

The Antelope Oyster House.

Our specialty, always the best oysters in market served up in the best style of cooking. Our Eastern transplanted oysters excel any other in market Established in 1864. No. 612 Market near Montgomery. N. B.—Ice Cream, Strawberries and Cream, and all Fruits in season. B

Laughing Gas.

Dr. Wilson, Dentist, 205 Third street, makes a specialty of extracting teeth without pain by the use of laughing gas, and with twelve years experience in its use can warrant success with entire safety in the most difficult cases.

VERSICAL ODDS AND ENDS.

Once in a while the obituaries, which are now produced in all well-regulated newspapers, are worthy of immortality. This is from Boston:

"Amanda Jane has gone to rest;
She's laid her head on Abraham's breast?
To tell the truth, and not to sham,
It's awful rough on Abraham."

Strong gales keep the clouds from raining
Work lulls the sad heart's complaining;
Through the task and the toil runs the yearning ache,
Yet duty grows dear for her own grave sake,
And muscles are stronger for straining.

Each life has some prize for gaining;
Each woe has a balm in its paining;
So we seek for it long in faith and prayer;
For the finger of God is everywhere,
When the days are dawning and waning.

The following is a verse that, repeated as many times as desired, constitutes a popular song in the social gatherings of Chicago:

There is old Sam Simons
And young Sam Simons,
Old Sam Simons' son!
And young Sam Simons
Will be Sam Simons
When old Sam Simons is done."

The great big paragrapher of the Chicago Tribune pitches his voice and sings:

There was a man named J. Smith,
Who wished to cross the river;
The ferry-boat was leaving;
He ran, and sprained his liver."

A brief poetical paraphrase from the book of Genesis:

When Mother Eve the tempting fruit
Plucked for her only kin,
She then and there did institute
A precedent for sin.
She knew the apple tasted sweet,
But thought not of its price,
And said to Adam, "Let us eat;
It's naughty, but it's nice."

Mr. George Washington Childs has a formidable rival in the obituary poetry business in a Chicago Chinaman. Here is a recent effusion on a departed laundry-man:

Thlow 'way him la'ge flat-lion,
Mash him tub an' bleak him pan,
Him got tlough him washee bus'ness;
Allee same dead Chinaman.
Gonee fin' out How, 'long side Joss.

On a very old man:

He lived to 105 because he was strong
100 to 5 you don't live so long.

To a darning-needle once exclaimed the kitchen-sieve,
"You've a hole right through your body, and I wonder how you live!"
But the needle (who was sharp) replied, "I too have wondered
That you notice my one hole when in you there are a hundred."

This is from the East:

Now we miss the gay muskeeter,
And his cheerful song at night;
The cruel frost did make him peter
Out and weaken in the fight.
Gone to meet the Kansas grasshopper.

Dear Laura, when you were a flirting young Miss,
And I was your dutiful swain,
Your smiles could exalt to the summit of bliss,
Your frowns could o'erwhelm me with pain;
You were dear to me then, love, but now you're my wife,
It is strange the fond tie should be nearer,
For when I am paying your bills, on my life,
You seem to be getting still dearer.

The curfew tolls the knell of parting day,
The lowing clam sails slowly o'er the sea,
The hard crab seaward takes his backward way
And leaves the town to oysters and to me.

The Green Room.

This popular resort of the profession and al epicures who can appreciate good liquors and a good lunch, is directly opposite the California Theatre. It has just been beautifully frescord and is now a model of taste and elegance. Everybody goes to the Green Room between the acts. x

Photographic Art

Is supposed by some to be in its infancy. We doubt it much, as it is impossible to imagine pictures retouched and finished with more artistic skill than those we saw at Brodeck & Co's new Art Gallery, 640 Market street, opposite the Palace Hotel.

Photographic.

Edouart & Cobb 504 Kearney street, produce Pastel Paintings which are superior to either Oil or Water Colors. Enlargements in all styles, general photographic work guaranteed. 9-BH

The original "Swain's Bakery" is now established in their magnificent new place at 213 Sutter street near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place o business.

The Wigwam.

The best hot lunch to be had in the city is prepared at Asa L. Waugaman's, 773 Market street, under Fitzgibbon's Dancing Academy; also, a select stock of Wines, Liquors, etc.

Only the best brands of smoking and chewign tobaccos—Solace, Eureka, Sunnyside, American Eagle, Welcome and Golden Luxury—sold. Four papers for 25 cents. IXL Auction House, 616, 618 and 620 Kearny street, corner Commercial.

STRAY HITS AND STOLEN BITS.

A St. Louis dog goes about the streets gathering cigar stumps, which it carries home to his mster. It was a poor editor who owned this specimen of cigarcity.

A pair of stairs that ordinarily are as solid as a rock will straddle in the joints and creak and crack together with all the fervor of a thunder clap when one is attempting to climb them noiselessly late at night.

The three wonders of the world at present are: How fluff accumulates in vest pockets, where the pins go to, and why when a man comes out of a saloon he looks one way and goes the other.

More than a Miracle—When a prisoner is taken from a dock unmoved.

Fishing in the Tennessee is pretty good just now. The other day a fisherman hauled up his wife, who had been missing for two weeks, and he saved the $200 reward he had offered for her recovery.

A Louisville girl reports her first love affair thus: "When Philander told me he loved me, I was mighty tuk with it, and cottoned to him directly, and he sat a-grinning like a monkey mummy.

A Troy, N. Y., woman, determined to love somebody, has ensnared a poor old man who is in his seventy-second year, and who had to borrow some clothes to wear at the wedding.

An old fellow up in Maine, just sentenced to ten years for chopping his wife's head off, will be 93 years of age if he lives the term out; but that won't be too late for him to ax some other woman, we suppose.

Mysterious are the ways of Providence. James W. Hewett, of Hydestown. N. J., while distributing tracts on Sunday, was struck by lightning and killed; while three boys, who went boating on the river, didn't even get their clothes wet.

The Hartford Courant tells of a fellow who dug up a potato in his patch in that city in which a pair of spectacles were imbeded. The potato's "eyes" must have been poor.

Babies are supposed to resemble their respective parents. If the eyes of both parents are black, and the baby's eyes are as blue as—as the parson's, for instance, it is considered an odd but not uncommen coincidence.

It is hard to tell which will bring the most pleasant expression into a woman's face—to tell her that her baby is heavy or her bread light.

In a certain New York window is displayed this suggestive notice: "Boy wanted, that has fully rested himself and is not too intellectual."

A fellow walked into a Troy music store the other day, called for a piece of music entitled "Act on the Square," and while the clerk was looking for it, walked off with $6 50 banjo.

"Where do men go who deceive their fellow-men?" asked a Sunday-school teacher of a pupil. "To Europe," was the prompt reply.

A St. Louis man knows twenty-two fashionable idiots who have became bald from wearing such masses of false hair.

Four wild pigeons and seventy-five men with guns passed through Danbury on Saturday week last.

When a man wants a plug of tobacco the grocery three-fourths of a mile off is only a step, but if his wife wants a drink of cool water from a neighbor's well opposite, by some mysterious agency that well suddenly becomes removed more than half a mile away.

A Missouri man coaxed a boy to take sulphuric acid, and a crowd coaxed the man to play pendulum from the limb of a shade tree.

The talk about the advantages of the French system of housekeeping is base flat-tery.

A woman is very like a kettle, if you come to think of it. She sings away so pleasantly—then she stops—and, when you least expect it, she boils over.

Protecting Love.

The Detroit Free Press says: They were coming down from Saginaw on the boat, and as a swell rocked the steamer, the young lady screamed out and crawled around until she seized the young man's arm.

"Piller yer head right here. Susan!" he exclaimed, patting his heart with one hand and slipping the other round her waist. "When a feller loves a girl as I love you, he could take her on his back and swim eighteen miles in a bee-line, and then go home and hoe corn till sundown. Piller your head right here, my love, and if she rains, and hails, and thunders blue blazes, don't you squeal one squeal."

"Are we safe?" she tremblingly inquired.

"Safe as a cow tied to a brick wall eighteen feet thick, my love! Just lean right over here, shut yer pearly eyes and feel as contented as if ye set on the top rail of the pasture fence waitin' for a tin peddler to arrove in sight?"

She pillered," and everybody remarked that he looked like a hero.

An Indianapolis Boy.

A Boot-black whose sister was sick with cholera-morbus was sent in haste for a doctor. Rushing up to an office on Pennsylvania street, he cried out: "Say, old pill bags, the old lady sent me for you. Sis has got it— 'bout to kerflumax—down flat. Rattle down our way, the old girl's waiting on you." "What is the matter? I don't understand." "Too much green corn. Sis has tumbled to it. Come, shuffle off." "I am still unable to comprehend. You say tumble? Has any one fallen and dislocated anything?" "What kind of a racket are you givin' me? Sis's sick." "Ah! now I understand. Your sister is sick." "Yes, and you want to nimble your pins, old man: the gal's gripin' awful." And he walkled off in the direction of the postoffice, looking for a job.

The Young Man from the East.

" Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419. opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

WITHOUT THE AID OF MERCURY OR NAUSEOUS DRUGS.

Only ONE INTERVIEW REQUIRED, balance of treatment can be conducted without any interruption to business.

Prescriptions free to all every day, from 10 to 11 o'clock, A. M.

Regular Office Hours, from 10 o'clock to 4 P. M.; from 7 to 8 P. M.

CONSULTATION FREE

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of return'ng health.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS

....AND....

Bronchial Affections.

Those suffering from CATARRH, BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION in its first stages, can be assured of a perfect cure by his new method of treatment, which can be testified to by thousands in the United States and British North America.

DR. SPINNEY can detect the slightest disease of the Chest, Lungs or any internal organ, and guarantees a cure in every case he undertakes.

TO THE LADIES

DR. SPINNEY having spent many years in the study of Female Complaints, feels competent to treat them in their most malignant forms, and would therefore cordially invite all who may be wrecked with pain and suffering from any of the great host of troubles with which your sex are so often afflicted, to come and try his method of cure, which has relieved thousands of their sufferings, and saved many from a premature grave.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

So do not longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. Why eke out a miserable existence, suffering all the tortures of a lingering death, when a few weeks' treatment will restore you to vigorous health?

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—A Friendly Chat Costs Nothing.

N. B.—Do not forget, you who are ill, and yet feel unable to pay, that your cases will be properly examined and prescribed for, if you will call any morning between the hours of 10 and 11 A. M. se3

Maguire's New Theatre.

"Time Tries All" has become what it is advertised to be "a popular comedy." The story of the piece is interesting and the company is at its best in it. Hermann's programme of illusions is new and wonderful.

California Theatre.

"Arrah-na-Pogue" would possibly draw good houses all the week, but Mr. Dominic Murray wants to bring something new before the people and will to-morrow evening produce "Willy Reilly" a romantic drama. This, therefore, is the last night of Mr. Murray as Shaun the Post, of Miss Harrisen as Arrah Meelish, of Robert Pateman as Michael Feeney and of the rest of the strong cast.

The Minstrels.

Maguire and Emerson's Minstrels will arrive here by overland train on Friday night, and will open at their old home, the Opera House, Bush street, on Monday evening next, October 18th The troupe will consist in the main of new faces, the list of performers being as follows: Billy Emerson, Fayette Welch, Mackin and Wilson song and dance men, J. M. Norcross Bob Hart, Charley Reed, E. M. Hall, R. J. Tyrell, Fred Walz a tenor singer, J. G. Russell and W. H. Tilla. The box office will be opened to-morrow, when seats can be secured without extra charge. The rush for the first nights will be immense, and those who want comfortable seats had better secure them in advance.

Grand German and Italian Opera.

"Il Barbiere di Siviglia" drew a good house last night. The cast included Mlle. Elzer as Rosina, Theo. Habelmann as Count Almaviva, Forti as Figaro, and Karl Formes as Don Basilio, this being, as we mentioned yesterday, a complimentary assumption of the role. The opera was not given in its entirety, but the cuts were judicious, and the result was that no signs of weariness were to be found in the audience. As usual, the singing of the chorus reflected the greatest credit on the training of Herr Heinrichs. Friday evening, "Martha."

Herold's Grand Orchestral Matinees

The fifth programme of this season will be held this (Wednesday) afternoon, when the programme will include "Freidrich's March" by Gung'l, Mendelssohn's music to Shakspeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," Weber's overture to "Euryanthe" and Rossini's overture to "Semiramide." Certainly the most attractive programme of the season.

Miss Judah's Benefit.

To-morrow evening Miss O. I. Judah (formerly known as Cherry Belle), will receive a benefit at Charter Oak Hall, for which occasion a most entertaining programme has been prepared, as may be seen by referring to the advertisement.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

This evening there will be a change in the principal feature of the bill, it having been decided to remove "Parisian Life" and put on in its place the extravaganza of "The Turkish Slave Mart."

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

On the bill for to-night we find Lotta and Charley Harris in their Dutch specialties, Hughey Robinson in character songs, Lon Dixon in a bone solo and Charles King in his negro comicalities.

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.

The first part consists of a minstrel programme by all the members of the company. In the olio are Geo. Neilson on the swinging bar, Borthwick Reid in his sword feats, and "The Masquerade Ball" by the company.

Woodward's Gardens.

Another wonder is on exhibition, the mammoth grape vine of Santa Barbara, to which the Queen's vine at Hampton Court of great renown, is but a pigmy. This will be the last opportunity to see it as it goes to the Centennial. On Saturday and Sunday the pantomime of "Lisbin in a Net," Miss Mathews, Sig. Gonzales, the gymnastic troupe and an orchestral concert.

Notes.

Will Mr. Alfred Singer please call at this office any time between 10 A. M. and 1 P. M.?

On Friday evening next Miss Ivy Wandesforde does a bold thing, takes the part of Lady Harriet in "Martha." We wish her success.

From a letter to Clay Greene we learn that Chas. Vivian is still in Salt Lake City. He has traveled through Nevada playing at Eureka, Palisade, Elko, Hamilton, Treasure City; and in Utah at Ogden and Salt Lake, where he followed Lingard, meeting with success. He has made money everywhere, struck a new vein, in fact, the proceeds of which he will use in bringing out his new entertainment, "An Hour at Home" (written by Clay M. Greene) in San Francisco. Charles was presented to the President, and formed part of the company who escorted him on the special train to Ogden on his homeward trip. U. S. was kind to him and "condescended to puff the festive regalia with him on the rear platform."

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 8-cj

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm.

THE FAIRY SHELL.

One day, when wandering on the shore
That once was ruled by Marmell,
I found within a clefted rock
A strangely twisted curious shell
With spiral whorls of pearly white,
And hollows tinged with roseate light.

This shell possessed a wondrous power,
For placed against the listener's ear,
He heard, though gentle, faint and low,
The tones of those he held most dear;
Though parted far by land or wave,
The faithful shell an echo gave.

"Oh, happy gift to man," said I;
"More precious than the painter's art;
How oft shalt thou, in distant climes,
Console the ever faithful heart,
Bring back the cherished voice again,
And take from absence half the pain."

"Vain are thy thoughts," a nymph replied;
"For those who own it will lament
That never, through its echoes faint
Can tidings from the loved be sent;
The distant sound is only caught,
But never word or message brought.

"'Twill only weaken yearnings vain;
'Twill only pierce the heart anew,
And bring to mind with tenfold pain
The anguish of the last adieu.
When all is lost beyond recall,
'Tis better far a veil should fall."

She ceased, I turned, and threw the shell
Beneath the tossing, foaming tide;
Too well can memory waken grief,
That man should seek for aught beside.
Love needs it not; for love can last
When all the things of time are past.

Rose Eytinge.

A writer says in noting the omission from Mr. Hutton's book, "Plays and Players," of the name of Rose Eytinge:—There is, perhaps, no actress in America so young as Miss Eytinge, whose experience extends over so wide a range of dramatic portraiture. When Booth made his fame in his own theatre Miss Eytinge supported him in all the leading juvenile characters, and won eulogium from lips unused to praise. Afterwards she made one of a trio of stars, the other two being no less celebrated actors than J. W. Wallack and E. L. Davenport, and everywhere she appeared it was predicted of her that if she were but to devote herself to art and follow up her successes she would become the first tragedienne on the American stage. Her powers, however, are not confined within the somewhat narrow scope of tragedy. When subsequently she became leading lady at Wallack's (the youngest lady who ever held that eminent position), she played no less than what are technically known as three "lines of business," the leading, formerly acted by Mrs. Hoey, the light comedy, or Mary Gannon's line, and the heavy, or Miss Morant's then line of business. Accident threw so much labor on Miss Eytinge, but that she acted every line of business more than ordinarily well the critiques of that period will prove. Again at the New York Theatre, Miss Eytinge created numbers of characters in pieces which have experienced little success without her presence; for instance, Peyton, in "Griffith Gaunt," Harriet Rauth, in a dramatization of Yates' novel of "Black Sheep," and Laura, in "Under the Gaslight." In this latter play there were but two circumstances calculated to make a success, Miss Eytinge's acting and the railroad sensation. This drama first brought Mr. Daly prominently into notice and public favor, and the gifted Rose Eytinge may be truly said to have laid the foundation of his fortune as a manager. Later still we find this lady at Union Square Theatre again creating roles—Armande in "Led Astray," and Gabrielle in "The Geneva Cross."

The Old Mint Restaurant.

Perfidious Man.

Many San Francisco ladies are getting their Winter glory manufactured this month. Among these far-seeing females is one Mrs. X., whose husband is in Europe. By a late steamer she received three dress-patterns and went immediately to a well known modiste who we will call Mulligan. Miss Mulligan viewed the patterns almost with astonishment. "Why, how singular," said she "Miss ——," naming a celebrated member of the demi monde, brought here last week three dresses exactly like these. A black silk, Hamburg embroidered in white. A striped blue and gold with white China crepe, and a dress and a pattern in three shades of brown, the very identical thing."

The wife winced, for the name of Miss —— had transpired in her household before, and she determined to know from whence the dresses came that so fatally resembled hers. She made known the case to Miss Mulligan, "and now," said she, "my custom and that of my daughters must be worth much more to you than Miss ——'s; can't you find out for me about thote costumes and tell me just what the creature says?"

So Miss Mulligan waited till Miss —— called to be "fitted on," and with remarkable acuteness said: "Mr. X. sent his wife duplicates of them there dresses; I've got them here to make up."

"The nasty, deceitful thing," screamed the blonde, "and he wrote me that in all Paris there wasn't another robe like the embroidered black; that he bought the only one."

This conversation is duly reported to Mrs. X., and the person who pretends to say that time dulls the feelings or makes revenge less sweet, had better wait till the next French steamer gets to New York and the husband comes across the continent. Mrs. X. is fairly accumulating wrath. She nurses that which she has and adds to the stock hourly.

Buckstone's Absent-Mindedness.

A London correspondent of Appletons Journal says: Mr. John Baldwin Buckstone, the veteran author-actor, is one of the most forgetful of men; indeed, he is almost as absent-minded as Sidney Smith himself. A very characteristic anecdote regarding him has just cropped up. It appears that some years ago when Mr. B. was in that smokiest of Scotch cities, Glasgow, his son introduced him to a Mr. Albert Smith, a civil engineer, as an old acquaintance. "Don't you remember my friend, Mr. Smith, you know?" "Smith—Smith!" muttered the aged comedian; "I've heard that name before." "Why, father," said the son, "it's Mr. Albert Smith." "Albert Smith—Albert Smith! Bless my soul! do you say so? I thought I had—er—buried poor Albert—er—twelve years ago—er—in Kensal Green Cemetery!"

L'Enfant Terrible.

The small boy has long been recognized as one of the most formidable of wild beasts, but no handsomer compliment has ever been paid to his capacity for making life a burden to his fellow-creatures than this, which we find in our latest files from Mexico: A father in Guadalajara, during the earthquake season, sent his two boys to a distant friend's until the peril was supposed to be over. A few weeks after, the father received this letter from his friends: "Please take your boys home and send down the earthquake."

HEAD AND HEELS.

The following well-written editorial appeared in Tuesday evening's Bulletin, under the head of "The Income of Two Philosophers," and is so timely a reference to one philosopher—to him of the heels we mean—who is expected so soon here, that we immortalize the article by reprinting it in FIGARO: It is said that "Billy" Emerson makes about $500 a week in the minstrel business. Ralph Waldo Emerson's income does not exceed $50 a week. Why this difference? The world has always been willing to pay more for amusement than instruction. It will pay more for a sensation than for a fact, unless the latter is so novel and so practical that it can readily be turned into money. Emerson, the minstrel, is a philosopher in his way. His philosophy is mostly in his heels, with the addenda of burnt cork and music. But the mass of people want to be amused. Their cares and troubles have become too much of a burden. They are helped by some cheap amusement.

Now, whoever has the art of making some part of the world happier even for an hour, is a philosopher. It makes no difference whether his philosophy resides in his heels or his head. What he does for the time being is to turn people away from the night side of nature—from dark and gloomy views which suggest suicide. It has frequently been noticed that in a time of great business depression more people frequent places of amusement than in more prosperous times. They do this to forget their troubles. It is in some sense a sanitary device. It is better that people should laugh for an hour than that they should groan under real or imaginary troubles for weeks. In the latter case, they may be getting a little nearer to the insane asylum every year. In the other, they may be gaining a spring and buoyancy which will set them far on the way towards prosperity.

Besides, more people can understand the philosophy of Billy Emerson than of Ralph Waldo. The former is of the earth, and decidedly earthy. The other sits on the edge of the clouds and his Brahminical wisdom is dropped daintily for the elect few who can understand it. But all can understand "Billy," and that without the least tension of the mental faculties. It is not strange, therefore, that he earns ten times as much as Ralph Waldo. Socrates probably never earned a tenth part as much as the veriest mountebank or caricaturist in Athens. He set people to thinking. That is Ralph Waldo's business.

Now, there is not more than one in ten, even in a cultivated community, who really wants to be set upon any such course. The majority consider him a bore who has no other mission. The modern lyceum lecture no longer means instruction. It means amusement, because a large popular audience cannot be gathered on any other terms. What a sorry figure Socrates or Plato, Newton, Bacon or Ralph Waldo Emerson would have made upon the modern lecture platform! The latter sometimes ventures there, but rarely outside of his native State. Josh Billings will draw as a lecturer to-day better than would Plato, simply because one would seek to amuse while the other would disdain any such art. It is not therefore a great calamity that the lyceum platform has settled into its secondary use as a means of popular amusement.

But Billy Emerson lives in the present. His five hundred dollars a week buys no immortality. The negro minstrel perpetuates nothing. Very few of those who have been amused by him care whence he came or whither he goes. If Ralph Waldo is content with fifty dollars a week what has the world to do with the matter of his income? He has found no fault with the fact that the world is willing to pay more in this year of grace for a grotesque dance and a negro song than for that philosophy which may be full of fresh suggestions a thousand years hence.

Mme. Christine Nilsson was to return to London early in October for her provincial concert tour. She was to be a guest, until then, of Lady Emily Peel at Geneva.

Miss Lydia Thompson, having fallen ill through a cold, and being likely to remain so for several weeks, Miss Eliza Weatherby had been engaged to replace her at Edinburgh.

A Plug Ugly.

One day last month when trade was dull, a Vicksburg grocery clerk procured a piece of sole leather from a shoemaker, painted it black, and laid it aside for future use. Within a few days an old chap from back in the country came in and inquired for a piece of plug tobacco. The piece of sole leather was tied up and paid for, and the purchaser started for home. At the end of the sixth day he returned, looking downcast and dejected, and walking into the store he inquired of the clerk:

"Member that terbacker I got here the other day?".

"Yes."

"Well, was that a new brand?"

"No—same old brand."

"Regular plug terbacker, was it?"

"Yes."

"Well, then, it's me; it's right here in my jaws," sadly replied the man. "I knowed that I was getting purty old, but I was allus handy on bitin' plug. I never seed a plug afore this one that I couldn't tear to pieces at one chaw. I sot my teeth onto this one, and bit, and pulled, and twisted like a dog at a root, and I've kept biting and pulling for six days, and thar she am now, the same as the day you sold her to me!"

"Seems to be a good plug," remarked the clerk, as he smelled of the counterfeit.

"She's all right; it's me that's failing?" exclaimed the old man. "Pass me out some fine-cut, and I'll go home and deed the farm to the boys, and git ready for the grave!"

Had Him There.

One gentlemen observed to another:

"I have a wife and six children in New York and I never saw one of them."

"Were you ever blind?"

"Oh! no," replied the other.

"A further lapse of time, and then the interrogator resumed the subject.

"Did I understand you to say that you had never seen one of them?"

"Yes, such is the fact,"

Here followed a still longer pause in the conversation, when the interrogator, fairly puzzled, said:

"How can it be that you never saw one of them?"

"Why," was the answer, "one of them was born after I left."

Science vs. Plain English.

The Popular Science Monthly informs us that: "If a man fall asleep in the sitting posture with his mouth open his jaw drops; the tongue not being in contact with the hard palate, the suctorial space is obliterated; the soft palate no longer adheres to the root of the tongue; and, if respiration is carried on through the mouth, the muscular curtain begins to vibrate." The meaning of this is that, "if a man don't keep his mouth shut when he is asleep he will snore," and anything but a scientific paper would say so.

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419. opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

WANTED.

Information of the present Residence of FRANK KING also known as FRANK LANE at the office of this paper. J. P BOGARDUS

DR. SPINNEY & Co's

DISPENSARY,

No. 11 Kearny St.

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN,

Who may be suffering from the effect of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—Charges Moderate. Office Hours from 10 to 4 and 7 to 8.

T HURSDAY.............OCTOBER 14

Amusements, Etc.

California Theatre.

We said yesterday that "Arrah Na Pogue," if esented during the entire week would possibly draw full houses. The attendance last night was o crowd.d and so enthusiastic that it has been deided by the management to retain it for this eveng's bill, and also for that of the Saturday matinee.

Maguire's New Theatre.

In place of "Time Tries All," the comedy of "The Serious Family," with W. H. Crane as Aminadab Sleek, will be produced this evening to preface Hermann's wonderful soiree magique.

The Minstrels.

A dispatch has been received from Manager Maguire that the Minstrels are on the road, and will arrive here to-morrow night to open at their old home, the Opera House, Bush street, on Monday evening next, October 18th The troupe will consist in the main of new faces, the list of performers being as follows: Billy Emerson, Fayette Welch, Mackin and Wilson song and dance men, J. M. Norcross Bob Hart, Charley Reed, E. M. Hall, R. J. Tyrell, Fred Walz tenor singer, and J. G. Russell. The box office was opened this morning, and seats can be secured without extra charge. The rush for e first nights will be immense, and those who want comfortable seats had better secure them in advance.

Grand German and Italian Opera.

To-morrow evening "Martha" will be produced with a noteworthy cast, which includes Miss Ivy Wandesforde as Lady Harriett, Miss Elzer as Nancy, Signor Contini as Tristan, Carl Formes as P unkett, and Pietro Baccei as Lionel.

Herold's Grand Orchestral Matinees

The concert yesterday was certainly the best of he season. The selections were of the best order, and given in a style marked by fewer faults than beauties. In the first part was found Mendelssohn's music to Shakespeare's "Midsummer-Night's Dream." There were five numbers out of which two, the Scherzo after the first act and the Notturno deserve particular mention, by reason of their respective solos, in the first that of Koppitz on the flute and in the second that of Schlott on the horn. When next this delightful music is given—which should be soon—we hope Mr. Herreld will see that the accompaniment in the Scherzo does not drown the solo. In the second part Jungmann's "Harp ounds" was encored.

Miss Judah's Benefit.

This evening Miss O. I. Judah (formerly known as Cherry Belle), will receive a benefit at Charter Oak Hall, for which occasion a most entertaining programme has been prepared, as may be seen by referring to the advertisement.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

"The Female Turkish Slave Mart" has taken the place of "Parisian Life," and has proved just as great an attraction.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

Charley Harris in Dutch song and dance, Charley King in negro comicalities, Hughey Robinson in local hits, Lon Dixon in bone solo, on the bill tonight.

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.

Acrobatic feats by Geo. Neilson, feats of skill and agility by Borthwick Reid, and general entertainment by the company.

Woodward's Gardens.

Another wonder is on exhibition, the mammoth grape vine of Santa Barbara, to which the Queen's vine at Hampton Court of great renown, is but a pigmy. This will be the last opportunity to see it as it goes to the Centennial. On Saturday and Sunday the pantomime of "Lisbin in a Net," Miss Mathews, Sig. Gonzales, the gymnastic troupe and an orchestral concert.

Notes.

In Tuesday's issue of the FIGARO were published two or three exclusive bits of information in the way of theatrical news. These the Call critic made use of yesterday and in keeping with his character acknowledged their source. The Post used the same last night without a word of acknowledgment.

Will Mr. Alfred Singer please call at this office any time between 10 A. M. and 1 P. M.?

"Stolen Kisses," from "Girofle-Girofla," has been published by M. Gray.

Wm. Mestayer starts for Virginia City on Sunday or Monday to open at the Opera House on Monday evening in "Up in the Clouds." It is probable that Miss Ella F. Badger, who has recently concluded a successful engagement at Petaluma and Santa Rosa, will follow Mestayer at Piper's.

It is rumored that John McCullough, at present filling an engagement at Chicago, has been engaged for a season at Drury Lane Theatre, London, next year.

It is also rumored that Bret Harte has finished that play, but this, we presume, is a joke.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F, Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderalice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa t[illegible] y that can be found anywhere, and as everyt[illegible] is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm.

YOU KNOW YOU DO.

When some one's step comes up the walk,
  Your cheeks take on a rosier hue,
And though no other hears his knock,
  You know it well—you know you do.

And though it may be very wrong,
  When pa is quite ignored for you,
You sing for him your prettiest song,
  You cunning thing—you know you do!

And when he talks of other girls,
  Of hateful Kate and Jennie, too,
You fling at him your auburn curls,
  You jealous thing—you know you do!

He blushes deep and looks afraid
  To be thus left alone with you,
But your eyes tell there ne'er was maid
  But could be wooed—you know you do!

You peep at Some-one 'neath your curls,
  Until with love you burn him through,
And make him hate all other girls—
  In love for you—you know you do!

And when his arm steals round your chair,
  You give a smothered scream or two,
As if you didn't want it there,
  But oh, you do—you know you do!

You let him kiss your blushing cheeks;
  Somehow your lips meet his lips, too,
You tempt him, silly thing, to speak,
  You wicked flirt—you know you do!

And when he timidly doth press
  His wish to make a wife of you,
With happy heart you answer yes,
  You darling girl—you know you do!

Innocence.

Everett's art gallery, Troy, is graced with a fine oil painting of Shakspeare, which hangs prominently from a center column at the back of the store. The other day a lady from the country came in, glanced about, and inquired of Mr. Everett, pointing to Shakspeare's phiz:

"What minister is that?"

"That is Shakspeare," replied the urbane Everett, with a playful smile on his lips.

"Oh, it is, hey. Where does he preach now."

"He wasn't a minister, madam—he was a poet."

"Oh! Ah! Yes. Seems to me Iv'e heerd on him somewhere. Did he write any pieces for the Free Will Baptists' hymn book."

Mr. Everett politely sought to divert the lady's attention by showing her a picture of Jacob kissing Rachel, when the old lady innocently inquired, after studying the engraving curiously:

"What be they wrestlin' about?"

After asking when there was to be a circus in Troy again, she left the art gallery, highly pleased.

Sweet are the Uses of—Advertising.

A French paper thus traces the sensation of a reader of advertisements: The first advertisement he don't see it. The second insertion he sees it, but don't read it. The third insertion he reads it. The fourth insertion he looks at the price. The fifth insertion he speaks of it to his wife. The sixth insertion she is willing to buy. The seventh insertion he purchases.

Her Fault, as Usual.

Said a wife to her husband: "How is it that you can't come home nights in some sort of season?" The gentle retort was: "You got me in the way of it. Before we were married you used to throw your arms about my neck at three o'clock, and say: 'Don't go, darling, it is early yet,' but now if I happen to stay out till two it is a terrible affair."

John S. Clarke, aided by the Misses Linda Deitz Emily Thorne, and Minnie Walton, have drawn largely at the Haymarket since its recent opening.

The Gaiety, London, reopened on the 13th of September for the final performances of Charles Mathews before his departure for India.

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges Moderate. D. B. Magee, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. N. B. Open to 2:30 A. M. Old fashioned boiled dinners every Saturday. 2-L

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

The Fall and Winter Styles

Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well-selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the best material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Don't forget to call and examine their stock at 647 Washington street, below Kearny.

Photographic Art

Is supposed by some to be in its infancy. We doubt it much, as it is impossible to imagine pictures retouched and finished with more artistic skill than those we saw at Brodeck & Co's new Art Gallery, 640 Market street, opposite the Palace Hotel.

Only the best brands of smoking and chewign tobaccos—Solace, Eureka, Sunnyside, American Eagle, Welcome and Golden Luxury—sold. Four papers for 25 cents. IXL Auction House, 616, 618 and 620 Kearny street, corner Commercial.

STRAY HITS AND STOLEN BITS.

"After all," says on old doctor, "there are only two kinds of disease—the one you die with, and the other of which you do not."

"Rents have risen," was the jocose remark of the astute small boy when a nail caught in the previously small tear in his coat-tail, and ripped the garment up to his neck. Subsequently, after an interview with his parents, he moaned to himself, in the woodshed, that "leather had fallen."

A Cherokee Indian, a Japanese, and a retired clergyman fifty years old, are among the students at Dartmouth College.

The only time when a boy ever has an idea of reforming and becoming good, is when he is treed among the cherries by a lank farmer and a couple of mastiffs.

Seeing the new moon over the right shoulder is considered a lucky omen, but most people would rather find a smooth quarter on the sidewalk.

When Mrs. Selkreg complained that he occupied too much time in looking at the pin-back dresses, he piously replied that he was absent-minded and thought that he was in the Garden of Eden.

"Henry, why don't you keep a supply of cloves in your pocket?" said a young lady to her escort at the theatre recently; "you wouldn't then have to run out after every act, and I don't see why you are so awful fond of cloves, anyhow!"

A farmer's crib is a gnawful place for rats.

Mr. Wentworth is so tall that, when he addresses the people, instead of mounting a chair, they have to dig a hole for him to stand in.

A Connecticut revivalist is named A. Ripper, and the ungodly say that he is all that his name implies.

"Father's Hair is Turning Grey" is the name of the latest sentimental ballad, suggests to his heirs another, beginning: "Oh Father, Dear, Why Don't You Dye?"

Ode to my landlady—two week's board bill—Exchange. Yes. She under stanza joke of that kind, and that's why you're a verse to meter, we suppose.

Why is the letter q the handiest in the Alphabet? Because when its in use you always find it before u.

"The first step toward wealth," says an exchange, "is the choice of a good wife." And the first step toward securing a wife is the possession of good wealth.

Benson, of Sixth street, removed the body of his mother-in-law from the old cemetery the other day, and he says he could find nothing but her jay, which was in a state of perfect preservation.

A Baltimore servant girl the other morning tried that good old time-honored plan of lighting the kitchen fire with kerosene. Nothing has benzine of her since.

An old lady in Bridgeport, who has pasted nearly 5,000 medical recipes in a book during the past forty years, has never been sick a day in her life, and is growing discouraged. She says that some people are born to ill-luck.

A Brooklyn girl lately sang "Darling I am Growing Old" with an expression so pertinent and forcible that her procrastinating lover was brought to time on the spot.

A Kentucky editor tells another that if his head were as red as his nose he would remind one of a bow-legged carrot surmounted by a cockade.

Straws.

Straws might naturally be considered very unsubstantial material, with which to construct a newspaper article, but in the absence of any other just now we are constrained, like a drowning man, to catch at a straw. But then we are not as hard up as a certain historic people were once, when, without even straw, they were compelled to manufacture building material. A "perfect brick" must have been a rarity in those days.

An old proverb says, "straws show which way the wind blows." It was a very small business to be engaged in, but the progress of invention and the march, as well as April and May, of improvement since then have opened up wide and varied fields for straws to work in, and for people to work in straw. Straws have their uses in many ways now beside indicating the direction of the wind. They are indispensible adjuncts to a first-class bar, and to the observing mind of the searcher after alcoholic statistics, straws shows which way the sherry cobbler goes.

Straw hats are much worn in the Summer, but they look a good deal more worn in the Winter when the wearer is unable to furnish himself with a Winter hat. Ladies' bonnets are made of straw, although Joan of Arc was maid of Orleans. Many suppose Joan, by the way, to be a woman of straw—that she had no existence in fact. We have seen women who looked as old as the Arc, who had no recollection of her whatever.

Many a young man has lost his heart by peering beneath a straw hat with a young woman in it, which shows the folly of trusting too much to 'peer-ances. Roguish eyes look so much more roguish beneath a roguish hat.

There are a great many articles made of straw. There are straw mats and mattresses, ornaments in straw and waltzes of Strauss, straw-thatched roofs, straw hammocks and straw bail, which we trust lets us out.

Hotel Rates.

Several years ago I arrived at a country hostelry situated in the neighboring town of Rumney. Staying a week or two I asked my bill when the time of my stay was at an end.

"Well, what do you think it is is worth," said the landlord.

"Oh, I don't know; you keep the hotel—what is the charge?"

"Well, come, let's chalk."

So the bellows was taken from its nail, and, as was then so frequently the custom, each party chalked what he thought it worth. Looking at the figures finally the landlord said:

"Well, about twenty cents for meals and twenty cents for lodging."

Wondering, I paid him. Next year, happening in the same town, I stopped at the house of a friend, and meeting my "chalking" landlord of a year previous, he said:

"I did a wrong thing by you last year; I charged you too much. You see twenty cents a meal ain't much, but then three times twenty is sixty for meals, and twenty is eighty, and seven time eighty is $5 60 a week; and that's an awful sum."

Artless Girl.

Sweet, gushing, artless girl, who had been on a visit. She had just come home. She went away last September; went to England first; spent the Winter in Italy; sauntered through Germany in the Spring; came back to America and trifled away the Summer at Saratoga, Long Branch, and the White Mountains; previous to this trip she had been away to school five years, and when she jumped out of the car last night into her father's arms, she said impulsively: "Oh, paw-paw, deah paw, thay's no place like home!" And paw's face was a study as he replied: "Well, no; reckon not; must be quite a novelty to ye."

Mme. Christine Nilsson was to return to London early in October for her provincial concert tour. She was to be a guest, until then, of Lady Emily Peel at Geneva.

Miss Lydia Thompson, having fallen ill through a cold, and being likely to remain so for several weeks, Miss Eliza Weatherby had been engaged to replace her at Edinburgh.

POPKINS AS A MIND READER.

Popkins said mind-reading was easy enough, anybody could read minds. He had studied the subject thoroughly, and was satisfied he knew all how it was done. So one evening he invited a lot of neighbors to his house to witness his demonstrations in mind-reading. Mrs. Popkins did not look with any favor at all on the business. She told Popkins he didn't know his own mind half the time, and how could he tell about the minds of others. He attempted a few remarks. "Mind," said he, then stopped and coughed. Then began again "Mind"—

"Mind what?" snapped Mrs. Popkins.

"Mind your own business," popped in Popkins, testily: "when I speak of mind, understand I am not making the remotest allusion to you. Now mind!"

Mrs. Popkins stated "Oh!" and subsided into her knitting-work.

"The mind," continued Popkins, "is capable of being read (a dismal old maid said hers was capable of being very blue). Not all men can read the human mind, for mind-reading is a specal gift. I have discovered it myself."

Mrs. Popkins muttered her satisfaction that he had discovered something in himself; no one else ever had.

Popkins then proceeded to tell various persons in the room what they were thinking of, and it was astonishing how near he came to it. "You, sir," he said to a neighbor, "are thinkin' of goin' up in a balloon."

"Wonderful!" cried the man, beats everything how you hit it."

"Then you contemplate goin' up in a balloon?" cried Popkins all in a glow.

"Yes—well, not exactly—same thing though—I'm thinkin' of digin' a well."

Mrs. Popkins shrieked with laughter, and all the young Popkinses snickered at their pop.

Popkins grew redder than ever, but said nothing. Fastening his eagle eye on his neighbor Jones' boy—"Your mind is perplexed," said Popkins, "about money matters."

"True," said neighbor Jones, "true every word of it."

"And you are thinkin' "—

"Yes, as you say, I am thinking whether you will ever pay me that five dollars you borrowed mor'n four years ago!"

Popkins's face was blazing by this time, and he was sorry that he ever took up mind-reading. He was making no very satisfactory headway with it. But he wouldn't give up so. He came very close to it a number of times; as in telling a red-nosed man that he was thinking of something to eat, when the red-nosed man was wondering if Popkins wasn't going to bring on something to drink; or telling a supposed old maid that she was thinking of getting married, when the supposed old maid was a married woman contemplating a divorce.

There was a plain, blunt man in the party, noted for always saying what he thought. Popkins asked him if he might read his thoughts. "Certainly, said the blunt man, "if you can; and I'll tell you whether you are right or not."

Then Popkins held one hand against the back of the man's neck, pressed a thumb between his eyes, scowled hard at his eyebrows and said, "You are thinking of the days of your childhood; of the school house, and the brook down by the mill, and your earliest love when existence was but a lovely dream, and of"—

"Hold on," said the blunt man," nothing of the sort."

"What are you thinking off, then?"

"I'm thinking what a d——d fool you're making of yourself, Popkins!"

When the roar of laughter that followed had subsided, Popkins admitted that he might have failed in some of his experiments in mind-reading, but said that he had one final test that would carry him through triumphantly. They might blindfold him; then, after some member of the company had fixed his mind on a particular article in the room, he would lead that person to it, and put his hand upon it. All consenting, Popkins was blindfolded, and Popkins' eldest boy selected to fix his mind on something. He wasn't much of a boy for fixing his mind on things, but he was adequate on this occasion. A handkerchief was tied around Popkins' eyes; and, taking hold of the boy's hand, he went searching after something the boy had fixed his mind on. Young Popkins' face was grave as an undertaker's; but it was singular how many times Popkins stumbled over the same ottoman, and ran his nose against the same door-casing. After falling over nearly every article of furniture in the room, tripping over every one of the seven children, who developed a remarkable fatality in getting in the way, pitching head-first among the piano keys, upsetting an acquarium, and overthrowing the house-plants, he tumbled the whole length of the dining-room table, shot through an open door, and went bump-a-ti-bump down the cellar-stairs.

This broke up the circle, and Popkins was laid up a week with his bruises. His eldest boy hasn't considered it healthy to come around the house since, and puts up with his grandmother. If Popkins says anything about mind-reading, Mrs. P. reads him a piece of her mind.

A Plug Ugly.

One day last month when trade was dull, a Vicksburg grocery clerk procured a piece of sole leather from a shoemaker, painted it black, and laid it aside for future use. Within a few days an old chap from back in the country came in and inquired for a piece of plug tobacco. The piece of sole leather was tied up and paid for, and the purchaser started for home. At the end of the sixth day he returned, looking downcast and dejected, and walking into the store he inquired of the clerk:

"Member that terbacker I got here the other day?"

"Yes."

"Well, was that a new brand?"

"No—same old brand."

"Regular plug terbacker, was it?"

"Yes."

"Well, then, it's me; it's right here in my jaws," sadly replied the man. "I knowed that I was getting purty old, but I was allus handy on bitin' plug. I never seed a plug afore this one that I couldn't tear to pieces at one chaw. I sot my teeth onto this one, and bit, and pulled, and twisted like a dog at a root, and I've kept biting and pulling for six days, and thar she am now, the same as the day you sold her to me!"

"Seems to be a good plug," remarked the clerk, as he smelled of the counterfeit.

"She's all right; it's me that's failing?' exclaimed the old man. "Pass me out some fine-cut, and I'll go home and deed the farm to the boys, and git ready for the grave!"

The Young Man from the East.

" Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

DR. SPINNEY & Co's

DISPENSARY,

No. 11 Kearny St.

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Amusements, Etc.

California Theatre.
"Arrah-na-Pogue" was produced for the last time yesterday evening. To-night, the romantic Irish drama of "Willy Reilly" will be produced with Dominick Murray in the title role, and T. W. Keene, Robert Pateman and Miss Ellie Wilton in the cast. The story of the play is strongly dramatic, and is founded on that of the old ballad "Oh rise up Willy Reilly."

Maguire's New Theatre.
The comedy of "The Serious Family," in a somewhat condensed form, was given in most humorous style by the Hooley company last evening. The Captain Murphy Maguire of Jas. O'Neill, and the Aminidab Sleek of W. H. Crane, afforded sufficient food for merriment, whilst Hermann's illusions were sufficient cause for wonder. Same capital bill to-night.

Emerson's Minstrels.
The names of Manager Maguire, wife and Minstrel Troupe are on the list of passengers to arrive here to night. The Company will open at their old home, the Opera House, Bush street, on Monday evening next, October 18th. The troupe will consist in the main of new faces, the list of performers being as follows: Billy Emerson, Fayette Welch, Mackin and Wilson song and dance men, J. M. Norcross Bob Hart, Charley Reed, E. M. Hall, R. J. Tyrell, Fred Walz a tenor singer, and J. G. Russell. The box office is now open and seats can be secured without extra charge. The rush for the first nights will be immense, and those who want comfortable seats had better secure them in advance.

Grand German and Italian Opera.
This evening "Martha" will be produced with a noteworthy cast, which includes Miss Ivy Wandesforde as Lady Harriett, Miss Elzer as Nancy, Signor Contini as Tristan, Carl Formes as Plunkett, and Pietro Baccei as Lionel.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.
"The Female Turkish Slave Mart" with Frank Mortimer as Mustapha, is sufficient attraction to jam the house every night.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.
"Don't Take It," by Dixon and Loudon, "Who Owns the Clothes Line," "Chinese Servants," by Hughey Robinson and Tommy Butler, "The Jew Clothes Dealer" and "Paris by Gaslight" are the acts for to-night.

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.
The bill for to-night, includes an unusually large amount of interesting acts, and an olio of everything that is amusing and entertaining.

Woodward's Gardens.
Another wonder is on exhibition, the mammoth grape vine of Santa Barbara, to which the Queen's vine at Hampton Court of great renown, is but a pigmy. This will be the last opportunity to see it as it goes to the Centennial. On Saturday and Sunday the pantomime of "Lisbin in a Net," Miss Mathews, Sig. Gonzales, the gymnastic troupe and an orchestral concert.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—Captain Foster, the genial host of the Cliff House, entertains visitors from all parts of the Globe at his famous sea-side resort. The Cliff House is THE one thing San Francisco has to boast of as different from any thing else in the world. Omnibuses run every day from the terminus of the Lone Mountain railroad.

Notes.
A game of cricket will be played to-morrow afternoon, at the Recreation Grounds, at 2 o'clock. Cricketers in general are invited to attend.

Mrs. Sawyer, the Materializing Medium, announces her seances in another column. These seances are becoming the talk of the town. Hands, arms and faces are materialized, or made visible, and the whole exhibition partakes largely of the wonderful.

Managers
Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 8-cj

A Word to the Wise, etc.
It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm. *

The Old Mint Restaurant.
At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges Moderate. D. B. Magee, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. N. B. Open to 2:30 A. M. Old fashioned boiled dinners every Saturday. 2-L

Do Not Suffer from Corns.
The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relie by applying at Dr. R. H. Cowan's Institute, removed to 207 Kearny street, between Sutter and P[illegible], from 1 to 6 P. M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. Reference given if required. H

LOVE IN A GARRET.

[AFTER BERANGER.]

Oh, it was here that Love his gifts bestowed
On youth's wild age!
Gladly once more I seek my youth's abode
In pilgrimage;
Here my young mistress with her poet dared
Reckless to dwell;
She was sixteen, I twenty, and we shared
This attic cell.

Yes, 'twas an attic! be it known to all,
Here was Love's shrine;
There read in charcoal traced along the wall,
The unfinished line—
Here was the board where kindred hearts would blend;
The Jew can tell
How oft I pawned my watch to feast a friend,
In attic cell.

Oh! my Lizette's fair form could I recall
With fairy wand
There she would blind the window with her shawl
Bashful yet fond!
What tho' from whom she got her dress I've since
Learned but too well,
Still in those days I envied not a prince,
In attic cell.

Here the glad tidings on our banquet burst,
'Mid the bright bowls,
Yes, it was here Marengo's triumph first
Kindled our souls,
Bronze cannon roared. France with redoubled might
Felt her heart swell,
Proudly we drank our Consul's health that night,
In attic cell.

Dreams of my joyful youth! I'd freely give
Ere my life's close,
All the dull days I'm destined yet to live,
For one of those;
Where shall I now find raptures that were felt,
Joys that befell,
And hopes that dawned at twenty when I dwelt,
In attic cell?

THE GLASS EYE.

Some years ago a gentleman lost an eye, and having a taste for comely personal appearance, he had the loss of the member atoned for by the insertion of a glass optic. The counterfeit was a perfect counterpart of the other, and except those who were told of the fact, none would have imagined him to be the "bully boy with a glass eye." Two or three weeks ago the seeing eye began to inflame, and knowing by sad experience the danger of neglecting a sore eye, he determined to consult an oculist, and not knowing which was the proper one to go to, was unfortunate enough to fall into the hands of a man who practices the profession, but who, until within a short time, has been engaged in the butchering business. Calling upon the "celebrated oculist and aurist," he told him that his eyes were affected with disease, and he feared that he would lose them. The quack examined the optics, and pronounced them an easy cure. In fact, he would warrant a cure in two months, and he would heal them up at a low figure, only ten dollars a week for treatment.

"What do you think of my left eye, doctor?" asked our friend, whose faith was not very strong.

The doctor examined the left optic very carefully for some moments, and then said "I find the epithelium slightly opatic, with considerable subcutaneous conjunctive in the cellular retina of the corneal chirrhosis."

"Can the thing be cured?" asked the patient, who was now convinced the fellow was an unmitigated humbug.

"Oh, yes, I can cure that in a very short time. I have some vegetable acid which I extract from a plant known only to myself, which will render that eye perfectly well in six weeks,"

"Do you really mean to say that I can see out of this eye again for to tell you the truth, I have not been able to see out of it for a long time?"

"To be sure I do, just as well as I do out of mine. This 'ere vegetable acid of mine is truly wonderful; there are no eyes that resist it. It fixes them all."

"Then you can go right ahead on that one, and if you fix it all right, I will let you attend to the other."

The doctor took out a large syringe, filled it with his vegetable acid, and approached our friend for the purpose of making an application, when he raised his hands to his eye, opened the eyelids, took the glass optic from the socket, and handing it to the operator said:

"Doctor, I haven't time to stop for treatment; you can keep the eye here, and as soon as you get it to see, I will call and get it."

A Prince of Conductors.
There is an Illinois conductor who deserves the most conspicous place in the next new Sabbath school books. He was so kind to an old lady when she got off the train at Dewitt, and rendered her so much assistance in getting her baggage to the depot, that a passenger asked him if the old lady was his mother. "Oh, no," was the reply, "but she is somebody's mother."

EASTERN DRAMATIC NEWS.

NEW YORK.

The following account of Mlle. Titiens first appearance in America (at Steinway Hall, Oct. 4th), is taken from the N Y. Spirit of the Times: On Monday evening last, Mlle. Titiens made her first appearance in New York at Steinway Hall, before an immense audience. When the welcome was over she sang the well-known scena and aria from "Der Freischutz," in which she displayed her grand method to advantage, and the musicians in the auditory could at once recognize her splendid style and method. She phrased delightfully, and with consummate skill, whilst her power of holding her respiration was at times quite wonderful. There was no effort in what she did, and her superb voice filled the large hall with its rich and velvety sounds. The next song sung by Mlle. Titiens was "With Verdure Clad," which she executed in a masterly manner. The breadth and simplicity of her style was here displayed to its fullest advantage. Towards the close of the concert Mlle. Titiens created wild enthusiasm by her spirited singing of Arditi's popular waltz "l'Ardita," which she delivered with surprising spirit, volubility and ease. This showy piece literally brought down the house. The impression produced by Mlle. Titiens' first concert was altogether very favorable, and certainly most people who heard her are of the opinion that her fame has not been at all exaggerated, and that she is, indeed, the foremost singer now living. If she has not the finest voice, she has incontestably the finest method. Her voice is a pure soprano, reaching easily to D in alto, and even to E. The lower notes are as rich as those of any contralto. But the great charm of her singing is her faultless execution. To one accustomed to artistic singing the ease with which she slides from the use of chest notes to those of the throat and head, is perfectly admirable, not one of the three great breaks being in anyway distinguishable. Her next great quality is her facility in sustaining and swelling her prolonged notes, which she does in a masterly manner. Her scales are evenly executed, and the down scales especially so. It should be noted that Mlle. Titiens gave three distinct specimens of her ability—the dramatic, the plain chant of oratorio, and the light soprano bravura—Arditi's Waltz. The great charm of Mlle Titiens' singing is its utter absence of exaggeration or striving for effect. She sings her music as it is written.

Miss Geraldine Maye, the new debutante at Wallack's, has made quite a hit! She is pretty and decidedly clever.

Wachtel, the famous German tenor, has arrived in New York, and will make his first appearance at the Academy of Music, on Monday next, October 18th. Mme. Pappenheim, a very fine dramatic prima donna, and Mlle. Jeannet Goldberg, a singer of the Di Murska style, will sing with him. Mlle. N. Wittman is the contralto. It was the intention to make his visit the matter of much demonstration by the Germans, but having arrived a day earlier than expected, a serenade at his hotel was all that could be managed.

Theodore Tilton delivered a successful lecture at Cooper Institue, September 29th, before a vast audience.

A week or so ago up-town residents in New York received a neatly printed circular, reading as follows: "Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Florence present their compliments and beg to say that they appear nightly at the Park Theatre, in the new humorous satire of 'The Mighty Dollar.' B.S.T.C." The anomalous alphabetical abbreviation at the close mystified all. On inquiry at the theatre it was found to be a characteristic abbreviation of Hon. Bardwell Slote's, and is translated: "Be sure to come."

A New York critic says: "Plays like 'Our Boys' make the theatre a delight; their effect upon every listener cannot be otherwise than wholesome, even if they do not possess high imaginative power, and make no attempt to do more than to present a slight but charming picture for the recreation of an hour."

"The Flying Scud," with Geo. Belmore as Nat Gosling, was a remarkable instance at Booth's, of what may be done with a one-act piece. It was followed on the 8th, by "Nicolas Nickleby."

John F. Poole has no cause to complain of the patronage of the Olympic, and the San Francisco Minstrels are doing literally a roaring biz.

Johnny Thompson followed E. T. Stetson at the Bowery, on the 11th.

Cotton and Reid are doing well at Darling's Opera House.

Edwin Booth's arm still continues nervous, and his engagement at Daly's, has been indefinitely postponed.

George Belmore, the English actor, the Nat Gosling at Booth's Theatre, is suffering acutely from pulmonary disease, and he has a physician in his dressing-room almost constantly.

The Kellogg Opera Troupe are doing splendid business at Booth's having opened there in "Mignon" on the 11th.

John T. Raymond closed at the Union Square on the 2d. The regular season began on the 4th, with a revival of "Led Astray."

Mr. Daly has another success to boast of, "Our Boys" being the favorite play of New York at present. It is possible that this comedy will hold the boards of the Ffth Avenue until after Christmas.

Mlle. Geoffroi opened for a short season at the Ly[illegible]n, on the 5th, in "Girofle-Girofla." On the 25th instant Rossi will appear in "King Lear."

Gilmore's Concert Garden with constant change programme draws unceasingly.

Miss Kate Fisher in "Mazeppa" succeeded S. F. Chanfrau at Wood's Theatre on the 9th.

John T. Raymond received the compliment of a farewell banquet at the Lotus Club, New York.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons has returned to America, to fill her reading and theatrical engagements.

It is reported that Mr. J. H. McDermott of the Julia Mathews English bouffe troupe, is to join the Kellogg Opera Company, and that several other members of the former organization intend return-

Owing to the Academy of Music having been engagaged for Wachtel, the sensation of "Around the Word" had to be withdrawn in the full tide of success on the 9th. It is the purpose of the Kiralfy Brothers to travel throughout the State and then rerurn to the Academy.

Mr. Josh Hart's New Eagle Theatre on Sixth street, will be opened on Monday next. Jolly Nash will be a feature of the entertainment.

"The Mighty Dollar" will only be withdrawn from the Park Theatre to enable Mr. and Mrs. Florence to keep their engagements

L. G. Gottschalk, brother of the pianist and baritone of the Camilla Urso Concert Troupe, is among the recent arrivals from abroad. He first visited San Francisco with Mme. Anna Bishop, about 2 years ago.

ELSEWHERE.

May Saville, who played Violet Melrose in "Our Boys," at the Chestnut-street Theatre, Philadelphia, wears, according to an accomplished critic, "a ravishing pin-back."

Joseph Proctor, the tragedian, gave a historical lecture with dramatic readings at Marlborough on the evening of October 6th.

T. C. King, the English tragedian, is playing in [illegible]

We clip the following from the Rochester, N. Y., Democrat, September 30th: "Adelaide Neilson is in Paris, and apparently happy, notwithstanding the absence of her husband, the gentleman known as Mr. Lee. 'Neilson is prettier than ever,' says a correspondent of the St Louis Times. 'She sat in box at the Vaudeville Theatre, in Paris, one night two weeks ago, robed in mauve silk, covered from top to bottom with white duchesse lace. A coronal of mauve flowers rested at the back of her head, and a mass of duchesse lace fell from it, and was swathed about her bare shoulders. Immense pearls hung in her ears, and a necklace of the same filled in the square-cut neck. She was accompanied by a gentleman from Georgia, who, report says, has spent a fortune in pearls and duchesse lace and such trifles during the Summer in Paris."

Montgomery Queen's Circus opened at Baltimore on the 18th, four days.

Harrigan and Hart were at the Holliday, Baltimore; open at Springfield, Mass., on Monday next.

Vokes Family were at Pittsburgh Opera House, 4th inst.

Frank Mayo and troupe were at the Academy, Buffalo, on the 27th ult.

Mr. E. L. Davenport closed a highly successful engagement of two weeeks at Mrs. John Drew's Arch-street Theatre, Philadelphia, on the 2d, during which he appeared as Othello, Sir Giles Overreach, Richelieu, The Stranger and Macbeth. At his largely attended benefit on the 1st, he was presented with a beautifully engrossed copy of complimentary resolutions, adopted at the recent organization of the E L. Davenpsrt Club, of New York, a delegation from which was present.

Mrs. D. P. Bowers was at Rochester, 25th ult.

Barry Sullivan played at the Grand Opera House, Baltimore, for the week ending the 9th; opened at the Boston Theatre, 11th.

A well-known and excellent actor met with a very sad affliction a week or two since, whilst acting the part of Charles Courtly with Miss Jane Coombes, at Albany: In the first scene of "London Assurance" he was struck with paralysis, and was taken off the stage apparently lifeless. He is new considerably better, and, we are happy to say, out of danger.

Oliver Doud Byron, closes this evening at Memphis, Tenn., 11th, open at Galveston, 18th, two weeks; New Orleans, Nov. 1, two week; thence New York.

The Gourlay Family were at Quebec, about 4th.

George Rignold open at the Walnut, Philadelphia, on Monday next, 18th.

John Thompson and Troupe are at present on a tour through New York State.

Canfield and Booker's Tableaux of Erin, and Irish Comedy Company, exhibited at Wheatland, on the 5th; and Dandas, 6th.

Richings-Bernard Troupe, were at Springfield, Mass., 13th.

Thomas's Orchestra, Fredonia, N. Y., 4th; Cleveland, O., 5th, and 6th.

Charlotte Thompson and troupe, Oswego, 8th; Omaha, 13th and 14th.

P. T. Barnum lectured at Chelsea, Mass., in Reupath's Lycemm Course, 6th; Brattleboro, Vt., 7th; and Rutland, Vt., 8th.

Dr. Hans Von Bulow, the distinguished pianist, sailed from Liverpool to Boston, September 28th, and will make his first appearance in that city on Monday next, 18th inst. He will then make a tour of New England, playing at Worcester, Springfield, Hartfort, New Haven, and Bridgport, Dr. Von Bulow will commence his New York season, Nov. 15th, on which occasion he will inaugrate the New Chickering Hall.

The following "impromptu" lines were sent to Mr. Davenport whilst playing his engagement at the Arch Street Theatre, Philadelphia:

> At Kean's and famed Macready's death,
>   The muse was left to weep
> That Shakspeare's dread, remorseless King.
>   Lost to the stage, must sleep.
> But now the loss of Cawdor's Thane
>   The muse cannot deplore.
> For, while our Davenport still lives,
>   "Macbeth shall sleep no more."

Julia Mathews' Bouffe Troupe, opened at the Academy, Philadelphia, 4th.

Maggie Mitchell and troupe were at Portsmouth, N. H., 12th; Portland, 14th; Augusta, 23d.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

DR. SPINNEY & Co's

DISPENSARY,

No. 11 Kearny St.

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN,

Who may be suffering from the effect of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—Charges Moderate. Office Hours from 10 to 4 and 7 to 8.

Amusements, Etc.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—"Willy Reilly" drew fairly, last night the gallery being crowded. It is a drama of the strongly marked Irish order and gives two or three members of the company opportunities for bits of character acting which they avail themselves of. Mr. Murray played with his usual effectiveness, his brogue being as rich as Michael Reese. The stock members referred to were Miss Carrie Wyatt as Tom, a simple peasant boy and T. W. Keene as Randall O'Donnell. Miss Ellie Wilton's Helen Folliard was as graceful and charming as are most of her impersonations. "Willy Reilly" will be repeated this evening. This afternoon "Arrah na-Pogue."

MAGUIRE'S NEW THEATRE.—"The Serious Family" and Hermann's legerdemain makes up a programme which must suit every amusement seeker. We should not forget to refer to the Mrs. Tonens of Miss Emly Baker. She evidently understands the spirit of her part and wore in the last act so pretty a costume as to receive a round of ap-applause. This afternoon "Time Tries All." Thi evening "The Serious Family."

GRAND GERMAN AND ITALIAN OPERA—"Martha" is too great a favorite ever to fail in drawing a full house, and the appearance of Miss Ivy Wandesforde as Lady Harriet, coupled with the general excellence of the company filled Platt's Hall last night. Miss Wandesforde may be credited with singing the music correctly and acting with but few signs of stage awkwardness. This afternoon "La Dame Blanche," and to-morrow evening "Le Postillien de Lonjumeau."

HEROLD'S ORCHESTRAL MATINEE.—The last concert of the present season will be given on Wednesday next, with a programme including Haydn's Symphonie in G, Litolf's overture to "Robespierre" (by request) Meyerbeer's overture to "Les Huguenots" and Burgel's "Slumber Song" with Harp obligato by Sig. Solano.

HELP TO THE TEXAS SUFFERERS.—The benefit performances for this object promise to be of a partiuculary attractive character. For the afternoon "Ours" with a military company for the march, and for the evening "Mickey Free" by the California Company, and acts from "La Dame Blanche" and "The Merry Wives of Windsor" by the Fabbri Opera Troupe.

OPERA HOUSE.—The Minstrels arrived last night in good health and spirits. The number of old friends they met and were welcomed as may be taken as an evidence of their popularity, they will not want for full houses. They open at the above theatre, their old house, on Monday next, in an entirely new and splendid programme. The box sheet is now open, the names of the company are found in our programme space and the bill for the evening will be given on Monday morning.

BUCKLEY'S NEW VARIETY THEATRE.—"Hard Check," "Dentist's Shop" and "Banjo Act" are new to-night, besides which "The Turkish Slave Mart," is on the bill.

NEW OLYMPIC VARIETY THEATRE.—There is no change in the programme for this place, nor is there any needed as may be seen by glancing at the bill elswhere.

HARP AND STAR VARIETY THEATRE.—The bill for this and to-morrow evening is a particularly attractive one, the acts and the olio being well arranged.

WOODWARD'S GARDENS.—Attractions.—Another wonder is on exhibition, the mammoth grape vine of Santa Barbara, to which the Queen's vine at Hampton Court of great renown, is but a pigmy. This will be the last opportunity to see it as it goes to the Centennial. On Saturday and Sunday the pantomime of "Lisbin in a Net," Miss Mathews, Sig. Gonzales, the gymnastic troupe and an orchestral concert.

THE CLIFF HOUSE.—Captain Foster, the genial host of the Cliff House, entertains visitors from all parts of the Globe at his famous sea-side resort. The Cliff House is THE one thing San Francisco has to boast of as different from any thing else in the world. Omnibuses run every day from the terminus of the Lone Mountain railroad.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

The Green Room.

This popular resort of the profession and al epicures who can appreciate good liquors and a good lunch, is directly opposite the California Theatre. It has just been beautifully frescord and is now a model of taste and elegance. Everybody goes to the Green Room between the acts. X

DRAMATIC NOTES.

Charley Schultz still continues en campagne as an invalid, and Chris. Andres continues to wield the baton, or rather fiddle-bow, without any great apparent detriment to either the character or time of the music played.

After concluding his engagement at the California Theatre on Saturday, the 23d, Dominick Murray proceeds to Virginia City, there to open for a short season on the 25th inst.

It is very probable that Miss Ella F. Badger will follow Mr. Dominick Murray as star at Piper's, Virginia City. The little California girl seems to be getting along bravely.

Mrs. James A. Oates and Company close the first week of their season at Providence, R. I., this evening, and will open at the Arch-street Theatre, Philadelphia, on Monday for two weeks.

We have received a number of a comparatively new N. Y. publication entitled The Free Lance. The name is an appropriate one, for it seems the object of the paper to run full tilt against almost everything. However, we are glad that the tilters discriminate between good and evil, and that the goats get the greater part of the hard knocks. We fancied that we recognized the hand of James F. Latham, late Dramatic Editor of the N. Y. Spirit of the Times, moving amongst the theatrical criticisms.

"The Golden Bubble," which it is Mr. Dominick Murray's intention to produce before leaving San Francisco, is spoken of as one of the prettiest plays in the English language. The date of the play runs back to that time when all England was agog with the South Sea Scheme, and when companies for running coach-roads to the moon did not suffer for lack of paying shareholders. "Innocent; or, The Gambler's Crime," is Mr. Murray's own adaptation of "Le Portefeuille Rouge." "Mickey Free" is, as the name indicates an Irish drama.

With a consistent and pleasant regard for the season's associations, it was for a short time the managerial idea to put "The Christmas Carol" on the boards of the California Theatre, as a holiday piece, but there were such difficulties in the way, the principal being the want of anything like a decent adaptation, that such an event is put aside for the time. It is now most probable that a nice couple of gentlemen will occupy the stage. There are visions of red fire and scenes of diablerie, all of which are holiday like. It will be good news to most to learn that the scenic possibilities of the piece are unbounded.

A correspondent "P. Brodek" writes to know whether James Cook, the clown and Johnny Mack, ever turned a double somersault in this city; also if any one has ever turned a triple somersault? Both the men mentioned have turned double somersaults, this being a common acrobatic feat. Whether Johnny Mack ever turned a triple somersault or not is a matter of doubt. He claims that he has done so. James Cooke has accomplished this feat, the spring-board being set at a great height. It is said that there is at present a member of the Olympic Club, who manages it, but we understand that he generally sticks in the third revolution.

E. A. Sothern will return to the United States in May, '76.

W. H. Crane has made a decided hit in San Francisco as Charley Spraggs, in Byron's comedy of "Blow for Blow."—Boston Courier.

The Mexican Infantile Bouffers are proving a gold mine to Fred Zimmermann, and we are glad to hear it, for he is a good fellow. He is about the only theatrical agent on whom the printers could rely for having the cast if he said that he would be down at the office in the morning with it. The company performs at Philadelphia this evening, and show at Pittsburg, (2d time), on Monday.

Lawrence Barrett finishes a week's engagement at Cleveland, O., this evening. When will he play another such engagement as that at the California?

The critic of the Boston Courier is guilty of the following in speaking of the performance of the Frayne Family dogs: "When you go to see a demnition bow-wow you throw acting to the dogs. Ah, that such a bark as this should catch the favoring gales of theatrical prosperity, when better craft have to curtail their histrionic sails for want of patronage! To be prosperous now-a-days, ladies and gentleman of the stage, you should be not only forehanded, but four-footed also." We shall hear of this gentleman's writing a burlesque yet, for this is not his first offence.

How mighty particular the Germans are getting! They have objected to Bronson Howard's "Saratoga," recently produced at Berlin, on the ground of its being indelicate. The Berlinese are certainly not French in their tastes.

Lingard, who is playing in Missouri, is said to have some Beecher-Tilton sketches which take immensely. They cannot be those he had with him here then, for they made the worst part of his performance. He returns to this city sometime next month, en route for Australia.

T. D. Calhoun's petite comedy of "Women of Intrigue," will be produced at Maguire's New Theatre on next Thursday evening, Oct. 21st, preceeding Hermann's entertaidment. Mr. Calhoun's new play will be rendered with the full strenght of the Hooley Company.

There is something not exactly clear about Mr. Fox's manner of breaking his engagement at the California Theatre, a little foxy in fact. The New York Courier seriously announces that "the paralytic stroke from which George L. Fox, the famous clown, is now suffering is the second he has had, and it is feared that he will never return to the stage;" whilst the Sunday Mercury informs us that "a reliable gentleman of that city, returned from a visit to Geo. L. Fox at Albany, N. Y,, on the 30th ult., and reports that the popular clown was never in better health or spirits than at present." In conclusion, Mr. Fox opens at Booth's Theatre, N. Y., on next Monday week, the 25th, the very day on which his cancelled engagement was to begin at the California Theatre.

The Alleghanians closed at Salt Lake on Saturday last.

This evening "Richelieu" will be performed at the Salt Lake Theatre for the farewell benefit of Mr. Lyne, a member of the stock company.

Fannie Marston, "the eminent prima donna," gave a concert at Portland, on the 12th.

Fannie Morgan Phelps and company arrived at Portland from the Sound, on the 8th, and opened at the New Market Theatre on the 9th. Miss Zoe Gayton is with her.

John Jack and Miss Annie Firmin conclude their star engagement at Piper's this evening. "Surf," "The Long Strike" and "Pride," have been their stand-bys.

Charles Vivian received a complimentary benefit at Salt Lake on Thursday evening last.

The New Market Street theatre is progressing as rapidly as labor can send it. We shall have more to say of this building next week. The Mission Street Opera House also shows great signs of advancement.

Manager Maguire was the recipient of a splendid serenade last night in honor of his return home again.

Fine Watches.

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm.

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges Moderate. D. B. Magee, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. N. B. Open to 2:30 A. M. Old fashioned boiled dinners every Saturday. 2-L

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

The Fall and Winter Styles

Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well-selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the best material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Don't forget to call and examine their stock at 647 Washington street, below Kearny.

Photographic Art

Is supposed by some to be in its infancy. We doubt it much, as it is impossible to imagine pictures retouched and finished with more artistic skill than those we saw at Brodeck & Co's new Art Gallery, 640 Market street, opposite the Palace Hotel.

The Antelope Oyster House.

Our specialty, always the best oysters in market served up in the best style of cooking. Our Eastern transplanted oysters excel any other in market. Established in 1864. No. 612 Market near Montgomery. N. B.—Ice Cream, Strawberries and Cream, and all Fruits in season. B

Don't Help Pay Other People's Debts,

But go to the Furniture and Bedding Store of J. A. Shaber & Co., 707 Market street, near Third, and save fully 25 per cent. by buying of them. Their motto is: "Buy for cash, and sell for cash," therefore they have no bad debts to make up out of extra profits. L

Laughing Gas.

Dr. Wilson, Dentist, 205 Third street, makes a specialty of extracting teeth without pain by the use of laughing gas, and with twelve years experience in its use can warrant success with entire safety in the most difficult cases.

Photographic.

Edouart & Cobb 504 Kearney street, produce Pastel Paintings which are superior to either Oil or Water Colors. Enlargements in all styles, general photographic work guaranteed. 9-BH

The original "Swain's Bakery" is now established in their magnificent new place at 218 Sutter street near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place o business.

The Wigwam.

The best hot lunch to be had in the city is prepared at Asa L. Waugaman's, 773 Market street, under Fitzgibbon's Dancing Academy; also, a select stock of Wines, Liquors, etc.

Only the best brands of smoking and chewign tobaccos—Solace, Eureka, Sunnyside, American Eagle, Welcome and Golden Luxury—sold. Four papers for 25 cents. IXL Auction House, 616, 618 and 620 Kearny street, corner Commercial.

Palmer's have received a new supply of ladies' and children's underwear—very cheap—726 to 734 Market street.

Millinery Goods,

Wholesale and retail, at Palmer's, 726 to 734 Market street.

DR. CHAS. C. O'DONNELL (late U. S. A.), office and residence 825 Kearny street. The treatment of women and children a specialty. z

Mr. Warner's Extinguisher.

Mr. Warner, a respectable and law-abiding citizen of Baker street, rode home in an express wagon the other day having a hand fire extinguisher and the driver for company.

"What's that thing?" asked his wife in contemptuous tones as she opened the hall door.

"What's that? Why that's a fire extinquisher—best thing you ever saw—meant to have got one a year ago."

"Jacob, you are always making a fool of yourself," she continued as she shut the door. "Every patent-right man gets around you as a cat lays for a mouse."

"Does, eh? If you knew anything at all you'd know that every store and office in Detroit has one o' these. They've saved lots o' buildings, and may save ours.

"You throw it at the fire, don't you?" she asked in sarcastic tones.

He carried it up stairs into a closet without replying, and she followed on and asked:

"Does it shoot a fire out?"

"If you don't know anything I'll learn you something! It is full of chemicals; you strike on this knob on the top and she's all ready to open this faucet and play on the fire."

She grinned as she walked around it, and finally asked:

"Do you get a horse to draw it around?"

"No, I don't get a horse to draw it around. You see these straps? Well, I back up, put my arms through them, and here it is on my back."

"I see it is," she sneered.

"And can't I run to any part of the house with it?" he demanded. "See —— see ——?"

And he cantered along the hall, into the bedrooms and out, and was turning the head of the stairs when his foot caught in the carpet. He threw up his arms and she grabbed at him, and both rolled down stairs. He yelled and she yelled. Sometimes he was ahead, and then she took the lead, and neither of them had passed under the "string" when the extinguisher, bumping and jamming, began to shoot off its discharge of chemicals.

"You old ——!" she started to say, when a stream from the hose struck her between the eyes, and she didn't finish.

"What in—o-u-c-h!" roared Mr. Warner, as he got a dose in the ear.

They brought up in a heap at the bottom of the stairs, the stream playing into the parlor, against the hall door, and upstairs by turns, and she gasped:

"I'll have you sent to a fool asylum!"

"Who's a fool!" he roared, dancing around with his eyes full of chemicals.

"I'm fainting!" she squeaked.

"And I've broken my back!" he shouted.

It was a sad house when those two highly respectable old people got so that they could use their eyes and discuss matters calmly. And she doubled up her fist and hoarsely said:

"Take that investigator, or distinguisher, or whatever you call it, back down town and tell everybody that you are a lunatic!"

And he said:

"Dummit! I know more than all your family put together!"

◆

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419. opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Striped Stockings in Georgia.

He was sitting in the wagon in front of a Whitehall street dry goods' store holding the horses, while she made her purchases. She had just come out to consult him and was standing on the curb stone.

"What's that?" he exclaimed.

"W'y, I say them striped stockin's is a dollar a pa'r, in thar," she explained.

"Striped snakes and green lizards! What in thunder d'ye want with striped stockings?"

"I wants 'em fur Mary, an' the clerk sez they's the fashin' now tetotally!"

"Want 'em fur Mary, do ye? Like blazes! I kno' ye, ole woman! Ye'd tell Mary she shouldn't war 'em only on Sunday, and ye'd be up two hour's 'fore day and hev 'em on yer own shanks every Sunday the Lord sent ez long as they lasted, and never take 'em off tell the moon was four hours high!"

"John, ef I get up thar in that wagin', you'll hush, I warrant ye!" she said, and she looked stormy.

"Oh, yes, but you'll have yer striped stockens on fust, won't ye? Yer'd look purty, woodn't ye, with them post rammers o' yourn all striped up like a zebry's in a cirkus?—"

"John, ef that p'leecman warn't over yander I'd git up thar an' take the peelin' off'n that biled beet nose quicker—"

"Of koarse ye would! an' do it jest to show all these Atlanty folks what sort of cotton-seed smashers them is that ye want to rig up in stripes tell they'd look like barber shop poles made inter wooden legs, yer would!"

"Oh, ye jist wait—"

"I'me bound to wait, kase I'me angshus to see yer flounce 'round hyar with them striped socks on, sholdin' yer old black gownd up two feet high to step over whar some man has spit, jist to show off yer dollar a pair striped leggins! I 'mind me of the dollar vardin that yer bought two or three years ago, and I han't seen nary show since—I'me bustin' ter see yer kavortin' round agin like a young kaff at a bumble bees mass-meeting! Here's yer dollar—go git yer stripes!

She didn't take the money, but gathered up her bundles and slung them under the seat, climbed in after them, and as the wagon went out Mitchell street she was working her mouth in agony of rage and feeling around in the straw to find where he had hidden the whip. For further particulars see small bills—funeral notices!

Snakes Alive!—and Dead.

The Marietta, Ga., Journal was told by a gentleman the other day that human spittle was as deadly to poisonous snakes as their bites were deadly to man! He says picking up a bundle of straw and trash under his arm, while cleaning a field, a ground rattle-snake, four feet long, crawled out from it and fell to the ground at his feet. He at once placed his heel upon the head of the snake and spit in its mouth. Shortly afterwards the snake showed symptons of inactivity and sickness, and he picked it up by its tail and carried it the house and showed it to his wife, telling her he had spit in its mouth and that it was poisoned. At the expiration of fifteen minutes the snake was dead. To experiment further, he came across a blowing adder (snake), which ejected from its mouth a yellowish liquid. He caught it and spit in its mouth, and it died. He caught another blowing, and it refused to open its mouth. He spit upon a stick and rubbed the spittle upon the adder's nose, and it died. Afterwards he came across a black snake regarded as not poisonous, and he caught it and spit in its mouth. Instead of the spittle killing the black snake, as it did poisonous reptiles, it only made it stupidly sick, from which it recovered.

No. 11 Kearny St.

DR. SPINNEY is well-known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN,

Who may be suffering from the effect of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—Charges Moderate. Office Hours from 10 to 4 and 7 to 8.

Opera House.

The California Minstrels will open in their old little cosy home to-night. Billy Emerson and Fayette Welch will hold the ends on the first part. R. J. Tyrell J. G. Russell and Fred Walz, will contribute ballads, and the new descriptive Finale, "Across the Plains" will conclude this portion of the entertainment. After which. Ernest Linden will appear in "Operatic Gems," Charley Reed will give "That Funny Old Gal," Billy Emerson will present his new sketch "Pretty as a Picture," Mackin and Wilson, the new song and dance men, will give specimens of their style in their "Washday" act, Fayette Welch will show the "Last Sensation," the vocal quartette will give some choice concerted pieces, the whole concluding with the new extravaganza entiled "Stratagem" It will be seen that the bill is an entirely new one and full of variety. The minstrels will be greeted with an immense house to-night.

California Theatre.

Messrs. Murray and Barry's adaptation of Fournier's romantic drama of "Le Portefeuille Rouge," will be presented at the California Theatre this evening, under the title of "Innecent; or, The Gambler's Crime" From a glance at the synopsis of incidents we are of opinion that this and Joe Eard's "Red Pocket Book," have nothing in common.

Maguire's New Theatre.

The announcement that this is Hermann's last week will be ill news to all amusement seekers. He may be relied on to give us a good farewell programme The Comedy Company will produce Mr. Charles Matthews' comedy of "A Bull in a China Shop," with W. H. Crane as Bagshot.

Grand German and Italian Opera.

"Le Postillion de Lonjumeau" was given in German to a house as appreciative as it was full. The principal characters were sustained by Herr Hablemann as Chapelou the postillion, Madame Fabbri as Madelaine, his affianced, Biju by F. Lafontaine and the Marquis of Corcy by Herr Pflueger. Hablemann received an encore for his whip song and another for the interpolated serenade of Abt's "Sleep Well, Sweet Angel." Madame Fabbri also received an encore for the Fabbri Waltz which she introduced in the second act. To-morrow evening ' La Traviata" will be produced with Madame Fabbri and Signors Baccei and Contini in the cast.

Herold's Grand Orchestral Matinees.

The last concert of this season will be given on Wednesday next, with a programme including Haydn's Symphonie in G, Litolf's overture to "Robespierre" (by request) Meyerbeer's overture to "Les Huguenots" and Burgel's "Slumber Song" with Harp obligato by Sig. Solano.

Help to the Texas Sufferers.

The benefit performances for this object promise to be of a particulary attractive character. For the afternoon "Ours" with a military company for the march, and for the evening "Mickey Free" by the California Company. and acts from "La Dame Blanche" and "The Merry Wives of Windsor" by the Fabbri Opera Troupe.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Ned Barry in his original songs, George C Thompson in his specialties, Kimic in his Dutch eccentricities, Swain and West in song and dance and "The Turkish Slave Mart." all to-night.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

A new bill for this evening including "School" by the company, Charley King in his specialties, the Harrises in their acts, and "Paris by Gaslight."

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.

"Inside and Outside Servants," "One, two, three Bounce," Borthwick Reid's "William Tell Act" and G. W. Jester, with his Talking Hand, are all on the bill to-night.

Bay District Fair Ground Association.

The opening race of the week will come off to-morrow, being a dash of two miles for the Stanford Plate, $2,500, free for all three year-olds. There are eleven entries for this race. After which a mile and repeat race for a $500, purse will be run, free for all. On Wednesday, the San Francisco cup will be contested for, in a dash of two and a quarter miles. This will be the race of the week. The fast Eastern flyers, Springbok, Grinstead and Wild Idle, are entered for this race.

Woodward's Gardens.

The Mammoth Grape Vine for a short time only. Saturday and Sunday the grand sports of the Trampoline, the talented Miss Mathews, Sig. Gonzales the champion tumbler, George Sheilds and Jos. Williams and others in feats and pantomime and the usual Orchestral Concert. On Saturday evening the grand benefit for Mlle. Gracie, tendered by a host of sympathizing artists, concluding with a Ball.

Notes.

The announcement made on Saturday that the original petite comedy entited "Women of Intrigue," written by a gentleman of this city, would be produced at Maguire's New Theatre on Thursday evening, seems to have been prematurely made. The mangaement have authorized us to state that the comedy will not be produced on that evening.

That old time minstrel exhorter, Bob Hart, is under engagement to Manager Maguire for the California Minstrels; but he is also under engagement to another manager, in the East, who finds Bob such a good card that he couldn't be pursuaded to let him off to come with the rest of the company, but insisted on his playing his full engagement out. We shall hear Bob's stump speech in about three weeks.

Dietz Hall, formerly Brayton Hall, having been renovoted and enlarged will be publicly opened on Thursday evening next, by the Fabbri Opera Troupe under the management of Charles Schutz. Selections from "Il Trovatore," "Martha" and "The Merry Wives of Windsor" will make up the bill.

"The Hunter's Chorus" from "The Princess of Trebizonde" and "The Son of Marasquin" from "Girofle-Girofla," are the latest additions to the Forty Opera Bouffe Selections published by M. Gray. "The Carnival Galop," by L. Von der Mehden, has also reached us from the same house.

The Green Room.

This popular resort of the profession and al epicures who can appreciate good liquors and a good lunch, is directly opposite the California Theatre. It has just been beautifully frescord and is now a model of taste and elegance. Everybody goes to the Green Room between the acts. x

New and beautiful designs of Carpets at 116 Sutter street, Hall & Lachman's.

THE TEMPEST.

'Somber, tempestuous clouds
Darkened the sky;
Threat'ning, they hovered and
Frown'd from on high.

Swift fled the lowing herds,
Shelter to find;
Swift flew the frighted birds
Unto their kind.

Then came a gust of wind,
Stormily roaring;
Mutter'd the thunder, as
Rain came down pouring!

Crash! came a thunder-peal;
Flash! came the lightning;
Through lurid light I saw—
That which was fright'ning.

Loudly I shrieked for help—
"Ah! They are mine!
Help! quick! See, yonder—the—
Clothes on the line!"

A Miss-Hit.

They tell a good story in France latterly about the young deputy who, being drawn into a duel and called upon to fight with a pistol, was extremely nervous, and repeatedly said to his second: "My adversary will hit me, I know he will. I feel it in my bones." "Nonsense," said the second "your adversary never hit anything in his life. He couldn't hit the side of a house nor a flock of gravestones." The duel came off, and the young deputy was hit and pretty badly wounded in the shoulder. While he was down on the grass, with the doctor binding up the wound, he said to the second, pettishly: "Animal, I told you he would hit me!" "Oh, well," said the second coolly, that was because you moved!" And the young deputy had to be contented with that as an explanation.

Something Like Skeeters.

A New Jersey Granger heard a great noise among his chickens the other evening, and thinking thieves were despoiling his roost, he rushed out with vengeance in his eye and a shotgun in his hand, but discovered no one about. Then he counted his fowls, but instead of some being missing, he found six more than belonged to him. His eyesight being a little defective he didn't discover until the next morning that he had counted six vigorous mosquitoes of the New Jersey brand, which had been accidentally fastened in the coop with his hens. "I thought they were rather too big for chickens when I counted 'em," he afterwards remarked.

Sweetly Practical.

Jones is engaged to a pretty and practical girl. Her birthday is October 21. This morning Jones received a note from her which said: "Dear Jack: I feared you might send me a bouquet as a birthday present, as you did last year, and I thought I'd suggest that a parlor stove or a German student's lamp would be a great deal better, and either would keep." Jones has bought both, and he intends sending up a peck of sweet potatoes with them.

An Alphabetical Character.

Do you know what a girl should be alphabetically? She should be Amiable, Bland, Charitable, Domestic, Economical, Forgiving, Generous, Honest, Industrious, Judicious, Kind, Loving, Modest, Neat, Obedient, Pleasant, Quiet, Reflecting, Sober, Tender, Urbane, Virtuous, Watchful, 'Xemplary, Y's, and Zealous.

Time Works Wonders.

An officer of the regular army laughed at a timid woman because she was alarmed at the noise of a cannon when a salute was fired. He subsequently married that timid woman, and six months afterward he took off his boots in the hall when he came in late at night.

The Fall and Winter Styles

Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well-selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the best material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Don't forget to call and examine their stock at 647 Washington street, below Kearny.

Don't Help Pay Other People's Debts,

But go to the Furniture and Bedding Store of J. A. Shaber & Co., 707 Market street, near Third, and save fully 25 per cent. by buying of them. Their motto is: "Buy for cash, and sell for cash," therefore they have no bad debts to make up out of extra profits.

Laughing Gas.

Dr. Wilson, Dentist, 805 Third street, makes a specialty of extracting teeth without pain by the use of laughing gas, and with twelve years experience in its use can warrant success with entire safety in the most difficult cases.

Photographic.

Edouart & Cobb 504 Kearney street, produce Pastel Paintings which are superior to either Oil or Water Colors. Enlargements in all styles, general photographic work guaranteed. 9-BH

The original "Swain's Bakery" is now established in their magnificent new place at 213 Sutter street near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

The Wigwam.

The best hot lunch to be had in the city is prepared at Asa L. Waugaman's, 773 Market street, under Fitzgibbon's Dancing Academy; also, a select stock of Wines, Liquors, etc.

Only the best brands of smoking and chewign tobaccos—Solace, Eureka, Sunnyside, American Eagle, Welcome and Golden Luxury—sold. Four papers for 25 cents. IXL Auction House, 616, 618 and 620 Kearny street, corner Commercial.

Palmer's have received a new supply of ladies' and children's underwear—very cheap—726 to 734 Market street.

Millinery Goods.

Wholesale and retail, at Palmer's, 726 to 734 Market street.

Dr. Chas. C. O'Donnell (late U. S. A.), office and residence 825 Kearny street. The treatment of women and children a specialty. z

The Dog and the Preacher.

The Rev. Mr. Thom of Glasgow has a sovereign contempt for civic authorities of all kinds. A portly magistrate having, one Sunday in Summer, found his way to the parish church of Gowan, overcome by the heat of the weather, fell fast asleep during the sermon. In the middle of the discourse a dog who had got into the church most opportunely set up a howl. "Put out that dog," said the minister, "put out that dog instantly—he'll waken the Glasgow magistrate."

Artful.

There is the guile of the serpent and the sweetness of the dove in these kind words to youth, from the Cincinnati Times:

"We desire to mention to noisy little boys that, right in the center of the hind hoofs of every live mule, there is a little lump of gold, which can be very easily dug out with a penknife."

Like Father, Like Son.

Said a distinguished politician to his son: "Look at me! I began as an alderman, and here I am at the top of the tree; and what is my reward? Why, when I die, my son will be the greatest rascal in the city." To this the young hopeful replied: "Yes, dad, when you die—but not till then."

The Acme of Art

In the photographic line is attained at Brodeck & Co's. Art Gallery, 640 Market street, opposite the Palace Hotel. This establishment is no less celebrated for the artistic skill and finish of its pictures than for its moderate charges for all work done. Call and see specimens of work. J

Straw hats are much worn in the Summer, but they look a good deal more worn in the Winter when the wearer is unable to furnish himself with a Winter hat. Ladies' bonnets are made of straw, although Joan of Arc was maid of Orleans. Many suppose Joan, by the way, to be a woman of straw—that she had no existence in fact. We have seen women who looked as old as the Arc, who had no recollection of her whatever.

Many a young man has lost his heart by peering beneath a straw hat with a young woman in it, which shows the folly of trusting too much to 'peer-ances. Roguish eyes look so much more roguish beneath a reguish hat.

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relie by applying at Dr. R. H. Cowan's Institute, removed to 207 Kearny street, between Sutter and Bush, from 1 to 6 P. M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. Reference given if required. H

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm. *

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges Moderate. D. B. Magee, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. N. B. Open to 2:30 A. M. When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

TENNYSON'S "QUEEN MARY."

Tennyson's drama of "Queen Mary" was produced for the first time in the world at the Arch Street Theatre, Philadelphia. On Monday evening, October 4th. The preparation of the drama for the stage was effected by Mrs. John Drew of Philadelphia, and Mr. Stephen Fiske as Collaborateurs, the Queen Mary having been played by Miss Augusta Dargon. So far as we have yet heard, Miss Dargon's acting was clever, conscientous and artistic, but the production of the drama has hardly been so successful as, was supposed and hoped would be the case. Still its first presentation in America is a matter of sufficient importance to be treated of somewhat at length in these columns. The subjoined account is taken from the Philadelphia Item:

"How many dramas or dramatic poems Mr. Tennyson has kept back is not known; only recently, however, has he given one to the people. And, because this has been given, it is but fair to infer that the author esteems it of his best, and is willing to have his qualities as a dramatic poet judged by it.

'Queen Mary' is divided into two acts, which are subdivided into scenes; the text is written in the form of a dialogue, and in blank verse. In these respects it has all the essentials of a drama. But, although published as a drama, 'Queen Mary' was unfit for the stage, as it lacked the technicalities and proper arrangement necessary for production.

With so many different taste to please, and conflicting opinions to reconcile, any play, like 'Queen Mary,' touching upon religious grounds, is to be handled with the utmost care; as a consequence no theatrical manager cared to undertake its preparation, thus being subjected to the verdict of an unsympathizing public. What then was to be done? Was this exquisite poem, simply because badly constructed as a drama, to remain dormant for want of proper arrangement?

Mrs. John Drew and Miss Kate Bateman, of London, nearly at the same time decided that such a gem in thought and language should be added to dramatic literature. Miss Bateman has an English dramatist at work in London, while Mrs. Drew has been working in conjunction with Mr. Sephen Fiske, of New York."

Among the many beautiful and effective portions of 'Queen Mary,' the following soliloquy is particularly noticeable for vigor and fire:

He hath awaked! he hath awaked!
He stirs within the darkness!
Oh, Phillip, husband! now thy love to mine
Will cling more close, and those bleak manners thaw,
That make me shame! and tongue-tied in my love
The Second Prince of Peace—
The great unborn defender of the Faith,
Who will avenge me of mine enemies—
He comes and my star rises.
The stormy Wyatts and Northumberlands,
The proud ambitions of Elizabeth,
And all her fierlest partisans—are pale
Before my star!
The light of this new learning wanes and dies;
The ghosts of Luther and Zuinglius fade
Into the deathless hell which is their doom
Before my star!
His sceptre shall go forth from Ind to Ind!
His sword shall hew the heretic peoples down!
His faith shall clothe the world that will be his.
Like universal air and sunshine! Open,
Ye everlasting gates! The King is here!
My star, my son!

Concerning this soliloquy, a New York reviewer says: "This speech is entirely different from anything else in the drama, and vastly excels all the rest in spirit, elevation, and strength. It is like a block of porphyry in a structure of freestone, for the personages, with the exception only to a certain extent) of Queen Mary, are like automata made to utter such bits of history as, spoken in due order, shall tell an intelligible story. They resemble the wooden men, results of an unsuccessful effort of the gods to make beings that should intelligently speak and adore them, as described in the Quiche history of the creation. 'They moved about perfectly well, it is true; but still the heart and the intelligence were wanting. They were but an essay, an attempt at men; they had neither blood, nor substance, nor moisture, nor fat.'"

As a matter of record and reference, we give the full cast and synopsis:

Paws for a Reply.

There is nothing which so increases our respect for human nature, or so thoroughly convinces us that the Caucasian is not played out, as to see a full grown man amusing a cat by tickling it with a straw. We saw a man with a face covered by a large beard, and his shirt front decorated with a diamond, amusing a cat in this way last week. The cat seemed to be enjoying the fun, but it got its back up, purred a little, then spat ferociously, then struck out with vigor for an instant, and then fled. The man of a sympathetic heart didn't need to be told to drop the straw, nor to seek a wash basin. And a diamond wasn't the only thing which decorated his shirt-front, when he suddenly left the scene.

Why He Got It.

Yesterday afternoon, when a resident of Mission street, saw a lawn mower at the gate of an acquaintance who hasn't six spears of grass around his house, and who doesn't own the house anyway, he inquired in a tone of surprise:

"Why, what do you want of a lawn mower?"

"Well, I don't exactly need it," was the reply, but the children can haul it around, and the man offered to trust me for it."

Only.

An Iowa paper said, with charming innocence and symplicity, "It is only twenty one years since the first house was erected in Burlington, and now it contains 20,120 inhabitants." As soon as this was published, an unfeeling Eastern sheet remarked: "They build large residences out West."

DR. SPINNEY & Co's

DISPENSARY,

No. 11 Kearny St.

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—Charges Moderate. Office Hours from 10 to 4 and 7 to 8.

Maguire's New Theatre.

Notwithstanding the attractions elsewhere, this theatre was well filled last night, and those who were present had no cause to regret their choice of a place of amusement. That popular and extremely laughable comedy "A Bull in a China Shop," formed half the bill, and was played in a rattling style by Maguire's Comedy Company. W. H. Crane as Bagshot, was of course, the central figure. He was well supported by A. H. Hastings as Mr. Tipthorpe, M. A. Kennedy as Flitter, J. G. Sefton as Piper, Miss Emily Baker as Emily Tipthorpe, Miss Katy Mayhew as Susan Piper, and Mrs. Chas. Edmonds as Arabella. Prof. Hermann concluded the entertainment with a new programme of illusions. Same bill this evening.

California Theatre.

An adaptation by Messrs. Dominick Murray and W. C. Barry of Fournier's drama of "Le Portefeuille Rouge," was presented at the California Theatre last night. It is in the form of four acts and a prologue, and whilst it possesses many situations of interest, its production has in no wise abated our wish to see Mr. Murray in something better. Some years ago an adaptation of the same play, coming from the pen of Mr. Joe Ford, was put on the boards of the Metropolitan Theatre. The chief characters in the verson now occupying the stage of the California are, Murty McNally, a dare devil Irishman, played by Mr. Murray; Clarence Gray, a young Southerner, in the prologue and an escaped prisoner in the drama, by T. W. Keene; Captain Wilton of the U. S. Surveying Steamer Morning Star, by Harry Edwards, and his daughter Helen, by Miss Ellie Wilton. The principal scene is that of the shipwreck in the first act and this was so realistically managed as to set the whole upper part of the house in a state of intense excitement.

Opera House.

The welcome given the Minstrels on their return home last night must have given them the happiest proof of their popularity. The cosy and comfortable little Opera House was crowded to the sidewalk long before eight o'clock, the numbers turned away being quite sufficient to fill the theatre across the way. The first part introduced R. T. Tyrell and Fred Walz as vocalists, (Russell being still in his old place), Fayette Welch as opposite end man to Billy Emerson, and J. M. Norcross as Interlocutor. In the second part were Ernest Linden, in operatic gems; Charley Reed, wonderfully improved, in a specialty; Billy Emerson in the new song and dance "Pretty as a Picture"; Mackin and Wilson, the finest double song and dance men on the stage, in their specialty act of "Washing Day;" Fayette Welch in his last sention; a vocal quartette, excellently rendered by Russell, Walz, Tyrrell and Norcross and to conclude a new extravaganza entitled "Stratagem." It was the universal verdict last night that there has seldom been so strong a minstrel company in San Francisco.

Grand German and Italian Opera.

This evening. Verdi's opera of "La Traviata" will be produced with Mme. Fabbri as Violetta, Pietro Baccei as Alfredo, and Signor Contini as Giorgio Germont, father of Alfredo.

Herold's Grand Orchestral Matinees.

The last concert of this season will be given to-morrow afternoon, with a programme including Haydn's Symphonie in G, Litolf's overture to "Robespierre" (by request) Meyerbeer's overture to 'Les Huguenots" and Burgel's "Slumber Song," with Harp obligato by Sig. Solano.

Help to the Texas Sufferers.

The benefit performances for this object promise to be of a particulary attractive character. For the afternoon "Ours" with a military company for the march, and for the evening "Mickey Free" by the California Company. and acts from "La Dame Blanche" and "Lucia di Lammermoor" by the Fabbri Opera Troupe. To-morrow afternoon and evening remember.

Bay District Fair Ground Association.

The opening race of the week will come off to-day, being a dash of two miles for the Stanford Plate, $2,500, free for all three year-olds. There are eleven entries for this race. After which a mile and repeat race for a $500, purse will be run, free for all. On Wednesday, the San Francisco cup will be contested for, in a dash of two and a quarter miles. This will be the race of the week. The fast Eastern flyers, Springbok, Grinstead and Wild Idle, are entered for this race.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Swain and West in song and dance. Ned Barry in is originl motto song, Kimic in his Dutch act, George C. Thompson in his specialty and "The Turkish Slave Mart," all on the bill to-night.

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

Hughey Robinson in character songs, Lon Dixon in his bone solo, the Harrises in their specialties, Charley King in his banjo solo, and acts by the company to-night.

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.

Borthwick Reid's emulation of William Tell, G. W. Jester's Talking Hand, Geo. Neilson's feats on the swinging bar, and other attractions to-night.

Woodward's Gardens.

The Mammoth Grape Vine for a short time only. Saturday and Sunday the grand sports of the Trampoline, the talented Miss Mathews, Sig. Gonzales the champion tumbler, George Sheilds and Jos. Williams and others in feats and pantomime and the usual Orchestral Concert. On Saturday evening the grand benefit for Mlle. Gracie, tendered by a host of sympathizing artists, concluding with a Ball.

Notes.

The Chinese Theatre on the north side of Jackson street, has engaged Hermann for a season of four nights, commencing to-night at 7 P. M. To give eclat to the affair, the management has engaged a full regimental band, consisting of a snare drum and a fife, to play outside the entrance.

On Monday next, Miss Emmie Wilmot, the latest addition to Maguire's Comedy Company, will make her first appearance in San Francisco at Maguire's New Theatre, in Aug. Piton's play entitled "The American's Gold," for the proper production of which, great preparations are being made.

The Green Room.

This popular resort of the profession and al epicures who can appreciate good liquors and a good lunch, is directly opposite the California Theatre. It has just been beautifully frescord and is now a model of taste and elegance. Everybody goes to the Green Room between the acts. x

THE ABSURDITY OF IT.

It is all very well, for the poets to tell,
By way of their song adorning,
Of milkmaids who rouse, to manipulate cows,
At five o'clock in the morning.
And of mooney young mowers who bundle out doors—
The charms of their straw-beds scorning—
Before break of day, to make love and hay,
At five o'clock in the morning!

But, between me and you, it is all untrue—
Believe not a word they utter;
To no milkmaid alive does the finger of five
Bring beaux—or even bring butter.
The poor sleepy cows, if told to arouse,
Would do so, perhaps in a horn-ing;
But the sweet country girls, would they show their curls,
At five o'clock in the morning?

It may not be wrong for the man in the song—
Or the moon—if anxious to settle,
To kneel in wet grass, and pop, but alas!
What if he popped down on a nettle.
For how could he see what was under his knee,
If, in spite of my friendly warning,
He went out of bed and his house and his head,
At five o'clock in the morning?

It is all very well, such stories to tell,
But if I were a maid, all forlorn-ing,
And a lover should drop in the clover, to pop,
At five o'clock in the morning:
If I liked him, you see, I'd say, "Please call at three;"
If not, I'd turn on him with scorning:
"Don't come here, you flat, with conundrums like that,
At five o'clock in the morning!"

STRAY HITS AND STOLEN BITS.

The largest mirror in the world has just been put into the parlor of one of the Saratoga hotels. Two platform cars were required to transport it. It will be a great convenience to the Milwaukie belles at Saratoga, enabling them, for the first time in their lives, to get a complete view of their feet in a mirror.

At a territorial hanging, the victim, who had been liberally supplied with whisky prior to fulfilling his engagement with the sheriff, was asked if he would have anything. "Just a drop," he replied. He got it. It was about six feet, and broke his neck. He took a drop too much.

The Acme of Art

In the photographic line is attained at Brodeck & Co's. Art Gallery, 640 Market street, opposite the Palace Hotel. This establishment is no less celebrated for the artistic skill and finish of its pictures than for its moderate charges for all work done. Call and see specimens of work. J

The Fall and Winter Styles

Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the best material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Don't forget to call and examine their stock at 647 Washington street, below Kearny.

Don't Help Pay Other People's Debts,

But go to the Furniture and Bedding Store of J. A. Shaber & Co., 707 Market street, near Third, and save fully 25 per cent. by buying of them. Their motto is: "Buy for cash, and sell for cash," therefore they have no bad debts to make up out of extra profits. L

Laughing Gas.

Dr. Wilson, Dentist, 205 Third street, makes a specialty of extracting teeth without pain by the use of laughing gas, and with twelve years experience in its use can warrant success with entire safety in the most difficult cases.

Photographic.

Elouart & Cobb 604 Kearney street, produce Pastel Paintings which are superior to either Oil or Water Colors. Enlargements in all styles, general photographic work guaranteed. 9-BH

The original "Swain's Bakery" is now established in their magnificent new place at 213 Sutter street near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place o business.

The Wigwam.

The best hot lunch to be had in the city is prepared at Asa L. Waugaman's, 773 Market street, under Fitzgibbon's Dancing Academy; also, a select stock of Wines, Liquors, etc.

Only the best brands of smoking and chewign tobaccos—Solace, Eureka, Sunnyside, American Eagle, Welcome and Golden Luxury—sold. Four papers for 25 cents. IXL Auction House, 616, 618 and 620 Kearny street, corner Commercial.

The Dog and the Preacher.

The Rev. Mr. Thom of Glasgow has a sovereign contempt for civic authorities of all kinds. A portly magistrate having, one Sunday in Summer, found his way to the parish church of Gowan, overcome by the heat of the weather, fell fast asleep during the sermon. In the middle of the discourse a dog who had got into the church most opportunely set up a howl. "Put out that dog," said the minister, "put out that dog instantly—he'll waken the Glasgow magistrate."

Artful.

There is the guile of the serpent and the sweetness of the dove in these kind words to youth, from the Cincinnati Times:

"We desire to mention to noisy little boys that, right in the center of the hind hoofs of every live mule, there is a little lump of gold, which can be very easily dug out with a penknife."

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419. opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F. Sterett, 532 Clay Street. over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 8-cj

Do Not Suffer from Corns.

The unfortunate sufferers from Corns, Bunions club and Ingrowing Nails, can find instant relie by applying at Dr. R. H. Cowan's Institute, removed to 207 Kearny street, between Sutter and Bush, from 1 to 6 P. M. We speak from experience, having tested the Doctor's capability. Reference given if required. H

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm. *

The Old Mint Restaurant.

At this old-established house, 605 Commercial street, above Montgomery, always noted among the bon vivants for its good things, can be procured the finest and best cooked Oysters, Steaks and Chops, Breakfasts or Dinners, in town. Terrapins and the choicest brands of Wines and Liquors a specialty. Charges Moderate. D. B. Magee, the new proprietor, invites the public to give the "Old Mint" a trial. N. B. Open to 2:30 A. M. Old fashioned boiled dinners every Saturday. 2-L

When the Fair Closes

And the tired visitors prepare to wend their weary way homeward, they should pause for a moment and consider how much more pleasant it would be to take an ice cream or a nicely served and comfortable supper in the Restaurant, which does not close till 12 o'clock, P. M., and which is under the able supervision of the well-known caterer, A. M. Hepburn.

Photographic Art

Is supposed by some to be in its infancy. We doubt it much, as it is impossible to imagine pictures retouched and finished with more artistic skill than those we saw at Brodeck & Co's new Art Gallery, 640 Market street, opposite the Palace Hotel.

Baths

At No. 10 Post Street, Masonic Temple. At this establishment can be had the celebrated Munro bath, combination hot air, steam, medicated, steam, salt, electro, chemical, hot air, plain, steam, mecurial and toilet baths. Office hours, from 8 A. M. to 10 P. M.

C. Dunlap.

HE OBJECT OF THE ASSOCIATION IS the raising of grain in Levied Land District, 205, twenty miles from Sacramento, on the ramento river. This District is surrounded by finest Levee in the State, being from 15 to 20 feet h, 60 to 90 feet at the base and 20 feet on top h roadway. This Levee is twenty-one miles long l is now being sown with alfalfa his land differs from some of the reclaimed ds, as the foundation of the levee is clay, and levee itself is built of the same material, insuring absolute security against an erflow of water. Over $300,000 has eady been expended in the construction of this mense levee, and this company has secured a se of 5,000 acres of land, the finest in the te, at an annual rental of $6 33 per acre

All the steamers to and from Sacramento stop at Courtland on this land and er rapid and easy communication to parties deing to see the work as it progresses. The proters of this enterprise have leased this land in ler to secure all the improvements now on the mises for working it to the best advantage. e immense productiveness of these lands is too ll-known to require comment. One acre of this d when sown in wheat will produce a certain op of 60 bushels, which at two cents per und is worth $72, and which will leave a net ofit of $52 per acre after deducting rent d expenses. The second year will be a volunteer p, which, less expenses, is clear profit dividend of all the profits accruing will be de on the 1st day of August next, as the p will be gathered and marketed during June d July.

The company is incorporated into 5,000 shares, a par value of $10 each, or one share to ch acre of land cultivated. Plowing s been commenced and is now in progress, and ll be pushed as rapidly as possible until completed. Subscriptions for a limited number of the shares ll be received at the office of the company at the e of $10 per share, and no further calls can be de, and each share subscribed will entitle holder to the profits on one acre of wheat, ich will give a return of at least $50 per share August.

Parties living at a distance wishing to subscribe ll send money by Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, certificates of deposit.

Apply at the office of the company, 15 Stevenson ilding, corner California and Montgomery streets. Accommodations, feed and transportation from n Francisco or Sacramento, will be furnished to rties having teams and waiting contracts to plow.

STRAY HITS AND STOLEN BITS.

It is said that at three years old we love our mothers; at six, our fathers; at ten, holidays; at sixteen, dress; at twenty, our sweethearts; at twenty-five, our wives; at forty, our children; and at sixty, ourselves.

A handsome youth being questioned by a rather stylish lady as to his occupation, replied that he was "an adjuster of moveable alphabets." He was simply a printer.

A New Orleans man committed suicide recently because his wife was in the habit of marching up and down the bed-room all night and tapping him on the head with an iron poker every time he fell into a doze.

Hembold has been released from the insane asylum, it having been proved that he did not, as has been charged, attempt to pay an advertising account.

It is scarcely creditable that a Chicago woman, when told by a doctor that she must die, wailed out, "Oh! I hate to die and have women stand around my coffin and make remarks about my turn-up nose."

Because Smith & Brown stopped payment they were called a pair of suspenders.

The swell mob—the inflationists.

It makes a man and mars a woman to be talked about.

Where is Happiness always to be found? In the dictionary.

Flash writers—Telegraph operators.

A Professor was expostulating with a student for his idleness, when the latter said, "It's no use; I was cut out for a loafer." "Well, said the professor, surveying the student critically, "whoever cut you ont understood his business."

In New York, last week, Louisa Heusser, a pretty girl of fourteen, attempted to commit suicide by drinking a quarter of a pint of red ink. This sounds ink-red-ible, but it is true. The physician didn't order her to swallow a sheet of blotting pad, because he didn't think it would be write.

When a man comes home at night and sips his tea with a fork, and tries to spread a slice of bread with a teaspoon, and howls at his wife: "Hey, Bill! here she goes!' it is very safe to conclude that that man has met with a sore affliction, and has been trying to deaden it in some innocent way.

The old gentleman who spent a fortune in endeavoring to hatch colts from horse-chestnuts is now cultivating egg-plant, with a view to raising chickens from it.

A reporter being called to account for the statement that a certain meeting "was a large and respectable one," when only one other person besides himself was present, insisted that his report was literally true; for, said he, "I was large and the other man was respectable."

"Building castles in Spain, Mr. S.?" said the landlady to Spicer, who was thoughtfully regarding his breakfast cup. "No, ma'am," said Spicer. "Only looking over my grounds in Java."

"Say!" said the city youth to the modest countryman, "got the hay-seed out o' your hair yet?" "Wall," was the deliberate reply, "I jedge not from the way the calves run after me."

Anna Dickinson has traveled 16,000 miles by rail, "and never even had a man wink at her." She must have kept her veil up all the time.

"Let's play I'm an angel, and take you up to heaven," was the startling proposition of a Clay street Miss, aged three, yesterday. Her heaven was the high doorstep.

There is one Detroit man who doesn't put on the gloves any more for exercise. The doctors are feeling the back of his head in hopes to find his nose.

Mrs. Case, of Shoals, Indiana, during the course of a single week knocked one tramp down, broke a rib for another, shot at a third, and kicked a fourth so vigorously that he had to go to the hospital. This is the liveliest Case on record.

DR. SPINNEY & Co's

DISPENSARY,

No. 11 Kearny St.

DR. SPINNEY is well known as the founder of the MONTREAL, C. E., MEDICAL INSTITUTE, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, and having given his entire attention, for the past twenty years, to the treatment of Chronic and Special Diseases, incident to both sexes, his success has produced astonishing results. By his new method of treatment, the sick are fully restored to original health. He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well-earned reputation as a sufficient assurance of his skill and success. Thousands who have been under his treatment have felt and expressed emotions of gratitude welling up from hearts touched for the first time by the silken cord that whispers of returning health.

Remember, that Procrastination is the Thief of Time!

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the doctor examine your case. If it is curable, he will tell you so—if not he will tell you that; for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case.

YOUNG MEN.

Dr. Spinney will Guarantee to Forfeit $500

For every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character, which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore, say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all of its ill effects, remember that if you obstinately persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work itself upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN!

There are many of the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with two frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

All Letters and Communications Strictly Confidential.

Consultations Free—Charges Moderate. Office Hours from 10 to 4 and 7 to 8.

California Theatre.

"Inocent; or, The Gambler's Crime," drew a fairly filled house last night. This afternoon and evening, performances will be given for the benefit of those who have suffered in Texas from the recent devastating storms. For this afternoon, "Ours" will form the bill, with Barton Hill as Hugh Chalcote, and a military company headed by the Industrial School Band for the march past. This evening's bill will consist of scenes from "La Dame Blanche" and "Lucia" by the Fabbri Opera Troupe and "Mickey Free" by Mr. Murray and the California Theatre Company.

Opera House.

This theatre was jammed up to the box office again last night and as everybody present seemed pleased and amused, we take it that both public and management are well gratified.

Maguire's New Theatre.

"A Bull in a China Shop" goes with swing and vigor, all the points of this bustling piece being well taken by the audience. Hermann in his new selection of feats of magic, concludes the pleasant entertainment.

Grand German and Italian Opera.

The production of "La Traviata" by the Fabbri Opera Troupe, last night, may on the whole be considered a success. Madame Fabbri as Violetta displayed—especially in the first and second acts—a spirit and verve only equalled by her glorious execution. Signor Baccei can only be complimented on a partial success, whilst his costume presented such a contrast to those of the other members, as to be almost ludicrous. Contini's Germont was dignified and his music given with precision and effect. The remaining characters were taken by Mme. Frankenberg and Messrs. Fischer, Pfluoger and Forti. The orchestra was for the more part in excellent time and tune, although there were times when violins and flageolets worked against each other in anything but a harmonious manner. Friday evening. "Merry Wives of Windsor."

Herold's Grand Orchestral Matinees.

The last concert of this season will be given this (Wednesday) afternoon, with a programme including Haydn's Symphonie in G, Litolf's overture to "Robespierre" (by request) Meyerbeer's overture to "Les Huguenots" and Burgel's "Slumber Song," with Harp obligato by Sig. Solano.

Help to the Texas Sufferers.

The benefit performances for this object promise to be of a particulary attractive character. For the afternoon "Ours" with a military company for the march, and for the evening "Mickey Free" by the California Company, and acts from "La Dame Blanche" and "Lucia di Lammermoor" by the Fabbri Opera Troupe. To-morrow afternoon and evening remember.

Buckley's New Variety Theatre.

Besides "The Turkish Slave Mart" the acts for to-night are "Dodging for a Wife," "Boring for Treasure" and "Banjo Act."

New Olympic Variety Theatre.

A banjo duet by Dixon and Harris, "Chinese Servants" by the company, Herr-Lowden and Man-King in a specialty act, and "Paris by Gaslight" to-night.

Harp and Star Variety Theatre.

The first part consists of minstrelsy by all the artists, and in the second part is an olio, introducing all the members in their best specialties.

The Bay District Fair Ground Association.

The opening of the Fall Running Season at these grounds, yesterday, drew a very fair attendance. "Brodley" won the Two-mile dash in 3 40½, beating "Chance," "General Sherman" and "Newell," very easily. "Lady Amanda" won the mile heat race with equal ease, in two straight heats, in 1 46¾—1 47¾. The race announced for to-day between the Eastern flyers "Wildidle," "Springbok" and "Grinstead" is off. The Secretary of the Association charges the Managers of the last two named horses with breaking their engagement with the Association, and ingloriously withdrawing their horses from the field. The sweepstakes for two-year olds for the Kellogg Plate, will be run to-day. After which, other races will follow in place of one announced by the Eastern horses to-morrow. The 2½ mile dash for four-year olds will be contested for by "Elect a," "Waterford," "Woodbury" and others.

Woodward's Gardens.

The Mammoth Grape Vine for a short time only. Saturday and Sunday the grand sports of the Trampoline, the talented Miss Mathews, Sig. Gonzales the champion tumbler, George Sheilds and Jos. Williams and others in feats and pantomime and the usual Orchestral Concert. On Saturday evening the grand benefit for Mlle. Gracie, tendered by a host of sympathizing artists, concluding with a Ball.

Notes.

Last evening Hermann made his first appearance at the You Henn Choy Theatre on Jackson street, to the huge delight and astonishment—not unmixed with affright—of more owners of pig-tails than ever crowded into one building, since Con Fu See preached the doctrine of Sardine packing.

Mlle. Gracie, who was so seriously injured by falling from a trapeze at Woodward's Gardens some month or two ago, will receive a benefit there on Saturday next. A splendid bill has been prepared and the object is a worthy one.

We have received from Messrs. Sherman & Hyde the song entitled "Sweet Dreams of My Mother," music by Charles D. Blake, words by A. A. Hill. Compass from E flat to E flat.

Free and Easy.

To-night, Dr. Flattery on the stand, examined by Col. Barnes. Great fun expected. The examination will be free to the public. Also, local comic songs and character sketches every night, at the Hot Scotch Saloon, 211 Stevenson street, just beyond Third. T

The Wigwam.

The best hot lunch to be had in the city is prepared at Asa L. Waugaman's, 773 Market street, under Fitzgibbon's Dancing Academy; also, a select stock of Wines, Liquors, etc.

The original "Swain's Bakery" is now established in their magnificent new place at 213 Sutter street near Centre Market, and has added a lunch room and ice cream saloon. This is their only place of business.

Palmer Bros.

Keep the "Crown" Perfumery, the best in use 726 to 734 Market street.

OPHELIA.

'Neath where the lilies on the placid stream,
Like gems upon Night's bosom star-like gleam,
  My troubled heart shall rest;
And weeping willows bending o'er my tomb
Shall keep the secret of the silent gloom
  That shrouds my aching breast.

Stream! thou art warmer than his princely heart,
Kinder art thou than the cold ruthless part
  So pitiless he plays;
Vainly and oft I've bent in prayer above,
But vainly praying for his tardy love
  To cheer my lonely days.

At early morn I've bent my knee in prayer,
My orisons have filled the twilight air,
  Through all the vanished years;
And still a suppliant unanswered, I
In silence wait his presence to draw nigh,
  And stay the starting tears.

Yet must I tarry and, unloved, repine—
Still hope 'gainst hope to call the guerdon mine,
  And deem it still afar.
Mine be the loss; his loss, may be but gain;
For all too well I love to cause him pain,
  Aught of his life to mar.

In silence I have loved and worshipped,
And still in silence will I seek a bed
  Deep in the chilly stream.
Heart-breaking anguish for my sin atone?
I and my secret e'er shall rest alone
  'Neath where the lilies gleam.

"Vot You Lives on, Anyways?"

A citizen of Toledo, in the ordinary current of business, became possessor of the note of a German saloon-keeper. The note becoming due, he took it to the party, and presented it for payment. The man was not prepared to liquidate his obligation, and asked for an extension of time. This being grandted, and the conditions settled properly, he was turning to leave, when the German said:

"Shoost vait von leedle whiles, unt I gifs you ein glass goot peers."

"No, I thank you, I don't drink beer," was the reply.

"Vell, den, I gifs you veekees thot is petter as so mooch."

"No, thank you; I don't drink whisky."

"Sho! den I know how I fix you; I hat goot vines," jerking down a bottle with a flourish.

Again the quiet, "No, thank you; I don't drink wine."

"Vot! you don trinks noddings; vell, I gifs ein goot shegar."

Once more, "No, I thank you; I don't smoke."

"Mein Goot!" exclaimed the Dutchman, throwing up both hands; "no peers, no veeskees, no vines, no dobacco, no noddings vot you live on anyways—botatoes, eh?"

The Young Man from the East.

"Im a stranger in this city,
I'm lately from the East,
And mighty fond of oysters;
Where can I get a feast?
I've been to all the restaurants,
But nowhere could I find,
A plate of Eastern oysters,
Of the old fashioned kind."

"Well, I can tell you," said his friend,
"Exactly where to go,
And where to get your oysters,
Direct from where they grow.
Just take a stroll down PINE STREET,
At 419, opposite the Market,
You'll see a sign, 'THE SADDLE ROCK,
You can't fail to remark it.

"Emerson Corville keeps the place,
The best saloon in town,
There you can get your oysters raw,
Or fried so crisp and brown.
He's the largest oyster dealer
On the Pacific Coast,
And that he keeps the freshest
Has ever been his boast.

"He's got nice little private rooms,
Where you can sit at ease,
And eat your California stew,
Or Eastern if you please.
All the young men of fashion go
Right to the SADDLE ROCK,
To eat their EASTERN OYSTERS
And drink their Rhenish hock."

Managers

Of Amusements, Excursions, Lectures, and Concerts, are directed to the splendid Printing Establishment of B. F, Sterett, 532 Clay Street, over the San Francisco Market. The largest Posters, in Plain or Fancy Colors, are turned out in the shortest possible space of time. Also, Beautiful Programmes, Tickets, etc., etc., printed to suit the most fastidious. Mr. Sterett keeps constantly on hand a fine line of bright colored papers of every shade, and the prices charged for these are very little in advance of plain white paper. Streamers of various sizes, from 18 to 42 inch letters, in stock, of all colors of paper and ink. Theatre Managers are especially invited to call for estimates. This well-known Printing House was established by the present proprietor in 1850 and has been in successful operation ever since. 3-cj

The Fall and Winter Styles

Of hats are now being introduced at "The" Hat Store, 647 Washington street, below Kearny, their assortment is large and well selected, all the styles being of a tasty and pleasing shape and of the best material, while the prices are the lowest possible. Grammatical Duelling.

Two English gentlemen once stepped into a coffee-house in Paris, where they observed a tall, odd-looking man, who appeared not to be a native, sitting at one of the tables, and looking around him with the utmost stone-like gravity of countenance upon every object. Soon after the Englishmen entered, one of them told the other that a celebrated dwarf had arrived at Paris. At this the grave-looking personage above mentioned opened his mouth and spoke.

"I arrive," said he, "thou arrivest, he arrives, we arrive, you arrive, they arrive."

The Englishman whose remark seemed to have suggested this mysterious speech, turned to the stranger and asked:

"Did you speak to me, sir?"

"I speak," replied the stranger, "thou speakest, he speaks, we speak, you speak, they speak."

"How is this?" said the Englishman. "Do you mean to insult me?"

The stranger replied

"I insult, thou insultest, he insults; we insult, you insult, they insult."

"This is too much, said the Englishman; "I will have satisfaction. If you have any spirit with your rudeness, come along with me."

To this defiance the imperturbable stranger replied:

"I come, thou comest, he comes; we come, you come, they come."

And thereupon he arose, with great coolness, and followed his challenger.

In those days, when every gentleman wore his sword like a man, open and free, and not like the cowardly, skulking fellows of this age, who have assassin-knives and hidden revolvers within their shirt-bosoms and vest pockets, duels were speedily dispatched. They went to a neighboring alley and the Englishman, unsheathing his weapon, said to his antagonist:

Now, sir, you must fight me,."

"I fight," replied the other, "we fight"—here he made a thrust—"you fight, they fight"—and here he disarmed his adversary.

"Well," said the Englishman, "you have the best of it, and hope you are satisfied."

"I am satisfied," said the original, sheathing his sword, "thou art satisfied, he is satisfied, we are satisfied, you are satisfied, they are satisfied."

"I am glad every one is satisfied," said the Englishman; "but pray leave off this quizzing, and tell me what is your object, if you have any, in doing so."

The grave gentleman now, for the first time, became intelligible.

"I am a Hollander," said he, "and am learning your language. I find it very difficult to remember the peculiarities of the verbs, and my tutor has advised me, in order to fix them in my mind, to conjugate every English verb that I hear spoken. This I have made it a rule to do; I don't like to have any plans broken in upon while they are in operation, or I would have told you this before."

The Englishman laughed heartily at this explanation, and invited the conjugating Hollander to dine with them.

"I will dine," said he, "thou wilt dine, he will dine; you will dine, they will dine, we will dine together."

This they did, and it was difficult to determine whether the Hollander ate or conjugated with most perseverance.

A Word to the Wise, etc.

It is generally known, but there is not the proper attention paid to the fact, that Messrs. Vanderslice & Co., on Sutter street, a few doors below Kearny street, keep the most elegant assortment of Silverware, of their own manufacture, that can be found on the whole Pacific Coast, and their prices are always at the lowest living figures. Their stock of Watches, Jewelry and Precious Stones are equa to any that can be found anywhere, and as everything is at manufacturer's prices it will be seen that money can be saved by purchasing of the above-named firm.

[illegible]HE OBJECT OF THE ASSOCIATION IS the raising of grain in Levied Land District, 205, twenty miles from Sacramento, on the [illegible]cramento river. This District is surrounded by [illegible] finest Levee in the State, being from 15 to 20 feet [illegible]h, 60 to 90 feet at the base and 20 feet on top [illegible]h roadway. This Levee is twenty-one miles long [illegible]d is now being sown with alfalfa.

This land differs from some of the reclaimed [illegible]nds, as the foundation of the levee is clay, and [illegible] levee itself is built of the same material, in[illegible]ring absolute security against an [illegible]erflow of water. Over $300,000 has [illegible]eady been expended in the construction of this [illegible]mense levee, and this company has secured a [illegible]se of 5,000 acres of land, the finest in the [illegible]te, at an annual rental of $6 33 per acre.
